COUNTY SCHOOLS PLAN TO OBSERVE EDUCATION WEEK

Arrangements Under Way For Extensive Programs During Week Beginning Nov. 18.

PURPOSE TO INCREASE EDUCATIONAL INTEREST

Local American Legion Post Assisting To Arrange Interesting Rural Gatherings.

American Educational Week, sponsored by educational associations and the American Legion will be observed November 18 to 24, and arrangements are being made to stage several events in the local city schools and the rural schools thruout the county.

The observances this year will be more extensive than ever before, according to those who are in charge. The object of the various events will be to instill greater interest in educational activities among the parents and school patrons in general, one of the main features being a special request to visit the schools during that period. It is of much importance that the parents whose children spend a great share of their time in the school rooms under the supervision of the teachers and who pay large sums for the upkeep of the educational facilities, know what is being done and familiarize themselves with the immense project of educating Young America. Much undue criticism of the school system and the way it is being conducted, is brought about because of the fact that a large number of people do not know the extent of the many problems arising in carrying out a proper educational program. Many fail to realize the enormous forward strides that the schools of today are making and the advance of educational science.

One of the interesting features arranged for one day during the week is a huge parade, in which the pupils and teachers in all the schools of the city will partake. The event, it is said, will far exceed anything of that nature that has ever been staged in Thief River Falls, and is anticipated to attract a great deal of attention and comment. Programs will be conducted in all of the schools thruout the week.

Arrangements are being made to secure a representative from each of the important civic organizations of the city, who will deliver brief addresses following the evening performance at the Princess each night during the entire week, touching upon the various phases of educational work. Among civic bodies to be represented are the Board of Education, Parent-Teachers' association, Woman's Club, American Legion, Commercial club and faculty of the city schools. Sermons bearing on the purpose of this week of observance will be preached in the churches of the city on the Sunday preceeding.

Arrangements have also been made for the observance of American Educational Week in the rural schools of the county, according to Superintendent Ole R. Sande. Meetings will be held thruout the county which will be addressed by a number of speakers arranged by the local American Legion post. Musical numbers will also form part of the outside entertainment.

Each Sectional Leader is directed to get together with the teachers in her group and arrange for a public Sectional meeting in accordance with the following schedule:

Sec. I. Monday, Nov. 19.
Sec. II. Monday, Nov. 19.
Sec. III. Tuesday, Nov. 19.
Sec. IV. Tuesday, Nov. 20.
Sec. V. Saturday, Nov. 24.
Sec. IV. Saturday, Nov. 24.
Sec. VII. Friday, Nov. 23.
Sec. VIII. Wednesday, Nov. 21.
Sec. IX. Friday, Nov. 23.
Sec. X. Thursday, Nov. 22.
Sec. XI. Thursday, Nov. 22.
Sec. XII. Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The meetings will open at 8 o'clock p. m.

The place for holding the meeting is to be selected by the teachers in the group. The program for the evening should be arranged by the teachers. Each school should contribute something and the Legion Post will furnish a good speaker and such other numbers as can be secured. It is suggested that the meeting be made the occasion for holding contests in spelling, arithmetic and possibly other subjects between the various schools in the section.

Similar gatherings were held last year also and proved very successful, a great deal of enthusiasm and interest along educational lines being stimulated among the school patrons.

M. E CONFERENCE IN THIS CITY IS WELL ATTENDED 3 DAYS

Rev. J. B. Smith Elected Secretary of Fergus Falls District For Tenth Time.

The Fergus Falls district conference of the M. E. church held in Thief River Falls, Rev. J. B. Smith's charge, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week, was well attended and proved greatly beneficial to all enterprises of the local church. Many of the pastors of the leading Methodist churches in the northern part of the state were present to take part in the conference. They expressed surprise and gratification of the evidences of prosperity in the city and church. The forty delegates, nearly all of whom are pastors, were guests of members of the local Methodist congregation during their stay here, the Ladies Aid serving meals at the church. The sessions opened Tuesday morning and continued thru Thursday afternoon.

The addresses on evangelism by Dr. Geo. Dean of Philadelphia, official in the department of conservation and advance of the M. E. church, were much appreciated, as were also those of Dr. J. Lovejoy of Chicago who spoke on stewardship. Dr. J. Jenkins of St. Paul discussed the work of the centenary. These discussions were inspirational to the many who attended the various sessions.

It was a busy week for the pastor of the local church, Rev. Smith, who in addition to his duties as host, was for the tenth time elected secretary of the district. J. C. Craig, D. D., of St. Paul was again appointed district superintendent. S. F. Sherborn of this city was licensed as a local preacher and the license of Thos. H. Smith of Mavie was renewed.

It was decided to hold the next conference at Crookston. The Fergus Falls district comprises about 60 pastorates in the territory between the Canadian border and Sauk Center, and Cass Lake and the Red River.

At the closing of the sessions on Thursday the conference voted thanks to the Methodist congregation of Thief River Falls for its cordial hospitality during the meeting.

Reduced Rates to Cities.

Reduced rates of one and one-third for a round trip to Minneapolis or St. Paul will be offered by the Soo line for those who wish to attend the Home Coming festivities of the University of Minnesota on Saturday, November 17. Tickets may be secured on Friday the 16th and will be good until the 18th, which is the final limit of the special rate, according to announcement made this week by H. A. Pratt, Soo line agent.

Dies of Heart Trouble

Carl Swenson, a resident of North Dakota who stayed at the Knutson home at the Mathson store at Hazel, died there a week ago last Friday, presumably of heart trouble. Mr. Swenson was a single man about 40 years of age. He appeared to be as well as usual when he retired Thursday. Two brothers residing at Adams N. D., came to Hazel on receiving word of his death and the remains were shipped to Adams for burial.

MANY PENNINGTON COUNTY ROADS ARE BEING CONSTRUCTED

Gravelling of Angle Road Nearly Completed. Road To Golf Links Being Improved.

The gravelling of the four miles on the angle road southeast of Thief River Falls, connecting with the state road east of Hazel, will be completed this week, according to statement made yesterday by Highway Engineer Bert F. Umland, in charge of road work in this county. About 47 teams are engaged in hauling gravel on this project at the present time, the gravel being taken from the pit on the Oscar J. Peterson farm. When this gravelling is finished one of the finest highways in the state will be open for traffic, the new road being built according to the most modern specifications.

Only residents of the county are eligible to secure employment on any of the gravelling projects now under way, thus giving many farmers opportunity to make some extra money during the slack period.

The six-mile stretch north and south by Highlanding is now being reshaped and graded by Contractor Lund and as soon as the angle road is completed, gravelling will be begun also on that project. It is the intention of the road department to make this a hurry-up job by employing about 160 teams for hauling, so as to get the road finished this season. Four gravel pits have already been procured by the engineer.

The one and one-half mile of roadway west from St. Hilaire to the county line has been finished, the graveling being completed by about 40 haulers.

Another project which has been in demand for some time is also nearing completion, namely the road from the city to the golf links, past the Soo round house. This has been reshaped and is now being covered with cinders, making it a first class thoroughfare when completed, this work already having been finished as far as to the bridge across Thief river. The railroad crossing has been improved by the Northwestern Electric line.

With these projects completed this year Pennington county will be making another long stride in the good roads program and travellers will soon be able to reach every part of the county on gravelled highways. It is expected that work on the Thief River Falls-St. Hilaire road will be started next spring, an improvement which has been in urgent demand for some time.

Kittson County Farmers Grow Crop of Ripe Corn

(Bronson, Minn., Nov. 8)—Growing ripe corn as far north as Kittson county has been regarded as an impossibility by a majority of the farmers in this section and as a result very little effort has been made to grow corn except for fodder. However, W. H. Goede, who owns a farm four miles from Bronson, has recently finished harvesting his third successive crop of fully matured corn which yielded 45 bushels per acre from an 8-acre field, and he intends to plant about 40 acres next spring. A large number of farmers in this neighborhood have become interested in growing corn, due to Mr. Goede's repeated successes, and several hundred acres will be planted in the spring. The purchase of a large corn sheller has already been arranged for by a number of the enthusiastic farmers.

Hundreds of carloads of shelled corn has been shipped into this and adjoining counties each year in the past from southern Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota, but the time is soon here, Mr. Goede thinks, when this northern part of the state will grow sufficient corn for local needs and the possibility of shipping out a surplus looks very promising.

Y. M. C. Leader Secured; Members of Local Y. May Attend Conference at G. F.

The Y. M. C. A. board have secured the services of T. J. Carr as regular leader of the Y. While negotiating for a leader a number of business men about town volunteered their services for the work but no satisfactory degree of efficiency can be attained under continually changing leadership. Mr. Carr will devote every evening to the work.

To accommodate the members, nonmembers will not be permitted to participate in the activities of the Y. Boys between the ages of 14 and 21 years are eligible and membership applied for now will be in force until Dec. 31, 1924.

The Y. Board are also planning on sending a delegation of Y. members to Grand Forks to the Second Annual Minnesota and Dakota Older Boys Conference to be held the 16, 17 and 18 of this month. The Older Boys conferences are becoming a nationwide activity and are recognized as one of the most educational of activities for young men. Among speakers who are prominent in boys work circles are Dad Elliott of Chicago and E. W. Peck of Minneapolis.

PAY TRIBUTE TO HEROES OF WAR, LIVING OR DEAD

Large Crowds Attend Armistice Day Observances at Auditorium on Monday.

REV. WEAKLAND GIVES IMPRESSIVE ADDRESS

Former Buddy Urges Increased Respect For Constitution, Government and Laws.

The weather last Monday when Armistice Day was celebrated was not ideal for festivities, being raw and cold, but nevertheless a good showing was made and the events of the day carried out as they were planned. The out of town attendance was not as great as expected, altho there was a considerable number from nearby towns and country who partook in the evening's entertainment.

The meeting at the auditorium after a small parade was one of the main events of the day. A large crowd was assembled in the spacious hall to pay tribute to those who served their country during the terrible strife some of whom were left on the battlefield and others returning to give further service to America, and to commemorate the cessation of hostilities between the nations five years ago.

Preceding the regular program music was furnished by a band organized by the local American Legion post, after which the audience sang "Star Spangled Banner," directed by Miss Maude L. Johnson. The invocation was delivered by Rev. Chas. Gerlinger of the Presbyterian church, a Legionaire, after which the chairman, Mayor John Bratrud, requested that as a special mark of respect to the dead soldiers the audience stand in silent prayer for two minutes, during which time a quartet, composed of Miss Maude L. Johnson, Miss Thora Hanson, Dr. J. N. Nesse and Fred Niclai, sang a requiem. This was followed by another selection by the quartet, which was very well received by the large audience.

With a few remarks regarding the significance of the day Mayor Bratrud introduced the principal speaker, Rev. B. M. Weakland, assistant rector of St. Bernard's Catholic church of this city, who delivered a brief but direct address. He not only paid a fine tribute to those who offered themselves without hesitation when the call came, but also emphasized the fact that the cause for which they fought is in a large measure still to be won. While the observances of Armistice Day were being held for the purpose of honoring those who went out to battle, said the speaker, it seemed as if the country at large, perhaps unconsciously, is forgetting the services they rendered and the sacrifices they made. The former army chaplain outlined in a few words the history of the World War and our country's entry into the great struggle, reviewing the collecting of the army and navy and activities of the American forces across the pond. He maintained that an earlier finale to the war would have been possible had the American soldiers been placed under American command at the outset.

The speaker expressed himself strongly in favor of the soldier bonus as a remuneration for services rendered willingly, and emphasized that there was no contract between the government and the soldier for the sacrifice of life, those going into battle placing their entire self at the service of their country.

"There is a lesson to be learned from Armistice Day observances", Rev. Weakland said. "The nation is a school to teach love and respect for our country, laws and constitution." He stressed upon the fact that the constitution is the greatest institution in the world and that the people of today must come to the realization of greater respect for this foundation of our government.

Rev. Weakland's address was listened to with the closest attention and at the termination the large audience gave evidence of its approval.

Another song by the quartet, singing of "America" by the audience and a selection by the Legion band closed the exercises.

Following the exercises at the Auditorium a large crowd witnessed the football contest between the local high school eleven and the Warren team, the latter winning in a hard fought game by a score of 6 to 21. It was the largest number of fans that has attended any game so far this season, this being in a large degree due to the fact that all business places of the city were closed for the afternoon in observance of the day.

The evening's activities were in the hands of Legionaires and members of the Auxiliary, a well-attended dance being the big event. Carnival features also added much to the jollification of the affair. Excellent music was furnished by Snyder's four piece orchestra.

Gully Editor Buys Oslo Tribune and Opens At Middle River This Week

J. B. Sprague, editor of the Gully Advance, this week entered the ranks of Marshall county editors by publishing the first issue of the Middle River Record, a continuation of the Oslo Tribune, which was sold to him by E. M. Wilson, publisher of the Oslo paper. Mr. Sprague purchased the entire equipment of the Tribune with the exception of the linotype machine and moved it to Middle River Monday.

Middle River has been without a newspaper since the Middle River Pioneer was discontinued there this summer. R. D. V. Carr, publisher of the Middle River Pioneer, leased the paper early this spring to Mr. Wilson who published it a short time before discontinuing it.

Crowds Thrilled By Harold Lloyd Stunts at Princess

Exceptionally large crowds were thrilled at each performance of the Harold Lloyd feature picture, "Safety Last," at the Princess theatre last Sunday and Monday. It is said to have brought out more laughs and more intense excitement in the audience than any other picture shown here. Young and old alike cheered and gasped at the stunts performed by Harold Lloyd, master of comedy world. As Harold made his climb to the top of the building the audience showed its interest by breathless interest, applauding at the especially reckless acts of the comedian.

The management of the Thief River Falls Theatre company is to be commended for the high class pictures which are being shown in this city. Many of the best pictures in the film world are shown here about the same time that they are being shown in the large cities and often before many cities many times larger than Thief River Falls.

FARMER FINDS ALFALFA CROP IS SALVATION

T. J. Sumpter, Near Hazel, Discovers "Route to Prosperity" Spells "Alfalfa."

HAS 75 ACRES SEEDED INTO PROFITABLE CROP

Returns From Cows and Hogs Increased Manyfold By Growing Good Forage.

A most interesting and enlightening story of the experiences of a Pennington county farmer who came to the conclusion that the growing of alfalfa would be his means of gaining prosperity, appears in this week's issue of the Northwest Farmstead, Minneapolis farm organ. The account is written by Charles R. Hutcheson, alfalfa expert, who has been spending considerable time in this vicinity making a survey of alfalfa growing, and conveys a direct message to every farmer of this section who is aiming to better his farming methods in order to make it more profitable.

The following article reveals the secret of successful farming as found by T. J. Sumpter, a farmer residing near Hazel, who has been subject to much comment in connection with the recently launched alfalfa campaign:

"We wouldn't be living on this farm today if it wasn't for these alfalfa fields," remarked T. J. Sumpter of Pennington county, Minnesota, as he showed A. Lonson and the writer over his 75 acres of splendid alfalfa.

"Three years ago I was having a hard time to pay my taxes and interest and living expenses. Yes, we were falling behind, and each year we were getting further behind because I was losing more money each year on straight grain farming. Our entire family was getting discouraged, and the only thread of hope was a few acres of alfalfa that I had started seven years previous to these trying days. My cows gave more milk as long as the alfalfa lasted and our hogs grew more rapidly on alfalfa pasture than on any other pasture. I was fortunate also in the fact that I made my start with Grimm alfalfa seed."

This was the confession made by this farmer as he proudly described his methods of seeding alfalfa and his plans for the future.

"Last fall it seemed very doubtful whether my banker would extend further credit and let me remain on the farm. I asked him to visit the place and see what I was doing, thinking that we might work out some solution to this serious problem. When I showed him my alfalfa fields and told him the yields of alfalfa hay I secured each year, and with the hay in the mow as evidence and the number of dairy cows about to freshen, I was greatly pleased when he remarked, 'You're on the right road

"Penrod and Sam," Thrilling Boy Story to be Shown Here During Book Week, Fri.-Sat.

That as thrilling and absorbing a story can be woven about the adventures and daily life of the typical American boy as about heroic adult figures is demonstrated in "Penrod and Sam", a First National picture which is to be shown at the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday this week.

The picturization of the Booth Tarkington novel is presented here in connection with the observance of national Book Week and is particularly recommended for children in the interest of books for the younger generation.

Every "grown-up" treasures memories of his or her childhood, and are often wont to remark: "Those were the happy days." Recollection is kindly, however, and they forget the trials and tribulations which accompany the joys of the juvenile years. And every little American boy has his sorrows, his troubles and his disappointments—just as his elders have.

No writer in the world understands the boy as Booth Tarkington does, and this noted novelist has created, in Penrod Schofield, a figure as a name that has become a household word. Penrod is loved because he is a real boy.

And "Penrod and Sam" has been transferred to the screen by Director Beaudine with the same lifelike fidelity that characterizes the author's stories. The picture contains no sensational cabaret scenes, but it does produce laughter, tears, chuckles and smiles in rapid succession.

POULTRY SHOW HERE DEC. 4-7 GREATEST EVER

This Fact Is Indicated By Interest Taken In Event By Poultry Fanciers.

TREMENDOUS GROWTH OF ASS'N. IN SEVEN YEARS

Many Special Events Will Feature Great Exhibition Together With Crop Show.

The seventh annual exhibition of the Pennington County Poultry association will be held in Thief River Falls in connection with the Crop show December 4, 5, 6 and 7. Premium lists have been prepared and are being distributed this week. Poultry fanciers from all over this section are preparing their birds for entry. More interest is being evidenced in this show than in any other similar event, both by residents of this county and those residing at a distance. The various crop departments of the big show add much interest to the event.

The first annual show of the association was held seven years ago when 200 entries, many of the scrub variety, were exhibited. As many as 800 birds have been entered in later shows and the effort towards improvement has been remarkable. Entries may include any kind of foul: chickens, turkeys, geese, ducks or other domesticated members of the feathered tribe.

Breeders, feeders, farmers and all others interested in the poultry game should make it a point to attend this exhibition and become exhibitors. Entries may be made either in the farmer or professional classes, prizes to be awarded in each class separately.

The rules governing the exhibition are practically the same as those of former years. Entries must be made by December 3. Blanks and further information in regard to the show can be had from the secretary, J. J. McCann.

There will be a large number of premiums and specials, including liberal money awards and three silver loving cups for grand champion sweepstakes. The cups are awarded by the Farmers and Merchants State bank and First and Peoples State bank of this city, and the Sunnyside Poultry Yards, also of this city. A feature of the poultry division is also the boys' and girls' club department.

Attention is called to the fact that prizes will be given in proportion to the number of birds exhibited in a prize-winning entry.

A great many novel and interesting features are being arranged for in an effort to make it as educational and worthwhile as possible.

December 4th at 7:45, W. E. Stanfield, poultry expert, will talk on "The Raising of Poultry for Profit." His subject will include feeding, fattening, killing for market, marketing, etc.

December 6th at 10:00, Mr. Stanfield will explain the good qualities in all standard breeds of poultry. The leading breeders making exhibits at this show will assist Mr. Stanfield, and this part of the program will be very interesting and instructive, being in particular of great value to the beginner in the poultry game.

December 7th at 1:00, standard bred poultry, including all breeds of chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese, will be offered for sale at auction. Sale is open to all who have standard bred stock for sale and entries close at noon, December 4. When entering owner must state breed, what strain, age and whether to be sold as single, trios or pens. An auction fee of 10 per cent will be charged. Auction bills listing all sale birds will printed.

GASOLINE PRICES REDUCED ANOTHER 2 CENTS SATURDAY

Selling at Service Stations at 16.8 Cents and From Tanks At 14.8 Per Gallon.

The price of gasoline has made another tumble. It is now selling at Thief River Falls service stations for 14.8 cents per gallon instead of 16.8 cents; a drop of two cents from the price to which it was lowered following the price war waged by Governor McMaster of South Dakota in August. The new price was put into effect at the local stations last Saturday. Gasoline from tank wagons sells for 14.8 cents.

The new price of power liquid is welcomed by thousands of gasoline users, this being the lowest level reached for some time past. The second drop this fall was brought about by another step taken by the South Dakota governor when attempts were made to raise oil prices again. Threats were again made that the state would place gasoline on the market at a lower price and as a result the oil companies made the two-cent reduction effective last week.

CHAMPION CLUB WORKERS ARE AWARDED FREE TRIP

Annual Event Regarded As Of Great Importance to Future Of Agriculture.

Four hundred boys and girls, every one of them a champion calf, hog, sheep or poultry raiser in his home county, are gathered at South St. Paul this week for the 1923 Junior Livestock Show, annual wind-up classic of the boy and girl club work in Minnesota. Again, as it has been ever since the show was established six years ago, it is bigger and better than ever, according to T. A. Erickson, Agricultural College Extensionist, in charge of juvenile club work.

Three youthful Pennington county breeders, all winners in the Pennington County Sheep club, left Tuesday evening with their lambs for St. Paul to be on hand when the show opened yesterday. It will continue thru Friday. Those from this county who were awarded free trips to the Junior Livestock show this year are: Helen Satre, daughter of F. T. Satre, residing near Thief River Falls; Wallace Benson, son of Martin Benson of Thief River Falls; William Froehlich, son of Dr. Froehlich of this city; and Byron Westphal, son of L. A. Westphal, near St. Hilaire. The last named was unable to attend, however, the other three making the trip, with their Shropshire spring lambs. Byron Westphal was the winner in local poultry club work.

Miss Satre, who is at present a student at the local high school, is taking part in the state contest for the third time. In 1921 she was awarded third prize in competition with a large number of contestants, and last year she won fifth place, each year exhibiting a lamb. Her past record indicates that she will make a creditable showing this year also.

Young Benson is entering a lamb in the state show for the second time, making a good showing in last year's contest, while "Bill" Froehlich is taking part in the big event for the first time. They were all top-notchers in club work conducted in this county under the supervision of County Agent J. J. McCann.

The boys and girls this year came from 74 counties in the state, compared with 65 that were represented last year. In the calf classes, there were 326 animals entered for prizes and more than 100 "runners up" that are to be sold at auction. The hog and sheep classes show corresponding increases. A feature of the classic this year is the poultry show, in which unusual interest is manifest because of the approaching Thanksgiving holiday. N. E. Chapman, poultry specialist at University Farm, and L. W. Kube, trafic manager for the St. Paul Stockyards company, are entitled to much credit for its being an outstanding success.

Animals at the show this year have an estimated market valuation of $50,000, though the event is expected to turn considerably more money into the pockets of the county champions, as record breaking prices are expected. The sale, which will be held Friday, may start at where the bidding left off a year ago—75 cents a pound for the grand champion baby beef.

Business interests of the Twin Cities, the railroads, extension workers, county agents and others make the show possible. The budget for the event is slightly more than $10,000.

Paul Engelstad Addresses Beltrami Guernsey Breeders

Among the features of the annual meeting of Guernsey Breeders of Beltrami county in Bemidji last week, was a talk by Paul Engelstad, until recently farming near this city but now taking charge of a dairy farm near Blackduck. In an article concerning the meeting the Bemidji Sentinel comments as follows:

"Paul Engelstad of the Northern Cedar farms at Blackduck, a highly efficient dairyman also gave a good talk, his subject being "The Superiority of the Guernsey as a Dairy Breed." Mr. Engelstad predicted that Beltrami county is destined to become a noted Guernsey producing center. The herd of which Mr. Engelstad has charge is under the system of official testing under the supervision of the United States department of agriculture."

Total Cost of Operation and Maintenance For Year Is More Than $240,000.

Pennington county schools during the past school year, ending July 31, paid in salaries to teachers the sum of $130,631.25, according to the annual report prepared and submitted to the state department by O. R. Sande, superintendent of the Pennington county schools. This amount represents $86,216.77 paid by high and graded schools and the remaining $44,414.48 by the rural schools of the county. The report shows the employment of 132 teachers of which 69 teach in the high and graded while 63 are in the rural schools. Included in the former are 12 men instructors and in the latter only six.

The total enrollment of pupils in all the schools of the county was 3434; 2007 in the high and graded schools and 1427 in the rural. The average cost per pupil in the former class was $69.04 and in the latter $41.72. In computing this average, bonds, interest, buildings and new equipment are not included. The greater cost per pupil in the municipalities is due to the greater expense connected with the operation of the high school, portions of which is reimbursed by the state, as for instance the cost of the teachers' training and industrial departments.

In addition to the teachers' wages of $130,631.25 other disbursements of the county's schools for the year are as follows:

General control	$ 9,673.64
Text books and supplies	7,654.82
Library	1,082.39

Maintenance	15,071.43
Transportation of pupils	7,336.74
Other expense payments	4,167.60
Land, new buildings and equipment	2,292.43
Bonds and interest	13,176.28

The cash on hand totals $31,492.68, while the outstanding orders amount to $6,697.93 of which only $1,301.40 is against schools in the municipalities. The total disbursements including the cash on hand was $245,087.75.

The receipts for the past year as shown by Mr. Sande's report were as follows:

Cash on hand	$ 25,096.11
Apportionment	18,569.71
Annual aids	50,420.63
Special taxes	135,734.08
Local mill tax	5,130.90
Sales of books and supplies	2,157.59
Levy for interest and sinking fund	566.98
All other sources	6,411.15
Total	$245,087.75

The state aid per pupil in the high and graded schools was $20.92 and in the rural and semi-graded $5.90.

The report shows that Pennington county has 64 rural frame buildings, one brick rural building and seven brick buildings in the municipalities of Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Goodridge. There are 68 school districts in the county, upon which school buildings are located. These include three high schools.

The value of all school houses and sites, as shown by compilation of the individual reports, is $456,100; $344,000 for the high and graded and $112,100 for the rural. The bonded indebtedness was given as $392,860 for the former and $41,805 for the latter, or a total of $434,665.

Help Postal Service By Putting Into Practice Suggestions For Mailing

In connection with the arrangements for handling the mails during the approaching holiday season the post office department calls attention to the importance of obtaining the cooperation of mailers in the preparation and presentation of their Christmas parcels and other matter to be mailed at that time. To this end postmasters urge their patrons to observe the conditions enumerated below and emphasize the fact that compliance therewith will not only be helpful to the Postal Service in facilitating the prompt handling, dispatch and delivery of their mail but will result in more satisfactory service to the advantage of all concerned:

Parcels may be marked "Do not open until Christmas."

Insure valuable parcels.

Do not inclose letters with parcels, as doing so would subject the entire parcel to letter postage.

Do not use small or odd-sized envelopes.

Written greetings such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With Best Wishes," and names, numbers or symbols for the purpose of description may be inclosed with fourth class, parcel post, mail. Keep the Saved Dollar at Home

CAN you imagine six hundred million dollars?

This is about the lowest estimate of the amount lost by the people every year in fake stock-selling schemes.

In 99 cases out of 100, the fraud is represented to be some far off, distantly located project, that is to make its stockholders rich over night.

Six hundred million dollars would build much productive property and provide many useful public improvements in the course of a year.

Once paid to the army of fake stock salesmen it is dissipated for about everything else except needed development.

Frauds don't last as long as bona fide propositions among the people of the towns they are supposed to be located in.

A home business institution that has existed a good many years and is your first-hand neighbor is usually pretty solid.

When a home institution invites you to become financially interested it is not ashamed of its record. It's there for you to inspect.

The money you invest at home not only stays home, but helps to build up your community and your own opportunities.

There are plenty of actually good investments "right here at home"—no need to send your savings on a trip to distant pastures.

NEED IS STILL GREAT.

Two worthy organizations, working for the relief of suffering humanity, are now appealing for support from the citizens of this community.

Beginning Armistice Day and continuing thru the week is the time set for the seventh annual roll call of the American Red Cross. The campaign in Pennington county is being carried on under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Nesse of Thief River Falls as chairman, assisted by a committee.

A campaign of a similar nature was opened last Monday by the Salvation Army corps of this city, to secure the quota of $2,000 which it is estimated will be necessary to carry on the work of the local unit the coming year. A committee has been appointed from the Commercial club of the city, to take charge of the drive for funds.

These two organizations both serve a most splendid cause in the life of our nation and should receive the support of every citizen. Quite a number of people seem to think now that the war is over there is no longer a demand for Red Cross activities, when as a matter of fact the need never was greater. Right here in the United States the situation is such as to cause grave concern for the welfare of many who need relief. The Red Cross simply cannot stop its good work now. The Salvation Army in its activities thruout the city and community shows a large number of instances where needy individuals and families have been aided thru their efforts, and everyone is so familiar with the work of this organization that it is hardly necessary to go into details. Their workers come in direct contact with those who need help.

The demand of humanity upon the sympathies and resources of these organizations are great and it becomes essential that they be given the proper backing and support.

The dollar contributed by each individual is not a matter of great importance to each one, even in these stringent times. However, together with the neighbors' donations it means a considerable sum, which is then made an agency in the relief of suffering.

When solicitors call upon you it is well to keep these things in mind. Give them the support their work merits.

Have the churches been contributary to the stringent financial conditions of the Northwest? Hardly. In speaking of this Editor Lee in a recent issue of the Lutheran Church Herald says that the money asked for by the church has not bankrupted anyone. He says the copper cent is the church money; that the little boy is given 10, 15 or 25 cents when going to a movie, but the copper cent is enough when he goes to Sunday school, and even that is sometimes forgotten, because admission is free. The nickel goes into the contribution box, but the quarter is passed over the counter for a couple of cigars after the service.

A newspaper exchange very truthfully says: "If the patrons of the rural mail routes want good mail service next winter, now is the time to prepare for it. Weeds should not be allowed to fringe the public highways and catch the drifting snow making them almost impassable a part of the time. Cut down all the weeds along the highways and much of the unpleasantness of the winter months can be prevented. Every rural mail carrier earns twice as much as he gets during bad winter months and while he is willing to give his patrons the best of service it is asking too much to expect him to cover the route satisfactorily if he must shovel his way through the drifts. Cut down the weeds along the highways now and do your part toward making the roads better during the winter."

YES, WE'RE DIVERSIFYING.

In a recent issue of The Northwestern Bell, organ of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, Frank Bracelin, Minnesota manager of the company, is quoted as making the following statement regarding this section in a survey of agricultural conditions of the state: "Agricultural conditions in the northwestern part of the state are still disheartening, due to the consistent failure of the small grain crop and low prices. At Thief River Falls, experiments have been made to find a substitute for small grain, and it appears to have been found in sugar beets. Plans are being made to erect $2,000,000 sugar beet factory at that place."

Diversification in farming practiced by Pennington county farmers is receiving attention thruout the state. Nowhere are the farmers and business men more wideawake as to the possibilities of such crops as alfalfa, clover, sugar beets, corn and the like, in the extensive program of better farming, than here, and in a short time the development of this community will bear witness to that fact. The step taken by Pennington county bankers in the promotion of alfalfa growing will be one of the greatest agencies to this end and The Times ventures to predict real results from their action.

ELECTION RESULT IS CONTESTED BY NESS

Appeals To District Court to Act Upon Alleged Irregularities in Balloting.

Andrew Ness, alderman of the Fourth ward, yesterday filed a notice of appeal in district court for a recount of the ballots cast in the recent city election. The court is asked to set the date and place for the recount.

As grounds for contesting the election Mr. Ness alleges that the judges rejected four ballots which were properly voted for Ness; that many of the ballots cast for him were erroneously counted for O. A. Rambeck; and that several persons who could not read English were refused help to vote by the judges.

Four candidates, O. A. Rambeck receiving 139 votes, Andrew Ness receiving 136 votes, Knute Melby receiving 59, and O. L. Bakken receiving 33 votes were in the race for alderman of the Fourth ward.

STATE DEPARTMENT AWARDS ROAD WORK ON NINE PROJECTS

Prichard Co., and Minneapolis Bridge Co., Successful Bidders For Highway Jobs.

The Prichard company of this city was among the successful bidders for contracts on state trunk highway jobs when bids were opened in St. Paul Wednesday of last week on nine projects. The local concern was awarded the contract for construction of a culvert on the Thief River Falls-St. Hilaire road, Trunk Highway No. 32, for the sum of $1486. All but one culvert is included in the regular 7-mile grading project, the awards for which will be made later.

The largest bridge building contract was awarded to the Minneapolis Bridge company with offices in Thief River Falls, this being that of constructing a 270-foot bridge in Gooseberry on Trunk Highway No. 1, north of Duluth, for the amount of $53,600. The company at present is working on a large number of projects thruout the Northwest, among which are the bridges across Red Lake river at Red Lake Falls and across Rainy river at Baudette. Both will be completed this fall.

Nine important betterments on trunk highways in different parts of the state—improvements demanded by heavy travel in most cases—are covered by contracts awarded on bids last week by Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner. The list includes 60 miles of grading, 42 each of graveling and paving and 17 new bridges, all to be pushed to prompt completion.

and are bound to succeed if you keep on the alfalfa route."

"A seed crop of almost four bushels per acre brought in the gold that saved the day for the Sumpters." These were Mr. Sumpter's remarks in answer to my asking him, "What has alfalfa done for you people here on the farm?"

There are 240 acres in the Sumpter farm. He is working out a crop rotation and has a regular income from his livestock that insures him that his farm is bound to be an annual paying institution. Having been a grain farmer and having gone down in the financial depression with thousands of other farmers, but having straightened out his troubles himself and got back on the financial road to success, I asked Mr. Sumpter to explain his ideas of farming for the future.

"We came here in 1908 from Jasper county, Iowa. I did not start my alfalfa until 1916. I bought my Grimm alfalfa seed from central Cass county from Mr. Davey, and he purchased his seed from a grower in Carver county who had the original pure Grimm seed.

"I never have had any trouble with winter killing and, furthermore, I have always got a good stand of alfalfa. We now have 75 acres in alfalfa and this is about the acreage we aim to keep in alfalfa from now on. We will keep about the same acreage of sweet clover for pasture and seed production. We will use the sweet clover land in our crop rotation program as we raise about 40 acres of corn and 40 acres of small grain each year.

"We seed all our alfalfa with a nurse crop. The first two plantings we did not use a nurse crop and had considerable difficulty in keeping down the weeds until the alfalfa got a good start. I will show you gentlemen the alfalfa fields seeded with different nurse crops, one seeded with rye, one with oats, and the other with barley." In looking over these different fields there was very little difference in the stand of alfalfa.

He uses one bushel of barley or 1½ bushels of oats per acre. He seeds the alfalfa broadcast on the rye field early in the spring, and then he harrows it in with an ordinary spike-toothed harrow.

"Good Grimm seed with a well prepared seedbed on land where there has been a cultivated crop the previous year as free as possible from weeds is my advice to beginners in the growing of alfalfa in this section."

I had heard a great deal in regard to Mr. Sumpter's unusual success in farming and growing of alfalfa in Pennington county. We have heard so much about the financial troubles of the old time grain farmer, that it was indeed pleasing to find one who had found a way to get relief from his financial depression, and it was a great treat to walk over his fields and see the splendid returns that he is receiving from the "alfalfa route" on his farm. The whole family is happy. There is no more worrying about losing the old farmstead. There is no discouraged look in the face of that good, old, pioneer farmer who came north from Iowa to develop a farm home on the great fertile prairies of the Northland.

This year, $600.00 of sweet clover seed already has been sold. We found 97 bushels of pure Grimm alfalfa seed, worth about $3,000.00, in the granary. The big red barn has a mow filled with the best cow feed in the world, worth $39.00 a ton because that is the price of bran at the present time, and a ton of alfalfa hay is equal to a ton of bran for cow feed. Also, there are a lot of alfalfa stacks around on the Sumpter farm for reserve feed.

Cows, Hogs, Turkeys, Chickens.

The twenty-some good grade Guernsey cows are also doing their duty to help the Sumpter family increase their annual profits. They bring in a nice cream check every two weeks from the cooperative creamery. Out in one of the alfalfa fields we found 60 head of sleek Duroc Jersey hogs and when we approached the house, we found Mrs. Sumpter feeding sixty turkeys and a very nice flock of chickens. So here is a splendid combination with cows, hogs, chickens, turkeys, alfalfa, sweet clover, corn and small grains properly managed by a good farmer trained in the school of experience of hardships from the one line farmer method too long followed. With this combination, it is easy to see why this is a prosperous farm and a happy family. They still have plenty of hard work to do, but they are receiving good pay for their efforts.

Mrs. Nels Christofferson.

Mrs. Caren Christofferson, wife of Nels Christofferson, passed away at the home of her brother, Andrew Buringrud residing on Horace avenue, on Tuesday, cancer causing death.

Mrs. Christofferson was born in Honnefos, Norway, June 24, 1870. She married Nels Christofferson in Norway and they came to this country in 1900. For a few years they made their home south of this city and since that time have resided on the farm Mr. Christofferson now operates, five miles northeast of this city. The last three months she has made her home with her brother, Andrew Buringrud, and has been confined to her bed the greater part of the summer.

She leaves to mourn her passing her husband, two children, Adolph and Emma, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Olaus Buringrud of Norway, two sisters, Mrs. Peder Christofferson, and Mrs. Andreas Christofferson of Norway, three brothers, Andrew of this city, Ole and Ingebret of Norway.

The funeral services will be held Friday, Rev. E. O. Sabo as pastor, and interment will be made in the Silverton cemetery.

John Reitz.

John Reitz died at his home on Atlantic avenue Saturday evening after a brief illness resulting from paralysis strokes, the first of which occured a few weeks ago. The second occured two weeks ago and a third on Friday, which resulted in his death.

He was born in Germany, May 26, 1855. He came to this country at the age of 18 years. March 24, 1903 he married Miss Minnie Klockman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Klockman of Germantown. They were blessed with five children. One died at the age of nine months and George drowned in the Red Lake River June 11, 1921 at the age of 11 years.

For ten years he was employed at the saw mill here and for three years he was engaged as patrolman of a state road. The past five years he has been janitor at the Northrop school.

To mourn his passing he leaves his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Roman Paulson and Miss Remona Reitz, and one son, Elre, and also two grandchildren and two sisters in Germany.

He was a member of the Yeoman lodge for 25 years and of the Woodmen of the World for 20 years.

The funeral services were held from the home at 1:30 o'clock today and at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church. Rev. J. B. Smith officiated at the obsequies. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Among out-of-town relatives attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klockman of Writwood, this state, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Klockman of Germantown, Mr. and Mrs. John Phillip of Germantown, and Mr. and Mrs. Gunder Senum of Silverton.

He's Ever With Us.

It is said that a man who won't take his home paper because he can borrow one has invented a machine by which he can cook his dinner by the smoke of his neighbor's chimney. The same fellow sits in the back pew in church to save interest on his contributions and is always borrowing a ride to town to save the wear and tear on his own "lizzie." Yes, we know him. He is a first cousin of the man who used the wart on the back of his neck for a collar button.

The Biggest "Trust."

Oliver J. Quane, editor of the Herald at St. Peter, Minn., says the biggest trust on earth is the country newspaper. It trusts everybody, gets cussed for trusting, mistrusted for cussing, and if it busts for trusting, gets cussed for busting.

Pennington county has a number of alumni from the Northwest School and several intend to take part in the home coming festivities.

Present "Till Sæters".

A cast of local talent presented the Norwegian comedy, "Til Sæters" at Gully last Saturday evening, the entertainment being attended by a capacity house. The play was well received as were also the feature numbers which included piano selections by Miss Doris Halvorson, vocal solos by Mrs. O. F. Mellby and duets by Dr. P. L. Vistaunet and B. Dan Bjorkman.

The trip to Gully was made by automobiles, the players returning the same night.

For One.

The speaker waxed eloquent and, after his peroration on women's rights he said: "When they take our girls, as they threaten, away from the coeducational college, what will follow? What will follow, I repeat?"

And a large masculine voice in the audience replied, "I will."

Northwest A. C. Shows Increase In '23 Enrollment

The enrollment at the Northwest School, Crookston, is showing a decided gain over that of last year. However, due to the excellent weather this fall, more work has been completed on the farms, preventing many students from entering at the beginning of the year. Many requests have come for permission to enter the school about November first. The Northwest School announces that it will make special provisions for new students and that they may enroll Monday, October 29. The boys and girls who enter at that time will be placed in separate classes and will be able to complete a term's work of study.

Since the school is a state institution, practically the only expense is for board and room. Anyone who has completed the common school may enroll October 29 without any age requirement. Others may come if they are at least sixteen years of age.

A variety of courses are open to both boys and girls including also courses for meeting college and university entrance requirements. Opportunity is also given to take private music lessons. Fiftyfour are now enrolled for vocal or piano instruction.

Any Times readers who are planing to avail themselves of this opportunity to still enter school this fall should write the Northwest School at Crookston for room reservation and further information.

OUT OF THE GLOOM

A bad back makes you gloomy.

Can't be happy with continual backache.

The aches and pains of a bad back

Are frequently due to weak kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended for weak kidneys.

So Thief River Falls citizens testify. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. Jas. Becker, 709 St. Paul Ave., Thief River Falls, says: "I had awful headaches and pains in my back and neck. At times I suffered from shortness of breath and my kidneys were irregular in action. I was nervous, tired and became discouraged. [illegible] Doan's Kidney Pills [illegible] and it wasn't long before I was [illegible]." (Statement given Nov. 26, 1917.)

Good-Will

SHAKESPEARE appraised good-will at its true value when he said:

"Who steals my purse steals trash;
'tis something, nothing;
'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands;
But he that filches from me my good name
Robs me of that which not enriches him
And makes me poor indeed."

It is good-will that has made the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) great.

Good-will is prized more highly by the Management of this Company than any other factor or element in the business.

Good-will is born of confidence.

Confidence is the inevitable result of ability to serve—proved over long periods of time.

In short, good-will is the child of Service.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) long ago became convinced that when service is rendered to the public, profits follow—as surely as night follows day.

The more whole-souled, the more energetic, the more enthusiastic the service, the greater the profits.

Service is interpreted in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to mean something more than the perfunctory delivery of petroleum products.

It means going to any lengths to get Standard Oil products to the consumer, wherever he may be, in such quantities as may be desired—whether in thousand gallon lots or five gallon lots.

It means the highest standard of quality in manufacture and the maintenance of this standard at all times.

It means exerting every atom of facilities at the Company's command, to discover and develop new products from crude petroleum that will add to the comforts and refinements of life.

It is this enthusiastic spirit of intensive service—plus the every day practice of the principles of equity, fairness and justice—manifest at every point of contact between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the public—that has gained for this Company the good-will, respect and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

EDUCATION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED HERE

Visiting Week In Schools, Talks At Theatre, and Big Parade To Be Features.

The third week in November, from the 18th to the 23rd, has been set aside as National Education Week, for the purpose of stimulating interest in school work. On Sunday, the first day, the pastors of the various churches will start the movement by delivering sermons on the subject of education.

Each day of the week has been assigned to a special school as follows:

Monday—Knox Day.
Tuesday—Central Day.
Wednesday—Washington Day.
Thursday—Northrop Day.
Friday—Lincoln Day.

All week is to be visiting week, but parents and friends are asked to visit on the day especially assigned to that particular school they wish to visit. Lincoln High is planning an unusually good program for the special assembly to be called on Friday.

Mr. Brumund has given the use of the Princess Theatre for two 4-minute speeches each evening between the comedy and the feature of each show. The speakers for each evening are:

Monday—Mrs. Daniel Shaw, Woman's Club; Glendon Larson of the Eighth grade.

Tuesday—David Robinson, American Legion; Eunice Carlson of the Sixth grade.

Wednesday—Supt. I. T. Simley, City Schools; Morris Owen of the seventh grade.

Thursday—E. O. Mogensen, Board of Education; Hylda Peterson, Illiteracy Day.

Friday—Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Commercial Club; Melvin Engelstad, Community Day.

Saturday—L. M. Rayson, Parent-Teachers Association; Math Barzen, Physical Education.

On one of the days of the week a parade will be held, starting from the Central school, winding through the business section of town, and ending at the High School, with a flag retreat.

The several schools are planning excellent programs to be carried on throughout the week, and special attractions for their days. It is expected that a great deal of interest will be stimulated here, as well as in other parts of the country, with such a program for the week.

Big Crowd at Game.

The biggest crowd that has attended any football game here this season, witnessed the post-season conflict with Warren high school on Armistice day. Lincoln high school turned out almost a hundred percent strong and the townspeople made the best showing of the year.

The three hundred tickets that were printed before the game were quickly sold and improvised tickets had to be used all day Monday and at the gate. Special mention should be made of Melvin Peterson, who sold 69 tickets, and John Sether, who sold 52.

The total receipts for the game amounted to $127.05. The remainder, after all the expenses are paid, will go a long ways toward helping the high school athletic fund for the basket ball season.

Keep To the Right

While the students are passing to their respective classes there is always "pushing and jamming." Let us try and better this condition. To whatever class you are going or leaving, be it on the right or left side of the hall, "keep to the right." If we all have the idea in mind of dashing across anywhere, there is bound to be collisions. Let us all try to avoid this by "keeping to the right."

'24 Prowler Staff Holds First Meeting of Year

The Prowler staff met for the first time last Wednesday, Nov. 7, and discussed the ways to turn out the best Prowler. All members of the staff were instructed to collect jokes and snap shots and to begin work for their respective departments. The first material is to be handed in Tuesday evening, the day set for Prowler meetings. Later in the year, when there is more work to be done, the staff will meet two evenings every week.

Mr. Bye, senior class advisor and head of the Prowler staff, discussed the possibilities for a prize-winning annual. He has had much experience in this line, so that the class will profit by his aid to former staffs and also by the past Prowlers turned out by Lincoln High. With his aid, with the hard work of the competent staff, and the co-operation of the entire student body, there is no reason why the finest kind of a Prowler should not be turned out by the class of '24.

LINCOLN DEFEATED BY WARREN 21 TO 6

Warren Defeats Thief River First Time in History of Schools in Monday's Game.

Last Monday the Warren High football team defeated the locals by a score of 21 to 6. The Lincolnites made their touchdown by a pass from Parenteau to Sether in the first quarter.

First Quarter.

Warren kicked off to Penney, who returned the ball 8 yards. A line plunge netted 3 yards, another one yard, and then Parenteau made 7 yards, giving Thief River Falls first down. The Lincolnites punted after a four yard loss on an end run. Warren was penalized and then gained 4 yards. An end run for 20 yards gave them their first touchdown. The place kick for goal succeeded. Warren kicked off and Gavin returned 20 yards. Thief River Falls fumbled for a 15 yard loss. Parenteau punted. Warren made slight gains through the line and punted after being penalized off side. Lundell blocked punt, but Warren recovered. Warren punted again after losing ground. A pass to Sether gave Thief River Falls a touchdown but the drop kick for point was unsuccessful. Locals kicked off to Warren, who punted after making no gains. Parenteau returned 5 yards, Penney gained 25 yards, and Sether gained 20.

Second Quarter.

Locals kicked after no gains and a fumble. Warren made 5 yards on line plunge and then went over for their second touchdown with a 70 yard run. Warren kicked to Parenteau who returned the ball 20 yards. Zeh gained 8 yards. Locals fumbled and Warren recovered. Warren fumbled and Thief River recovered. Lincolnites punted after making slight gains. Warren made first down on an end run and first half ended with ball in Warren's possession and score 14 to 6 in her favor.

Third Quarter.

Locals kicked ball and it was returned 7 yards. Warren gained 3 yards on line plunges and went over for their touchdown. The place kick for point succeeded. Warren kicked off and Sether returned 25 yards. Thief River gained 20 yards on pass to Penney, 15 yards to Sether, and then punted after a fumble. Warren failed to make their downs and ball went to locals. Warren intercepted a pass but made no gains on two line plunges. They completed a pass but failed to make 10 yards and lost ball to locals. Completed pass to Penney brought a gain of 11 yards. First down was made on line plunges. Warren was penalized 15 yards for roughness. Sether gained 8 yards.

Fourth Quarter.

Warren intercepted a forward pass. 15 yards gained on an end run and 3 yards on a line plunge. Warren punted outside. Completed pass to Zeh and line plunge made it first down. Pass to Sether completed, netted 3 yards. First down gained by two successive line plunges. Parenteau gained 20 yards on line plunge. Warren recovered ball on fumble and punted. Line plunges gave first down. Pass to Barzen was completed. The game ended with score 21 to 6.

The locals were beaten by a heavier and more experienced team, and as they fought hard all during the game, they have no alibi to offer for their defeat.

Prof. Cochran Entertains Students at Fri. Chapel

Prof. I. M. Cochran of Carleton college gave two very interesting burlesque sketches before last Friday's assembly and received a storm of applause from the students. Prof. Cochran proved a very interesting impersonator and many of those who heard him determined to go to his evening performance.

Prof. Cochran first gave a sketch on the old time New England debate meetings, in which he impersonated the speech and manner of the various villagers of that time. This met with enthusiastic applause and in the encore Prof. Cochran gave another interesting impersonation of a typical rustic's battle of wits with a trio of big-town typists. Prof. Cochran imitated the once familiar stage-hick to perfection and retired from the stage amid a storm of applause from the student body.

Lincoln High was fortunate in securing such an excellent entertainer as Prof. Cochran for chapel period, and the enjoyment of the student body was evidenced by their enthusiastic applause.

Annual C. I. P. A. Meeting At Madison Nov. 30-Dec. 1

The annual convention of the Central Interscholastic Press Association will be held in Madison, Wis., Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. The high schools of the various states send delegates to this convention who enter their magazines, newspapers and annuals in the contest.

The association was organized in 1921, the purpose being to assist school publications. It now has over 600 publications in forty-four states and Canada, Hawaii, and British Honduras. This year it is publishing a monthly magazine, "The Scholastic Editor."

Each year it holds several contests on the important features of a school paper.

Barzens Give Banquet For All Football Boys

Last Tuesday evening the football boys were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Math Barzen, at a 6:30 o'clock dinner. The table was arranged in the form of the letter "T". The decorations were in red and blue, the high school colors, and presented a very attractive appearance.

After the "big feed," which the boys did thorough justice to, each one was called on for a little speech. Only those present know the great oratorical ability of some of our boys such as Tien Gullingsrud, Roy Langevin, and little Eddie Kiland. The keynote of the speeches was that, even tho our boys have won no games this season they know they have played the game square and are looking forward to a brilliant basketball season.

Cards and radio music were the entertainment for the rest of the evening. Those present besides the football boys of the first and second teams were: Coach Thune, Lawrence Mickelson, Morris Bye, Lester Gus, and Rev. Weakland of St. Bernard's church.

Mrs. Barzen was assisted in serving by Eileen Arneson, Elsie Blair, Hazel Krause, Hylda Peterson, Olga Lokken, and her daughter, Katherine Barzen.

High School Party To Be Held Friday Eve. In Gym

HIGH SCHOOL PARTY

An all high school party will be held Friday evening, Nov. 16, at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium of the high school.

The greatest part of the program will consist of stunts given by the different classes. These will be conducted on a competitive basis and are expected to be very good as each class is working hard to give the best entertainment. An auto polo game will also add to the entertainment of the evening.

Mrs. T. E. Sweger, Mrs. R. Arnold and Mrs. J. O. Sether will act as patronesses and A. C. Matheson, Miss Mildred Nelson, and Miss Minnie S. Leavitt as chaperones.

The small admission fee of 15 cents will be charged, to cover the cost of the refreshments.

As this is the first party of this kind this year it is hoped that everyone who possibly can will attend.

LOCAL SCHOOLS TO OBSERVE EDUCATION WEEK NOV. 18 TO 24

Big Parade and Special Visiting Day at Each School Will Be Features.

Extensive plans are being laid to observe Education Week, Nov. 18 to 24, in a fitting manner in the Thief River Falls schools. The plans for the observance of this week in the local schools are based mainly on those formulated by the United States Bureau of Education, the National Education Association, and the American Legion.

The entire week has been designated as visiting week. There will be special days on which the visiting of particular schools will be emphasized. Monday, Nov. 19, will be known as Knox day; Tuesday, Central day; Wednesday, Washington day; Thursday, Northrop day; and Friday, Lincoln day. Short special exercises will be given in all the schools every day of the week. A big program is being planned in the high school for Friday, Nov. 23, which is Lincoln day.

One big feature of the week will be a huge parade in which all the pupils and the teachers in the local schools will take part. The exact day on which this parade will take place has not been set.

Arrangements are also being made to secure one four-minute speaker for each evening performance at the Princess Theatre during that week. These speakers will represent different civic organizations and will speak on some subject appropriate to Education Week.

With such a program as this outlined Education Week will, no doubt, be a memorable week for the schools of Thief River Falls.

Normal Notes.

The girls of the Normal Training department spent last Monday afternoon observing class work in districts No. 4 and 26 east of Hazel.

Practice teaching in the Fourth grade language and spelling was started last Monday in the Knox and Washington buildings.

Do you realize that a great deal of what you achieve depends upon how much you read the newspapers? But why? All of you have noticed that our leaders are men who watch the papers, and are well acquainted with every important problem. Maybe you think that those far-away problems don't affect you any, but they really do. They are not as far away as they seem, and if you don't investigate, how can you know whether they affect you or not?

You think that to read up on the important things in the paper, means an extra task, but take for an example the comic section, or the sport page; how many of us don't turn to that involuntarily and read it all? We are so well acquainted with the football and baseball stars, and prize fighters that the most complicated quiz could not stick us.

The citizen who is at the head of all our organizations, follows up every national as well as international problem, and is as well acquainted with all those things as you or I are with sports or "Andy and Min."

If you once begin to read up on the popular issues you become so interested in them that you follow them up and voice your own opinions on foreign and domestic affairs, and not only on those in your immediate vicinity. Some of us don't even do the latter. It is too bad, but we, who don't, are fine beginners of failure. You can't be a leader unless you are informed on current topics. Read much and [illegible] everything and you will become an intelligent citizen.

COCHRAN'S READING PLEASES AUDIENCE

Appreciative Crowd Hears Carleton Professor's Version of "The Man of the Hour."

Last Friday evening at 8 o'clock, Prof. I. M. Cochran gave a highly entertaining reading entitled, "The Man of the Hour," in the high school auditorium.

This is a play which deals mainly with political corruption and bribery and how a young man was elected to be a mayor through the influence of the town's political boss, who hoped to make use of him for personal gain after the election. When the young mayor refused to be "worked" or bribed and stuck to his own convictions and what he believed to be right he proved himself to be truly "The Man of the Hour."

Though the audience was much smaller than an entertainment of this kind deserved, nevertheless it was a highly appreciative one. Prof. Cochran is a reader of exceptional ability, and his impersonation of the various characters was remarkable. His ability to change from one character to another with little or no effort was one of the most striking phases of his performance.

Everyone who attended "The Man of the Hour" was greatly pleased and it is to be regretted that more did not take advantage of the opportunity to hear Prof. Cochran.

Northrop Notes.

John Reitz, janitor at the Northrop building, died at his home on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 10. Death was due to a stroke of paralysis. The teachers and pupils of the Northrop school extend their heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Reitz and family.

Miss Frank was absent from school on Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. Mrs. Matheson substituted during her illness.

Mrs. Robarge and Mrs. Carlson visited school on Thursday afternoon, and Mrs. Heggan visited school Monday morning.

The fifth annual Children's Book Week, is held this week, Nov. 11 to 17. It gives opportunity to impress upon parents and teachers, and all organizations concerned with children, the importance of books for our boys and girls during the years when tastes and habits are formed.

A good book is an excellent companion.—Emilie Poulsson.

Books are keys to wisdom's treasure;
Books are gates to lands of pleasure;
Books are paths that upward lead;
Books are friends; come, let us read.

Mrs. Robarge and Mrs. Carlson visited Miss Lura's room last Thursday.

The marching penant was awarded to the Sixth grade this week.

Gordon Overland will represent the Sixth grade in the program to be given by the Northrop school next Thursday at the library.

Mrs. Quale visited the Fifth grade Thursday afternoon.

The children have been very busy the past week making posters for Book Week.

Ithiel Sweger was elected in Miss Ryan's Fifth grade to represent the class in the program at the library next Thursday evening. He will give a sketch of Andrew Carnegie's life.

Normal Notes.

The Normal Training Department was closed the past week while Miss Stapleton attended the Normal Training conference and M. E. A. at St. Paul. During this time the girls prepared extra work in penmanship, story-telling and read professional and fiction books.

Mrs. Prichard (in economics) "Name the two kinds of banks we have."

Knox Notes.

(Crowded out last week.)

Pupils of the Knox are improving right along in speed in their fire drill. They have now increased twenty seconds in time clearing their building in forty seconds. No fast running takes place.

Pupils of the Knox building will give a thirty minute program in the basement of the library, Monday evening, Nov. 12. This week being book week, all buildings will do likewise.

Marie Wallen has been transferred from the third grade at the Knox to the Washington.

Ruth Cronkhite has been absent on account of illness.

The goblins visited grade four Wednesday afternoon and surprised everybody. Peanuts, cookies and apples were enjoyed, while jack-o-lanterns lit up the room. Riddles and stories were told.

The first grade enjoyed a Hallowe'en party Wednesday afternoon.

Minnie Egeland has gone to Idaho to live.

The fifth grade was sorry to lose three of their number this week, Thora and Earl Berg who go to Erskine to make their new home and Earl Hoppa, who moved to the West side and will attend the Northrop school.

One division of the fifth grade is busy studying about "The Thrifty Beaver." Much interest is shown and all are busy getting information.

Ruben Wallen of grade four, left Friday to attend a rural school near Holt.

The following pupils are absent from school on account of illness: Herbert Haroldson, Joan Neset, Henry Jones and Leonard Elden.

The pupils of Miss Aaseng's third grade room and those of Miss Saugen's room enjoyed a Hallowe'en party together Wednesday afternoon.

Questions Freshmen Have Been Know To Ask:

1. Don't we have recess this year?
2. Do the janitors teach any class?
3. Is there a difference between a hot water bottle and a bottle of hot water?
4. Does anybody read the notes in the wastepaper basket?
5. Do the Seniors ever flunk?
6. Does the "Joke Editor" ever find anything to write about the Freshies?

Senior—"So that's your new necktie eh? A trifle loud, isn't it?"

Junior—"It's all right—when I put on a muffler."

ALFALFA BOOSTING SPREADING THRU NORTHERN COUNTIES

Enthusiastic Meetings Are Held In Red Lake, Marshall and Roseau Counties.

A series of meetings in the interest of increasing alfalfa acreage in this section are being held at various points. Last Friday Roseau farmers met at the county seat to hear an address by Carles R. Hutcheson of the Northwest Farmstead, staff alfalfa expert, on the possibilities of growing the crop in that community. An enthusiastic meeting of farmers and boosters gathered at Middle River Saturday evening, where a similar meeting was held, sponsored by the Commercial club of that place. Mr. Hutcheson was the principal speaker, J. S. Arneson of this city also addressing the gathering. In addition to this a number of successful alfalfa and sweet clover growers discussed their experiences along this line.

Definite action by business men and farmers will be taken in Marshall and Roseau counties in an effort to get the largest acreage possible in the respective counties. The bankers are uniting in backing the movement and are pledging themselves to aid the growers in getting a start in alfalfa growing.

Meetings of a like nature were held at Brooks on Tuesday and Red Lake Falls yesterday. This evening a meeting has been scheduled for Oklee and another will be held at Plummer tomorrow, Friday evening. Mr. Hutcheson takes part in all the gatherings to discuss the problems of alfalfa growing. This phase of the diversified farming program was also given a big boost in Red Lake county at a meeting of the Red Lake Falls Commercial club last week.

It is evident that the campaign for more acres of alfalfa in this section is creating more interest and attention than any other line of farming engaged in by farmers here. In every community they are unanimous in their endorsement of the idea, as are also all the bankers and business men.

Holstein Cow at A. C. Makes Splendid Record

A noteworthy production record was made recently in the herd of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston by a purebred Holstein cow, Dera Mercedes Canary De Kol, according to an official announcement made by the advanced registry office of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

At the age of four years and nine months she produced 19527.5 pounds of milk containing 771.98 pounds of butterfat equal to 964.9 pounds of butter in one year.

Testing for the advanced registry is one of the two chief agencies for improving the capacity of dairy cows. The other is the cow testing association. The latter aids the farmer-dairyman to size up his herd, cull out the undesirable animals and put his dairy on a paying basis. The former, testing of purebred cows for advanced registry, sorts out the most desirable cows and bulls for the improvement of the breed. Purebred bulls from cows holding advanced registry records are in demand for the further improvement of dairy herds in cow testing associations.

New Creamery Is Under Construction In Bemidji

Bemidji will have a new creamery in the near future, according to an announcement made recently. Contract for the general construction work on the building of the Blue Valley creamery has been awarded to a Staples contractor for the sum of $31,449, work on the building to commence at once. It is expected that it will be enclosed by the time the cold weather sets in, bids for mechanical construction to be received in about a month. The management hopes to operate the new building about the first of the year.

The new building will cover a ground space of 60 by 129 feet and will be two stories high. The latest creamery equipment obtainable will be installed, making it one of the finest plants of its kind in the state.

Among the bidders for the construction work on the building was C. M. Carlson, Thief River Falls contractor, whose bid was $34,982. Mr. Carlson has been active in erecting a new creamery at Roseau.

DELEGATION TO RED LAKE FALLS BOOSTS ALFALFA

Business Men of This City Are Guests of Commercial Club At Booster Meeting.

MANY SPEAKERS EXPOUND GREAT VALUE OF ALFALFA

Movement For Better Farming Methods Must Be Made Thruout This Section.

The following account of the alfalfa booster meeting held at Red Lake Falls Wednesday of last week, which was attended by a delegation from Thief River Falls, was given in the Red Lake Falls Gazette:

"Alfalfa is the crop that will bring back prosperity to this section of the state, by increasing the quantity of dairy products, returning fertility to the soil, and driving out the sow thistle, according to Charles Hutcheson, one of the editors of the Northwest Farmstead, and J. S. Arneson, editor of the Thief River Falls Tribune, who addressed the members of the Red Lake Falls Commercial club at their November meeting on Wednesday night at the Lincoln Hotel. A duck and turkey dinner was served shortly after 7 o'clock and it was a dandy. Including visitors sixty-one were present.

A delegation of twelve Thief River Falls business men headed by Mayor-elect Arneson, came down to boost the alfalfa game, and four came over from Plummer. The members of the Red Lake County board were also present.

The following comprised the Thief River Falls delegation: J. S. Arneson, L. R. Johnston, Roy Lambert, E. O. Mogensen, H. A. Brumund, F. J. Stebbins, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Willis Akre, Theo. Thronson, Albert Lonson, Geo. M. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Nels Christianson. The Plummer delegation consisted of Henry Enderle, Harry Booren, J. W. Panten and J. G. Hagen.

Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president of the Thief River Falls Commercial club was the first speaker and spoke on the need of co-operation in this district to get all farmers to raising alfalfa which is in the long run to the benefit of everyone who lives in the community. Dr. Froehlich just recently returned from Iowa and says that 80 per cent of Iowa farms are mortgaged and 25 per cent of Iowa farmers are renters. The opportunities for the farmer are greater here than there, he said.

J. S. Arneson made a splendid address in which he called for more optimism and more boosting from residents of this section. The dissatisfaction with agricultural conditions, the pessimism and fault-finding will not benefit the country, he said. Too many condemnatory remarks go unchallenged, he said, and knockers are not as effectively combatted as they should be. He urged the people of Red Lake county to get wholeheartedly behind the alfalfa campaign and praised the bankers for their progressive stand in offering to loan seed to the farmers of the county without interest. Mr. Arneson told of his visit to a large alfalfa farm at McFarland in California that has made its owner a millionaire.

Theo. M. Thronson, general manager of the Pennington County Crop and Poultry show to be held at Thief River Falls the first week in December, extended a general invitation to Red Lake county people to attend.

Charles Hutcheson of the Northwest Farmstead, made the most extended address of the evening. He told of the origin of the Grimm and Cossack alfalfa and why they are superior to other varieties, their extensive roots preventing winter-killing. He spoke of the need for inoculating the seed. He told of the value of alfalfa as a food for all livestock except work horses, but more especially for cattle and said that it contained 76 per cent of digestible proteins as against 50 per cent in clover. Alfalfa once planted grows forever while clover must be planted every two years, he said.

There are about 1,600,000 cows in Minnesota but only 1000,000 acres of alfalfa, he said. The Northwest Farmstead is conducting a campaign with the goal of "An acre of alfalfa for every cow." If there were an acre for every cow the value of dairy products would be increased $30,000,000, he stated. The soil in Red Lake, Pennington and parts of other counties in this immediate section were especially adapted for alfalfa culture, he said, since it contains the necessary quantity of lime. Mr. Hutcheson told of individual instances of farmers who are making a great success in raising alfalfa."

NINTH DIST. FARM-LABOR GROUP WILL FORM FEDERATION

Attorney Naplin of This City Chosen Chairman at Crookston Meeting Sunday.

As the result of Sunday's meeting at Crookston of representatives of the progressive element from most of the counties in the ninth Minnesota congressional district plans are underway for the formation of a Ninth District Farmer-Labor Federation. Tentative organization details were worked out at the meeting there with the election of Oscar Naplin, of Thief River Falls, former state senator, as district chairman. An executive committee will be named to work out permanent details.

In additoin to starting organization work the session adopted a resolution calling upon Governor Preus to convene a special session of congress to investigate the action of the state tax commission in remitting to the iron mining companies $1,791,000 in penalties occurred in the occupational tax.

They declared in their resolution which was forwarded to the governor that this remittance "constitutes a betrayal of the trust placed in them as public officers and malfeasance in office."

Congressman Knute Wefald, of Hawley, was the principal speaker at the meeting.

ASSIST SALVATION ARMY IN MAKING DRIVE FOR FUNDS

Campaign Sponsored By Commercial Club Is Extended Another Week.

The drive for funds for the local corps of the Salvation Army sponsored by the Commercial club of this city, started this week, but will continue an additional week owing to the unfavorable weather, according to announcement by the committee yesterday.

Solicitors who have canvassed parts of Thief River Falls state that they have met with hearty support and liberal donations from the citizens of the city. Those in charge of the campaign have as their aim to see every person in the city and hope to be able to secure sufficient funds before the drive is closed.

Hearty support of the Salvation Army's Home Service fund appeal for 1924, now being made in various cities and towns throughout Minnesota, was given by Governor J. A. O. Preus in a public endorsement.

"May I express the hope that the people of Minnesota will give liberally towards the Home Service fund for which the Salvation Army is conducting its annual appeal," the endorsement reads.

"We gained a better insight into the value of the Salvation Army's services during the World War. We should give toward this fund if it were but to show our appreciation of what they did then. But we should give principally because of the good which will be accomplished with this fund.

"The Salvation Army reaches thousands of cases which can be reached by no other agency. Needy families are given aid and friendship. Friendless persons are saved from suicide and crimes. Erring young women are given medical, moral and financial assistance. Many poor children are given a brighter outlook on life through vacation days spent at Salvation Army fresh air camps.

All those who are interested in better citizenship and who desire to help the homeless, penniless and friendless, should give their aid and encouragement to this work of the Salvation Army."

Help the Postal Service.

Postmaster General New is right in urging people not to use odd-sized cards in sending Christmas greetings. Such cards cannot be handled through the cancelling machines and, therefore, delay the mails. It would not be a bad idea to charge extra postage on mail that is either too large or too small to go through a cancelling machine. In lieu of that, there might be a general rule that odd-sized cards and letters will be laid aside until after all other mail is handled. If there is to be delay at all, the mail that causes the delay should be the first to suffer.

A fine line of Christmas Greeting Cards to choose from at the Times.

Director of Local T. B. Institution To Become Associated With Bratrud at Warren.

RESIGNATION BECOMES EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1

Dr. Milan Has Had Charge of Tri-County Sanatorium During Past 4½ Years.

Dr. M. Geo. Milan, for the past four and a half years medical director of the Oakland Park Sanatorium near the city, last week tendered his resignation to the board of directors, the resignation being accepted by the board at a meeting last Thursday. Dr. Milan announces his intentions of joining the Drs. Bratrud and Maland at Warren, the resignation to take effect the first of the year.

The board regrets the departure of Dr. Milan, as does also the city and community as a whole. He has been connected with Oakland Park almost from the time the tri-county sanatorium was established, and has succeeded in building up one of the foremost institutions of its kind in the state. He is generally regarded as a specialist of the highest degree and as such has been instrumental in doing a great work for the patients at the sanatorium and the community at large. In his new affiliations he will continue his work along the lines of lung specialist, Dr. Theo. Bratrud regarding the departing sanatorium head as one of the leading specialists of his kind in the country, and will be a splendid addition to the Warren clinic.

"Even though I am leaving this institution my interest in it shall continue and I shall continue to be at its service," was a statement made by Dr. Milan upon his resignation. He is not only an exceptional physician but has also been one of Thief River Falls' most active citizens during his stay here.

Dr. Milan came to Minnesota from New York state about a year previous to his coming to this city. He became assistant secretary of the State Advisory Commission and in connection with his commission activities did some work at the Walker State sanatorium. He attracted the attention of the board of the local institution and was secured here in 1919 as medical director. In addition to that position he has also served as superintendent during the past year and a half and has accomplished much in the way of placing the Oakland Park Sanatorium on a good financial basis.

He also served overseas as captain in the British Army in the World War. GREAT INTEREST IN NEW PICKFORD FILM

Marked Enthusiasm Over "Tess of the Storm Country" Coming to Princess Theatre.

Seldom has there been shown such a marked interest in a forthcoming photoplay as that evinced by local theatre-goers since the first announcement of the coming of Mary Pickford in her own and a new version of "Tess of the Storm Country," a united Artists release which will be the attraction at the Princess Theatre Sunday and Monday. It is perhaps the combination of a favorite star in a favorite play which makes this screen event so notable.

It is well known that this celebrated star has gone to a great expense in reproducing "Tess of the Storm Country" because of her ambition to improve upon it to such an extent as to insure its popularity in posterity. Critics throughout the country agree she has succeeded in her purpose and it is freely predicted this great film drama will live as long as there is such a thing as a motion picture screen.

Miss Pickford's wonderful ability to run the gauntlet of human emotions with so much natural realism is the secret of her unprecedented success as an exponent of the cinema art.

In this epochal photoplay she is surrounded by a supporting cast of exceptional brilliance. Lloyd Hughes in the leading male role, and Gloria Hope as Teola Graves are especially good while David Torrence, Forrest Robinson and Danny Hoy, all give excellent performances.

Baffle "Old Man Winter"

He exacts a heavy toll from automobiles. His favorite plan of attack is to prevent the forces of lubrication from functioning.

His success or failure depends entirely upon the quality of lubricating oil that you use. If you use inferior oil you can't beat him; your car will be hard to start; batteries and starter will be strained severely; the frictional and bearing surfaces of your car may lock; you will be wasting power because your pistons are not sealed—but if you then you will have every frictional surface covered with a cushion of oil.

Use

Polarine

Your car will start readily, especially so if you use Red Crown Gasoline.

You will have power and you will not waste any, for Polarine seals your pistons against loss of power.

Polarine is designed to render a superior service — it flows freely at extremes of temperature—it has the correct viscosity—it will not break down—it will function always.

Consult chart on the left for the correct grade of Polarine for your car.

Drain your crank case every five hundred miles and refill with Polarine—it is the essence of economy.

Much interest is evidenced in the various departments of the exhibition by prospective exhibitors, a number of entries already having been made at the county agents office. Inquiries are being received regarding the poultry show from fanciers in the southern part of the state, Wisconsin and the Dakotas, assuring an unusually large display of all domestic birds. It is also certain that the display by local exhibitors will this year be larger than ever before. It is to be noted that there will be two classes—the professional and the farmers class—so that the latter will not have to compete with specialists. James Dreelan has already announced that he will have a large display of turkeys and ducks.

There will be special features for each day, able speakers having been secured for every session. Detailed parts of the program will be announced next week.

Attractive prizes will be awarded in every division, a total of $1,000 having been secured for this purpose.

On December 5 registered purebred hogs of all breeds will be sold at public auction and on the 7th standard purebred poultry, an opportunity of which every farmer who wishes to improve his herd or flock, should avail himself.

RURAL SCHOOLS OF COUNTY OBSERVING EDUCATIONAL WEEK

Enthusiastic Meetings Well Attended. Gerlinger, Bye, Simley and Sande Speak.

American Education Week, which opened last Monday, is being observed thruout the rural schools of the county as well as in the city schools. Special assignments and studies are made in each individual school in accordance with the program outlined for each day of the week and in addition special programs and gatherings are being held in the various sections or groups of schools. Eight of the twelve Pennington county sections arranged meetings during the week, the sectional leaders and the other teachers in the districts comprising the section, having charge of affairs.

Much interest has been evidenced at all the meetings held so far, according to O. R. Sande, superintendent of the county schools. Much enthusiasm has been aroused by the special speakers who have addressed the large gatherings and it is certain that education in Pennington county has been given a good boost by the observance of this national week. The speakers stressed more and better education and urged the boys and girls of the country to avail themselves of the opportunity to acquire more knowledge and be better prepared and equipped to meet life's problems.

Two meetings were held on Monday evening, the opening of the special week. The gathering in district No. 137 Numedal township, was addressed by Rev. Chas. Gerlinger, pastor of the local Presbyterian church, and Morris Bye, principal of the Lincoln high school, spoke at a meeting in district 180, Bray township. At both places the school houses were filled to capacity. Tuesday evening Rev. Gerlinger spoke to a capacity house at Hazel while Supt. Sande was the principal speaker at the gathering in the Aubol school, district No. 64, Rocksbury township. Last evening an enthusiastic meeting was staged at the school house in district No. 57, Principal Bye being the special speaker. A basket social was a feature of the event. Contests of various kinds also provide entertainment at practically all the meetings.

The Kratka schools will observe Education Week jointly by a meeting in district No. 11 with Principal Bye as the speaker of the evening. Three gatherings have been scheduled for Saturday evening of this week. Rev. Gerlinger will speak at the school house in district No. 53, Cloverleaf township; Supt. Sande in district No. 26, Smiley; and Supt. Simley in district No. 73, Sanders township.

CO. COMMISSIONERS INSPECT MANY ROAD JOBS AT MEET WED.

Grading of Highlanding Road And Other Projects Accepted Last Week.

The board of commissioners of Pennington county met in special session at the auditor's rooms at the court house Wednesday of last week, all members being present. The greater part of the time was devoted to inspecting a number of road and ditch jobs which have been completed this fall. They found road work progressing very satisfactorily.

The grading of state road No. 7, six miles north and south by Highlanding, was looked over and accepted. The job was just completed by H. P. Lund, Thief River Falls contractor and when gravelled will make one of the finest pieces of road in the county. An extra large crew of men and teams will be employed to finish the gravelling this fall, the work being done under the supervision of Bert F. Umland, local highway engineer. This stretch of road will complete the Goodridge-Oklee road and is a much needed improvement for residents of the eastern section of the county. The concrete bridge near Highlanding, constructed by the Prichard Company of this city, was also found to be satisfactory.

The one-half mile of road work on the state road south from Grunde Austad's farm, Mayfield township, constructed by Halvor Olson and recently completed, was accepted, as was also the take-off ditch from state road No. 2 to Red Lake river, two and one-half miles, finished last week by Lewis Nelson. Work on state road No. 2 by Tallack Froisness and ditch on No. 1 by H. P. Lund was also passed upon at this time.

Regular routine matters and the passing of the usual batch of bills took up the attention of the board members the remainder of the session. Another meeting of the county dads will be called in the near future by Auditor T. P. Anderson.

Entertainers Coming To S. of N. Hall Monday Eve.

"The Marine Maids," a troupe of four talented girls, will appear at the Sons of Norway hall next Monday evening, Nov. 26, under the auspices of the Snorre lodge. This entertainment is of a high class and merits a large patronage. The "Maids" are secured here thru the University Extension service, this fact in itself assuring the public a worthy presentation.

The Marine Maids are bringing to the dry land audiences a replica of the maritime fetes. They give all the fun of a sea voyage without the sea sickness and depict the fete honoring Neptune, the monarch of the deep, an old custom, when the ships cross the equator. Dressed in the snowy white for stunt and festival they share with their hearers all the fun of this time honored custom and a salt air voyage.

"Spinnin' Yarns" is a most common habit of sailors and so the stories told and scenes enacted are of the misty type grandfathers tell about.

Vaudeville Artists Are Coming to Lyceum

Manager Brumund of the Thief River theatre company announces that he has secured as an added attraction for next Tuesday evening, Nov. 27, at the Lyceum theatre, the famous Musical Osbornes, a versatile troupe of four professional artists, who come here very highly recommended.

These four musicians are real artists in several lines. In addition to their singing, dancing and comedy work, they are clever exponents of the banjo and Hawaiian instruments. Their high class musical performance is sure to please both young and old. There will be no disappointments for theatre-goers who attend the Lyceum next Tuesday, says Manager Brumund, for there are no disappointing features in the program arranged by these musicians.

This musical entertainment is in addition to the regular motion picture program at the Lyceum, which by the way, will be special feature film, thus assuring patrons an exceptionally pleasing performance.

R. R. V. DAIRYMEN GATHER FOR TWO DAY CONVENTION

Twentieth Anniversary of Valley Organization Commemorated at Crookston.

PENNINGTON DAIRYMEN PARTAKE IN PROGRAMS

Local Girls Take Prominent Part in Pageant Depicting Valley's Development.

Twenty years ago a little group of far-seeing men met in the city hall of Crookston and organized the Red River Valley Dairymen's association. There were seventeen of them, including one farmer, one Agricultural school worker and 15 city folks. They builded better than they knew for during the 20 years that have elapsed this infant has grown to be a strong and lusty youngster.

At Crookston, the birthplace of the organization, dairymen of the valley are celebrating the twentieth anniversary of this organization, the convention opening yesterday and continuing thru this evening.

The main feature of the great gathering last evening was the presentation of a wonderful pageant, given under the direction of Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture and committees from the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston high school and clubs. There were approximately 175 persons who took part in the pageant, which depicted the development of dairying in the Red River valley from the earliest stages to the present time. It was a most beautiful and impressive spectacle. An indication of the widespread interest in the affair is that representatives of the Fox Film corporation were present to reproduce the pageant on the screen.

Pictures of Miss Anna Flekke of Thief River Falls as Miss Red River Valley, the leading role, and Miss Theresa Aakre, of Goodridge, representing Pennington county, appeared in the rotogravure section of the Minneapolis Journal last Sunday. Miss Helen Flekke, who also took part in the pageant was formerly employed at The Times but is now a student at the Northwest Agricultural school, as is also Miss Anna Flekke and Miss Aakre.

Another outstanding event that is held during this convention is the anniversary luncheon in honor of the founders of the Red River Valley Dairyman's association which will be held on November 22. All members of the dairymen's association are to be guests. It is expected that prominent leaders in the promotion of the dairying industry from several states will be present at this luncheon. The states of Minnesota and North Dakota will be represented by their executive departments and with messages from the governors.

The program during the day sessions are filled with timely and interesting topics. A program for the convention was prepared by Secretary Leonard Houske of Halstad. Mayor W. L. Ireland of Crookston, welcomed the visitors, Nov. 21, and addresses were given by Marius Waldal, of Plummer, Stuart McLeod of Goodridge, president of the association; Chris Heen, of St. Paul, state dairy and food commissioner; Dr. C. H. Eckles, of the University of Minnesota; A. J. Kittleson, of Crookston, assistant state boys' and girls' club leader; A. J. McGuire, of St. Paul, manager of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association.

SCpeakers today are M. Sorenson, of Pelican Rapids; Albert Anderson, of Erskine; J. Jenson, of Clearbrook, president Minnesota State Dairymen's association; A. O. Storvick, of Albert Lea, T. A. Hoverstad, R. A. Wilkinson, T. L. Haecker, J. R. Morley, M. J. Cort, and others.

$25.00 in gold will be offered to the creamery association which has the largest number of its pastors present at the meeting. There is considerable interest being taken in this contest which will result in a large attendance at this anniversary meeting.

The usual contests carried on by the Red River Valley Dairymen's association will be closed in time to have the winners announced at one of the sessions of the convention. These contests include butter-making contests, participated in by all the creamery operators. Butter-scoring contests will also be held. In addition, there will be contests of dairy farmers with reference to their keeping accurate herd records, the purchase of pure-bred dairy sires and the installation of cream cooling tanks during the year. These important aids to successful dairying have been encouraged by this association for the past 7 or 8 years with gratifying results.

The dairymen and creamery operators from the entire state of Minnesota and North Dakota are invited to attend the meeting at Crookston. Accommodations has been provided for all. The armory seats 1500 people and it is expected that it will be filled to over-flowing on the evening of the pageant.

Twenty years ago there were twenty creameries in the Red River Valley. There are now over 120 in successful operation. The growth of the industry has been phenomenal. Continual facilities for dairying are unsurpassed which means there will be a great forward development in the years to come.

The officers of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association are: Stuart McLeod, Goodridge, president; A. R. Knutson, Pelican Rapids, first vice president; Marius Waldahl, Plummer, second vice president; E. E. Thorson, Hendrum, treasurer, and Leonard Houske, Halstad, secretary. F. M. Brown, St. Paul, will act as convention auctioneer.

$15,000 Roseau Creamery Completed by Contractor Carlson of Thief River Falls

The Roseau Farmers Co-operative Creamery company is now operating in its new building, the finishing touches being completed last week. The new creamery, constructed by C. M. Carlson, Thief River Falls contractor, is one of the finest co-operative butter-making institutions in this section of the state. The brick building is of a pleasing design, with the inside arrangement planned for the greatest convenience, it being thoroughly modern and up-to-date in every respect. The dimensions are 46 by 66 feet. The total cost of the structure exclusive of plumbing, heating, ventilation and electric wiring, is close to $15,000.

Commenting upon the opening of the new creamery, the Roseau Times-Region says:

"C. M. Carlson of Thief River Falls, who was the contractor, did an exceptionally good job throughout and deserves no little credit. Plans for the building were drawn by J. P. Grothe, who also superintended the construction.

Dairying in this community has been growing by leaps and bounds and with this fine new institution for manufacturing its most important product there will be added impetus. The progressive farmers who have had a hand in and made possible this fine monument of progress deserve the most credit. Let's have more of them."

HALF MILLION LOANED TO 80 LOCAL EARMERS

About 13,000 Acres in Pennington Co., Represented in Rural Credit Loans.

LARGEST LOAN TOTALS $15,000 ON 300 ACRES

Marshall County Farmers Granted $300,000 On 11,000 Acres Under New Act.

A total of $460,300 represents the sum loaned to 79 Pennington county farmers under the new state rural credits law, according to figures secured from register of deeds Saturday. Mortgages for these loans are coming in to the office of Register of Deeds Fred Lorentson at the rate of about one daily.

A compilation of the figures gathered at the register's office shows that the loans were made on about 13,000 acres. The largest loan was for $15,000 and was made on a farm near St. Hilaire containing 300 acres. The smallest loan is one of $1,500 on a 120-acre farm. There are three loans of $13,000 each, one of $11,000, four of $10,000, two of $9,500 and one of $9,000. The others range from $2,000 to $8,500.

Fifty-two Marshall county farmers have been granted loans totalling $309,900, according to the Warren Sheaf of last week. The loans are made on a total of about 11,000 acres. The budget loan is for $15,000 on 400 acres, the average being about $6,000.

Under provisions of the law, loans may be made only to actual farmers, 35 years being allowed for repayment by amortization. The borrower must pay 6¼ per cent interest in semi-annual payments. This plan has been in operation for years in Europe and makes it possible for the borrower to pay back his debt gradually so as not to work any hardship on him.

Most of the loans are being made to retire previous debts and this money is expected to relieve the strained financial situation. Appraising in this county was done by J. S. Arneson of Thief River Falls. The first loan was made the latter part of August.

ELECTION RECOUNT SET FOR DEC. 20TH

Ness' Alderman Contest To Be Heard Before Grindeland in District Court.

Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren has set the date for a hearing of the election contest case of Andrew Ness vs. O. A. Rambeck in district court at the court house in this city on December 20. The case has created a great deal of interest and the outcome will be awaited with interest by Thief River Falls citizens, especially those of the Fourth ward.

At the recent city election the canvassing board declared Rambeck elected as alderman from the Fourth ward by a small majority of three votes, this being contested by Ness, as was stated in the last issue of The Times. The appeal for a recount is made on the grounds of alleged irregularities in balloting.

Jacobson Returns.

Rev. J. Jacobsen, pastor of the Evangelical Free church of this city, returned Saturday morning from Minneapolis where he spent ten days as a guest of his former school mate, Leif Bathult and attending to various business matters. He also spent a few days at the Bible Institute and Academy, from which institution he graduated.

PUREBRED HOGS WILL BE SOLD HERE ON DEC. 5

This Is New Feature Added To Crop Shows As Result of Enthusiastic Meeting.

HOG BREEDERS SPEAK AT SPECIAL LUNCHEON

Farmers Agree That Hogs Are Important in Program of Diversified Farming.

Hog raising on a larger scale was added to the diversification program of Pennington county at an enthusiastic meeting of the Thief River Falls Commercial club last Thursday. Farmers interested in the raising of hogs were invited guests at the special noon luncheon, at which was served a 100-pound hog donated by C. H. Fuller of Mavie, leader in the raising of purebred Poland Chinas in Pennington county. The splendid hog satisfied the palates of an unusually large attendance, merchants and farmers in large numbers being present. Even the ice cream was served in pig shapes, to carry out the hog idea throughout.

After the luncheon the meeting was turned over to a discussion of hogs and problems connected with this phase of livestock culture. Theo. M. Thronson acted as chairman of the gathering and the program opened by the reading of a poem on Pennington county farming by C. H. Fuller, who is not only an expert hog raiser but a poet as well. Mr. Fuller's production will be found on another page of this issue of The Times.

The splendid opportunities for raising hogs in this community were discussed by a number of Pennington farmers, first of whom was Mr. Fuller, who assured his listeners that it is one of the most profitable lines of farming even at present prices, which are not very high. He claimed that he can raise hogs at four cents per pound and that he can make a neat profit at the present price of about six cents, live weight. Mr. Fuller cited a number of his farming experiences and showed, accompanying his statements by figures, that he has profited by converting his grain into pork, that is, feeding a large part of the grain raised on the farm to his large herd of purebred hogs. He is now the possessor of a herd of about sixty-five animals. The hog donated to the club for the luncheon was born about August 4 and dressed 72 pounds when killed. It had been fed two bushels of oats and two bushels of rye and had been kept in a pasture containing no tame grasses. He asserted, however, that an essential of successful hog raising is a pasture of alfalfa or clover.

Albert Johnson, another prominent Pennington county farmer, also stated that he favored a herd of hogs on every farm and that he believed the farmers here will make good by intensive growing of alfalfa and better dairy cows. Although not a heavy hog raiser at the present time, Mr. Johnson stated that he intends to enlarge his herd considerably during the next few years.

V. C. Noper, well known dairyman and grower of Chester White hogs, stressed on the importance of corn in connection with hog production and gave evidence that it can be grown here with splendid returns. A number of farmers in this community raised ripe corn this year and the amount of fodder corn and ensilage is growing rapidly each year. It is said that corn will soon be the king of crops in the Red River valley.

Henry Werner, new county agent of Red Lake county and agricultural instructor in the Thief River Falls high school during J. H. Hay's superintendency, also addressed the club on the various phases of raising pigs on a commercial scale, and the importance of diversification of farming. Mr. Werner left the local high school in 1917 when he went to Quebec to take charge of a cattle exporting project and when this was completed he returned to Minnesota and for two years he was county agent of Lac Qui Parle county. In 1918 he went to St. Cloud to manage the stock farm of Leslie Smith & Co., one of the most noted farms in Central Minnesota, and for the past five years he has been so engaged.

Brief remarks along the same lines as the previous speakers were made by Ralph Mayhew, Poland China breeder near Mavie, and William Denhart, farmer near Hazel.

As a result of the meeting last week it has been decided to have a sale of purebred hogs, of all breeds, on December 5, during the Crop and Poultry show in this city. A committee has been chosen to look after details of the sale, each breed being represented. The committee is composed of M. T. McFarland, superintendent; C. H. Fuller, assistant; Emil Griebstein, Hans Anton, V. C. Noper, J. Dreelan and Roy Lambert. These men met last evening to select a sales committee who will inspect the animals to be placed on sale. It is planned to secure about 25 or 30 animals, only of the very best approved by the sales committee. All poor stock will be eliminated as it is the object of this sale to distribute among the farmers of this county purebreds of the best type and quality for foundation of herds.

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Poland China Breeders' associatio nwill also be held at the time of the sale, election of officers and directors to take place.

Breeders of the county will endeavor to organize a Purebred Livestock association, one purpose of which will be to get a purebred sire on practically every farm in Pennington. The object of this organization will be to get better stock and eliminating the scrubs, which are cutting down the profits of the farmer.

It is urged that everyone interested in the raising of hogs attend the sale and exhibition of hogs at the big show in this city the 5th. Much valuable information regarding the hog industry will be available at that time.

Anyone having hogs for sale would confer a favor upon the committee by notifying any of its members or J. J. McCann, secretary of the show. The time for the sale is quite close at hand and co-operation from the breeders is necessary to make it a success.

DeParcq Awarded Claim From Insurance Company

Notice was received last week that an award had been filed on Nov. 13 by the State Industrial Commission in which H. W. DeParcq is given the full amount asked for in the claim filed against the Fidelity Casualty Company on Sept. 28. The Industrial Commission called a hearing and the full amount of the claim of $350 medical fees, $434.50 hospital expenses and $12.50 weekly allowance, the same to continue during the term of young DeParcq's disability, but not to exceed 500 weeks. These rates are fixed by the state commission.

William DeParcq had the misfortune of fracturing his back in an automobile accident last June, the car in which he was riding turning over near Strandquist, since which time he has been confined in the hospital under medical attention. His many friends will be pleased to hear that the claim for damages has been recognized by the commission. Mr. DeParcq was represented by Attorney H. O. Chommie, altho there were no legal proceedings except the regular hearing.

POULTRY SHIPMENTS OF 100,000 POUNDS DAILY THRU T R. F.

Carload of Turkeys Shipped From City Saturday. Grygla Farmer Has 1000.

Heavy shipments of poultry thru Thief River Falls is reported by the local branch of the American Railway Express company. Since the fifteenth of this month an average of 100,000 pounds per day was shipped or transferred thru the local office. On Friday, Nov. 16, an express car of turkeys largely from the Grygla territory, was loaded at Goodridge and on Saturday another was loaded at Thief River Falls. The DeSota Creamery and Produce company who bought poultry here thru the Northern Trading company paid to farmers of this community nearly $7,000 for the shipment Saturday. The car was shipped to Minneapolis. Another car was loaded at Lancaster for New York.

Saturday night train No. 110, south bound, had six express cars loaded with poultry consigned to eastern markets. The total weight of the poultry in these cars was 186,800 pounds, largely turkeys, for which a price of 32 cents per pound was paid. The market dropped a few cents during the first of the week.

Reports are that only about one-fourth of the turkeys in this section have been sold.

William Schanley, farmer residing near Grygla, is said to be the champion turkey raiser in this section. He is said to have in the neighborhood of 1000 birds, which he herds like cattle. He has sold only a portion of the flock as yet, but expects to get a neat sum when he gets them all dressed and placed on the market. Many Pennington farmers are getting splendid returns on their turkeys and chickens this year.

Boy, Page Mr. Noah! He Can Rent An Ark!

When is a flood not a flood?

Should old Mr. Noah be in the vicinity of the Princess Theatre this week he would almost be tempted to revive his ark and seek shelter within its walls.

However, in this case the water instead of coming from above, came from below. And a seven year old youngster was the instigator of the modern deluge.

Jackie Coogan, playing the role of Danny in the First National picture "Trouble," at the Princess Friday and Saturday, got into a good sized pile of trouble when he attempted to "mend" a bursting water pipe.

Danny is the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lee. Lee is a plumber by trade but it appears that the only time he wants to work his trade is when the pipes burst in his own home.

When a hurry call arrived at Lee's shop, the plumber was indisposed and irrespective of the fact his family was without food, refused to answer the urgent message to fix a dangerous leak in a fashionable household.

Danny had seen how pipes were fixed. He was hungry. So was his youthful foster mother.

Grabbing the kit of tools and placing them in his little wagon, Danny made a bee line for the job which terminated in a flood. Incidents surrounding the flood furnish much humor in Jackie Coogan's "Trouble."

Boys Champion Hog.

Farmers of this section are becoming interested in the raising of good hogs. The following from the St. Hilaire Spectator of last week:

"James Dreelan of Wylie, purchased and shipped here last week, one of the finest boars of the big type Poland China breed ever shipped into this section. This animal is sired by Monarch, grand champion of the Minnesota and Iowa state fairs, and of the National Swine Show of Peoria, Ill. His dam is 'Buster's Best,' senior champion sow at the Minnesota State fair, and also senior champion at the National. This animal, which comes from the prize winning herd of W. J. Graham at Waverly, Minnesota, is a direct decendent of the best specimens of the Poland China breed in the world."

BIG PARADE OF NEARLY FIFTEEN HUNDRED PUPILS

Streets of City Scene of Impressive Parade As Feature of Education Week Program.

MANY DO NOT REALIZE MAGNITUDE OF SCHOOLS

Parents Are Urged to Visit the Schools to Observe What Is Being Carried On.

One of the most impressive parades ever staged in Thief River Falls took place last Monday when approximately 1500 pupils, all in the four grade schools and the high school of this city, wound their way thru the streets to usher in Education Week. It was a line of youngsters more than four blocks in length, marching two and three abreast, headed by I. T. Simley, superintendent of the city schools, O. R. Sande, county superintendent, and E. O. Mogensen, president of the school board, all of whom carried flags, and a few members of the band.

The teachers accompanied their respective classes, and are to be highly commended upon the results of their efforts in staging a parade with such precision. Every detail of the whole affair was carried out without any fuss, every pupil taking his or her place without hesitation. After winding thru the main thoroughfares of the city, viewed by a large number of people wondering if it was the Fourth of July, the mass of youngsters marched to the High School-Washington campus where they were grouped according to schools. Miss Maude L. Johnson, music instructor, directed the 1500 young voices in singing "Star Spangled Banner," which was followed by the sounding of "retreat" and taking down the flag by G. Howard Smith and Doris Provencher, who appeared in uniform. W. B. Fuller acted as commander at the grounds. The entire body marched in review before the school board, parents and a number of others and everyone agreed that it was an inspiring sight to watch the little first graders stride along just as sedately as soldiers.

The pupils of the Central school, which includes the seventh and eighth grades, were given the honor of being the most proficient in their marching, showing that they have practised deligently thruout the school year. They enter and leave the building to the beat of a drum every day. Many compliments were also handed the Northrop pupils, who surprised the rest of the schools by appearing on the scene with flying colors, of colored paper streamers, thus gaining considerable distinction. The four hundred high school students and their staff of teachers comprised an imposing group.

Many people do not realize the magnitude of the Thief River Falls schools. It is not a small system that embraces approximately fifteen hundred young Americans in the process of development and education, under the guidance of more than fifty instructors. Citizens of Thief River Falls may feel justly proud of its schools and the efficient force of teachers secured for the year, the entire educational machinery operating with perfect smoothness. In the interest of economy the system employs this year four teachers less than previously, one normal training, one industrial and two kindergarten instructors having been eliminated, in spite of the fact that the enrollment is greater. The total paid out in salaries this year will be approximately $12,000 less than in 1920-1921.

The total enrollment when definite compilations were made four weeks ago was 1429, compared to 1449 at the corresponding time last year. This number is divided between the various schools as follows: Washington, 224; Knox, 256; Northrop, 314; Central, 244; Lincoln high school, 391. There figures have been increased somewhat during the past four weeks. Grades between the first and sixth occupy the Washington, Knox and Northrop buildings.

Parents and others interested are urged to visit the schools this week, as part of the program in observing the special period. Monday was visiting day at the Knox, Tuesday at the Central, Wednesday at the Washington, today at the Northrop and tomorrow is the day designated for the high school. Brief talks concerning school matters and education in general are being given by representatives of the schools and various organizations, at the Princess theatre each evening during the week.

Every parent should make it a point to visit the school this week and become familiar with the work that is being carried on in educating young America.

Mrs. John Soderberg.

Mrs. John Soderberg, residing at 312 State avenue north, died at Warren last evening at 5 o'clock, from complications of an operation for gall stones which she underwent last week. Mrs. Soderberg has been a resident of this city the past 18 years. She was born in Norway and was about 55 years of age at the time of her demise.

To mourn her passing she leaves her husband, two sons, Oscar and Edwin, at home, and a sister residing in Buxton, N. D.

The funeral will be held from the house Saturday, Rev. J. Jacobsen and Rev. O. J. Lindell officiating at the obsequies. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Dr. Froehlich Returns.

Dr. H. W. Froehlich returned from St. Paul Wednesday morning after having attended the annual meeting of the Great Northern Railroad Surgeons held Monday and Tuesday. The next annual meet will be held the latter part of June in Spokane, Wash.

Old Newfolden Woman Gets Present From Knud Wefald

The following human interest story concerning Knud Wefald, congressman from this district, appeared in the Warren Sheaf last week and is worthy of reproduction:

"Because she is the happy owner of a beautiful silk gown, given her by Knud Wefald, United States Congressman from the Ninth district, who is her third cousin, Mrs. Anna Samson of Newfolden, 82 years old and great grandmother, is probably the happiest woman in Marshall county this week. When Mr. Wefald visited Newfolden this summer, he was a dinner guest of Mrs. Samson's niece, Mrs. Peter Berg, and Mrs. Samson, who was Mr. Wefald's godmother and lived in the same community in Norway as did Mr. Wefald, was guest of honor. When he left he promised her a silk dress and insisted that she visit him at his home in Hawley. He will come back to Newfolden some time this fall, he told Mrs. Samson, when he will visit Mrs. Samson at her home.

"Mr. Wefald has worked hard and has made a great name for himself," Mrs. Samson said. "His folks in Norway were rich but lost it through misfortune and when Mr. Wefald came to America he had to start out with nothing."

Mrs. Samson came to America when she was 30 years old with her husband, Charles Samson. They settled in Fillmore county and came to Marshall county 39 years ago, taking up a homestead near Newfolden. About 15 years ago they moved to Newfolden where they have resided ever since.

Congressman Wefald has a number of relatives in the county. Mrs. Samson's brother, Ole Johnson, lives near Newfolden and a sister, Mrs. Erick Aspelund, a former Newfolden resident, lives in Thief River Falls. A brother, Claus Johnson, Newfolden pioneer, died last winter but all his children live in Newfolden. A daughter of Mrs. Samson, Mrs. John Stokke, lives near Newfolden. A granddaughter, Mrs. Henry Insdahl, lives in Grand Forks.

Mr. Wefald is assured a royal reception when he comes to Newfolden again."

Yields 100 Qts. Strawberries.

A strawberry patch in the garden of the L. L. Roseland farm near Newfolden, which yielded 100 quarts of strawberries this year is proving a popular part of the Roseland garden both to the Roseland family and neighbors. Strawberry seedlings were obtained from neighbors about five years ago and a small patch about one-eighth of an acre, prepared for the strawberries. Under Mrs. Roseland's care the strawberry patch soon became the most popular place on the farmstead and the family has had plenty of strawberries for the table ever since.

254 Thanksgiving Days
Until We Had Telephones

A struggling little group of Pilgrim colonists at Plymouth, Massachusetts, founded Thanksgiving Day in 1621. It was 254 years later, in 1875, that the telephone was born.

The Pilgrims led a rigorous life beset with dangers and hardships. Their only means of communication called for tedious journeys on foot over unbeaten trails or along the treacherous waters of an uncharted coast.

Today, we commemorate Thanksgiving with all the conveniences of modern civilization, and the celebration is a much more joyous occasion because of them.

We are now a nation of 110 million people, spread over a land 3,000 miles from coast to coast. But we are all linked together by 36 million miles of wire of the Bell System and connecting companies, so that everyone may talk to anyone, anywhere.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

MATTSON BROS. - - Publishers
DRENG BJORNARAA - City Editor

Entered as second-class matter at the Postoffice at Thief River Falls, Minnesota

(Official Paper, City of Thief River Falls)

An exchange opines as follows regarding patronizing home trade:

"The flood of outside advertising schemes continues to come and there is never a day that the business man does not blame a victim. This is true everywhere. We cannot consistently criticise those that go elsewhere for their merchandise when good money is sent out of town for advertising schemes that aren't worth a tinker's darn."

The Northern Light of Williams cites the following regarding the comparative returns of alfalfa and grains in this section:

"John Palm, Alfalfa King of the South Bay district, has disposed of all his alfalfa seed at good prices. Mr. Palm has, during the past season, grown a large quantity of certified Cossack alfalfa seed. He received more money for the alfalfa seed from three and one-half acres, than he did for grain from twenty-five acres."

::::

The Gully Advance has changed hands for the second time within two years and again is published with the former publisher, T. A. Cashman, at the helm. J. B. Sprague, who has published the paper the past eighteen months, does not leave the newspaper fraternity but has bought out the Oslo Tribune and has moved to Middle River to establish the Middle River Record. The Marshall county village has been without a newspaper of its own since the Pioneer suspended publication a short time ago. A town which expects to progress or at least to hold its own must support a newspaper, which is the medium thru which it can let the rest of the world know what that town and community has to offer. The Times joins in bidding Editor Sprague welcome into the newspaper family of this section. We look for a paper that will promote the best interests and be a credit to the community.

BELIEVES IN DIVERSIFYING.

H. C. L. Stoll, real estate dealer of Joliet, Ill., in renewing his subscription to the Times writes as follows:

"Your paper is well gotten out in news, etc., and what you are doing to bring before the farmers to diversify in farming methods for profitable returns, instead of the many relying on grain only, may bring them to that view for better results."

We trust that our efforts to promote the best interests of the community at large will not be wasted. One certain thing is this: that the farming industry must be made a profitable business in order to assure prosperity in our towns and cities, and to this end business men are co-operating to help the farmers increase the alfalfa acreage and other phases of farming which have proven successful.

The New Dance Law

Any manager of a dance hall admitting any unmarried person under the age of sixteen years, unaccompanied by either a parent or guardian is liable to prosecution under the new law passed by the legislature last winter, W. O. Braggans, Marshall county attorney declares in an opinion last week given to W. H. Goodroad, manager of the Strand in answer to a query as to whether or not an adult chaperon would not serve the purpose of parent or guardian when parents consented.

The word "guardian" means one designated and legally appointed by the probate court, Mr. Braggans said, and the word "parent" means a father or mother as defined by the statutes. The manager of the dance hall must know the age of the person admitted and is liable to prosecution even if he was deceived by the person gaining admission, Mr. Braggans held.

Minnesota legislators have determined that boys and girls under the age of sixteen do not belong at a public dance unless accompanied by their parents or guardians, and it is up to the proper officials to see to that this statute is carried out. Unless the provisions of the law are enforced the law becomes a joke and does not serve its purpose. It is the duty of the person who is placed in charge of the dance to see to that those who have not reached the necessary age and are not properly chaperoned be kept from the dance.

Much good has been exercised by the new dance regulations and this particular provision should not be overlooked.

SALVAGE ROAD SIGNS.

Announcement has been made by the state highway department that all signs along the highways not removed by December 1 will be torn down and destroyed. Owners of the signs can get some salvage by removing them, but if the state takes over the removal job the signs will be destroyed at once. Advertising signs close to a highway are no doubt responsible for some accidents as they tend to detract a driver's attention from his work at the wheel.

HELPING THE PUBLIC.

Now and then we hear someone complain about the high cost of engineers employed on our roads, says Colorado Highways, a state publication, and a word or two of explanation may not be amiss.

In the first place, to have good roads—and good roads means modern roads—roads that will sustain modern traffic—it requires the services of good engineers. The old system of building a road by the winding route was scrapped long ago.

Today roads are built as straight as possible and over the shortest route possible between two given points. Modern traffic demands that they be built on easy grades. To get easy grades and good alignment necessitates the employment of engineers.

Engineers are the best protection the taxpayer has in getting his money's worth in roads. Thousands of dollars are saved the traveling public in reduced travel costs on the roads now being constructed in this state.

Not every road that is surveyed is actually built. Sometimes it is necessary to make two or three surveys to find the cheapest and best route. Surveys are necessary to eliminate costs. A prominent railroad chief engineer in his instructions to field men says that a survey intelligently made, but not used, is just as valuable to his road as one that is used.

The engineer is the agent of the people. He is on the job every minute from the time a project is started until it is finished, and sees to it that the people get their money's worth.

EXTOLLS AGGIE SCHOOLS

A. J. McGuire, who is at present the manager of the state co-operative creamery marketing association, is also a graduate of the Minnesota School of Agriculture at St. Paul. He recently expressed his sentiments regarding the three state schools of agriculture located at St. Paul, Crookston and Morris.

"This is what I always want to say this time of year to farm boys and girls. Go to an agricultural school. The School of Agriculture at St. Paul and at Crookston and, Morris are starting now. I know how splendid these schools are and I would like to have every farm boy and girl in the state attend them. Some 30 years ago a man told me about the School of Agriculture and I shall ask God to bless him all my life for that bit of information."

Some still place small value upon studying agriculture out of books, and if that was all you got at the School of Agriculture, I would not ask you to go there. But the Schools of Agriculture are big homes where the students live together. You make the best friends of your life there. You learn to know people in a fine way and to get along with them in co-operation. You broaden your outlook on life. You see things in a different light and the things you learn stay with you always and are a source of helpfulness and happiness.

Aladdin Gasoline

3 more power per gal.

Produces power as even as steam

When you buy "just gasoline" to wear out the motor in your car, you are putting your valuable power plant into the great American Scrap Heap.

Use ALADDIN GASOLINE for quick, even explosive power—as even as steam—every explosion is perfect. No missing, ragged impulses. No jerky motion caused by lack of equilibrium in firing order.

ALADDIN GASOLINE prevents so called dilution of lubricating oil in crank case. ALADDIN eliminates unnecessary vibrations that promote early crystallization of moving steel parts. It is your protection against carbon deposits in cylinders and sulphur compositions that corrode the carburetor.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES and THE DULUTH HERALD (Daily)

BOTH PAPERS $4.75 FOR ONE YEAR

A Clubbing Offer of Exceptional Merit

We have just effected an unusually attractive agreement with The Duluth Herald by which we are enabled to offer our subscribers, or those who wish to become subscribers, a saving of $1.25.

You want your home paper regularly. It carries all the news of your community. It records all events of your immediate locality and the country around you. It comments editorially on matters in which you have a keen interest as a taxpayer, voter, laborer or business man. It prints detailed accounts of everything pertaining to the progress, development and civic betterment of the community. It devotes much space to social and personal items. But—it cannot be expected to cover the broader field of national and international events. That is the mission of the metropolitan press.

So, in order to give our readers more general news, we have arranged to have The Duluth Herald (daily) sent for one year to those who desire it, together with this, their home paper, at the very special clubbing price appearing at the head of this announcement.

Open to Old and New Subscribers

Whether you are now taking either paper, or both, this offer is open to you. Just send us a check or money order and your subscriptions will be entered for one year from the dates of expiration of your present subscriptions. If you are taking neither paper at this time, your subscriptions will start at once and both papers will come to you regularly for one year at a saving which very probably will not be offered to you again.

The Duluth Herald has added many new features to an already complete metropolitan daily. Look over the list of news and features in the panel at the right. Then, having satisfied yourself that this offer merits your immediate acceptance, please fill the coupon and send it to this office at once—before the offer expires.

News and Features of The Duluth Herald

In addition to its complete foreign news service, there are several departments devoted to local and national events. (There are special correspondents in all Range towns whose daily contributions keep you posted on every detail of business and social activity in their respective localities.)

JUNIOR CLUBS PRIZE WINNERS AT STATE SHOW

Helen Satre, Wallace Benson and William Froehlich Among 20 Best Sheep Raisers.

ABOUT 400 BOYS AND GIRLS IN EXHIBITION

Eleven-Year-Old Lad Realizes $1220 For Champion Shorthorn in Calf Club.

Possessed of prize money, in some cases aggregating more than $1,000, laden with cups and decorated with ribbons and medals, 400 boys and girls returned to their farm homes last week, after having had "the time of their lives" at the sixth annual Junior Livestock show at So. St. Paul during the week.

The show, bigger in all respects than its five predecessors, was an outstanding success in every department.

Pennington county clubs were represented by Helen Satre, Wallace Benson and William Froehlich of Thief River Falls, all of whom exhibited purebred Shropshire lambs. Only the sheep club in this county was represented. The three youths, altho they did not succeed in getting first honors, nevertheless were among the twenty who receive ribbons and special prizes. This is a splendid showing considering that there were more than one hundred animals in the contest. Miss Satre also took part in the state show two previous years, when she was awarded third and fifth place. This year she ranked twelvth, while young Benson, who also took part in the contest last year, was given fifteenth place in the list o fthis year's winners. William Froehlich experienced his first trip to the state show as a club worker.

The local exhibitors, who went to St. Paul Tuesday of last week, returned last Saturday morning and are brimming over with enthusiasm and interest for junior club work. They were banquetted and treated royally during the entire time they were in the cities and nothing was spared by those in charge to make it comfortable for the young club workers. Entertaining features of the most enjoyable kind were furnished. Their lambs were sold for 13½ cents per pound, which is considerably below last year's price.

The trip to the state show in the fall is awarded as a prize to the winners in county club work and it is anticipated that increased interest in this activity among the boys and girls who are interested in poultry, sheep, hog or calves will be evidenced. A large membership will be enrolled this coming year and it is the intention to have all the various clubs represented at the state exhibition.

First honors in the show classic—the calf contest, went to Mark Kelsey, Lewisville, Watonwan county, who exhibited a Shorthorn. It was a close race between his animal and a Hereford, fed by Thomas Kelly of Lake Benton, Lincoln county. Thomas was the Reserve Champion last year and the year before.

This was the first time that Mark had entered an animal in the show, though last year he was in the county contest. He is a little fellow, only 11 years old. When his calf was finally awarded the grand championship, he was lifted to the shoulders of his admirers so all in the crowded pavilion could see the diminutive lad who had raised the best calf in Minnesota's 1923 junior livestock club work.

Show champions follow:

Purebred junior yearling calves—Open, Thomas Kelly, Lake Benton, who also was first in the Hereford class; Aberdeen Angus, Leslie Hanson, Montevideo; Shorthorn, Ludvig Kemen of Madison.

Purebred calf—Open, Mark Kelsey of Lewisville, who also was first in the Shorthorn class; Hereford, Elmer Lidke of Fairmont; Aberdeen Angus, Stanley Campbell of Utica.

Grade junior yearling calves—Open, Melvin Swanson of Lakeville, who also won in the Aberdeen Angus class; Hereford, Elmer Isaksen of Springfield; Shorthorn, Cletus Riorden of Lamberton.

Grade calves—Open, Russel Morgan of Granite Falls, who also won in the Angus class; Hereford, Lorena Isaksen of Springfield; Shorthorn, Leo Casey of Prior Lake.

Fat Lambs—John Sullivan of New Prague.

Grand Champion Hog—De Lancy Jepson of Wendell, who also was first in the lard type.

Bacon type hog—Elvera Johnson of Hallock.

Fat young cockerels—Elmer Wicklund of Brewster.

Fat young ducks—Florence Hauger of Monticello.

Fat young geese—Gladys Lund of Vinning.

Record breaking prices were paid for all these animals when they were sold at auction Friday. The Grand Champion calf sold for $1.00 a pound, the whole animal bringing $1,110.00, making Mark's total winnings at the show aggregate $1220.00, to which must be added a couple of cups. The champion hog sold for 55 cents a pound and the sheep for $1.60 a pound. Because of the approaching Thanksgiving holiday, high prices for the prize poultry prevailed, the champion cocks having brought 41 cents, ducks 53 cents, geese 31 cents.

The show was a continuous round of entertainment for the youngsters, the climax of which came Thursday night when St. Paul and Minneapolis business men entertained at a banquet. Never have the combined dining rooms of the St. Paul Athletic club seen such a crowd and never did a crowd of boys and girls have such a good time. Prominent business men made speeches, a boys' band played and a "good time was had by all."

"East Is West" Is Constance Talmadge's Best

Ever expect the unexpected of Constance Talmadge, though you may, her sudden leap from comedy character to the poignancy of little Ming Toy in the famous play "East is West," will catch many unawares—and delight them all the more. The fact that it is an eight reel production and the most distinctive achievement of the effervescent star are stated in latest communique from the Princess theatre Sunday and Monday.

The career of Ming Toy is fraught with surprises. They start when she is offered at auction as a wife slave aboard the Love Boat in Shanghai. The escape with the aid of Billy Benson, an American, is both thrilling and homorous; and, transported to San Francisco as the ward of a wealthy Chinese merchant and friend of Billy Benson, she experiences remarkable re-actions to what she assumes is American life as glimpsed through the window of a tough dance hall. When the mission intervenes and it becomes necessary to marry Ming Toy to someone, Charlie Yong, proprietor of several chop suey palaces, elects himself for the post and Ming Toy to the assortment of wives he already boasts. But on the day her marriage is arranged Billy Benson, the American, returns to claim her. And once again the drama flings away into unusual currents deep in photodramatic entertainment.

A big and successful reason is forecasted for "East Is West." Nothing has been spared to make it sumptuous in Oriental coloring or to fill every part with a player of distinct ability.

Right-of-Way Comes First.

The policy adopted by the state highway commissioner and county commissioners to secure right-of-way from property owners before establishing roads, is to be commended. There are few instances, if any, where a public highway is not of greater benefit than damage to any piece of real estate through which it is projected. The average owner who attempts to graft off the public by demanding damages should be left isolated in the woods.—Grand Rapids Herald Review.

SIGNS ON HIGHWAYS SOON TO COME DOWN

Final Notice to Advertisers Goes With Instructions to Maintenance Men.

Thief River Falls users of highway signs for advertising have less than ten days to salvage those along state trunk routes and, to be on the safe side, those on local roads.

Living up to the spirit of the new law effective Dec. 1, Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, this week gave instruction to district maintenance superintendents in all parts of the state to arrange to enforce the statute. Patrolmen will be directed in most cases to remove all advertising signs on trunk highway right-ofway. Those back on private property are not to be disturbed now but may receive attention from the next legislature through advocates of taxing billboards for the value they derive from locations with respect to highway travel. Signs on fences generally are to come down under the order. All signs removed will be left at the roadsides a few days to give owners an opportunity to reclaim them if they wish. Then they will be burned to clear the right-of-way. In most instances the right-of-way extends back twenty-four feet on either side of the road.

Yellow star markers, guides and warnings alone will remain close to the roads. County, town and school bulletin boards and markers on registered trails will be left but must be outside the ditchline so as not to interfere with the official signs. City and village guide signs will be replaced later by standard signs.

In many sections of the state the local road officials are planning like clean-ups, the law applying to all public roads in Minnesota. The provisions are given in the laws of 1923, section 11, chapter 439.

Alfalfa Acreage Will Be Given Boost in Roseau Co.

Roseau county has also entered the campaign for a greater alfalfa acreage, which is at present sweeping over this section. At a recent meeting of bankers and farmers at Roseau a drive was launched, every bank in the county co-operating in aiding the growers to get a start. Questionaires similar to those sent out to Pennington county farmers regarding the alfalfa acreage, etc., of the county have also been distributed in Roseau, and replies indicate that there is practically a unanimous call for more alfalfa. Like in Pennington and Red Lake counties Roseau bankers will aid the farmers in securing seed, this to be done in the near future in order to assure a sufficient amount at a reasonable price.

Chas. Hutcheson, of the Northwest Farmstead and County Agent Taylor have conducted a series of meetings thruout the county in the interest of the campaign and much interest is evidenced everywhere.

$35,000,000 Worth of Staple Goods Bought

At the buying conventions of the J. C. Penney Company, held consecutively, last month, at St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Portland, St. Paul, and Cleveland, the co-partner managers of the combined 475 stores of the organization placed orders for holiday and spring merchandise aggregating $35,000,000.

This undoubtedly is the largest amount of merchandise ever purchased by one interest within a period of one month.

The large demand upon manufacturers to take care of this great volume of business, is illustrated in one contract recently made by the J. C. Penney Company for 660,000 nainsook suits of underwear of athletic style, said to be the largest single order of its kind ever placed.

The total retail sales of this Nation-wide institution, will reach near $65,000,000 this year.

LATE FALL RUNS UP ROAD UPKEEP COSTS

Extra Expense of $5,000 a Day On Highways Charged to Belated Freezeup.

The weatherman now is spending more than $5,000 a day of state trunk highway funds.

Thief River Falls and other Minnesota automobile owners are paying the bills and are getting in return a longer season of road use for their cars. But upkeep demands are making still greater inroads on state trunk highway funds as a result and pulling down the amounts available for permanent improvements, all according to a state highway bulletin this week.

Minnesota trunk highway outlays for 1923 to date are a little over $8,000,000, of which $7,150,000 came from motor vehicle taxes. The sum used on the so-called Babcock roads which carry four out of five highway vehicles, however, is considerably less than half the amount raised for local roads throughout the state.

Trunk highway maintenance this year already has cost over $3,000,000, official records show, and every day that traffic continues to move and the big patrol and other maintenance forces are kept on the job adds at least $5,000 to the total.

Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock expressed more concern about the increase of some $400,000 in regular maintenance expense this season than over the $5,000 a day temporary increase due to the late fall. The big item, he said, is for the most part money that is being spent for constant repairs on inadequate roads. It would more than pay carrying charges on the investments necessary to permanently build such roads, he repeated, and the public would gain by the earlier use of the betterments, instead of being compelled to put up with second-rate conditions.

The greatly increased outlays for upkeep of trunk routes and payments on county reimbursement bonds this year took the bulk of trunk highway income and improvement work was curtailed as a result, the bulletin states.

MINNESOTA RANKS FIRST IN BUTTER PRODUCTION 1922

Huge Increase In Dairy Products During Recent Years. 830 Creameries.

The value of Minnesota's 1922 dairy products was $137,512,369, being more than four million greater than the total in 1921, according to the annual report issued by the state and food department, which places Minnesota in the lead over all other states in the production of butter and third in the production of all dairy products, New York, because of the value of its market milk, credited with being first, and Wisconsin, with its immense cheese output, second. The greatest increase has come in the production of creamery butter, which has doubled in value the last ten years.

There are 830 creameries and 72 cheese factories in Minnesota. Fifty-one of these are in Dodge, Goodhue and Olmstad counties.

The three Pennington county creameries are enjoying splendid patronage and are doing much towards getting the best returns for the dairy farmers of the community.

Roads for $76,500 Being Constructed in Marshall

Road work for $76,500 is being done in Marshall county this fall, and only resident taxpayers of the county are eligible for work on the projects, according to ruling by the board of commissioners. This measure was greatly welcomed by a large number of farmers and others who were given an opportunity for making some money at a time of the year when farm work is slack.

The seven projects approved by the board are as follows:

Fourteen miles of gravelling on State Aid Road "A" between Warren and Oslo, gravel to be shipped from the county gravel pit near Viking and the project to cost about $50,000.

Gravel surfacing of 1½ miles from the northeast end of the Great Eastern, east to the Pembina ridge on State Aid Road "B" at an estimated cost of $2,000.

Gravel surfacing on State Aid Road "B" from the Foldahl-Marsh Grove township line and east three miles at a cost of $2,500.

Graveling 3½ miles on State Aid Road "J" south of Strandquist at a cost of $2,500.

Gravelling State Aid Road "E" from Holt to Thief River bridge, a distance of 6 miles at a cost of $9,000.

About five miles of gravelling on State Aid Road "B" west of Argyle, or as far as $7,000 will last, a distance of about five miles.

Clay and gravel surfacing a distance of seven miles, three miles northeast of Florian near Stephen and east to the Jefferson highway at an estimated cost of $3,500.

Vermont Man Here.

C. C. Grout arrived in this city on Wednesday of last week from Al-Burgh, Vermont, and is spending a couple of weeks as guest at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich. Following his stay here he intends to visit his mother and sister in Wisconsin.

New Books

Among new books at the public library this month is a biography of Miss Maria Sanford by Helen M. Whitney.

Free Distribution of Used Magazines at City Library

The library board of the local Carnegie library has inaugurated a plan whereby a larger amount of reading material will be placed at the disposal of people living in the country tributary to Thief River Falls. There is a vast quantity of magazines, books and other publications being destroyed every day in the year and these might be made to serve an excellent purpose if an efficient plan of distribution could be devised.

The members of the board have solved this problem of getting this reading matter onto the sections where it will be most appreciated and request the help of citizens generally to carry out the idea. To this end they ask that anyone having books, magazines or periodicals for which they no longer have any use bring them to the library and the board and librarian will see that good use is made of them.

This is a splendid opportunity for country schools to secure reading matter of all kinds without any cost whatsoever.

Local Men Attend Dairymen's Annual Convention This Wee

Harold Olson, manager of the local creamery, and Peter Engelstad, local dairyman, motored to Crookston yesterday forenoon to attend the annual Red River Valley Dairymen's association convention in that city, which is being held yesterday and today. Many other prominent Pennington county dairymen were also exepected to leave for Crookston yesterday.

CHAIN STORES HOLDS CLUB OVER FARMERS

Glencoe Creamery Told Not To Sign Marketing Agreement By Eastern Firm.

An eastern chain store company, in at least one instance, has held the club over a local co-operative creamery in an effort to keep it from signing the marketing agreement of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries' association.

When directors of the "Co-op." at Glencoe, rated as one of the biggest and best sweet butter making plants in the world, met to consider the state selling plan, their attention was called to a telegram from the American Stores Co. which read:

"If you wish to do business with us, do not sign the pooling agreement with Association, as we will not accept your butter through it. Creameries making (the chain store brand is named) butter must deal with us!"

The reply of the Glencoe creamery was to sign the agreement.

The American Stores Co., a corporation owning more than 5,000 retail stores, has been buying butter made in Minnesota co-operative plants and selling it under its own brand for some time.

"This is but an illustration of what the farmer is up against when he determines to do his own merchandising," said A. J. McGuire, general manager of the association. "Here is an organization, the success of which is due to group buying, that is determined that farmers shall not act as a group when it comes to selling."

Reports are that several other creameries have received similar telegrams, according to Mr. McGuire.

The assocaition now has more than 20,000,000 pounds of butter pledged to its new sales department.

PENNINGTON COUNTY GIVEN BIG BOOST IN IMMIGRATION PAPER

Says "Prosperity Assured in Pennington County." Commends New Farming Ideas.

The possibilities of Pennington county and the progressive spirit displayed by farmers and business men of the community, is becoming known far and wide, thruout the state, and country. In publications of all kinds this county is receiving publicity of the most commendable kind, praising the results of farmers who have diviated from the beaten path of grain farming to such profitable crops as alfalfa, sugar beets and clovers, and are giving greater attention to the dairy cow than ever before.

They help to create an optimistic spirit thruout the state that is giving strength to the farm land situation generally. Favorable comments all along the line will soon tend to bring settlers from the more thickly populated sections, where land sells at huge prices, into this territory where land of the best quality can still be obtained at reasonable prices.

Following is an article from the October 22 issue of the Weekly Bulletin issued by the Minnesota State Board of Immigration, entitled "Prosperity Assured in Pennington County."

"Not being dependent upon large crops of wheat that will show a loss to the exclusive grain grower, Pennington county farmers are not in the class of threatened bankrupts "yelling for help." They are in a satisfactory condition, brought about by foresight in abandoning the one-crop type of farming and engaging in dairying, raising sugar beets, sweet and other varieties of clover, timothy and alfalfa seed.

"Farmers in Pennington county are optimistic. They can boast of having one of the largest and most successful farmers creameries in the state, and the high class of Pennington county Holstein and Guernsey cows has been attested by prizes which were won at the Minnesota state fair. Practically every farmer has some cows, many owning fine herds, and the monthly checks received from the creameries for butterfat make a big item of profit. Corn in Pennington county matured nicely this fall, which assists very materially in solving the problem of feeding for stock. Sugar beets have been raised very extensively this season, and one day recently 16 carloads of beets were shipped from Thief River Falls. Some of the most successful sugar beet raisers will make a profit of from $65 to $100 per acre on their crop. Sweet clover, timothy and alfalfa seed were abundant crops, and the high prices paid for these seeds this fall enabled the farmers to add very materially to their bank accounts. Pennington county will soon be known as the home of alfalfa. Early in the year there were many Pennington county farms for sale at snap prices. Today, owing to good returns from dairying and the crops raised, with assistance rendered farmers thru the new rural credits law, these lands are being withdrawn from the market, and the original owners will stay right on their farms, imbued with a new spirit to go ahead.

"Writing to the Immigration Bureau, Thomas H. Smith of Mavie states that his neighbors and himself have given up looking away into space at imaginary fields hundreds of miles away and have settled down to a policy of contentment and are attending to the fields that are near at hand. This betokens a wonderful advance for Pennington county in the near future."

Publicity of this kind is attracting the attention of people in other sections and tends to place Pennington county in the front ranks.

Red Cross Work is Not Confined to War Time Service, Says Director

That Minnesota will stand high on the list of states when the final results of the Seventh Annual Roll Call of the Red Cross have been recorded is the statement from State Headquarters today.

Though the work is scheduled to start on Armistice Day and continue until Thanksgiving day, John Leslie, State Director for Minnesota, points out that the majority of counties are already well under way with their organization.

"There is a disposition in some quarters to feel that the Red Cross is strictly a wartime organization and that with the war over there is nothing left to do," said Mr. Leslie. "While the last gun was fired five years ago there are in Minnesota hospitals today 807 disabled men fighting their way back to health—a battle that holds none of the thrill of actual combat in which these men must have the continued service of the Red Cross. Under the Charter issued by Congress to the Red Cross we are specifically bound 'to continue and carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace and to supply the same in mitigating the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods, and other great national calamities, and to devise and carry on measures for preventing the same.'

"In disaster relief in the United States alone for the year ending July 1, the Emergency Relief Service of the Red Cross was recorded in 110 disasters, in which the property loss totalled over $20,000,000.00. Flood, fire, and tornado swooped down; the Red Cross with a strong national organization was able to step into the breach.

"If only every citizen of Minnesota could realize that this vast work of mercy was made possible by membership dues, Minnesota would exceed its 11,000 quota of membership unsolicited."

MARKETS BY TRUCK TO VOTE FOR ROADS

Senator Johnson's Highway Trip With Load of Hogs Will Cinch Ballot, is Farmer's Guess.

Will Senator Magnus Johnson vote for good roads, for increased federal highway aid?

He certainly will—so decided the other farmers who waited with him at the South St. Paul stockyards the other morning for a turn at the unloading chutes which are constantly being enlarged to handle increasing farm truck deliveries of live stock.

Senator Johnson that morning hauled a load of hogs by truck from his farm near Kimball, a distance of nearly 75 miles and the larger mileage over paved highways. He chose the high road in preference to the railroad in spite of a drenching rain. His overalls and hat were rain-soaked but he was in good humor as always and challenged, "I've got the best load of hogs in Minnesota and they're worth more than $6.75." He got within 10 cents of top price.

After farmer friends shook hands with the senator they ventured belief that he will be sure to vote for good roads at home when he sits in the sessions on post roads and federal road aid, judging from the use he makes of the better roads.

After selling his hogs, Senator Johnson hurried away to don his senatorial togs and meet the Swedish archbishop who was a visitor in St. Paul. Farmer Johnson always carries with him full senatorial equipment when on business excursions. Knowing that the comfortable old overalls and slouch hat are not exactly in keeping with political etiquet, there is in his grip a good suit and changes of linen.

Rev. Svare Speaks Here.

Rev. Svare of Belgrade, Minn., who is traveling throut the state in the interest of the Mission funds of the United Lutheran church, was in the city this week and delivered sermons at the morning and evening services of the Trinity Lutheran church. A free-will offering to the Missions was taken up and about $400 was contributed. Rev. Svare is one of the ablest speakers in the church and his sermons are exceptionally inspirational. Tuesday morning the visiting pastor left for Fergus Falls to appear before the congregation there. From there he goes on to Warren and other points in this section.

Sweger to Detroit.

Rev. T. E. Sweger of the Trinity Lutheran church left Tuesday morning for Detroit to attend a meeting of officers and directors of the northern Minnesota division of the Young Peoples Luther League who met to arrange a program and other details for the next convention of the League.

A Square Deal For The Country Boys and Girls

Who remembers the Friday afternoon exercises at the country school of 30 or 50 years ago?

This year, Friday, November 23, many thousands of people will be reminded of "old times" when they assemble at the country school house for "Community Day" exercises. This day of "Education Week" will be the "big day" in the rural schools when the community will discuss matters of vital interest. "Equality of Opportunity for Every American Boy and Girl" is the first subject suggested, to be followed by a discussion of the Rural School in particular, the slogan being: "A square deal for the country boy and girl." In some communities the exercises will be continued Friday night.

Seven Schools Participate In Education Week Program

A program in keeping with national educational week movement will be held at Banner school, district 53 of which H. O. Grinde is instructor, Saturday, Nov. 24. Districts Nos. 53, 42, 55, 28, 30, 31 and 15 will each furnish one number for the program and Rev. Chas. Gerlinger of Thief River Falls will give the principle address of the evening. A short arithmetic contest will also be given by Dist. No. 53. After the program activities a basket social will be held and girls are asked to bring baskets. Lunch in bags will be served, to those who are unable to secure baskets.

60,000 ACRES OF POTATOES SIGNED

Opposition By Dealers Only Serve To Increase Membership, Leaders State.

Acreage pledged to the new Minnesota Potato Growers' Exchange this week passed the 60,000 mark, according to an announcement made at the St. Paul offices of the general state organization committee. The membership now is in excess of 3,500 and is mounting rapidly.

"After weeks of effort," said S. G. Rubinow, organization manager, "Growers are beginning to realize that they must play a prominent part in the campaign for we now are getting contracts from those who joined the movement earlier in the campaign. On Nov. 5, the state office received 36 contracts, aggregating 766 acres, every one of which came from voluntary workers; farmers, bankers and business men who are not a part of the regular organization force.

"As the campaign enters its closing phase, increased opposition from potato dealers is evident, especially at shipping points. However, this influence is helping the movement, because dealers cannot argue in support of their system when potatoes are selling for 18 and 20 cents a bushel and in many cases, buying has stopped entirely. Our greatest gains are being made where dealer opposition is strongest."

Mr. Rubinow started campaigns in Chisago and Anoka counties last week and this week is making a series of speeches in the Red River Valley.

The North Dakota campaign is moving rapidly, according to word from Charles M. Morgan, who has been placed in charge of the drive there. A strong state committee is being organized. This will include prominent growers, bankers and business men, from every potato growing county in the state.

PENNINGTON COUNTY SECOND IN ACREAGE OF DRAINAGE DIST'S

Nearly 80,000 Acres of Pennington County Land Drained For Total of $220,000.

Minnesota was shown to be making rapid progress in the direction of agricultural drainage, in a comprehensive report compiled by the division of agricultural engineering of the Department of Agriculture and made public recently.

Drainage districts organized in 51 counties in Minnesota from 1920 to 1922, inclusive, embrace 866,777 acres and contemplate an expenditure of $10,552,644. These districts are the enterprises locally termed county ditches and judicial ditches. Actual construction of the drainage works has been completed in districts comprising 723,685 acres, to cost $7,060,829 and has been completed for probably half or more of this acreage. In 24 counties no districts were organized.

Concerning the other 11 counties no data was received. If the percentage of area and the average cost per acre for the 75 counties for which figures were procured be applied to the other counties, the area of all drainage districts in Minnesota established in 1920 to 1922 was 1,013,000 acres and the cost will be $12,336,000, including districts that have not begun construction.

On January 1, 1920, the area in drainage districts was 9,362,944 acres, according to the fourteenth decennial census, and the cost was to be $47,184,306. Construction had been begun in districts that included 9,232,709 acres, located in 79 counties, to cost $44,183,838, and had been completed for 8,552,900 acres of this area.

Beltrami county has the largest area included in the drainage districts 151,991 acres. Pennington county is next with 79,794 acres and Clay county third with 61,133 acres. By counties of this section the figures on cost and acreages are set forth as follows:

	Acreage	Cost
Beltrami	151,991	$ 58,908
Becker	1,161	24,474
Clearwater	4,094	26,801
Marshall	73,419	154,230
Pennington	79,794	220,756
Roseau	23,141	85,275

Large Number of Veterans Convert Wartime Insurance

The insurance problem of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau is today primarily one of educating the Veterans of the recent war concerning their insurance rights.

Experience in correspondence with veterans and by personal contact with them tends to show that they are generally uninformed about Government insurance, and forms and literature designed to present the benefits and advantages of this form of insurance are being circulated among the former service men.

Approximately 4,500,000 men out of 4,800,000 who were in the service took out insurance. In the minds of most of them the termination of the War and the rapid demobilization of the army eliminated all need for insurance. As a result, and because of the financial difficulty encountered by these men in the period of transition between their discharge and re-entry into the commercial and industrial activities of civil life, a large amount of War time insurance was permitted to lapse.

There has been, however, a steady growth in the number of converted insurance policies in force. On December 1, 1920, there were 212,152 of these policies representing insurance in the amount of $712,454,000. A year later these had increased to 261,669 converted insurance policies, in force, representing insurance in the amount of $1,119,744,905. On August 31 of this year there were 297,234 converted insurance policies, in force, representing insurance in the amount of $1,252,222,098.

Any ex-service man desirous of getting further information regarding government insurance, reinstatement or any other aid, should see O. C. Paulson, who is prepared to lend a hand if asked.

November "Hunters' Moon" For American Sportsman

"Open Season!" These words stand for a world of joy to every sportsman—and now it is open season on almost every kind of game. In uplands and lowlands, marsh and covert, sportsmen are enjoying the thrill of the hunt. Wherever there is game, furred or feathered, there are gunners winning fun and heightened health from the oldest, and according to them, the greatest sport.

The Indians called September the "Hunters' Moon," but it is November to which hunters now look forward most eagerly the whole year round.

Those who themselves cannot go on long hunting trips are envying their more fortunate fellows who can—and there are but a few red-blooded, two-fisted men who are not managing somehow to squeeze at least several days' shooting into their month's activities.

Whether for wildfowl or the winged or four-footed dwellers in the woods or fields, everybody's going hunting. And—"Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling?" No "fly in the ointment" as earlier in the year! No swarms of black flies or mosquitoes or even gnats to disturb your peace or take the edge off your pleasure!

Ask men why they go hunting! They'll give you many reasons. Some—prosperous business or professional men, probably—will tell you that there's no better preparation for the winter's work than some time spent in the open matching their quickness and wits against those of the game they're hunting. They'll say there's no pep-producer that can compare with the clear air of a brisk Fall day redolent with the tang of the forest or the salt of the bay—that hunting's a real efficiency measure. To bring home a good bag, a man must be on the alert!

Others prize most highly — beside the never-to-be-forgotten thrill of hunting—a pleasure of a more material kind; appetizing dishes that are fit for a king; venison, roast duck, quail on toast, stuffed goose, rabbit or squirrel pot-pie—yum-yum!

There are almost as many reasons given for going hunting as there are hunters, but all agree on one thing: not to go hunting in November is to miss a barrel of fun, to pass up a big part of the joy o' life. For a sportsman can enjoy no happier time than a clear, snappy November day tramping the fields behind a pair of good dogs in quest of quail—unless it be going gunning through the brush for rabbit or the swamp for snipe—especially Jack snipe with that perplexing "cork screw flight," that so often saves them for another day's sport—or waiting in the blind for geese or duck that are wary and flying high.

Wildfowl are flying south — and testing the marksmanship of the most experienced gunners. "Br'er Rabbit's" trail leads to real sport. Game is plentiful. Sportsmen's supplies are in great demand, according to local merchants. We have seen many new ideas in the way of sportsmen's equipment. Specially noteworthy—so say several sportsmen we have interviewed recently—are the shotgun shells that are the latest work in specialization and standardization. They are loaded—we are told—to a predetermined standard of pattern, penetration and velocity that makes 'em sure to pull down the game — Remington Game Loads.

All in all, it's a most successful season!

"Good hunting, brother!"

As the basketball season is about to start, it might be well to enumerate a few of the rules of good sportsmanship which every student and onlooker at the games should follow. These rules are very simple and with just a little forethought each person should be able to easily observe them.

1. Do not pick out any one player to be the object for ridicule and supposedly clever remarks. This "rattles" him and leaves him with a most unpleasant remembrance of the game and the townspeople.

2. Do not question the decisions of the referee and "crab", but accept them with good grace. He is paid to render decisions and regardless of disagreement should be treated with respect.

3. When the opposing team makes a good play, cheer for them and show your recognition of the play. There is nothing the crowd can do that will create so great a feeling of good-fellowship.

4. Do not applaud any foul or dirty playing done by the local team, but show your disapproval. We want our teams to have a reputation for clean play and so should sanction nothing else.

If every student will follow the above rules, Lincoln High will be known as a school of good sports and clean players and will be a most desirable place to hold games.

Junior Play Will Be Given at Aud. Dec. 14

December 14 has been chosen as the date on which the Junior Class Play, "Daddy Long Legs," will be given. The auditorium has already been secured for that day and rehearsals are taking place almost every evening.

Every member of the cast is working hard; and if this work keeps up under the competent leadership of Miss Keyes, Junior advisor, the play will undoubtedly be a great success.

Junior Candy Sale.

The second of two Junior Candy Sales was held Nov. 14, after school. The third of the series is planned for the near future, and it is hoped that it will be even more successful than the two preceding. There is always a greater demand than supply of candy so the sales are assured beforehand. The proceeds are for a good cause, namely, to pay the expenses of the Junior-Senior banquet.

It is hoped that the Juniors will realize the importance of bringing their candy and make the next and last sale worthy of the cause.

'24 PROWLER STAFF PLANS A CAMPAIGN

Subscription Campaign to Start Soon. Will Be Conducted on Competitive Basis.

The 1924 "Prowler" staff held their first regular meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 13. Mr. Bye gave several instructions concerning individual work, and then asked for ideas for a subscription campaign for the "Prowler."

The plan unanimously chosen is based on the same idea of competition as the one used by the class of 1922. Six salesmen are to be chosen from among the volunteers of each class, and the person in each class selling the most books receives one free of charge. The classes also compete, the Freshmen against the Sophomores, and the Juniors against the Seniors, and the class selling the least "Prowlers" must give the winning class a party.

Margaret Melgaard was delegated to attend a special meeting of each class to encourage volunteer salesmen. The Staff chose Mr. Salveson as photographer for the "Prowler."

Mr. Bye then asked the Staff members to bring to the next meeting ideas for two rousing "Prowler" pep meetings.

Conquering Time

THE WORTH of a man is measured by his usefulness.

When many men are grouped to perform a common task for the common good they become an institution.

The same measuring rod applies to the institution as to the individual.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an institution—a big institution.

It is big in size because it renders a big service.

Perhaps there is no phase of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service which is more significant or more far-reaching in its benefits to man than the means it furnishes for the conservation of time.

It enables men to do the work of the world easier and in fewer hours.

It speeds up every phase of industry.

The manufacturer can produce more merchandise because Standard Oil products enable him to run his machinery at higher speed.

The farmer can cultivate more land and raise greater crops because Standard Oil products enable him to use power-driven farm machinery.

The doctor can see more patients because Standard Oil products have enabled him to substitute the automobile for the horse.

The salesman can display his wares to twice as many buyers by utilizing Standard Oil products and the automobile.

Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service lengthens man's three score and ten by increasing his capacity for accomplishment.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of the part it has taken in furnishing the means for men to annihilate time and distance through controlled and directed effort.

It is proud of the fact that it has been able to benefit so many industries by taking so many products, varied and useful, from the single base—crude petroleum.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of the leadership it has earned in the petroleum industry.

It is proud of its organization of 27,000 men and women through whose loyal, earnest efforts it is able to render such a superior service as to have earned the respect and confidence of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

HIGH SCHOOL PARTY IS GREAT SUCCESS

The Prize For the Best Stunt of The Evening, A Mock Wedding, Is Won By Seniors.

An all high school party was held last Friday evening in the gymnasium. Some very entertaining stunts were given.

The first number was "Sousa's Squeckity Squecks." This was a mock orchestra composed of the members of the Normal Training department. The instruments were very clever and everyone fully enjoyed it.

The next number was a moving picture show, the Sophomore stunt. Cartoons and a poem were shown about each member of the faculty. Pictures of some of the students were also shown.

The Freshmen were next on the program. Their stunt consisted of parodies on various poems which were read by Dalton Rhodes, Lester Rolland and Rita Fiterman.

The Juniors next showed their talent by staging a girls' football game. This was a decidedly clever and original stunt and merited the storms of laughter that greeted it. Maxine Johnson, as quarterback of the "Ivan Offalitch" team, and Lylian Arnold, quarter of the "Eczema" eleven, showed great strategy in their plays and proved that girls as well as boys can play a brilliant game.

The last stunt was a Mock Wedding given by members of the Senior class. The guests arrived first, each dressed in the latest nineteenth century styles. Then the bridal procession entered to the strains of Lohengren's wedding march. The bridesmaids, Donald McCrum and Clifford Storholm, headed the procession. They wore dainty organdy dresses and hats and carried shower bouquets of pussy willows. The little flower girls, Math Barzen and Virgil Denhart, came next They were clothed in filmy white dresses and short socks. Then the blushing bride, Miss Inga Ima Halfwit, more commonly known as Cleon Bottleson, entered on her mother's arm. She was gowned in a Paris creation of lace curtains. The bridal bouquet, a gift of the groom, Axel U. Grease (May Ballingrud) was next in the line, then the best man, Mildred Griffin and Hazel Krause, who brot up the rear of the procession. A wedding ceremony was then read out of a Sears Roebuck catalog by Melvin Englestad, who officiated. After this the happy couple departed.

Following the stunts, Mr. Salveson took a picture of all who attended the party. After this the judges announced that they had decided that the Seniors gave the most entertaining stunt.

The next number was an Auto Polo game. Kiddy Kars were used for this and it was very amusing to see the big boys and some of the members of the faculty ride around on them. The Seniors also carried off the honors in this contest.

The evening ended with a grand march led by Mr. Bye and Miss Maude L. Johnson, which wound up at the Domestic Science rooms where lunch was served.

Laboratory Apparatus.

Last week the chemistry and physics departments received a shipment of laboratory apparatus which will be used by these classes in their experimental work. Lincoln high now has moderately well equipped laboratories for both these departments and if the equipment increases as much in the following years as it has in the previous ones, it will soon have one of the best in this section of the state.

"Saturation Point" Of Motors Is Far Distant

That the country may become "saturated" with automobiles, after which buying will be restricted to a predictable amount based on cars wearing out and the increase of population, has been a bugbear to alarmists in the trade for several years.

Statistics do not bear out these fears. According to the American Automobile Association, in all but nine states, material increases were shown in number of motor vehicles registered during the six months' period of 1923 over the entire year's registrations of 1922, the record of 1923 in all states will exceed that of 1922.

The State of Ohio climbed up to second place in total number of motor vehicles registered, changing places with California. New York again leads, with a total registration during the six months' period of 1,025,718 motor vehicles. Ohio is second, with 965,000, and California third, with 933,808. Pennsylvania is fourth, with 922,062; Illinois fifth, with 833,920; Michigan sixth with 624,590, and Texas seventh, with 571,981. The total number of motor vehicles registered in all of the states during the six months' period was 13,002,427, as against 12,238,375 for the entire year of 1922.

This shows a healthy growth, which is always an indication of demand far beyond that of saturation. But the real reason for thinking that the saturation point is infinitely distant is found in the roads of the United States. With a total road mileage of 2,819,386, of which only 350,000 miles are improved, what will the demand be, over the present-day demand when even a fifth of the unimproved roads become hard-surfaced highways?

Red Lake District Court.

The November term of district court in Red Lake county opened last Monday with Judge William Watts of Crookston presiding. Twenty-five civil cases and four criminal actions are scheduled to be brought up. Three of the criminal actions are violations of the liquor law, two charges being one person, Theodore Lemieux, the other being against Albert Lemieux.

Crops and Poultry Shows Open Here Tuesday

EVERYTHING IS PREPARED FOR GREATEST EXHIBITION OF FARM PRODUCTS EVER SHOWN IN CITY

Hundreds Will Throng Auditorium Four Days of Exposition and Meetings, December 4, 5, 6 and 7. Interest Evidenced is Greater Than For Any Previous Show of Its Kind

INDICATIONS POINT TOWARDS LARGE NUMBER OF ENTRIES IN CONTEST FOR $1,000 IN PRIZES

Sale of 20 Purebred Hogs Wednesday and Standard Poultry Thursday. Prominent Agricultural and Poultry Experts Will Address Special Sessions to Feature Each Day

Everything is now set for the opening of the Crops and Poultry shows in Thief River Falls next Tuesday, the exhibition to continue thru Friday, Dec. 4, 5, 6 and 7. All indications point towards one of the greatest events of its kind in northern Minnesota and a record attendance is expected. The various committees have been hard at work making the necessary preparations connected with the shows and Manager Theo. M. Thronson announces that every detail is being looked after by competent business men and farmers of the community.

Shows at Auditorium.

The exhibitions of poultry and crops will take place at the city auditorium where previous poultry shows have been conducted. This is the seventh annual showing under the auspices of the Pennington County Poultry association, while it is the first time that there has been an exhibition of crops at this time of year here, this move having been promoted by the Thief River Falls Commercial club, aided by the Pennington County Farm bureau.

Many Poultry Exhibits.

More interest is evidenced in this show than in any other similar event, both by residents of this county and those residing at a distance. According to officials of the poultry division the entries this year will be more numerous and larger than ever before. It is particularly interesting to note that indications are that there will be an unusually large display of the feathered tribe in the farmers' class by local farmers, who are not making a specialty of this line and do not care to bring their stock in direct competition with professionals. It is anticipated that possibly about 1,000 birds will be shown here. They will include chickens, turkeys, geese and ducks.

Enter Crop Displays.

The crop division which includes grains, corn, alfalfa and clover, potatoes, ensilage and other products from Pennington and a portion of Marshall county, has prospects of being a real exhibition of what this section can produce. A number of entries have already been received at the office of Secretary McCann, altho the bulk of the displays will be entered on the first day of the show. The aim of those in charge has been to get as large a display as possible, an effort being made to have every farmer in attendance displaying something. This will assure a large number of entries.

$1,000 In Prizes.

Liberal prizes will be awarded the winners in the various contests in every department, a total of about $1,000 to be used for that purpose. Several cups will be awarded and particularly attractive prizes will be given sweepstake winners.

Instructive Programs.

Instructive addresses and practical discussions of topics of timely interest to every farmer will be given at the various sessions during the entire four days of the show. Splendid speakers have been secured for the occasion including several authorities and experts in agricultural lines. Every farmer in the community, and the business men as well, should make it a point not to miss a single one of these sessions as they will prove of the most valuable and practical nature. The evening meetings will be held at the Lyceum theatre, thru the courtesy of H. A. Brumund, manager of the Thief River Theatre company while the afternoon sessions will take place at the auditorium.

Poultry Discussion Tuesday.

The shows will open Tuesday, the forenoon and afternoon of that day to be devoted largely to making entries and arranging the displays. Every person interested in poultry raising is urged to attend the evening session at 7:30 when W. E. Stanfield, poultry editor of the Northwest Farmstead, Minneapolis, will talk on "The Raising of Poultry for Profit." His subject will include feeding, fattening, killing for market, marketing, etc. Music will be furnished by the Junior High School Boys Glee club.

Sugar Beet and Potato Day.

The second day, Wednesday, is known as Sugar Beet and Potato Day, the forenoon of which will be given over to the judging of poultry and the various farm products entered. The judging will be done by experts, poultry by Mr. Stanfield, and crops by Prof. T. M. McCall, professor of crops at the Northwest School of Agriculture, and Prof. R. S. Dunham, professor of soils, also of the Crookston school.

Hog Sale.

The big event of the afternoon on Wednesday will be the hog sale, commencing at 1 o'clock, at which twenty purebred sows, including twelve head Poland Chinas and eight Duroc Jerseys will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, the auction to take place at Fisher's barn with W. J. LaBree as auctioneer. The best herds of the county are represented, only the very best animals being entered into the sale. All animals were selected by a sales committee and are of registered stock. This sale will afford a splendid opportunity for Pennington farmers to secure hogs of the best quality at a reasonable price.

Following the sale the annual meeting of the Pennington County Poland China Breeders' association will be held at the Commercial club rooms.

At 3:30 p. m., an address will be given by Prof. McCall, who will discuss sugar beets and its culture in this section. Sugar beet growers are particularly urged to hear this discussion.

Hay Will Speak.

The meeting Wednesday evening will be addressed by J. H. Hay, deputy state commissioner of agriculture, formerly superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools for many years. His topic, "Farming Today," is certain to be of much interest, because few if any in the state know more about farming conditions of today than does Mr. Hay, and he is also one of the ablest speakers of Minnesota. The Brage chorus and the High School Girls Glee club will render several numbers.

Corn and Dairy Day.

A poultry meeting has been scheduled for Thursday at 10 p. m., at which time a thorough discussion of "Standard Bred Poultry" and demonstrations will be given by Mr. Stanfield, poultry expert. Questions regarding poultry raising will be answered at that time.

"Sweet Clover" will be the subject of a talk by Prof. Dunham at the afternoon session which opent at 1:30, following which will be given an address on "The Co-operative Creamery" by A. J. McGuire, general manager of the Minnesota Co-operative Creamery association.

L. V. Wilson, dairy expert of the University Farm, St. Paul, will be the principal speaker at the Thursday evening session, the topic of his address being "The Dairy Cow." No one interested in dairying should fail to hear this talk by a man that knows the problems of the dairy industry. Selections will be rendered by the High School Boys Glee club.

Poultry Sale Friday.

No program has been arranged for Friday forenoon, the last day of the big show, but at 1:30 p. m., a sale of standard bred poultry, with Mr. Stanfield as auctioneer, will take place at the auditorium. A large number of birds will be sold to the highest bidder, only best quality birds being offered.

"Actual Co-operation" is the subject of an address by Geo. C. Jewett, general manager of the American Wheat Growers' association, who will speak at 2:30. Mr. Jewett is in charge of one of the most extensive co-operative organizations in the country, comprising about ten states, and is thoroughly familiar with the operation of co-operative enterprises.

Alfalfa Day

In keeping with the campaign for an increased alfalfa acreage in Pennington county, Friday has been designated as Alfalfa Day. This subject will be discussed by C. R. Hutcheson, alfalfa expert connected with the Northwest Farmstead. He has during the past few months made an extensive survey of this section regarding the culture of alfalfa and made a special study of this crop in particular for a number of years. The closing session will include the singing of a number of booster songs by a chorus under the direction of V. C. Noper, local dairyman.

The exhibition in Thief River Falls next week will, without a doubt be one of the biggest and best of its kind in the state and everyone is assured of time well spent by attending the many instructive meetings, as well as viewing the large array of exhibits.

Thief River Falls Post May Entertain Minnesota Legionaires at '25 Meet

That Thief River Falls may be the scene of the 1925 state convention of Legionaires is already being indicated, the following item appearing in this week's news letter from the headquarters of the Minnesota Legion:

When the 1926 state convention of The Gopher Gang is held at Thief River Falls—and Thief River Falls Legionaires say it will—two days will be devoted to the business of the convention, and on the third day all will climb aboard special trains on an excursion to Winnipeg, where Canadian buddies have promised a royal welcome. This is the plan of the Thief River Falls Post. Not long ago several hundred Northern Minnesota Legionaires joined the Winnipeg excursion promoted by Thief River Falls post, and have not ceased to tell what a jolly time they had and what a warm reception their Winnipeg war comrades gave them.

SALVATION ARMY'S DRIVE FOR FUNDS IS GIVEN SUPPORT

Citizens Contribute Liberally to Home Service Campaign. Tag Day Saturday.

Satisfactory results of the Salvation Army Home Service Campaign in Pennington county are reported by those in charge of the drive. A neat sum was raised for the support of the local corps, altho not entirely sufficient for the maintenance expenditures. However, the business men of Thief River Falls have contributed liberally and the various ward chairmen report good results in all the sections of the city. There is a general realization of the large amount of relief work being done by the Salvation Army among the needy of the community and citizens joined in giving their support during this campaign. Theo. Quale, county attorney, chairman of the drive, was in personal touch with the various township chairmen who also reported satisfactory results.

The campaign came to an end last Saturday when a "Doughnut Tag Day" was staged. The tags were sold by high school girls who were awarded prizes for the largest amounts turned in, the prizes being awarded thru the generosity of local merchants.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR ELKS SUNDAY

Public Invited to Witness Oberavnces—Chommie Will Give Address of Day.

Memorial services for departed Elks will be conducted by the Thief River Falls lodge No. 1308 at the lodge rooms in this city Sunday, Dec. 2, beginning at 3 o'clock.

The principal address will be delivered by Attorney H. O. Chommie of this city, who is a forceful and able speaker, and always has a message worth hearing. Mr. Chommie is a member of the local lodge.

These annual memorial services of the Elks are impressive and beautiful, being instituted for the purpose of exemplifying that tenet of the order which proclaims that "Living or dead, an Elk is never forgotten, never forsaken," and the motto, "The faults of our brothers we write upon the sands; their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory."

The public is cordially invited to attend these memorial services for which an appropriate program has been arranged, including vocal solos and quartet numbers and other musical selections.

There are seventeen former members of lodge No. 1308 who have died since the lodge was instituted in 1914 and whose memory will be perpetuated by the services on Sunday, among whom is Thomas J. Austad, for a number of years editor of The Times and one of the most prominent Elks of this section, who passed away on June 13. Mr. Austad was secretary of No. 1308 at the time of his death. Other deceased members of the lodge are: W. B. Pierce, M. C. Cutter, K. O. Dock, H. L. Anderson, A. J. Gorman, Geo. G. Johnson, C. A. Pitkin, H. G. Heiber, Glen Blawd, J. H. McKinney, G. W. Bennet, E. H. Taylor, E. M. Stanton, Sr., F. W. Johnson and Emil Helquist. Three members passed away in 1922 and two during the past year.

1924 Auto License Plates Are Blue; Be Ready Jan. 1

Auto owners here will have blue tags with white numbers on their cars next year. Truck tags for 1924 will be green with white figures and dealer's tags will be gray with blue figures.

"Iv'e paid my bit toward more good roads, have you?" will be the 1924 tag slogan—not printed on the plates but there just the same, say good roads boosters.

The first consignment of 425,000 of new tags was delivered last week to the storage quarters of the secretary of state at the new state capitol. The number of registered cars and trucks in Minnesota this year jumped to about 445,000 from some 385,000, and many are predicting that the 500,000 mark may be reached next year.

MCLEOD AGAIN SELECTED HEAD OF R. R. V. ASS'N.

Pennington Co. Dairyman Re-Elected at Crookston Convention of Dairymen.

PATRONS OF CREAMERY BUILD 13 SILOS IN 1923

Tremendous Growth of Dairy Industry Noted Thruout Entire Valley Section.

Record crowds attended the twentieth anniversary celebration of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association in Crookston Wednesday and Thursday of last week. It was estimated that about four hundred dairymen and others interested in the dairy industry attended the various sessions and a capacity house witnessed the pageant at the auditorium on Wednesday evening.

The leading role in the wonderful presentation of the development of dairying in the Red River valley was played by Miss Anna Flekke of Thief River Falls as Miss Red River Valley. Other parts were played by Miss Helen Flekke of this city, representing Becker county, and Miss Theresa Aakre of Goodridge, representing Pennington county. The pageant which had been prepared by Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture, was something unique and met with unusual aproval.

All the officers of the association were re-elected at the business session. Stuart McLeod, prominent Pennington county farmer near Goodridge remains president; A. R. Knutson, Pelican Rapids, first vice-president; Marius Waldal, Plummer, second vice-president; Leonard Houske, Halstad, secretary; and E. E. Thorson, Hendrum, treasurer. Much of the success of the organization and the anniversary gathering this year is due to the efforts of the able set of officials. Warren extended an invitation for the 1924 meeting but this matter will be decided later by the directors.

The Farmers' Co-operative Creamery of Thief River Falls was awarded the prize for having the largest number of patrons who built silos within the past year, thirteen silos having been erected by patrons of the institution. A healthy growth of the number of silos in Pennington county has been noted in recent years. Geo. Streeter, local silo agent, states that during the past two years he has constructed a total of 24 silos in this county, eleven of which were put up during the past summer. The average silo in this vicinity is of a capacity of 100 tons, the triple-wall wood and cement types being used. The first silo in Pennington county was built by Peder Engelstad, veteran dairyman of this section, who now has three on his farm.

The creamery at Ottertail won the prize for having the largest number of silos in use among its patrons, 88 out of 135 patrons.

The Holt Creamery was given third place for attendance at the meeting while Halstad took first, and the Fertile creamery second. P. L. Anderson is operator of the Holt creamery. In the butter scoring contest Harold Olson, manager of the local creamery, won high honors in this district, his score being 93½ per cent. Eighty tubs were entered in the entire section, Henry Werbus, operator of the Ottertail creamery being high scorer at 94½ per cent.

A large number of prominent dairymen were present to discuss the problems of dairying in this section and much valuable information and inspiration was derived from the meeting. Every phase of the industry was given consideration, and experts in the various lines giving comprehensive addresses on the various subjects. Reports of dairy activities in the valley show a monstrous progress during the past few years.

Those from Pennington county who were in attendance at part or all of the convention were: Harold Olson, manager of local creamery; Stuart McLeod of Goodridge, president of the association; P. Engelstad, Knut Yatesand, Hans Anton, S. E. Hunt, O. B. Gunderson, Halvor Olson, Dr. L. R. Twete, Mr. and Mrs. Mons Engelstad, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Streeter, Christian Engelstad, Misses Marie and Madeline Thill, all residing in Thief River Falls or near vicinity.

Viola Dana Film Coming Here Is Full of Action

All the beauty, youth and freshness that is Viola Dana has been captured anew for the screen in her latest starring play, "A Noise in Newboro," which comes to the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday. According to advance reports, this latest Metro vehicle for the winsome little star is filled with verve and action, qualities which stress her abilities. And her abilities are many and varied, as this picture will show. She is sad, she is frolicsome; she is depressed and lighthearted but chiefly she is light hearted and all of these emotions she interprets with an incomparable naturalness. This new play is easily the best Miss Dana has ever had to exhibit her skill and versatility. Likewise, she has surpassed herself in meeting it's diversified situations.

Miss Dana plays the role of a small town girl who is snubbed because she has no money, but makes a "big noise" in spite of obstacles.

Proclamation

During the year which is drawing to a close, the people of Minnesota have enjoyed much material prosperity and many blessings. We have had peace and tranquility. We have suffered no serious epidemics of disease nor any calamity by fire or water, we have enjoyed the blessings of free and democratic government, a government which gives to all the freedom of speech, freedom to worship and the freedom to develop and prosper according to their individual initiative.

The products of our fields, our forests and our mines have been more than ample to provide all the citizens of the state with all the necessities of life and many comforts and luxuries. Not all have enjoyed the same degree of prosperity as in former years, yet even the poorest classes in our state are infinitely better situated than the average residents of some of the war-torn and distressed countries of the old world.

It is most appropriate that we pause once a year and give thanks to the Almighty for the many blessings He has bestowed upon us and pray to Him for the continuance of His munificence and tender mercy.

Now, therefore, I, J. A. O. Preus, Governor of Minnesota, do hereby designate Thursday, November 29, as a day of public Thanksgiving and prayer and urge that it be observed throughout the state. Let us, wherever possible, assemble in our customary places of worship and give public expression to our gratitude for the Lord's bounties. Let us also resolve to provide for the needs and the comforts of those, who because of illness or other misfortunes, have been unable to garner enough for their own needs.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be affixed hereto.

(Signed) J. A. O. Preus, Governor.

GORDON HUNT TO ATTEND CHICAGO JUNIOR EXHIBIT

Thirteen-Year-Old Youth Represents Pennington Clubs at International Show.

AWARDED FREE TRIP BY MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL

Won Fourth Place With Champion Holstein Calf at State Fair This Fall.

Gordon Hunt, thirteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hunt of Rocksbury township, will leave Friday night for Chicago as one of the 40 boys and girls of Minnesota who have excelled in dairy calf club work and as a reward were given a free trip to the Windy City, the expenses being paid by the Minneapolis Journal.

In round numbers about 140 junior club workers will enjoy the free trip to the Boys' and Girls' Club exposition which will take place in Chicago the first week in December. The expenses of about 60 are paid by the Chicago & Northwestern, the Omaha, the Chicago Great Western, the Rock Island and the Illinois Central Railroad companies, which are playing hosts to a leading club boy or girl from every county which the roads touch in the state. Beneficiaries of this wonderful experience were selected by T. A. Erickson, of University Farm, state club leader, and the county agents.

Young Hunt with his Holstein calf, was awarded fourth place at the state fair this year in competition with several hundred club workers from the entire state and was among the Minnesota youths to be given the Journal prize. He was given a free trip to the state exposition, having won high honors in similar activities in Pennington county during the past year. Junior club work in this county is carried on under the supervision of J. J. McCann, county agent.

This is Gordon's second year of club work. He was awarded a free trip to the state fair last year also. This year, however, his efforts will carry him still farther and he is waiting with intense interest for Friday when he can start out on his journey to the metropolis. He will make the trip alone as far as to Minneapolis, where he will join the delegation of other club work winners of the state and A. J Kittleson of Crookston, one of those in charge of junior clubs in Minnesota. The calves will not be exhibited at the Chicago exposition.

The free trip to Chicago will give them opportunity to attend the International Livestock Exposition and to visit the chief points of interest in the great metropolis. The Chicago packers and business men will vie in extending hospitality and furnishing entertainment for their young guests. Gordon will be gone for one week.

The Pennington county youth is not only making a distinguished mark for himself but is as well making a splendid showing for the community as a whole. The extent of club work among the boys and girls is growing each year, and is proving to be a valuable activity in stimulating interest among the youth of the country for better livestock and the proper care of animals.

Addresses Young Men's Club.

Rev. W. H. Evans of Red Lake Falls addressed the Young Men's club at the Presbyterian church Friday evening. The Rev. Evans is pastor of the Presbyterian church and is active in the young men's work.

COMMERCIAL CLUB LUNCHEON FRIDAY; SIMLEY TO SPEAK

Woman's Club Members Invited To Attend. Y. M. C. A. Secretary Addresses Club.

The regular Commercial club luncheon this week will be held on Friday instead of Thursday, the latter being Thanksgiving day. The main feature of the gathering will be a talk by I. T. Simley, superintendent of the city schools, who will give a discussion of the local system and the various phases of its operation which should be known by every patron and taxpayer. It is urged that a large attendance be present at this meeting to hear the report by Supt. Simley.

Another matter to receive the attention of the club will be a report from the committee on acquiring land along Red Lake for summer resort purposes. Much interest is now being taken in this question, the road to the lake by way of the northern route being practically complete, with indications of much tourist traffic for the coming year.

An invitation to attend Friday's meeting was extended to the members of the Woman's club, which has been accepted, and a large attendance of women of the city is assured, the discussion of the school system being of special interest.

The proper relationship between father and son, and the proper solving of the "boy problem" was the subject of a splendid talk given at the club luncheon last week by R. C. Coffin, state secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, a branch of which is maintained in this city. The state secretary is a splendid speaker and delivered a valuable message to every father and anyone dealing with boys. He described the attitude of the average young man as he grows up and stressed upon a closer companionship on the part of the father and a real understanding of the problems which confront the youth thru the early stages of his life. He also maintained that the boy must be dealt with sympathetically and guided rather than reprimanded harshly. A good example will establish ideals and every father should bear this in mind. The speaker urged that fathers devote as much time as possible in the company of their sons, asserting that the "boy problem" is just as much a "man problem."

Plans are under way to have the regular noon luncheon next week at one of the hotels, definite arrangements to be made at the meeting Friday. Next week is the time of the crop and poultry shows, when a number of notables will be in the city, and it is the intention of the club to extend an invitation to several to take part in the gathering at that time.

A great deal of enthusiasm and interest is being shown by members of the Commercial club of this city, the meetings during the past few months having been particularly well attended. Much credit is due to the energetic president in the person of Dr. H. W. Froehlich.

BEET RAISERS WILL RECEIVE ABOUT $50,000

Sugar Beet Growers Receive Payment of $5 Guarantee From Sugar Company.

ESTIMATE 6,000 TONS GROWN IN TERRITORY

Total Returns Will Be $50,000 at $8 Per Ton on 800 Acres In Section.

Checks for the $5 ton guarantee offered by the Northern Sugar Corporation of Mason City, Iowa, were received Saturday by beet growers in the vicinity of Thief River Falls and adjoining sections. These checks were only for the beets shipped before October 20 and payment for those shipped after that date will be made after December 20.

These amounts do not cover full payment, being only a $5 guarantee paid after the cost of production has been deducted by the company. The labor cost $22 per acre and the seed $2.25. It is to be noted that practically all of the money paid out in labor, a total of nearly $18,000 in the Thief River Falls district, was left here by the Mexicans in trading, purchase of provision and clothes. A bonus based on the price of sugar between September 1 and February 1 will be paid shortly after the latter date. According to present indications the total to be paid for the beets will be more than $8 and perhaps $9 per ton.

One hundred fifty-four carloads of beets have been shipped from the shipping points of the Thief River Falls district this year. The shipping points besides this city, which shipped about one-half of the total, are: Silverton, Stop 4, Engen Spur, Copp Spur, Steiner, Hazel, St. Hilaire, Oklee, Plummer, Brooks, Red Lake Falls and Dorothy. The cars have a capacity of 40 tons of beets and from these figures it is estimated that 6,160 tons were grown to be marketed as the 1923 sugar beet crop from this territory. The $5 guarantee represents a total of $30,000 from which is deducted $17,600 for labor on the 800 acres in the territory and $1,500 for seed. At the probable average of $8 per ton the total value of the beets grown here will be nearly $50,000.

Farmers of this section have already applied for an acreage of 1,200 acres for 1924, compared to an acreage of 800 this year.

Cuban Struggle For Independence To Be Depicted

Richard Barthelmess, film star, received many instructive ideas to aid him in portraying the character of a young American anxious to aid the oppressed Cubans in their struggle for independence, from President Alfredo Zayas. As a result of this cooperation by the head of the Cuban government, "The Bright Shawl" is regarded as a historical chronicle of this struggle, which lasted for more than fifty years. It will be shown at the Princess theatre next Sunday and Monday.

"The present generation does not know nor will it ever realize the tremendous sacrifices that Cuba made in order to throw off the yoke of the despot," said President Zayas, "and I am glad that this story shows how the struggle impressed the liberty-loving Americans to such an extent that a young man would forsake home and a life of ease in order that we should enjoy the same freedom that his own country did."

President Zayas was so anxious that no detail should be overlooked that he even opened the doors of Morro Castle and the Cabanas fortress which had hitherto been kept a secret to visitors.

The 1923 Sale of Christmas Seals Starts November 30th

In connection with the 1923 sale of Christmas Seals, Dr. C. L. Scofield, president of the Minnesota Public Health Association calls to the attention of the people of Minnesota the wonderful progress made in the fight against tuberculosis.

Dr. Scofield says:

"The fight against tuberculosis is showing definite and concrete results. In the past twenty years the death rate in the United States, as a whole, from this disease has been cut in half.

"In Minnesota, as compared with the tuberculosis death rate of 1911 (when it reached its peak), the figures show that we saved 1,145 lives in 1922.

"Seals sell for a penny a piece. Surely nearly every one can buy some and take part in this great work.

"Just think what 1,145 more deaths from one disease in one year would have meant, and then consider that the majority would have been between the ages of twenty and forty.

"You will be assisting in this great work if you buy some Christmas Seals."

Dr. Scofield further states that it is his sincerest hope that everyone will assist in the fight against tuberculosis and other diseases by purchasing some Christmas Seals.

(Official Paper, City of Thief River Falls)

Attend the big Crops and Poultry exhibition next week and meet your fellow farmers of the county. It will be well worth your while to see what the rest of the growers are doing.

Even Pennington county chickens are preparing for the big Poultry Show at Thief River Falls and are sporting new plumage for the big event.

Anyone who says alfalfa can't be grown successfully in Pennington county will get that foolish notion out of his head if he attends the Crop show in this city next week. Displays of this product grown right here in Pennington county will prove that it is equal to that grown anywhere else in the country.

A SKATING RINK

This is the opportune time for Thief River Falls skating enthusiasts to begin thinking about possibilities of a rink. In various towns, many of which are much smaller than Thief River Falls, skating rinks are being maintained by various methods and means.

A rink located in the heart of town will be opened this week at Warren, the venture being guaranteed support by a certain number of citizens, who purchase tickets so as to assure financial success.

In this city plenty of ice is available with the river close at hand, and the project could be put over with little difficulty. Splendid skating rinks have been maintained here in former years and an untold amount of enjoyment has been derived from this popular and healthful sport. Now is the time to act upon the matter. Thief River Falls should have a place where the young and old may frolic during the winter months.

PATRONIZING OWN CREAMERY.

The Plummer Pioneer of last week issued the following plea to farmers of that community who are patrons of the Plummer Co-operative creamery, which may be applied to patrons of other co-operative creameries:

"It is reported recently that outside parties are figuring on putting in a cream buying station in Plummer. This is entirely uncalled for here and farmers should think twice before they leave their own co-operative creamery and patronize outside concerns. The Plummer creamery belongs to you and has been the salvation of this country. Why? Because you farmers have owned it and patronized it nearly 100 per cent. You have always gotten every cent possible for your butterfat and you always will from your own creamery. We do not believe that you farmers would be justified in selling your cream for a few cents more to an outside concern and help put your own creamery out of business. Remember this! If you did not have a co-operative creamery the price you receive for your butterfat would not be what it is today. Stick together, farmers, and stay by your own creamery."

Visit the Crop and Poultry show in Thief River Falls next week and be convinced of the numerous reasons Pennington county and this sect on as a whole have for celebrating Thanksgiving.

NOT ENOUGH TO GO ROUND.

The people of the United States ate 160 million pounds more butter last year than ever before, and notwithstanding production had been increased 100 million pounds to meet the rising demand, this country was compelled to import 60 million pounds. A big pointer here for the wheat belt which grows the best cow feed and more of it than any other region. To even up, it should go in for more cows and less wheat.

The Wind Does It.

By harnessing the elements Charles Thrush of Newfolden gets free power to grind all his cereals, says the Warren Sheaf. A little coffee mill has been connected to a windmill at his place south of Newfolden and when he leaves in the morning he dumps the grain he wishes ground in a hopper, adjusts his home-made windmill and leaves. When he comes home at night the job is done. Although the process is necessarily slow it costs nothing but the labor of pouring the grain into the hopper and removing it. The mill will grind corn or any of the cereals.

"HARD TIMES."

Ola Levang, of Levang's Weekly, Lanesboro, opines as follows regarding present conditions, more commonly known as "hard times":

"It does beat thunder how hard times are, and how scarce real money is. Everybody is on the ragged edge of poverty, and the poorhouse is looming up just around the corner.

"One Sunday afternoon the past summer we attended an open air concert by three Fillmore county bands in Sylvan Park. A poverty-stricken crowd had assembled to hear the music. Actually there weren't to exceed a hundred thousand dollars worth of automobiles in sight and scarcely fifty thousand dollars worth parked on the streets of Lanesboro.

"The writer has some expert knowledge of tobacco quality, and we know from the scent of cigar smoke that floated in the air that the poor, poverty-stricken men in close proximity were actually compelled to solace themselves with two-for-a-quarter cigars instead of the fifteen-cent brand. We doubt if more than ninety women out of every hundred that listened to the music, wore silk stockings, due to the stringency of the times. Actually, many of them had to appear in shoes that cost as little as $5.00 a pair.

"Our heart actually bled at the sight of so much poverty and suffering in a land so fertile and which should be flowing with milk and honey. We knew deep down in our heart, that thousands of people would have listened to that concert if it had not been for the expense of buying gasoline at 17 cents per gallon, and if there had been any more room to squeeze in a car.

"Over in one section of the crowd stood five well-dressed men puffing away at fresh Havanas, expressing their disappointment because the flivvers on hand was not near large enough to meet the demand. All of a sudden a sparkling light flashed in our eyes, and it blinded us for a moment. It was then we noticed that one of the band boys wore a diamond nearly as large as a poker chip. Being an ordinary newspaper man we sauntered home, tossed a pillow on the floor, laid down and counted the holes in the lace curtains."

A Sears Roebuck catalog is an expensive piece of printing, heavy enough to make postage on millions of them a big item, but it pays the house to send one to every family in rural communities. The small merchant can combat this advertising and competition by advertising in his local paper and quoting prices that will make people realize that he has something tangible to offer them besides announcing that he has a store in Pumpkin Center on the main corner. They know that. What they don't know but ought to know is that in that store is a suit of clothes, better than the one in the catalog, selling for $27.50, which is 49 cents less than the mail order house offer. What they ought to know is that on Friday and Saturday corn flakes will be down two cents and that butter and eggs are up higher than they were last week. Will people read that kind of advertising? Say, folks, can a duck swim?—Renville County Journal.

CONCENTRATE YOUR EFFORTS.

"In one of the laboratories at Washington they have a great sun-glass that measures three feet across. It's like the 'Burning glasses' we used to treasure when we were boys, only much larger.

"This great glass gathers the rays of the sun that strike its flat surface and focuses them on a single point in space a few feet below. That single spot is hotter than a blow torch. It will melt through a steel plate as easily as a red hot needle burns thru paper.

"This terrific heat—it can't be measured for it melts all instruments—is just three feet of ordinary sunshine concentrated on a single point. Scattered, these rays are hardly felt—perhaps just pleasantly warm—concentrated they melt adamant.

"The same principle applies to human endeavor. Scattered, a man's energies do not amount to much. Once they are all focused on the task at hand seemingly tremendous difficulties melt like snow on a hot stove.

"Get the habit of concentrating when you start to do a thing, throw on all the steam that you have and focus every energy on the task in hand. Remember that three feet of ordinary sunshine, concentrated, will burn through anything."

Roger F. Babson, widely known expert in business conditions, makes use of the foregoing illustration to emphasize the necessity of focusing all your energies on the particular job before you.

The illustration fits the farmer in its application to his co-operative marketing efforts.

Without co-operation—unorganized—selling individually—a hundred thousand farmers are about as effective as the scattered rays of sunshine.—The Wheat Grower.

A QUERY ABOUT DAIRYING.

One of the very natural questions asked in connection with the preachments for a better balanced farming in this country is: "Is dairying likely to be overdone?"

"In a recent issue of The Minneapolis Tribune J. C. McDowell of the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture, discusses that subject interestingly. He says the dairy business can be overdone, but that it is quite improbable that it will be overdone.

"The increase in the cow population of the United States has not kept pace with the increase in human population in the last 70 years. That there will be a time soon when it will outrun human population is not likely unless there is a very radical change in the economic and social conditions of the country. For many years there has been a drift of population away from the country and to the cities. That process is still going on. Dairying is attractive from a profit standpoint and it may become more so in years to come, but it is not so attractive as to lure excessive numbers to it.

"There may still be a very great increase in dairy cows, or in dairy products, without bringing the production of milk up to the saturation point. The per capita consumption of milk and milk products is not as large in the United States as in some of the smaller countries of Europe. Mr. McDowell tells us that if the average consumption of milk were what it is in Sweden, Denmark or Switzerland, there would be a great shortage of milk.

"There is no better human food in the world than good milk and the products made from it. Many dietarians go further and say that as a source of food which is both delectable and healthful the dairy cow is in a class by herself. There isn't the slightest question that the American people can be educated to a much greater per capita consumption of milk and milk products, nor is there the slightest question that such an education would be an excellent thing in accordance as it made itself felt practically in readjusting the everyday menu of the people.

"Dairying is a long-time proposition and cannot be greatly increased suddenly," says Mr. McDowell. "The individual dairyman can increase the total production of his dairy herd very quickly by buying more and better cows, but in doing so he does not increase dairy-production at all. He simply shifts a few high-producing cows from one herd to another.

"The very fact that dairying is a farm industry of gradual development, and that successful pursuance of it requires not only close day-to-day attention but considerable scientific practice, tends to keep the industry within sound economic bounds. Moreover a business that yields such uniformity of return the year around as dairying yields is subject to better productive control than, for instance, wheat, with its natural hazards, its uneven yield and its susceptibility to price fluctuations.

Men spend more money for nose paint than women do for face paint.—St. Paul Herald.

And the old red nosed guy objects to his wife paying 50 cents a box for the paint she uses, while he pays $16 a quart. Both are high, but we have to have them.—LeSeur Herald.

In Thief River Falls the applicants for colored noses are losing out in number, and with continued strict law enforcement and the public realizing the detrimental influence of liquor indulgence, the "red nosed guy" is fast becoming as extinct as a yoke of oxen.

⁂

"Too many local concerns are being brought into competition with manufacturing plants in other cities by the unthinking retailers who fail to realize that every dollar sent out of town is lost to them forever," says the Bemidji Sentinel. Patronize home industries whenever possible. That is what helps the town grow.

PublicForum

Editor Times: In the Forum of your Nov. 8th issue appeared an article by Orton Olson which, while well written so far as English is concerned, nevertheless shows that Olson's education in political economy is superficial.

In the third paragraph of his article he mentions "The one law that controls price and which cannot be changed by artificial stimulent, is the fundamental law of supply and demand."

This law is misnamed, because its name is likely to mislead, for it should be called law of "supply, demand and ability to purchase," then people would have a fuller conception of its operation just through the words contained in its name. This amended name would also have a tendency to remind people of the fact that this law works with just as much certainty in regard to the means of exchange (money or its substitute) as it does with commodities. Increase the supply of money (or substitutes therefore) and you increase the average price index in proportion; reduce the supply thereof and prices fall in proportion. Hence the reason of this great fall of prices when the Federal Reserve Board called in loans and retired the Federal Reserve Bank notes or held reserve money against them to the tune of nearly two thousand million dollars during part of 1920, 1921 and part of 1922! And yet Mr. Olson says the bottom dropped out of farm products prices "through purely economic conditions"! Even if he had not read of the doings of the Federal Reserve Board, he certainly should have noticed the fast disappearance of the Federal Reserve Bank notes during this deflation period, instead of taking in all this Wall Street propaganda, without analyzing it.

I have before me the propaganda sheet No. 7, of the American Bankers' Association, (Gordon Edwards, Secretary, 110E. 42nd St. N. Y.) This is a sample of the plate matter this association furnishes free of charge to the newspapers of the country thru the Western Newspaper Union. The reading matter in this propaganda sheet is the most one-sided, deceptive dope, I have ever read because it always keeps in hiding the parties most interested in the money systems as now in vogue. It naturally brings to mind the warning of our Lord to his deciples, when He said: "Beware of the Doctrine of the Pharisees and Saducees, Which is Hypocricy." This could not refer particularily to religious hypocricy, because the Saducees had no more religion than most of our infidels have today, but it must have referred to hypocricy as applied in our modern day propaganda. Hide the real motive, and make it appear as real, unselfish teaching, seems to be the object of most propaganda now days. This certainly is not seeking the truth, neither for this natural life nor for spiritual life.

The history of this country also proves to anyone who wants to bother to look for the truth about prices, hard times, etc., that the only real hard times, over the whole country at once, have been caused by contraction of our currency together with manipulation thereof by the organized money power. Take, for instance, the panics after the civil war was caused by refunding the "debt" (greenbacks) into bonds of $1000 denominations and burning up the greenbacks that had bought the Rebel government successfully while gold sneaked off to England and even turned traitor.

Take again the 1893-94 panic. The Wall Street hireling at the head of the U. S. Treasury misconstrued the meaning of the word "coin" on the Sherman Notes (a crippled greenback) and started trouble enough for an excuse to repeal the Sherman Silver Purchase Law, and again burn up this supply of money. Most old people remember what happened to prices after that "cremation" stunt.

Finally the panic of 1920-22 which has already been mentioned. There are many very important issues today, but remember that the One Big Issue is between the class that lives off from interest whose selfish interest rates on one side, and all people who live on labor or any other kind of income than interest are selfishly interested in getting a good supply of money into circulation so that the people can keep busy both manufacturing and producing raw material, thus making high wages and high prices. Now, between these two classes, why should any one who works for most of his income favor this "tight money" propaganda? Is it fair to start a boom like they did lately and fool people to go into billions upon billions of debt and then reduce the money supply 34 per cent which is equal to increasing the debt still further?

Remember also that political action can very easily set aside the operation of the law of "supply and demand," so farmers and all other producers will have to stick together politically against the creditor class if they expect real relief.

Very respectfully yours,
Andrew Trovaton.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

ROSEWOOD

Farmers Club Reorganized.

The Rosewood Farmers club, whose activities have been lying dormant for several years, was at a special meeting called at Rosewood last Saturday evening, re-organized, and its first regular meeting decided to be held at the Rosewood store-hall next Saturday evening, Dec. 1. About one dozen persons attended this meeting and pledged their support in making the attempt a success. The club's purpose will be as of old for the education, sociability and amusement of the members, and an attempt will be made to raise sufficient funds to erect a community hall at Rosewood. The membership fee will be 25 cents. The club will meet every other Saturday evening, an arrangement having been reached to secure the store-hall for these evenings for a period of five months. Emil Mellem, Emil Anderson and John Ranum will serve as program committee for the first meeting and Anton Gullseth as caterer. Lunch will be for sale at a price of 25 cents for adults. Adolph Haugen and Emil Blomberg were appointed to act as constables during the club's meetings. Officers of the club will be elected at the first regular meeting.

Benny Ranum and Ted Thompson who left last month by car for the West, returned by rail last Tuesday having disposed of their car in Oregon. The boys intended to spend the coming winter on the coast but as suitable employment was scarce, and they in general did not appreciate the climate and conditions as well as was desired they decided to return to this place.

Rev. C. E. Carlson, a missionary to Japan, under auspices of the Scandinavian Mission Alliance for nine years, visited town last Tuesday and delivered a lecture on, "Our Work in Japan" at the Swedish church in the evening.

Mrs. O. S. Hellerud entertained the teachers and pupils of the Rosewood Sunday school at her home, at a six o'clock supper and a social evening last Wednesday.

A partition wall is being installed at the Rosewood store this week by Mr. Petterson, and it is the intention to use the southern half of the building for hall purposes during the coming winter, while Mr. Petterson will use the north half for his general merchandise store and postoffice.

Mrs. John Bloom left on Friday evening for Thief River Falls where she will remain over Sunday to attend church doing and visit with her daughter, Mrs. Loyd Crown and other friends.

Joe Weiss who has been employed near Warren since last spring returned home last Thursday evening.

A number of local young folks motored out to the Columbia school last Friday evening to attend the socks social.

Mrs. Ingrid Nordhagen spent part of last week in town of Norden visiting and assisting at the Chas. Sagmoen home.

The Rud Brothers from Viking have been here the past week with their machinery to bale hay for Emil Mellem.

Mrs. Peter Mellem and Henry Lappegaard left on Thursday evening for Thief River Falls to visit with their sister, Mrs. Henry Carlson.

Ted Nelson became very ill with convulsions of the abdomin last Wednesday night and was taken to the Warren hospital in Rudolph Sagmoen's car. There, however, he improved very rapidly from the spell, and as it could not be ascertained with safety what was the trouble he was released and came home the following evening.

The teacher, Miss Edith Patten, and the pupils of the Rosebank school enjoyed a joint marshmallow roast last Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Ida Engen, assistant county superintendent of schools from Warren, visited with the local school last Thursday, and also consulted with the school board while here. Mrs. Engen was well pleased with the school's equipment and upkeep, and left some suggestions for further betterment in the work.

John N. Nordlund from Middle River, was a village business caller last Friday.

Oscar J. Vixie of Middle River, formerly of this place, motored here on Wednesday to look after business matters.

Ole Jerde from Angus motored here last Wednesday on a business mission at the Mrs. Axelson home.

Hans Bjornstad in company with two of the Alby brothers, left last week for the Rainy River regions where they expect to find winter employment in the timber districts.

Agents Andy Anderson and O. Ostby from Thief River Falls called on the local merchants last Tuesday.

Mrs. John Bergland and son, Leonard, left on Tuesday evening for Bemidji after a month's visit with Mrs. Bergland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Mellem, and other relatives. Mr. Bergland left for that place about two weeks ago.

Miss Emma Sorenson is home from Thompson, N. D., where she has been employed this summer.

Through the courtesy of our friends Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Furan, we had the pleasure last Wednesday evening of "listening in" to a radio program thru their machine. Their's is the only radio set in this village so far, and while not one of the expensive and elaborate kind it is a very serviceable little machine capable of receiving messages under proper climatic conditions from distances up to 1500 miles. On Wednesday we heard very effectively such stations as Calgary, Can., Denver, Col., Louisville, Ken., Pittsburgh, Pa., Cincinnati, Chicago, Minneapolis and others. Radio truly can be said to be one of the solvers of the centuries old problem of bringing the city advantages to the rural population, and is daily doing wonders for the education, benefit and amusement of multitudes of the farming and small city population. Mr. Furan is to be complimented on his machine for which he also, by the way, informed us, that he is local agent at this place.

John Remmem went to Thief River Falls on Monday evening where he will attend to business matters between trains.

GOODRIDGE

S. H. Swenson Dead

The sad news that Mr. Swenson at Thorhult had passed away came not unexpected. He had for some time been hovering between life and death. His wife and relations took living care of him and did all that could be done, but his time was up. He died Saturday, Nov. 24, at the home of his father-in-law near Thorhult. The deceased leaves wife and four children, Helmer, Roy Helen and Irene, mother and father, four brothers and five sisters. Mr. Swenson was born in Norway, Feb. 2, 1884, close to 40 years ago. The funeral was held last Sunday afternoon from the home of the deceased's father-in-law, Mr. Larson. Rev. V. O. Aaker conducted the services. The corpse was taken to the cemetary at Thorhult for burial. A great number of people were at the funeral and took him to his last resting place.

New Offering of Treasury Savings Certificates Dec. 1

Secretary Mellon last week announced that, effective December 1, 1923, the Treasury will place on sale a new offering of Treasury Savings Certificates, to be known as the issue of December 1, 1923, and will discontinue at the close of business on November 30, 1923 the sale of Treasury Savings Certficates, issue of September 30, 1922. The new Certificates will be issued in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 (maturity value), at the following prices: $20 for the $25 Certificates, $80 for the $100 Certificates, and $800 for the $1,000 Certificates.

Apart from the selling price, the new Certificates will correspond, in all essential respects to the Certificates now on sale. Each Certificate matures five years from the date of issue, but may be redeemed at the option of the holder at any time after the date of issue, at the value indicated on the back of the certificate. The Certificates are issued only in registered form in order to afford protection against loss and theft, and are exempt from the Normal Federal Income Tax and from all State and Local Taxation (except estate and inheritance taxes.) The aggregate amount of Treasury savings certificate of any one series that may be held by any one person at any one time is limited to $5,000 (maturity value), and for this purpose Certificates issued within any one calendar year, whatever the issue or the issue price, constitute one series. The new Certificates will be on sale at about 40,000 postoffices throughout the country beginning December 1, 1923 and they may also be obtained at Federal Reserve Banks and branches, or such banks and other agencies as may qualify for the purpose, and mail applications addressed to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C., will receive prompt attention. This new offering, which is being made in connection with the redemption and exchange of about $60,000,000 of War Savings Certificates, Series of 1919, which mature on January 1, 1924, will afford the holders of the maturing Certificates an opportunity to continue their investment in an attractive Government Security, and should further encourage thrift among small investors.

An Optimist.

A German shoemaker left the gas turned on in his shoe shop one night and upon arriving in the morning struck a match to light it. There was a terrific explosion, and the shoemaker was blown out through the door and almost to the middle of the street. A passer-by rushed to his assistance, and, after helping him to arise, inquired if he was injured. The little German gazed at his place of business, which was now burning quite briskly, and said: "No I aindt hurt. But I got out shust in time, Eh?"—Boston Congregationalist.

Politeness is one thing that in the past Lincoln High has always prided itself on. This does not mean merely the ordinary "Thank You" and "Yes, Ma'am" which we all know, but it includes the manner in which we treat our teachers, visitors, and assembly speakers.

In the past we have had an enviable reputation for being polite and attentive listeners to our teachers and especially to all visiting entertainers at Chapel. Are we about to destroy that reputation? Let us hope not!

It is easy enough for us all to be quiet and to listen to an entertaining program or individual speaker, but how many of us show the same courtesy to a speech, which is long and dull and in which we have no interest? Then our true breeding and the real meaning of politeness is shown.

Lately in the assembly, there has been a tendency to show restlessness and little attention when the speech is not one that particularly interests. It is only fair to the speaker to curb this tendency and show proper respect to him. It is the height of impoliteness for one to whisper and be noisy and it is equally bad to pay no attention whatever but devote one's attention to some lesson. These actions will not only reflect on the individual but also on the school as a whole and so should be stopped by whoever sees them.

The same rules apply to politeness in the class-room when a teacher or student is talking. They will be appreciated as much there as in the assembly and one has a chance to practice them more often.

We all want our school to maintain its reputation for politeness so let us guard ourselves against doing anything that will mar this reputation in any way.

The Greatest Force

The greatest force in the world is the will to serve.

When it is born of enthusiasm it is dynamic in its intensity.

When it emanates from a sense of duty it endures.

It is the will to serve that puts imagination into business.

It is the will to serve, persisted in over a long period of years, that has made the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) one of America's outstanding successes.

It is this same will to serve that has encouraged this Company to foster industrial husbandry not alone in its own business but elsewhere.

If the management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) had been content to take from crude petroleum, gasoline, kerosene and lubricating oils only, this Company would have been a large manufacturing concern, but it never could have achieved its present position as an institution in the industrial world.

Without disturbing those three essential major products, this Company set about utilizing waste. It retrieved products of great benefit to the medical profession—products that lighten the burden of the housewife—products that make night travel safe—products that make good roads—and products that serve mankind in a score of ways.

All these products were developed by the will to serve.

The personnel of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is obsessed with the will to serve and led by men with imagination — imagination reduced to terms of practical business.

It is the will to serve that inspired the Manufacturing Department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to develop methods for increasing the yield of gasoline from a given quantity of crude petroleum.

It is the will to serve that caused the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to lease to competitive concerns the right to use such important manufacturing processes.

It is the will to serve that caused the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to create and maintain facilities so comprehensive as to serve a five-gallon customer as carefully, as accurately, and as promptly as it serves a thousand-gallon buyer.

It is the will to serve, expressed in terms of action, that has earned for the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) the confidence, respect and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

EDUCATIONAL WEEK PROGRAM AT CHAPEL

Members of Faculty and Students Speak Friday in Observance of Education Week.

Last Friday's chapel period opened with singing led by Miss Johnson, after which a program of speeches relating to education week was given.

County Supt. O. R. Sande, representing the American Legion, spoke first and emphasized the fact that the Legion, in co-operation with the National Education Association and U. S. Bureau of Education, has done much to bring to the attention of the people the need of better education in order to prevent future wars.

John Sether, representing the public speaking class, then spoke on the need of playgrounds and park improvement in Thief River Falls. He especially emphasized the need of a skating rink and a place for winter sports.

Supt. Simley, the next speaker, pointed out the fact that besides giving us instruction in books the schools are teaching its pupils to work, helping in the building of character and of health, and promoting respect for God and country.

Esther Tunsetter, another member of the public speaking class, then spoke on the value of a dramatic club in High School. Her development of the topic was interesting and she delivered it in a convincing manner.

Margaret Melgaard, the last speaker on the program, gave a rousing speech on the 1924 "Prowler," explaining the subscription campaign and calling for volunteer salesmen from each class.

After a few remarks and announcements by Mr. Bye, assembly was dismissed and each one left feeling that this was one of the best and most instructive chapel periods of the year.

High School Students Speak at Local Theatre

Last week being Education Week, some of the members of the public speaking class appeared at the Princess Theatre. Thursday night Hylda Peterson spoke on Illiteracy Day, and Friday Melvin Engelstad talked on Education in the Community. Math Barzen spoke Saturday, his topic being Physical Education. All the speakers were well received and their talks very interesting. They showed that a great deal of time and thought had been put into them.

As it is a great accomplishment to be able to appear before the public with ease and confidence, it is the aim of the public speaking class to have each one of its members speak either in assembly or in some public place during the year. A few of the students have already spoken in assembly and as their speeches were very good the school is eagerly waiting to hear more of them.

T. R. F. DEBATE TEAM CHOSEN TUES. EVE

A preliminary debate was held on Tuesday evening in the high school assembly for the purpose of eliminating four of the eight contestants. Mr. Mickelson acted as chairman of the meeting and Rev. Gerlinger, Supt. Simley, and Principal Bye officiated as judges.

There were four negative and four affirmative speakers and the debaters were chosen, not according to the side they were on, but according to individual merits. As the debate was very close and the speakers evenly matched, a decision was difficult, but the judges finally announced that Hazel Krause, May Ballingrud, Margaret Melgaard, and Mildred Griffin made the team and that Melvin Englestad was chosen as second alternate to take Mildred's place during the second semester. The affirmative side won the debate by a vote of two to one.

The first real debate will be held here sometime early in December with Red Lake Falls.

Don't scratch your neck—you're liable to get splinters in your fingers.

Yesterday I was washing windows on top of the Soo building and I looked down and saw my uncle but he looked more like an ant.

Stude.: "How did I know you wanted to swear first?"

Senior: You're on the right track.

Given: A sheet of paper.
To Prove: A sheet of paper is equal to a lazy dog.
Proof: A sheet of paper is an inklined plane. An in-clined-plane is a slope-up. A slow-pup is a lazy dog.

BASKET BALL SQUAD CHOSEN LAST WEEK

No Letter Men Left From Last Year Making Competition for Positions Strong.

The passing of the football season at the end of last week turns the center of interest to basket ball. The Lincolnites have undergone a week of practise and a squad was picked last Friday. This week, though broken with Thanksgiving vacation, will be devoted to pivoting, passing the ball, and shooting baskets. The latter part of the week will probably be given over to scrimmage.

Because no "letter men" are left from last year, plenty of opportunity is given for all basketeers to try for the team. This creates much competition for each position and will consequently raise the standards.

Coach Thune is confident of a winning team, even after the defeats in football, and hopes to develop one that will be fast and accurate, though of light weight. He will not be handicapped by unconditioned players because all the boys have been keeping up both in their marks and their training since early in September.

Some very fine material has developed from last year's Freshmen and Sophomore teams so the class games will probably prove even more exciting than those of last year.

These games will take place before Christmas vacation and, as good players develop, they will be added to the present squad.

The following have been selected so far:

Forwards—Michael Parenteau, Arthur Penney, Donald McCrum, Walter Larson and Russel Olson.

Center—Joseph Lundin, John Sether and Lawrence Mulry.

Guards—Allen Sorenson, Math Barzen, Lloyd Bennes, Tien Gallangarud, Roy Langevin and Millard Myrin.

First Debate Contest Held For Elimination

The first elimination contest of the Debating Class was held Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week. Sixteen of the original twenty-eight who signed for debate tried out and of these, eight were selected.

Miss Minnie Leavitt, Miss Boreen Finnegan, and Miss Monica Baubrick had been selected as judges for the tryout. Each student gave a five-minute construction speech, choosing either side of the question, and was judged 60 per cent on material and 40 per cent on speaking ability.

The eight students judged the best were Margaret Melgaard, Melvin Englestad, Mildred Griffin, Hazel Krause, May Ballingrud, Bertha Hotinsen, Donald McCrum and Hylda Peterson.

The final tryout, selecting the best four will be held Tuesday evening of this week.

Billboards On State Lands Are Prohibited

State Auditor Ray Chase in a letter to C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, clearly outlines the position that he will take in the matter of erecting billboards on state lands. Following is a reproduction of the letter sent to Mr. Babcock:

"Within a few weeks past this office has received numerous requests for permits to erect billboards on state lands. I have ruled today that no state lands shall be leased for bill board purposes. This is in line with legislative intent, as evidenced by Sec. 11, Ch. 439, Laws 1923 which requires that advertisements be removed from public highways prior to December 1st, and with the policy of your department as I understand it to be.

"I am certain that this ruling will work no hardship upon advertisers, since the newspapers of the state are entirely adequate to carry their message to the public.

"It will work no hardship upon bill board companies, since it will prevent the initial financial outlay for erection of the boards.

It will operate as a safety measure to the extent that it will prevent the construction of bill boards which obstruct the view and distract the attention at dangerous cross-roads and corners.

"It will be another step to preserve the scenic beauties of Northern Minnesota and prevent their disfigurement by commercial advertisements. We have barely started the tourist industry in Minnesota. Tourists, in increasing thousands, are coming into our state to admire its beauties, enjoy its climate and partake of its hospitality. The entertainment of these guests will be an increasingly profitable business. You, in your department, are making every effort to produce highways which will make tourist travel in Minnesota a pleasure. So far as this department can, we shall make every effort to preserve our beauty spots, prevent their destruction or disfigurement and conserve our resources in timber, lakes and streams."

New Field For The Radio.

In future the modern novel will be sent by daily installments to the happy possessors of radio equipments.

A new departure in serialization is the broadcasting by station WJZ, Radio Corporation of America, of William Johnston's new mystery novel, "The Waddington Cipher," published by Doubleday, Page & Company.

Infinitely multiplying the enjoyment of musical performances, public speaking and current news events, the newest treasurers of literature are to be transmitted by the mysterious aerial voice.

Modern Methods of Socializing High School Pupils

It is a matter of common knowledge that the high schools of the United States, in response to an insistent public demand, have introduced much material into various subjects of the curriculums offered in an effort to meet those needs of pupils which grow out of social organization and have quite generally reorganized classroom method to the same end. High schools generally have gone much further than this, however, in ways not so generally known. In many schools today the secondary pupils participate quite freely in school government and though extra-curriculum activities are getting more active training thru participation in activities which have large socializing values.

In a study of rural high schools in the United States, which is in progress in the U. S. Bureau of Education, it has been found that high schools have developed a variety of extra-curriculum activities the range of which is suggested by the list of the most common ones which follow: Literary society, debating club, science club, orchestra, glee club, athletic association, school paper, boy scouts, camp fire girls, junior league, chorus, dramatic club, Latin club, agricultural club, home economic club, student council, band, class chorus, girl scouts, poultry association, junior community league, school annual, girl reserves, garden club, fruit club, 4 H club, bird club, sewing club, health crusade, Hi Y club, nature study club, Y. W. club, athletic association, country club workers, community council, torch society.

CREAMERIES WANT OWN BUTTER BRAND

More Than 100 Already Have Joined Sales Department of State Association.

Plans to establish a special, copyrighted brand for butter made in Minnesota's co-operative creameries is the strongest argument that is being used by officers of the state association in establishing its new sales department, according to H. F. Meyer, manager of the sales department.

"Creamery directors realize," says Mr. McGuire, "that their partons already have paid for a number of widely known brands and they also realize that some one else has title and possession. The fact that our sales plan will provide a state brand is an important factor in convincing creamery organizations of the necessity for a central sales agency without delay. The plan does not call for the abolishment of brands already established, but it does provide for a trade mark which will identify our butter when it reaches the consumer. More than 100 creameries already have the marketing agreement, Mr. McGuire says, and others will come into the department as quickly as meetings can be held to have the plan explained and to take formal action.

Efforts on the part of eastern butter buyers to block the sales plan are assisting, rather than hurting the movement. Since the announcement that an active campaign against the sales plan was uncovered, Mr. McGuire, John Brandt of Litchfield, president, and H. F. Meyer, manager of the sales department, have been busy attending meetings in all parts of the state.

Sweet Clover Seed Brings Profits to Kittson Farms

Kennedy, Minn., Nov. 27.—A large number of farmers in the vicinity of Kennedy are realizing a pleasant, as well as profitable, surprise from small patches of sweet clover which they did not consider worth while cutting for fodder during the summer, by selling the seed this fall. Fields showing a rather short and thin stand by the middle of the summer were usually plowed or left to ripen, the result of which is that many farmers are reporting a yield of five bushels, or about 300 pounds, per acre from what they considered worthless spots at one time. The average net price received by the growers is 9 cents per pound, or an income of $27 per acre, which shows a handsome profit as compared to small grains.

The Kennedy Grain & Supply company, a local elevator firm, has handled two carloads and approximately the same amount has been shipped by local freight by other dealers and individuals. In the aggregate these shipments will have brought about $23,700.00 into this vicinity and there is still a considerable amount left to be marketed after farmers have decided on local seed requirements. This is the more remarkable when the fact is taken into consideration that the bulk of this output was, what can be termed, an "accidental" crop.

NEW MODEL TUDOR FORD SEDAN IS ON MARKET

The Ford Motor company have announced an addition to its line of cars—the Tudor Sedan which brings to the public an entirely new style of Ford enclosed body.

It is a distinctive type designed to carry five passengers in complete comfort. Besides its general appeal and high quality aspect, the Tudor Sedan has several new features which promise to win immediate favor.

The two doors are unusually wider and are set at the front of the car, hung in exceptionally heavy frames and swing open forward on either side in line with the driver's seat.

Exterior appearance is enhanced by a windshield visor, cowl ventilator and secure rear fenders of new design.

Interior arrangements of the Tudor Sedan meets all comforts requirements both for driver and passengers. There is a noticeable roominess in front with plenty of foot room. The tilting seat opposite the driver folds compactly out of the way so that entrance and exit through the large and roomy door is easily and conveniently effected by those occupying the rear seat which is amply large for three persons.

COWS-HOGS-ALFALFA
(By C. H. Fuller, Mavie, Minn.)

Here is to the good old Poland China sow
For paying your bills she cannot be beat
She can beat your hens and your dairy cow
By your crops of rye, barley, oats and wheat.

Just give her a place in your thistley field
And all of your crops she sure will make yield.
She will pay off the bankers, the merchant and all
And fix your checking account where it never can fall.

She will root out the thistles and eat every weed,
And not a darn one will she let go to seed.
She can raise you ten pigs, both in spring and in fall,
And feed the whole family, the cat, dog and all.

She never will kick on the wage you can pay
Nor will she ask for an eight hour day.
Eighteen hours she will work and maybe twenty-three,
If by chance an extra weed in the lot she should see.

Just give her the field and plenty to drink
And she will cultivate more land than you ever could think
Now after she is done your crops will sure grow
Just take out your seed and your alfalfa sow.

Then get you at least a dozen good cows
And keep you at least a half dozen sows
Then when the meadows are green and your bank account right
Ten hours of sweet slumber you can have every night.

Then the bankers, the butcher, the merchant and all
Will wear a kind smile when on them you call.
For your business is all cash, there is nothing to fear,
With hogs, cows and alfalfa you will prosper each year.

Let's start in fellow farmers with the thing that we know
In Pennington County is darn sure to grow.
In Pennington County alfalfa is a weed
And the very best thing on which dairy cows can feed.

And the old sows takes the thistles so the alfalfa can grow
And we can all be sitting pretty of alfalfa we sow.

Hurrah for the alfalfa boosters, the hog and Dairy cow booster, the Thief River Falls
Commercial Club, and every ambitious
Energetic farmer in Pennington County
And the State of Minnesota,
Who bids to be the banner state of the Union in twenty years.

Potato Organization Committee Asks Help Of Wives of Farmers

It remained for a woman to point out to those given the work of promoting the cooperative potato marketing movement one valuable aid that they had failed to call upon, according to C. H. Zealand of Crookston, secretary of the Red River valley special committee.

"We had remarked on the fact that, while practically every grower attending a meeting would express approval of the co-operative marketing plan, so many of them would not sign up at the first meeting. It was wondered why this was when they were favorable to the movement and wanted to see it go through. A light dawned when a lady asked, "Most of them are married, are they not," Mr. Zealand said.

"The state organization committee frankly acknowledges its oversight. The interest of the women of the farms is wanted and always has been, but special attention has not been given directly to getting it, as should have been done. The Red River valley counties are now more than half way to the 'fifty per cent mark,' but the valley committee realizes that the work of getting around to see the growers will be slower now, and very earnestly solicits the help of the women of the valley farms in completing its work," Mr. Zealand states in a recent communication.

Women are urged to study the co-operative commodity marketing plan, if they have not been doing so. The more it is studied, the committee points out, the more it will prove itself to be one practical means for bettering farming conditions. It is working out successfully with fruit, tobacco and cotton in southern and western sections, and with potatoes in Maine and Colorado; it is pointed out.

North Dakota and South Dakota, Idaho and New York are taking up the work of organization. Wisconsin and Nebraska already are working under a state-wide system that brings them into nearly the same class as organized states. Michigan has been working through a state exchange with reasonably good results for two years, but not under the same plan as that proposed for Minnesota. Growers alone, or those owning land upon which potatoes are grown, can be members of the state association so that it is going to be controlled by members alone and it will be operated solely in the interests of the growers. It is not aimed nor hoped that prices to the consumers should be raised unreasonably high, but the returns must be enough to give growers at least a fair return or potatoes cannot longer be raised.

"The association can not become a reality unless fifty per cent of the 1922 potato acreage is represented by signed up growers. This can not be secured if every grower waits to see what his neighbor is going to do. The state committee and the valley committee urges growers not to wait, but to get a contract, study it, then sign it and hand it in. The women of the farms are vitally interested in the success of the potato industry and are asked and urged by the committees to help "put Minnesota Over."

Pennington county growers signed the necessary quota in a short time and contracts are still continuing to come in, according to the local committee.

Norman County to Bond For Improving Highways

At a recent meeting of the county commissioners of Norman county it was voted to bond the county in the sum of $250,000 for the purposes of constructing the trunk highways that traverse the county, Nos. 6 and 31. Norman county has been rather behind in the good roads procession on account of the failure of the county board to take advantage of the provisions of the bonding law passed prior to the good roads amendment to the constitution. Trunk Highway No. 6 comes from Laverne, in the southwest part of the state, thru Moorhead to Ada by way of Hendrum and then north to Crookston and the Canadian border. No. 31 connects Mahnomen and Ada. It is altogether likely that contracts will be let on these roads this winter so that work will start early in the spring.

SPUD CO-OPERATIVE IS LARGEST IN U. S

Acerage Now Under Contract Passes 70,000, According to Official Records.

The new Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange, now being organized last week became the largest potato co-operative in United States, in point of acreage signed. Official records show that more than 70,000 acres have been contracted by the association's 4,400 members. The gross acreage is growing at the rate of more than 1,000 a day.

With the 70,000 acre goal passed, the movement leads the Maine Potato Growers' Exchange in acreage signed. The Maine co-operative, up to the present, has been the largest organization of potato growers in the United States, having 3,800 members with 65,000 acres under contract.

In any state, other than Minnesota, 70,000 acres would qualify the movement under the 50 per cent of the commercial acreage clause in the contract, according to S. G. Rubinow, campaign manager. However, the movement still has a lot of acreage to sign up before the contracts can be made effective. To impress upon members the necessity of signing up every acre possible, the general state committee last week sent a special appeal to those interested in the movement and the response is excellent, Mr. Rubinow says.

The movement in North Dakota is making satisfactory progress, according to C. H. Morgan, in charge. A state committee, made up of growers, bankers and business men has been formed and county committees will be at work this week, he says.

Becker county, which ranks with the largest potato growing counties in Minnesota, will be first among those needing more than 5,000 acres to complete its quota. Farmers in that county are within 200 of their goal of 8,000 acres, according to Walter Oby of Detroit, treasurer of the state committee.

Six Minnesota counties have contracted their quota of acreage—Pennington, Red Lake, Beltrami, Clearwater, Carlton and Winona—a good showing for the northern section.

Raised 500 Turkeys.

Albert Malm, who farms a few miles southeast of Argyle, has raised more than 500 turkeys on his farm this year, according to the Warren Sheaf, and at present prices will realize a nice bunch of money for his birds. Most of the work in caring for the young turkeys has been done by Mrs. Malm and she has had very good luck, only a few having died since they were hatched in the spring. Mrs. Malm will get her share of the money for her work when the birds are sold. So many turkeys on a small farm can not collect all their living wandering over the range but must be fed at regular intervals. Even so they will pay for their keep many times over. Mr. Malm says that the most profitable crop on his farm this year is the turkey crop.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Thief River Falls Can not Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Thief River Falls who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Thief River Falls kidney sufferers.

Mrs. J. H. McClelland, 314 Conley Ave., Thief River Falls, gave the following statement Nov. 30, 1917: "I had an attack of kidney trouble and my back ached. My kidneys acted unnaturally and I felt tired at times. Doan's Kidney Pills, from Lambert's Drug Store, soon had me feeling all right."

On Aug. 9, 1921, Mrs. McClelland said: "The cure I received several years ago by using Doan's has been permanent."

OCTOBER RECEIPTS OF LOCAL CREAMERY TOTAL OVER $17,000

More Than Eighty Patrons of Farmers Co-op. Receive In Excess of $50 For Month.

A total of $17,039.88 was paid to patrons of the Farmers Co-operative creamery in this city during the month of October, according to a report submitted from the office of Secretary Thos. H. Bjerke. The amount of butterfat handled during that period was 34,943.5 pounds for which was paid 38 and 51 cents per pound.

The October receipts show a falling off from the previous month of nearly $3,000 due to the advancing season.

Eighty-three patrons received checks amounting to fifty dollars or more during the last period, which is a splendid showing for that time of year. A number of dairy farmers in the immediate vicinity of Thief River Falls sell milk in the city and thus derive their revenue from that source. Those whose names appeared on the list of fifty-dollar patrons for October are:

Farmers' Institutes Are Conducted In Roseau Co.

J. M. Bishop and son Morlan left Monday for Strathcona to attend a farmers' institute conducted there by the Public Relation Service of the Great Northern Railway company, co-operating with the county agent of Roseau county. Seven institutes are being held in Roseau county this week at which problems relative to agriculture are discussed by experts, and railroad questions, such as freight rates and railroad service, are handled by railroad men.

NEARLY $200 GIVEN RED CROSS DURING DRIVE NOW CLOSING

Large Membership Enrolled in Pennington County Drive, Mrs. Nesse in Charge.

A total of about $170 is the sum realized so far in the seventh annual roll call in Pennington county, which closes today, thus exceeding the quota. However, a number of the sections outside the city have not reported as yet. A thorough canvass of the city was carried on by a group of energetic workers, Mrs. J. N. Nesse being chairman of the drive. Practically all the memberships solicited were one dollar memberships, some of the business places contributing five dollars to the worthy cause. It is expected that about $10 will be received from each of the six other sections in the county.

Mrs. Nesse states that the results are very gratifying and extends thanks in behalf of the organization to all those who lent their assistance in the drive. Those who took an active part in canvassing the various sections of this city were: Mrs. Anna Kretschmar, Mrs. J. O. Sether, Mrs. C. M. Haug, Mrs. Ed. Korstad, Misses Myrtle and Margaret Williams, on the West side, and Mrs. Geo. Johnson and Misses Ruth Melby and Maxine Johnson on the East side. Mrs. Johnson was in charge of the work on the East side.

Council To Have Hearing Regarding Coal Deliveries

Little routine was transacted by the city council last night, there being a transfer of pool room license to Harry Frye, the appointment of Dr. L. R. Twete as dairy inspector to enforce the new milk ordinance, the granting of the use of the auditorium to the creamery association for their regular meeting next month and to the high school basket ball team and the city basket ball team for vairous games this winter.

After the above matters were out of the way it was moved by John Dahl and seconded by Ole Ihle that the council investigate the alleged irregularities in the delivery of coal to the city, particularly with reference to the charges made against Alderman John Dahl, and that a hearing thereon be had at the next regular meeting of the council, and that the president be authorized to issue subpoenaes for the attendance of witnesses at such hearing.

"SMILIN' THROUGH" IS PRESENTED HERE

Emotional Play Presented By Splendid Cast Makes Hit at Auditorium Monday.

"Smilin' Through", the third number of the Lyceum course brought to this city by G. Halvorson, was presented at the city auditorium Monday evening by the Redpath Lyceum bureau. The play, a stage reproduction of this emotional story, was enacted by a cast of players who displayed rare talent in the execution of their parts.

The play was a near replica of the ppopular screen success and the use of double roles, the coming of the spirit of the lost Moonyeen and the wedding scene itself lent much to the dramatic effect of the carefully laid plot. John Burke, playing the part of John Carteret, brought much comment on the realistic interpretation of the role of the obstinate and warm-tempered uncle. Carl Reed, as the second suitor of Kathleen Dungannon, Willie Ainley, also played his part with an accuracy that showed more than careful preparation. The part of Dr. Owen Harding, with Charles Flemming, was a difficult part but was executed with full justice to the play. Edwin Evans in the double role of Kenneth Wayne, suitor of Kathleen, and Jeremiah Wayne, lover of Moonyeen, who was to be married to John Carteret, and who killed Moonyeen instead of John in a fit of jealousy and anger, played his part with a real interpretation of the characters represented, and Jean Kieghley, in the dual role of Kathleen Dungannon, herione of the play and lover of Kenneth Wayne, and Moonyeen Claire to whom Carteret was to have been married, displayed a dramatic ability that made the presentation one of merit and talent. Her Irish temper displayed at various times added much to the life of the play, which was well received by every one present.

Stores Closed Thanksgiving.

The stores in Thief River Falls will be closed Thursday this week in observance of Thanksgiving Day, in accordance with the proclamation by the President and the Governor of the state.

There will be no postal deliveries on the rural routes or in the city, but the windows at the post office will be open for a period of one hour, between 11 a. m., and 12 noon.

In order that Thanksgiving Day may be properly observed by The Times force, this issue is being published on Wednesday instead of Thursday.

Hundreds Take Advantage Of Big Sale at Oen Store

A large crew of clerks have been busy at the Oen Mercantile store since the opening of the big sale on Tuesday of last week, to take care of the unusually large patronage which was drawn to the store by reason of the many bargains offered in the various departments. Last Saturday was a particularly busy day for the merchants of Thief River Falls, a large number of out-of-town customers being in the city to take advantage of the special offers by the stores of the city.

The Oen store is one of the best known business institutions in Northwestern Minnesota and the lines carried are of exceptional quality. Announcement that the large amount of stock is thrown on the market at a sensational reduction created a good deal of interest among buyers, particularly as it comes at a time when everyone is stocking up for the winter. It should be remembered that this is no broken line of odds and ends but a stock carried to supply the regular trade of this section. Oen Mercantile company has been in business here for the last thirty years.

Special Performances of "Some Wild Oats" Coming To Lyceum Nov. 29 and 30

On account of the delicate subject and scenes, men and women will not be admitted together to see "Some Wild Oats," presented by Samuel Cummins, the producer, at the Lyceum Theatre Thursday and Friday, Nov. 29 and 30.

There will be special reels for the women each afternoon at the matinee starting at 2:30 and special reels for the men each evening at 7:30 and 9. Children under 16 will not be admitted at all.

The story of "Some Wild Oats" is different from the average run of motion pictures. It is full of thrills from start to finish. There are some daring moments when even the most hardened are astonished. There is an absorbing love story in the picture, some good comedy, and a real fight between a green recruit from the farm and the navy yard's bully. The picture has the indorsement of the leading authorities, who claim that while it teaches a lesson of sex cleanliness and morality, and warns against disease, it does not bore with its preaching, and entertains every minute. Neither does the picture go to the other extreme and teach young men and women things they had better not know. It is a safe and sane presentation of a dangerous subject.

Middle River Bank Opens For Business Last Monday

The Security State bank of Middle River opened its doors again last Monday after having been closed for business since the early part of the summer. At a meeting of the directors last week the necessary arrangements were made for resuming business operations, according to E. P. Modin, cashier of the bank, who was a business caller in the city last Friday. Officers of the institution are: A. N. Eckstrom of Warren, president; Richard Sjoberg, vice president; E. P. Modin, cashier, and C. H. Olson, assistant cashier.

Other banks of this section which have been forced to discontinue business during the period of depression are making arrangements for reopening in the near future, indicating that conditions are becoming less stringent. It is reported that the Alvarado bank, closed by the state banking department some time ago, is expected to open soon.

Marshall Co. Ditch Case Heard in Supreme Court

The following article regarding the supreme court's decision regarding a ditch case in Marshall county appeared in the Holt Weekly News last week:

"J. A. Satum received word Saturday from Attorney James Manahan of St. Paul, that one of the members of their firm, Miss Hoogesteger who wrote the brief and argued the case, in the state supreme court, of Consolidated Ditches Nos. 102 and 103, and that said court sustained the order of Judge Grindeland, and that the promoters of the ditch will have to pay all the costs.

This is a great victory and now, many farmers will stick who otherwise would have been compelled to leave their farms.

The original plan called for three main ditches from the Thief River east to the divide in Beltrami County, and including the dredging of several miles of Thief river. The cost would have been close to $2,000,000.

The county has spent between $30,000 and $40,000 in preliminary surveys, and opposing taxpayers spent $5,000 to $6,000 in fighting the case.

This sum would have built several miles of good roads."

Coming to Zion Church.

MOTOR LICENSES TO BE INCREASED JAN. 1

Many Changes in Rates For Motor Vehicles For 1924. Penalty Effective Feb. 1.

Minnesota's new motor vehicle registration law, amended by the last session of the state legislature, which changes the rate of payment for motor vehicle licenses, will become effective January 1, 1924. The rate is increased from 2 per cent under the present law to 2 3-4 per cent under the new law. Motor vehicle owners, especially those who have newer models, will notice this change in rate through the higher tax that they will have to pay.

Under the present law a list price of $600 is the highest that will permit a minimum tax of $12. Under the new law, $435 is the highest list price that will allow a minimum of $12. This will result in a change of classification for 1924 so that many cars that have carried the "A" number plates this year will next year carry "B" plates.

Under the new law the 1924 tax will be based on the factory list price in effect November 1, 1923, for all corresponding models similar to those still being manufactured. Thru this change on account of the 10 per cent depreciation allowed for each of the first seven years of the motor vehicle life, there will be a gradual decrease corresponding with the age of the car.

Mike Holm, secretary of state, is now preparing the 1924 rate book, which he hopes to have in the hands of dealers, bankers, registers of deeds and others who may apply for one, on or about December 25. The time allotted for re-registration under the new law is reduced. To avoid penalties for delayed registration under the new law, applications must be made on or before February 15. Under this new law the registrar has absolutely no authority to waive penalties and there can therefore be no extension of time. Penalties will begin on February 16 at the rate of 25 cents a day for the first 20 days and $2 a month thereafter for each month or fraction thereof not to exceed five months. This means a total maximum possible of $15 for delayed registrations.

The change in the registration law will not effect lower priced cars of the old vintage to any extent, but the newer models will be taxed more than for this past year. Secretary Holm has pointed this out through using a popular medium priced car as an example, wherein the 1924 model would be taxed $24.20 instead of $17.60; the 1923 model $21.78 and the 1922 model $19.36 instead of $17.60, while the 1921, 1920, 1919 and 1918 models would be taxed a trifle less under the new law than under the old.

It is expected that the new rate books will be much in demand when they are ready for distribution.

Northwestern Telephone Co. Improving Local Exchange

In anticipation of future development and in keeping with the Northwestern Bell Telephone company's aim of rendering efficient service, extensive changes and rearrangements are being made on the switchboard at the Thief River Falls exchange. A good deal of the work is being done at night so that no interruption of service will be noticed by the subscribers.

Added testing facilities are being installed and the position of rural lines on the board changed. These alterations are scientifically worked out to save unnecessary motions, which means faster and more satisfactory service.

REPORTS QUICK RELIEF FROM STOMACH PAINS

After suffering tortures for years from stomach pains, an old mother found relief through the efforts of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. McDonough, Box 99, Barronett, Wis. Mrs. McDonough writes as follows: "I can truthfully say that mother is in better condition than for five years. When she began taking Sto-li-gal she was in an awful condition. She had pains in the stomach and back and could not eat or sleep. And the doctors said all they could do would be to give her only temporary relief. Then I heard of Sto-li-gal and procured it for her. Now she does not feel any of the old distressing symptoms." Through the use of Sto-li-gal thousands of sufferers have been quickly relieved from the tortures of gassy, sour stomach, pains in stomach and back, indigestion, dyspepsia, shortage of breath, stomach ulcers, heartburn, dizziness, torpid liver, yellow jaundice, chronic appendicitis, gallstones and chronic constipation. If you are a sufferer demand Sto-li-gal from your druggist. If he cannot supply you send $1.00 for a full combination treatment or 10c for a trial treatment sent postage paid by Digestive Chemical Co., 800 University ave., St. Paul, Minn. Sto-li-gal is sold in Thief River Falls by Dr. H. B. Newell and Roy Lambert's Drug Store.

Club Changes Hands.

A deal was closed last week whereby Harry Frye became owner of the Club Pool hall and billiard business on Main avenue. The Messrs. Hans Dahl and nephew, Ralph Dahl, sold the business and fixtures of the Club to Harry Frye, formerly engaged in assisting James Cosgrove in the operation of the billiard parlor on Main avenue. The Messrs Dahl have operated the business the past two and a half years, having taken it over at the time of the death of H. O. Field, Ralph's step-father.

Harry Frye has been employed at the Cosgrove establishment for some time past and has made many friends who will be a great asset to the Club under his management. Mr. Frye assumed the role of proprietor Monday of last week. Hans and Ralph left Friday for Grafton, N. D., where they will spend the holiday season at the home of Ralph's mother.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

CROPS-POULTRY DISPLAY AMONG BEST IN STATE

Big Event Proves Huge Success and Attracts Visitors From Entire Section.

POULTRY SALE AND ALFALFA DISCUSSION FRI.

Exhibition of Farm Products Gratifying. More Than 600 Birds in Poultry Division.

A total of nearly 600 birds representing all breeds and varieties of the poultry family, and farm products of all kinds are on display at the auditorium during the Crops and Poultry show, which opened in this city Tuesday and closes with a rousing alfalfa meeting at the Lyceum tomorrow evening. With weather of the August variety the attendance at the exhibition and the various meetings has been exceptional and beyond the expectations of the management.

The spacious auditorium is practically filled with exhibits of the best of the various Pennington county products, the greater part of the space being taken up by the poultry display. Prominent among the other displays are those of potatoes, corn, ensilage, sugar beets, alfalfa roots, hay and seed and various other varieties of legumes. The rack of corn ears indicate clearly that corn can be grown and matured very successfully in this section, and is a splendid argument for increased corn production in the community.

There are 75 entries in the miscellaneous department, including 20 different samples of ensilage.

In the contest for the best alfalfa roots displayed, T. K. Rynestad won high honors, A. Flattum had the best display of alfalfa seed and Jens Letness entered the best alfalfa hay. Other first place winners were: O. J. Breiland, Hazel, medium red clover; Albert Netteland, mammoth and alsike clover; Hugh Best, sweet clover seed; Orton Olson, medium red clover hay; W. J. Janda, alsike clover hay. The forage exhibits bore evidence to the fact that Pennington county can produce such products of the best quality in the country and in sufficient quantities to supply the many cows and hogs of the community.

The poultry exhibit, which is the seventh to be conducted by the Pennington county association, is the most successful that has ever been staged in this section, the turkey display pronounced by W. E. Stanfield, poultry expert, who judged the exhibit, as the best he had ever viewed in the entire state. Seventy entries were made in the turkey division.

The $50 silver loving cup offered by the Farmers and Merchants bank for the best male at the show, now becomes the property of C. D. Gustafson, who won for the third time with his Barred Rock. L. A. Westphal of St. Hilaire had the highest scoring hen, a White Wyandotte, at the show, and was awarded the other $50 loving cup given by the First and Peoples State bank. The cup must be won three times. It has been awarded Olaf Neset twice. The cup offered by the Sunnyside Poultry Yards for the best S. C. W. Leghorn cockerel was won by William Yonke of St. Hilaire. All the birds have been judged by Mr. Stanfield and those who visit the show may see for themselves by the tags attached to each pen, what scores are given.

Tuesday evening's meeting was held at the Commercial club rooms, when Mr. Stanfield, poultry judge, delivered a talk on economic poultry production and answered the many questions which were made regarding the proper way to raise, market, etc., poultry.

The forenoon yesterday was devoted to judging and in the early part of the afternoon a sale of registered Poland China and Duroc Jersey hogs took place at the Fisher barn. About 35 registered purebred hogs were consigned but only a few were disposed of, owing to the absence of buyers. Several hog raisers were present but most of them have all they wish to take care of at the present time, consequently the sale did not turn out as successfully as was hoped. The topnotcher, a Poland China sow consigned by Joe Ptacek, was purchased by H. C. Fuller of Mavie for $100, while the others which were sold brot only small amounts.

Following the sale the Poland China breeders held their annual meeting.

The afternoon session was given over to a talk on sugar beets by Prof. T. M. Call of the Northwest Agricultural school, who judged the grain exhibits. A large audience heard the discussion of this valuable crop and were given facts regarding its proper culture.

The program at the Lyceum theatre building last evening was featured by a practical, informative and most applicable address by J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner in the state department of agriculture, former resident of this city and one of the most prominent men in the state in agricultural and rural activities.

"Can we overdo dairying" was the main trend of his address. That we cannot be ably proved by statistics that are surprising to some who seem to think the dairying business is being pushed faster than conditions will allow and that the saturation point of dairy products will soon be reached. Statistics indicated 36 people for every 10 cows in the United States in 1850, in 1900, 44 to each 10 cows and in 1920, 53 people to every 10 cows, which goes to prove that instead of reaching a saturation point we will have to increase the relative number of cattle faster than we are now doing or the time will come when dairy products will be at a premium.

Besides these, Mr. Hay brought out many statistics of equally informative value which will be published at a later date. He pointed out that Pennington county is in a far better po-

9:30 A. M. Bu[illegible] At Telephone Exchange

Right around 9:30 o'clock in the morning the largest number of telephone calls are made on a typical day. This is the time of the day when business begins to get into full swing and the housewife is placing her morning order with the grocer. After 10 o'clock the number of calls gradually drops until between noon and 1 o'clock. Then calling begins to increase until it reaches another peak between 4 and 5 o'clock.

A large portion of the afternoon calls are social as are the large number of calls made about 7 o'clock p. m., when evening engagements are made.

A big fire, a sudden rain, an interruption of transportation, or anything unusual will send just about everybody to the telephone, making the number of calls suddenly rise.

One of the biggest problems of the telephone company is to handle the continually varying number of calls that occur in a normal day or happen when the unusual takes place.

MRS. BISHOP ATTENDS BEMIDJI CONFERENCE OF WELFARE BOARDS

Regional Chairman Addresses Representatives From Seven Counties Gathered Today

Mrs. J. M. Bishop of this city is in Bemidji today to conduct a regional conference of Child Welfare Boards of seven counties. Mrs. Bishop is one of the five regional chairmen appointed by the State Children's Bureau and is in charge of the work promoted by the Bureau in the entire northwestern section of the state. The following five counties in this region are represented at the Bemidji meeting: Beltrami, Cass, Lake of the Woods, Clearwater and Hubbard, and Koochiching and Itasca from the region in the charge of Mrs. Gemmell of Brainard. The object of the conference is to outline the work for the coming year. Similar gatherings have been conducted by Mrs. Bishop in Thief River Falls and Detroit.

In addition to taking part in the regular discussions of the boards regarding feeblemindness and the question of county aid for unmarried mothers, Mrs. Bishop will also deliver an address at a public meeting this evening, the topic of which is "Public Opinion on Child Welfare Work." She is known thruout the state for her timely discussions along these lines.

In speaking of the accomplishments of the Child Welfare board in Beltrami county and elsewhere Miss Inez Patterson, district representative of the state Children's Bureau, made the following statements, according to the Bemidji Sentinel:

"Few people realize what this board has to do and how little they have to do it with. It is not a charity dispensing board, that work falls into other hands, but it is entrusted with the care, among other things, of unmarried mothers, establishing the parentage of the child and seeing that proper support is given as required by the state laws. Now is this an easy task? In Beltrami county this last year there were 50 unmarried mothers reported, 31 of the cases being new. From way down in the list of counties in the state Beltrami county now stands eleventh in the state for percentage of illegitimate children. It is a situation that needs attention and while our boards can hardly be expected to strike at the causes, whatever they may be, we can and do see that the children are given the proper and necessary support. This board serves without compensation, the necessary expenses are expected to be paid by the county, but there should be a generous appropriation made by every county board to permit investigations. If the local board had been financially able to cover the county and look after the field work it is more than likely that the horrible tragedy at Kellther might have been averted, for the reported conditions would have discovered and steps taken to adjust the situation."

These statements apply to the conditions in other counties as well, altho in various degrees.

President Of Wheat Growers Association Will Continue To Make Home in This City

W. J. Brown, president of the American Wheat Growers' association with headquarters in Minneapolis, arrived in the city the forepart of the week to attend to various business matters.

Mr. Brown states that he still maintains his home in Thief River Falls, altho he is located in the twin cities the greater share of the time, in connection with his position as head of the greatest co-operative organization in the country. Mr. Brown asserts that the success of the association is assured and that growers are being signed up in large numbers.

SCHOOL PATRONS GIVEN FACTS BY SUPT. I. T. SIMLEY

Complete Survey of City School System Presented at Commercial Club Luncheon.

ASSESSED VALUATION OF DISTRICT ONLY $1,800,000

Plant Valued at $290,000 Houses 1500 Children. Maintenance Cost Averages $110,000

Members of the Commercial club, with Woman's club members as invited guests, heard a very comprehensive and direct survey of the school system of Thief River Falls by Superintendent I. T. Simley in an address made before that organization at the noon luncheon last Friday. Mr. Simley delivered a message concerning a subject of vital interest to every resident of the city. It was in the nature of a final word to patrons of the city schools in the observance of Education Week, which was celebrated thruout the schools recently.

Following is a complete summary of the talk given by Mr. Simley at Friday's luncheon, containing facts which all persons interested in the maintenance and operation of the city schools should acquaint themselves with:

"Our school district, Independent District No. 18, comprises about 12 sections of land including the city of Thief River Falls. Its assessed valuation is approximately $1,800,000.

"The plant consists of six buildings which are valued at about $290,000 with equipment. With the exception of the Knox, where there is considerable room to spare, every building is full. When we stop to consider what the different buildings have cost the tax payers of our school district, we ought to be very thankful and proud of the foresight and discretion used at the time they were built. Our Northrop building, for instance, cost only $45,000, and our Lincoln building cost only $55,000. Even the Knox building, which was the last building to be put up, is very cheap at $80,000 when you consider the time during which it was built. This says nothing of the other buildings which were built previously. When you stop to consider, however, that many of the cities in Minnesota, even much smaller than Thief River Falls, have paid out as much or more for one building as have the people of Thief River Falls for all their buildings combined, we have just reasons to be proud and thankful. This phase of the educational situation in Thief River Falls is particularly gratifying when one stops to consider that it takes money to live in a school building just as it does in a dwelling house or any other building.

Last week you saw our fifteen hundred pupils and teachers on parade. To see them all together is about the only way to fully appreciate just how many fifteen hundred children and young people are. The attendance this year is a few less than it was last year, it is true. This is due principally to the fact that the kindergarten department, consisting of 75 or eighty children, has been discontinued. Excluding the kindergarten enrollment, the actual attendance at

STEPHEN MUST PAY MRS. GOAR CLAIM OF $8,500 IN DAMAGES

Attorney Chommie Is Informed Of Decision Rendered By State Supreme Court

The village of Stephen must pay the $8,500 damage claim to Mrs. Elmer Goar of Stephen in the suit brot against the village and the Minnesota Electric Distributing company, the latter not being responsible for the injuries sustained by the plaintiff. This decision was affirmed by the state supreme court last week, information being received here by Attorney H. O. Chommie, who represented Mrs. Goar. This is a distinct victory for the local attorney, the case having been appealed to the high tribunal after a decision had been rendered in district court, and finally decided in favor of the plaintiff.

The case involved a personal injury claim arising from severe burns sustained by Mrs. Goar, who is known to many Thief River Falls residents, in August 1922, when a high power transmission wire became crossed with the service wire at the Goar home at Stephen and a 2300 voltage current passed thru the plaintiff's body while she was ironing clothes. She was severely burned and received medical attention at the Physicians hospital in this city for some time. A claim suit was brought into Marshall county district court against the village and the electric company, the jury returning a verdict of $12,500 in favor of the plaintiff. An appeal was filed by the defendants and the verdict reduced to $8,500 by Judge Watts. The decision from the supreme court to which the defendants appealed the case a short time ago, is that the village is liable for the damages and must pay the verdict, while the Electric company is not responsible, having turned the plant over to the village 17 months previous to the time the accident occurred.

The supreme court opinion is significant in the respect that it determines villages and cities responsible for accidents incurred from its power system caused by faulty wiring or other defects.

Half-Pint Of Warren Liquor Cost Huge Total of $1665.85

"Probably the most expensive half-pint of alcoholic liquor in Marshall county is safely stored away in the vaults of A. C. Swandby, clerk of court," says the Warren Sheaf. "A half-pint bottle of wine-of-pepsin brot $1,665.84 in fines, according to Mr. Swandby. The bottle was taken in a raid on a pool hall owned by Fred William Flemann, Mr. Swandby said, who paid a $500 fine. Emil Friend, salesman for the Minneapolis Beverage company who sold the liquor to the pool hall which was said to contain 25 per cent alcohol, was arrested on a bench warrant and plead guilty. Harry A. Brown, manager of the Minneapolis Beverage company, was also arrested and tried and fined $500 and costs after he had been convicted, according to Mr. Swandby. The total fines and costs amounted to $1,665.85. This is believed to be the most expensive liquor in the county."

Is there anyone who knows of as expensive "stuff" in Pennington county?

COMMITTEE MAKES QUIRY REGARDING BAND INSTRUMENTS

Move Started to Organize Juvenile Band In City. Prospects Considered Favorable

What are the possibilities for a Juvenile Band in Thief River Falls? This was the problem considered at a meeting of a committee composed of Supt. I. T. Simley, representing the city schools; H. S. Snyder, the old band organization; Lawrence Hermanson, the American Legion post of this city; T. J. Carr, the Boy Scouts; Dr. H. W. Froehlich, the Commercial club, and E. M. Bennes, the city in general, appointed by Mayor John Bratrud. The meeting was held last Friday and those present were unanimous in their declarations that the outlook for such an organization is favorable.

Since the disbanding of the municipal band under Director Sorflaten, there has been considerable talk regarding revival of the organization, and the mayor finally took the matter in hand and appointed the committee to make a survey of the situation and find out what would be the most feasible plan to adopt. A Juvenile band is believed to be the most desirable in order to build up a permanent body and an effort will be made to work out a plan whereby a professional director may be secured, considerable funds now being available. The one-half mill tax totalling $750 for the past year is on hand, which in addition to the coming year's allowance, would total $1500. This fund would be increased by additional sums received for playing at various special occasions such as the county fair, memorial observances, etc., from time to time. It has also been suggested that the tax levy for band purposes be increased to one mill.

An effort is being made to ascertain the number of instruments available in the city. Elsewhere in this issue will be found a coupon which everyone having an instrument in his possession should fill out and send to the Band Committee, in care of the Thief River Music company. Those wishing to dispose of instruments will thus be given an opportunity to obtain a buyer. When an organization has been formed arrangements will be made so that those who are unable to pay the total price of an instrument at the time of purchase may procure it on a time payment plan.

It is generally considered that a city of this size should have a band, and it is urged that everyone interested in the project co-operate with the committee in an effort to get the movement started. Organizations and individuals are called upon for support.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO DEPARTED ELKS

Attorney Chommie Delivers Stirring Memorial Address On Sunday Afternoon

The annual memorial service of Thief River Falls lodge of Elks took place last Sunday afternoon. The services, which were held in the regular club rooms, were public and quite a number of citizens not members of the order were present.

The usual ritualistic work was very creditably carried out by the officials while the musical program was appropriate to the occasion and exceptionally well rendered. Selections rendered by a trio consisting of Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., A. Bottelson and C. Nason, added much to the occasion, as did also the vocal solo by Miss Dora Holmes, and the violin solo by Henry Arneson, accompanied by Miss Eileen Arneson.

A splendid memorial address was delivered by Attorney H. O. Chommie, a member of the local lodge, who called attention to the significance of the observances to commemorate departed brothers of Elkdom. He stressed on the principles of brotherhood and charity and the fact that "An Elk is never forgotten." The address was listened to with rapt attention and received high praise from lodge members.

Elks whose memories were commemorated at the services last Sunday are: W. B. Pierce, M. C. Cutter, K. O. Dock, H. L. Anderson, A. J. Gorman, Geo. G. Johnson, C. A. Pitkin, H. G. Helbery, Glen Blawd, J. H. McKinney, G. W. Bennet, E. H. Taylor, E. M. Stanton, Sr., F. W. Johnson, Emil Helquist and T. J. Austad.

A regular meeting of the lodge will be held Friday, this week.

The men of the Trinity Lutheran church will serve a "Lutefisk" and goose supper in the church parlors on Friday, Dec. 14.

TOTAL TAX RATE FOR CITY GIVEN REDUCTION OF .3

Taxpayers in Thief River Falls Will Pay 109.5 Compared to 109.8 Last Year.

SCHOOL AND CITY FUNDS REQUIRE MOST TAXATION

State Levy Nearly Doubled. County's Assessed Valuation Falls Off Nearly $46,000.

Taxpayers of Thief River Falls will pay a slightly lower rate the coming year than that in effect the past year, the total rate on which 1923 taxes will be paid being 109.5 compared to 109.8 last year. The greater part of rate is for school district and city purposes. The rate for the school district, Independent No. 18, is 51.8 and city 36.3, while last year's rate was 54.1 and 38.3 respectively. In addition to these two items in the county levy of 13.4, an increase of .18 over last year, and the state levy of 8, which is 3.2 over the previous period.

The levy for city purposes as fixed by the city council totals $55,000, or $2,000 less than for the previous year. The budget for the city schools calls for a levy of $76,000, while the levy for county purposes has not been definitely fixed by the board of commissioners as yet.

The total assessed valuation of real and personal property in the county last year was $5,532,092, while this year it is $5,486,106, or a decrease of nearly $46,000.

Fire Chief Paul Midderigh Again Heads 'Smoke Eaters'

Paul Midderigh, chief of the Thief River Falls Fire department, was again chosen by the city council, in session last week, to direct the organization for another term of two years. Chief Midderigh has acted in that capacity since appointed in 1915, when he succeeded Louis Lonson who died while in the service of the department. Mr. Midderigh served as assistant to Mr. Lonson during his term of two years.

The department was first organized as a voluntary organization of 47 members in 1894, the first fire in this city of which there is an authentic record having occurred the previous year. H. E. Mussey, now publisher of the Grygla Eagle, was the first chief of the Volunteers. The department now has a force of twelve members, Chief Midderigh being the only active charter member. In addition to being chief he is also president of the Relief association. A dance, the proceeds of which will be used for the relief of poor in the city, was sponsored by the department a short time ago. The annual ball will also be staged in the near future.

New Officers in Charge.

Captain R. Youngberg and Lieutenant H. Bollinger, the former of Chicago and the latter of Mandan, N. D., have taken charge of the local barracks of the Salvation Army, having arrived here Wednesday of last week, as announced in the last issue of The Times, and assumed charge at once. They are both experienced in the Army work. Their last place of endeavor was Valley City, N. D.

CITIZENS DISCUSS SKATING RINK AT LUNCHEON FRIDAY

Matter of Municipal Rink To Be Brought Before Council At Next Meeting

The question of a skating rink in Thief River Falls was enthusiastically discussed at the Commercial club noon luncheon last Friday. Members of the Woman's club, who were invited guests of the club, also took an active part in the discussion.

Various views regarding the most desirable ways and means of conducting a rink on the river were proposed. It was brought out that the most suitable location would be beyond the Elks' property along Red Lake boulevard, and that the bathhouse can be moved onto the river and be used as a warming house. It was suggested that those who skate co-operate in maintaining the rink and keep it clean while others favored a rink maintained by the city. A. M. Langseth, local merchant, by whom the matter was brought before the club, asserted that sufficient money could be raised among citizens interested in this popular sport to support a rink during the time that skating would be most desired.

A motion was passed referring the matter of a municipal skating rink to the park board who will act on the proposition thru the cit ycouncil.

There is a general tenor of expression in favor of a skating rink, whether operated and maintained by the city or by popular subscription, and it is felt that there is an urgent need for this form of recreation among the youth of the city. Proper facilities and regular maintenance are necessary, however, to make it a success, according to those who have made a survey of the situation.

The committee to investigate the matter of securing a tract of land on Red Lake to be developed for summer resort purposes, did not make its reports at last week's meeting, members of the committee having decided to make a trip to the lake before indicating their findings.

Probably the reason for the prevailing mild weather is that Congress is now in session.

Twin Cities To Thief River Falls in 7 Hrs., 38 Minutes

Seven hours and thirty-eight minutes to drive from the twin cities to Thief River Falls, a distance of 357 miles, was the record made by W. S. Williams of St. Paul in a Lincoln eight-cylinder sport model car, who motored here last Thursday, Thanksgiving day, accompanied by his wife and three children, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nason. They visited at the C. A. Nason home until Saturday when they left for Duluth. Mrs. Williams is a sister of Mrs. Nason, while Clyde is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nason, and formerly resided in this city, but he is now connected with the W. S. Williams Motor company of St. Paul.

The party averaged 46.4 miles per hour during actual driving time, the speedometer registering near the 60-mark a great share of the time. The driving was done by Mr. Williams and Mr. Nason intermittingly, the time in which the trip was made being regarded as something sensational and likely a record.

FAIR SOCIETY GETS CHECK FOR $1,690 AS 1923 STATE AID

State Reimburses County Fair Organization For Amount Paid In Premiums

A check in the sum of $1,690 has been received by the Pennington County Agricultural society from the state as a reimbursement for premiums paid to prize winners at the 1923 county fair. The premiums have all been paid and the report submitted to the state department by J. J. McCann, secretary of the organization, has been audited and found satisfactory.

The state reimburses county fair associations for premiums to a maximum total of $1700, over which a percentage is granted, appropriations being made for this purpose each year. The money received by the local fair society will be used to cut down the debt of the organization and for contemplated improvements.

A meeting of the officers and directors of the association will be held Thursday evening, Dec. 13, to consider the matter of making certain improvements at the fair grounds, such as the erection of a new fence along the east side of the grounds and the adding to or building of a new grand stand.

The officers of the Pennington County Agricultural society are: Herbert Fuller, president; S. E. Hunt, first vice president; John Conkhite, second vice president; Albert Lonson, treasurer; J. J. McCann, secretary; Fred Beerbower, Emil Griebstein, V. C. Noper and Roy Lambert, directors.

Garments Will Be Remodeled To Suit Needs Of City Poor

Mrs. A. Strupp, residing at 321 Atlantic avenue north, announces that she will be glad to make over clothes for the poor, if those who have garments, that they no longer wish to use, will bring them to her. There are many garments that can be made into serviceable clothing going to waste every day and if used properly can be used by children who are in need and who have not the means to get new apparel. Mrs. Strupp will accept remuneration for her time from those who can pay for it and will be glad to donate to those who cannot. Many a child, and perhaps older persons, can be made comfortable this winter if those having old clothing will send them to the above address to be given to the poor as they are or remodeled.

Radio Concert Will Be Given At Rynestad Home Near City, Wed. Dec. 12

Something new in the line of rural entertainment in this section will be given at the Thor Rynestad home east of this city next Wednesday evening, Dec. 12, when residents of the community are given the opportunity to "listen in" on his radio. Mr. Rynestad, who was the first farmer in this section to install a radio outfit, is getting splendid results and has secured a loud speaker for the Wednesday evening concert. A special program will be rendered by the Kansas City Nighthawks at that time. The entertainment will begin at 7 p. m., refreshments to be served at 10 o'clock.

The proceeds from the admission charge which will be made will go to the Silverton church. A large turnout is expected to hear this novel program.

Pyramid Oil Company Is Located In Headquarters At 516 Atlantic Avenue

The Pyramid Oil company, which recently began operations in this city after having purchased the Northern States Oil company holdings here, have established permanent headquarters at 516 Atlantic avenue north, at which place they are also operating gasoline pumps. The Pyramid Oil company have also purchased the building formerly occupied by the Peoples Auto company, as announced in The Times a few weeks ago, and will erect a filling station there for spring business. CREAMERY MEN WILL DISCUSS DAIRY PROBES

Prominent Heads of Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Assn. To Appear Here

MEETING AT AUDITORIUM WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 12

Co-operative Sales Agency Plan To Be Presented To Dairymen of This Section

Problems pertaining to co-operative creameries and the co-operative marketing of dairy products will be discussed at a meeting scheduled to take place at the auditorium in Thief River Falls Wednesday of next week, Dec. 12. The gathering is sponsored by the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, which is at present making an effort to unite the creameries of the state in co-operative sales agency. The meeting will commence at 11:30 a. m.

Among those who will address the meeting here are three of the foremost men in the state organization of co-operative creameries, of which th majority of institutions are members. A. J. McGuire, manager of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association; J. H. Brandt, of Litchfield, president; and H. F. Meyer, sales manager for the organization, will deliver worthwhile messages regarding this very vital problem in dairying. They are men who know whereof they speak and no one who is interested in the marketing of butter and other dairy products should fail to hear them. It is their aim to meet with the boards of all the co-operative creameries in the section, as well as patrons and merchants, to put before them the proposition of signing up contracts with the state sales agency, which at the present time handles the output of more than one hundred creameries in Minnesota.

Intense competition is at the present time evidenced between the co-operative creameries and those operated by what are known as centralizers. Attention to the seriousness of this condition was brought out by the Minnesota Daily Star recently, in an article which follows:

"Reports from various parts of the state indicate that an extensive drive by the centralized creameries against the co-operative creameries is under way. At the recent annual meeting of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association strong warnings were sounded against this attempt. From points as far apart as St. Louis county and Douglas county come reports of an insidious price war against the co-operatives.

Representatives of the Blue Valley Creamery at Sauk Center, according to one of these reports, are offering farmers in that section 64 cents per pound for fresh cream and 60 cents for cream partly soured—approximately 10 cents per pound more than the cream is worth.

It is to be hoped that the members of the co-operatives will not fall for this palpable trick. The Blue Valley company has practically driven the local creameries from several states by this method of overbidding them in prices to the producers. The large private companies can do this because they can afford to lose money in one community while they are making money in hundreds of other communities. They make the farmers of one section pay for freezing the farmers of another section out of business. After they drive a farmers' creamery out of business they invariably lower prices.

Kansas affords a sad example of a whole state that has been victimized by these methods. Kansas once had hundreds of local creameries. Now there are only three farmers' creameries in the whole state. In Kansas today, we are told, butterfat brings at least ten cents less than it does in Minnesota, the leading co-operative dairying state.

Intelligent farmers will not be bribed in this manner and then left to hold the sack. Their best protection and only safety are their own enterprises."

Minneapolis Bridge Company Gets Contract For $300,000 Bridge Project In S. Dakota

The contract for a 1,500 foot wagon bridge across the Missouri river at Mobridge, S. D., has been awarded the Minneapolis Bridge company of this city. Isak Helseth, vice president of the firm, will be in charge of the construction and left this week with a crew of men and several carloads of apparatus. Mr. Helseth will make his home at Mobridge while the bridge is being built. It is estimated that it will take about a year to complete the project, the bridge to have three large spans, and will cost about $300,000.

The Minneapolis Bridge company has built some of the largest bridges in the country, and are gaining much prestige in this line of construction work.

SOCIETY NOTES

NOW COMES A SEASON

Now comes a season in the changing year
When white snow drifts beneath the country trees,
When white snow lies along far streets and near,
And sleeps upon the earth and icy seas.

Now is the season in the march of time
When candles in each winter window burn,
When holly glows and towered church bells chime,
And carols mark the bright hours as they turn.

Now is a season, tinsel-strewn and gay,
Of ribboned gifts and secrets lightly told;
And now there is one joyous, fleeting day
When young hearts beat, rejoicing with the old,
While down the ages, gleaming still and far,
Clear through the frosty night shines one bright star.

Mother Of Treasurer John Gullingsrud Dies At Age Of 68 At Norman Co. Home

County Treasurer and Mrs. John Gullingsrud returned Friday evening from Gary where they were called by the death of the former's mother, Mrs. Thomas O. Gullingsrud, who passed away Monday, Nov. 26, at the age of 68. The funeral was also attended by A. J. Sanden of this city, a brother of the deceased. Mrs. Gullingsrud had been failing in health for some years past and her demise was not entirely unexpected. Bronchial trouble was a cause of death.

Mrs. Gullingsrud, who had been a resident of Norman county for more than 40 years, was born at Ness, Hallingdal, Norway, and migrated to this country with her husband, first settling at Beloit, Wis., and later on a homestead near Gary, where the family has resided ever since. She is survived by her husband, five sons: John of this city; Ole and Theodore farming near Gary; Bennie and Timan, at home; and three daughters: Mrs. Hans Hoven of Plummer, Mrs. P. B. Erickson, Twin Valley, and Miss Lena Gullingsrud at home. The funeral took place last Friday.

But a few days previous Mr. Gullingstud attended the funeral of his nephew, Olaf, son of Ole Gullingsrud at Gary, who died at the early age of 18, death being due to pneumonia. He also visited his mother at that time.

Mrs. John Erickson, Aged Pioneer Resident, Passes After Lingering Illness

Mrs. Ingeborg Erickson, wife of John Erickson residing at 313 Tindolph avenue north, died at a local hospital Wednesday, Nov. 28th at 6:30 o'clock p. m. Death was caused by complications of Spanish influenza, contracted last spring.

Mrs. Erickson was born in Jamteland, Sweden, Jan. 6, 1857. June 16, 1889 she married John Erickson, and in 1900 they came to America and settled in Thief River Falls, where they have been residents for the past 23 years. Mrs. Erickson had enjoyed good health practically all her life. Last winter she contracted the influenza and suffered from it almost continually until Wednesday of last week when death called her.

Mrs. Erickson was an active member of the Swedish Mission church and a good Christian woman, well liked by all who knew her. In social life as well as church activities she was always the same kind Christian woman, a true firiend to all with whom she came in contact.

To mourn her passing she leaves her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Charles Ryan of Orleans, Minn.; Mrs. William Fitzgerald of Craig, Sask., Canada; two sons, of Thief River Falls, and Nels of Chicago, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. Olaf Olson of this city and five grandchildren. All, with the exception of Mrs. Fitzgerald, were at her bedside at the time of her demise.

MARSHALL SIXTH TO SIGN POTATO QUOTA

Official Records Show County To Have More Than 250 Acres Over Allotment

Marshall last week became the sixth county in Minnesota to obtain its quota in the campaign to organize the Minnesota Potato Growers' Exchange. Official records show that Marshall already has 2,551 acres under contract. This is 256 more than the quota of 2295.

The Marshall campaign has been under the direction of F. A. Green of Stephen, member of the state committee and chairman of the county committee.

A remarkable feature of the Marshall drive is that it has been put across for about $1 a contract, the lowest cost in the campaign thus far. Nearly 250 Marshall county farmers have signed the agreement, the average acreage being 9 and a fraction.

Steady progress is being made by the organization force in all parts of the state, according to S. G. Rubinow, manager. Several counties are near their quotas and it is expected that this week will see the number reaching the goal of 50 per cent of the commercial acreage jump to 13 or 14.

"With the fall marketing season nearing the end," Mr. Rubinow says, "farmers all over the potato growing sections of the state have come to realize that disorganized dumping of their crop is directly responsible for the ruinous prices that have prevailed and they are accepting co-operative marketing, on the California plan, as the one remedy for evils in the present distributing season."

Mr. Rubinow is spending this week in the Red River Valley, where he is helping put several of the large counties in that section "over the top."

For nearly two months, H. F. Meyer, manager of the Sales Department, and President John Brandt of Litchfield, have been engaged in organizing the new branch of the association and thus far, no co-operative creamery has rejected the plan.

Organization work last week in counties making up Unit No. 6, in the state association was unusually successful. This unit comprises Rice, Wabasha, Dodge, Olmstead and Goodhue counties, in which are located some of the best creameries of the state. Among the outstanding co-operative creameries that have signed the agreement are those at Dover and Fairmont, both of which have enviable reputations for their sweet cream butter.

Field forces this week are holding meetings at Wadena, Detroit and Fergus Falls. Mr. McGuire is at Madison, Wis., meeting with the Wisconsin Co-operative Creamery leaders.

"The plan of a central sales agency for creameries," said Mr. Meyer, "is generally accepted all over the state. Creamery directors have come to realize that individual selling is preventing the creameries from getting top prices. In no instance, after the plan has been fully explained, has a board rejected the agreement.

Holstein Cows in Spaulding Herd Make Excellent Record

An exceptional record for butter production was made recently by Canary Homestead Mercedes Alice, of the C. L. Spaulding herd of Warren, according to the advanced registry office of the Holstein Friesian Association of America, says the Warren Sheaf in last week's issue.

At the age of three years and nine months this cow produced 5228 pounds milk containing 20.307 pounds butter-fat equal to 25.38 pounds butter in seven days.

Canary Homestead Nellie, another Holstein owned by Mr. Spaulding, finished a yearly test with 735 pounds of butter fat to her credit, thus entitling her to the "Two-Pounds a Day" ribbon of merit given by the Northwest Farmstead, Minneapolis farm publication, according to records of W. E. Peterson, superintendent of official testing at the University Farm. According to the Grygla Eagle A. F. Cuno and Palmer Lee of Grygla are the owners of a son of Canary Homestead Nellie.

Breeders of dairy cattle who are in a position to put time and special attention on testing work have enhanced the value of their animals greatly by the official records they have made. Dairymen whose facilities for record making are somewhat limited are given an opportunity by the advanced registry department to determine the production by their cows through the farmers' and dairymens' classes. Such classes are useful especially in affording definite information as to the production of cows when they are handled under conditions which approximate those to be found on the average dairy farm.

FARMERS' ELECTRIC TEST LINE STARTS

Project to Determine Whether Rural Residents Can Afford To Buy Service

The first demonstration farm electric line in Minnesota was scheduled to begin operation last week. Running out of Red Wing and serving 15 farmers who have agreed to co-operate in the project, the line will be used as a demonstration to answer the question: "Can the average farmer in Minnesota afford to buy electricity at a price that will permit power companies maintain the service?"

A second question, of equal importance, to be answered by a study of the line is: "To what extent can present electrical equipment be efficiently used on the farm and what new machinery is needed to enable farmers to increase their labor income through the use of power line current?"

The demonstration line now has behind it the Minnesota College of Agriculture, the Farm Bureau Federation, business interests of Red Wing, the Northern States Power Co., farmers along the route and a committee of observers appointed by J. F. Reed, president of the Farm Bureau Federation. The committee includes Mr. Reed, Dean W. C. Coffey of the Agricultural college, Herman Schmeckel of Fairfax, Isaac Emerson of West Concord, W. J. Bryan of Red Wing, C. B. Stuart of the Northern States Power Co., and Charles S. Kennedy of Fergus Falls.

Poles were placed and wire stringing completed. Several farm houses and barns have been wired.

Every modern device in electric engineering is being used to make the line efficient and cut the cost. For instance, the current is to be carried by a new 2-strand twisted wire, whereas heretofore, two separate wires have been considered necessary. Development of power, rather than light, is the final goal toward which the co-operators are working.

BUREAU CHIEF ASKS LOWER GRAIN RATES

Nothing In Farm Situation To Justify Charges, J. F. Reed Says

Reasons why farmers have a right to expect and do expect reduced freight rates on grain were given to representatives of the Interstate Commerce commission, at a hearing held at Kansas City on Nov. 17 by J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.

"The cost of shipping a hundred pounds of wheat 250 miles, the average haul in this country, in 1913, was 10 and a fraction cents," he said. "The present cost is 16 and a fraction cents. While freight rates have been going up, grain values have been coming down. Land values also have fallen, if such sales as are being made are a criterion. The net result is that farmers are paying, all things considered, 50 per cent more for transporting their grain to market than in 1913.

"If railroad rates are based on the value of a product, as they should be and as they always have been until recently, farmers have every right to expect a reduction. The farmer is not concerned with the reasons for the high freight tariffs. He knows that he has to foot the bill and he knows that increases were placed upon his shoulders without consulting him. Now, with the war period passed and the farm price level far below the peak, he expects relief. The problem of ways and means is one that must be solved by the same factors that brought about the increases."

The Kansas City hearing was one of several that the Interstate Commerce commission is holding before making a report on the need for and ways of bringing about a freight reduction.

Previous to the Kansas City meeting, Mr. Reed attended a national conference at Chicago, Nov. 16, of the various Regional Advisory boards, which are co-operating with the car service Division of the American Railway association to solve transportation problems.

Middle River Defeated.

In the first game of the season the Warren high school basket ball team defeated the Middle River quint by a score of 18 to 12 on the Warren floor. The Middle River team is coached by Elmer Tandberg of this city. The locals will meet the Warrenites in this city on Friday, Feb. 8, a return game to be played Feb. 29.

One Moonshiner Is Given Sentence At Red L. Falls

Thirty days in jail and a fine of $150 was the sentence given Theodore Lemieux of Red Lake Falls, in district court at that place, pleading guilty to a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor for sale. The other liquor case on the calendar was an acquittal, Albert Lemieux, charged with unlawfully possessing mash for making intoxicating liquor, being acquitted after three hours of deliberation by the jury. Testimony showed that Lemieux kept a barrel of fermented mash on top of a strawstack but the accused claimed that it was for the purpose of feeding his chickens.

F. G. Stroup, special detective, who has appeared in a number of liquor cases in this city, testified as to finding the mash. During the trial Stroup called Attorney Farley, representing the defendant, a liar and was promptly fined $1 for contempt of court, according to the Red Lake Falls Gazette. In the case of C. L. Rindahl vs. Frank Bender a verdict of $250 was given the plaintiff. Rindahl was formerly manager of the Oklee creamery and got into an altercation with Bender over the weight of cream Bender had brot in. A fight followed and Rindahl's neck was so injured that he had to have a plaster cast put on. He sued for $5,150. Boughton & Boughton represented the plaintiff and F. A. Grady of Crookston appeared for the defendant. Judge William Watts presided. Court was adjourned Tuesday, last week.

Early Christmas Mailing Is Urged By Postmaster

As in former years there is an appeal from the postal department to patrons thruout the country urging everyone to make early Christmas mailing. The following suggestions to patrons of the local post office have been submitted by Postmaster Daniel Shaw:

"In order to be sure that your parcels will reach their destination on or before Christmas the following schedule is suggested by the local post office. This schedule is figured on a basis of regular train movements and does not take into consideration the congestion and delays incident to the unusually large amount of mail being handled, so in order to be safe, it is better to mail a day or two earlier than the date mentioned.

Mail Addressed to these localities—	Should be mailed not later than
New England States, Flordia, Gulf States and Southern California	December 18th.
Northern California, Pacific States, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Atlantic States	December 19th.
Rocky Mountain States, Kansas, Missouri, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.	December 20th.
South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska and Wisconsin.	December 21st.
Minnesota and North Dakota	December 22nd.

Please mail early in the day when possible. Pack well, tie securely, and address plainly."

MOCK PROWLER MEET ENTHUSES STUDENTS

Prowler Staff Holds Meeting On Stage to Arouse Interest in the Subscription Campaign

At chapel hour Monday afternoon, the "Prowler" staff presented to the school an unusually entertaining stunt a mock "Prowler" meeting. The entire staff filed upon the stage and took their seats around a long table. Discussion between members of various interesting subjects as shows, skating, and dancing were finally stopped by the Editor-in-Chief, Melvin Engelstad. The staff then settled down to business and several reports were given.

Harriet Morgan read a feature on "An Extraordinary Day in High School," which was very well received by the audience. Mildred Griffin submitted "A Scholastic Romance," and Orrin Storholm, "A Basket Ball Game at Steiner," an unusual athletic event.

Gladys Kolden reported a concert tour of the Boys' Glee Club. Hylda Peterson, society reporter, gave an account of an exciting party held in Mr. Bye's office. A statement of finance was then submitted by Clifford Storholm, which met with the approval of the staff.

Two letters which had been received by the staff were then read. Magnus Johnson, in the first letter read, signified his desire to buy two copies of the "Prowler," one for his personal enjoyment and one to put in the Congressional Library at Washington. The second letter, from Andy Gump, was a request for twelve pages of advertising in the annual, and asked that neither words nor space should be economized.

Olga Lokken brought in her camera and took a snapshot of Delton Rhodes, the typical Freshman. A baby picture of Coach Thune had been secured and was held up for the admiration of all.

Myrtle Helgeland read a letter from the President of the 1923 Class, and gave several complimentary remarks on the merits and work of all members. This was taken as a signal to leave and the Staff left the stage in the usual precipitate fashion.

The meeting was put on for the purpose of creating interest in the "Prowler" subscription drive and it accomplished the desired result.

P T. ASSOCIATION MEETS MONDAY EVE.

Interesting Program Given and Election of This Year's Officers Takes Place

The parent-Teachers' Association met in the high school auditorium on Monday evening, Dec. 3. Because of the absence of the president, Mr. L. M. Rayson, and the 1st vice-president, Mrs. R. Arnold, Mr. Bye, high school principal, was called upon to preside.

A good program had been arranged for the occasion. The opening number was a piano duet by the Misses Dorothy Holm and Frances Wengeler. Mrs. Clara Herm, the school nurse, then spoke on "The Value of Co-operation between the parents and the school nurse." She brought out some very practical points and showed very clearly that if the parents and the school nurse work together, much can be accomplished towards making the children healthier. Supt Simley next spoke on "What the Parents Can Do in Co-operation with the Elementary Teacher." He brought out very effectively several things that the parents could do to help the teacher make her work more successful.

As this was the annual meeting of the association, the annual reports of the secretary, Mrs. E. J. Richards, and the treasurer, Mrs. Blanche Korstad, were read. Both reports were adopted. The following officers were then elected: President, Mrs. R. Arnold; 1st vice-president, Morris Bye; 2nd vice-president, Supt. O. R. Sande; secretary, Miss Edna Larson; treasurer, Mrs. Hermanson.

'23-'24 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE COMPLETE

City Council Decides to Give H. S. Use of Auditorium For Games and Practice

The schedule for the 1923-24 basket ball season is now complete, thirteen games having been scheduled besides a probable game with the Alumni. Besides the Alumni game seven of these games will be played on the home floor. The schedule is:

Middle River at T. R. F.	Dec. 11
Roseau at T. R. F.	Dec. 21
Stephen at T. R. F.	Jan. 11
Argyle at T. R. F.	Jan. 18
Fosston at Fosston	Jan. 25
McIntosh at McIntosh	Jan. 26
Argyle at Argyle	Feb. 1
Stephen at Stephen	Feb. 2
Warren at T. R. F.	Feb. 8
McIntosh at T. R. F.	Feb. 15
Roseau at Roseau	Feb. 22
Mahnomen at Thief River Falls	Feb. 25
Warren at Warren	Feb. 29

Although the Alumni game is not yet certain, it will very likely be played to give the high school team practice before they start their real schedule. The squad practices every night in preparation for these games and the prospects so far are for a very good season.

At a meeting of the city council last week it was decided to allow the high school to use the auditorium for basket ball games and practice, free of charge, for the entire season. This shows fine spirit on the part of the council, and it surely is appreciated by the students in general, and by Coach Thune and his athletes in particular.

Number Of Students On Honor Roll Is Increased

The honor roll for the second six-weeks period has been announced and the results are decidedly favorable. The number of honor students in each class has increased since the first period, and the percentage as a whole is good.

Though the Juniors have the greatest number of honor students, their percentage is less than that of the post graduates, who have the smallest number. The percentage of each class is: Post Graduates, 20 per cent; Juniors, 12.9 per cent; Seniors, 12.3 per cent; Sophomores, 9 per cent; and Freshmen, 6 per cent.

Those who attained the honor roll for this period are: Post Graduates: Viola Buringrud, Esther Larson, Clara Lund. Seniors: Thomas Belland, Ruby Conklin, Mildred Griffin, Esther Lunsetter, Sarah Martinson, Margaret Melgaard, Harriet Morgan, Mildred Peterson.

Juniors: Lylian Arnold, Katherine Barzen, Evelyn Buringrud, Bernice Erickson, Rebecca Halvorson, Maxine Johnson, Jessie Joyce, Agnes Koglin, Mildred Remmen, Emmet Shanahan, Anna Wedul, Winifred Wengeler.

Sophomores: Ruby Aaseby, Mary Alexander, Eva Ayers, Helen Jacobson, Gladys Kjos, Simon Nokken, Paul Olstad, Millicent Sweger, Elsie Vorseth.

Freshmen: Alpha Gausen, Goldie Gunderson, Margaret Patten, Marian Reynolds, Dorothy Shirley, Louise Veven.

Seniors Meet To Choose Folders For Pictures

The Seniors held a class meeting Tuesday of last week to vote on the folders for the class pictures. A committee composed of Camille Warner, Harriet Morgan, and Annie Froseth, went to Salveson's studio and selected three folders to be voted on by the class.

A very handsome and new type of folder was chosen and will be used by all members of the class for their annual pictures.

The Senior class rings have arrived and may be procured by the students at Stebbin's Jewelry store upon receipt of $5.50. The rings are not exactly as they were ordered, because they are all green gold instead of a combination of yellow and green gold, but they are exceptionally good-looking and every Senior should get his as soon as possible.

Junior Class Meeting.

The Juniors held a class meeting Tuesday of last week. The class president, Hilda Ness, handed in her resignation, offering no reasons for it. The class refused to accept it and when nominations were opened for a new president, none were made. Hilda was finally persuaded to remain in office and the remainder of the meeting was devoted to arousing enthusiasm for the "Prowler" campaign.

Teacher: "Do you know what will be the result of dollar wheat?"
Pupil: "Two dollar cider."

Staff Members Speak To Arouse Campaign Spirit

Last Wednesday at three-thirty a special assembly was called for the purpose of creating a spirit of enthusiasm for the "Prowler" drive.

The first speaker on the program was Melvin Engelstad, editor-in-chief of the 1924 "Prowler". He told of the purpose of the drive, the responsibility of the staff in publishing an annual, and the absolute necessity of the student's backing.

Hazel Krause, second speaker, is the literary editor of the "Prowler" staff. She outlined the general contents of a book of this kind and especially emphasized the value of pictures, snap-shots, baby pictures, etc., in an annual.

The business manager of the 1924 annual, Clifford Storholm, then spoke of the financial difficulties, the huge sum needed to make the book a success and the fact that the students can do a great deal in aiding the financial part of the enterprise.

Mr. Bye, advisor to the staff, added a few words confirming the statements of the other speakers.

As a fitting close to the chapel period, and in accordance with the subject, Miss Grace Kinsela, literary editor of the 1918 "Prowler", spoke in regard to the way all graduates cherish an annual and the meaning it has to them.

"Little Sousa" Appears In Special Tues. Chapel

Last Tuesday afternoon a special assembly was called to give the students an opportunity to hear "The Little Sousa," Raymond Baird.

He gave a short speech on music, telling about his experiences and how he developed his talent, following which he played a saxophone solo entitled, "When I'm with You." His first performance was in Los Angeles at the age of 4 years. Since then he has traveled over the entire country, and Canada, playing in all the leading cities.

Thief River Falls was very fortunate in securing this little artist, and the students greatly appreciated his appearance at school.

To Secure An "A"

Pick a teacher of the opposite sex. Grab a front seat every day until seats are assigned.

If you are given a seat anywhere except in the front row, go to the instructor after class and ask him to put you in a front seat, if possible.

After lessons have started, learn the first three or four thoroughly. When he asks a question, wave your hand violently or interrupt the person who is reciting.

If he finds that you know the first three or four lessons he will not call on you again. From then on, all you have to do is to wave your hand and he will put you down for a perfect recitation.

At every examination, be sure to be the first one to ask whether or not you should write on both sides of the paper. He will see at once that you have a nimble wit.

Go up for conferences frequently. Tell him that you are going to specialize in his course. Give him the impression that he affected your decision.

Never get through an examination paper. End up with an incomplete sentence or word.

Laugh a trifle louder and heartier than all the rest at his decrepit jokes. Make as if to copy down a few of them. He will resign at the end of the semester and embark on a career as a humorist. Practice a hearty laugh in your bedroom at night. It may affect your entire future if well used.

Always carry an armful of books. Even if you are only going to the barber shop, you can never tell whom you will meet.

Just before the end of the quarter, tell him that you have enjoyed the course. Put a few examples of what you have learned in your conversation.

Tell him you would like to get in one of his courses next semester.

"A" is the highest mark that anyone can get or your possibilities would be unlimited. Many times it is not necessary to expend all the effort designated above.—Minnesota Daily.

First Debate Dec. 20

The first debate contest of the year will be held here two weeks from this Thursday, or December 20. As the debate is to take place in Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls was given the choice of sides and took the affirmative. The judges have not been selected yet, but will be soon.

Hazel Krause, May Ballingrud, and Margaret Melgaard compose the debate team and will uphold the negative. They have much material collected and will meet several times a week to compose their speeches and practice delivery under the coaching of Mr. Mickelson.

JUNIOR PLAY READY FOR PRESENTATION

Daddy-Long-Legs Will Be Given By Juniors Next Friday, December 14

Tradition has decreed that every year the Juniors honor the Seniors with a banquet. This year's Juniors, not to be outdone by any previous class, are planning to uphold this tradition with credit. In order to do this however, funds must be raised; a disagreeable task in most cases. The Juniors have decided to combine business with pleasure and as a result have planned to put on a class play, "Daddy Long Legs."

As the time for the presentation of this play is drawing near, the members of the cast are devoting all their time to rehearsals. Any night one may find them busily engaged in perfecting action and lines.

As the rehearsals progress, the fortunate casting of the parts becomes more and more evident. Lucille Roark, who takes the part of Judy Abbott, the little orphan rescued from drudgery by her benefactor, Daddy Long Legs, is doing very good work in a rather difficult role; while Arthur Penney, who plays opposite her, seems made for the part and promises to be a huge success.

The character roles, probably in their way the most difficult to fill, are ably taken by Ersyle Anderson, Allan Sorenson and Anna Wedul. Faythe Warner, Katherine Barzen, Aerial Kinghorn, Thomas Melgaard, and Lylian Arnold are filling their roles exceptionally well.

Probably one of the most delightful parts of the whole play is the first scene laid in the orphan asylum where the orphans, through their childish pranks, supply both humor and pathos.

The entire cast has been working faithfully for several weeks and hope to be rewarded by an excellent turnout on the night of the performance.

The play is to be given Friday, December 14, at the Auditorium.

The tickets will be on sale by members of the cast and other Juniors, Monday, Dec. 10, and may be exchanged at Lambert's Drug Store for reserved seats after Tuesday. The admission for high school students is 35c and for adults 50c. There will also be a matinee for the children in the grades at the nominal charge of 10c.

Knox Notes.

The Fifth grade pupils had an "old-fashioned" spelling match Friday afternoon. It was very interesting to both pupils and visitors. Linnea Backlund carried off the honor of being "the best speller."

The mothers showed their interest in "Educational Week" by visiting school. Seventeen mothers visited the Fifth grade; sixteen the Sixth, and six the Fourth. The Knox was glad to have them and hope they will visit often.

Alma Troland, Laurel Schuster, Gordon Rod, Lorraine Rayson, Lloyd Newland, Adelyn Lindberg, Lewis LaSalle, Doris Langer, Arnold Haroldson, Ida Gulseth, Robert Gray and Dorothy Dalton have been neither tardy nor absent during the past six weeks.

The fourth grade had 97.4% as a percentage of attendance but spoiled this record with seventeen cases of tardiness.

Dorothy Dalton is leading grade four in the Studebaker tests, being on drill thirteen.

Imogene Mattson from Warren has enrolled in the third grade.

The second and third grades made a free hand Pilgrim poster in connection with their Pilgrim study.

The children in the second grade who have been in perfect attendance this last six weeks period are: Geraldine Howe, Lucille Mickulicky, Violet Langer, Ward Votava, Lucinda Kuecks, Florence Christopherson, Ella Comstock, Hannah Christianson and Margaret O'Hara.

Wants The Times.

"We are very much interested in getting the news from our old home town, and do not want to miss a single issue of your paper," writes M. O. Bakken, formerly of this city but now a resident of Los Angeles, Cal., where he moved with his family a short time ago. He is one of the hundreds of former Thief River Falls residents who are anxious to receive The Times each week to keep in touch with the activities of former friends and associates and the community at large. The Times makes an effort to publish all the news all the time, thus keeping the reader thoroughly posted on everything that concerns this city and community.

'24 "PROWLER" DRIVE OPENED ON TUESDAY

Six Salesmen From Each Class Working Hard to Get Greater Number of Subscriptions

The big "Prowler" campaign opened on Tuesday to continue to the end of this week. From the volunteers of each class, the following salesmen were chosen by the "Prowler" staff:

Freshmen—Alvin Sweger, Marian Reynolds, Charlotte Korstad, Delton Rhodes, Byron Tharaldson and Elton Disher.

Sophomores—Leigh Anderson, Millicent Sweger, Bud Arneson, Elmira Langseth, Phyllis Dock and Charles Booren.

Juniors—Keith Craik, Arndt Anderson, Ruth Mellby, Faythe Warner, Maxine Johnson and Melvin Peterson.

Seniors—Virgil Denhart, Esther Lunsetter, Gladys Dybvik, Hylda Peterson, Olga Lokken and Thomas Belland.

These salesmen have been working hard all week, morning, noon, after school, and evening, so it is difficult at this time to tell what the outcome will be, whether the Freshmen and Juniors will give the parties to the Sophomores and Seniors or vice versa. The staff intends to get more subscriptions this year than ever before and by all appearances a successful campaign is assured.

A short program was rendered, including two duets by Misses Gladys Sagmoen and Myrtle Mellem. A story "Camping Out" read by Mrs. O. S. Hellerud, "Humorous subscriber's letter" reading by Emil Mellem, and a humorous monologue with organ accompaniment by D. N. Petterson and Mrs. O. S. Hellerud. At the close "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung by the audience. As previously decided the meetings will be held twice each month and the next meeting will be held on Saturday evening, Dec. 15. The ladies of the community will then serve lunch at the price of 25 cents. Lunch was served at this meeting and brought the sum of $19.25. The club already has thirty members which signed up during the evening. After the lunch a very social evening was spent at various diversions.

PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N. EXERTING GOOD INFLUENCE

Annual Report At Monday's Meeting Shows Active Year For Live Organization

PROMOTING EFFICIENCY; CO-OPERATION IS OBJECT

Supt. Simley Gives Hints to Parents. Mrs. Arnold Chosen To Succeed Rayson

The last regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers association during 1923 was held at the high school building Monday evening, Dec. 1st. The yearly report of the secretary was given and the annual election of officers was held.

The yearly report of the secretary shows clearly the good influenza on the school life of this city the association has exerted. The Association endorse and sponsored the religious instruction movement that has been carried out this year in the schools by giving one hour a week of school time to religious instruction at the various churches to which the students belong. The association has also been instrumental in bringing better pictures to the theaters of the city by supporting H. A. Brumund in his efforts to select pictures both wholesome and educational. Play ground equipment has also been supplied by the association for school play ground use.

The secretary's report shows a balance of $43.90 in the treasury of the assocaition. Two hundred and fifteen members now compose the organization. Seven meetings have been held during the past calendar year. The meeting held a month ago at which the members visited the schools at their special evening session is considered to be the best and most profitable of the year. One of the ends which the association has in view is the co-operation of parent and teacher, and this was a concrete and practical application of the idea. Three hundred people took part in this meeting.

In addition to the secretary's report Miss Clara Herm, school nurse, gave an interesting and instructive talk on her work in the city schools. She also discussed various health methods that could be employed to advantage.

Superintendent of the city schools, I. T. Simley, addressed the members, enumerating a number of applicable and beneficial suggestions in making conditions as near ideal to efficient study for the pupil as possible under average conditions. Following is a brief summary of the suggestions to parents made by Mr. Simley: Send the pupil or student to school regularly. Send him on time, after 8:30 o'clock and one o'clock and before nine and 1:15 o'clock. Keep him home when ill. The student should be properly rested when he arrives at school that he be in a condition to learn with efficiency. Keep him home evenings and have regular hours for recreation. Much can be done to stimulate and mould desirable characteristics by regular recreation programs of a variety that is entertaining, suggestively instructive and wholesome. The student should have proper exercise. It would be well to get information from the school nurse as to what constitutes the proper exercises for the student. The student should be properly breakfasted. The menu should consist of foods containing the nutritients necessary for building body tissue and should be easily digested. The breakfast should be warm. The student should be properly dressed, not extravagantly. A hankerchief should always be carried. Parents should supply, cheerfully, the few neccessary requisites for school work, such as pencils and stationery, and in high school, books. Send him prepared for study. Home study, from one half an hour in the fourth grades to one and one half hours to two hours in the high school grades should be required daily for the maximum amount of benefit from the school courses. A quiet, undisturbed regular period of study should be provided. Do not do the work for him. Help him to help himself. Make the home a home, not a filling station. Make it a pleasant home. Avoid nagging, scolding, preaching and threatening. Punish with dispatch and forget. Be patient when he tries. Have confidence in him; yet do not be over confident to the extent that you trust him to more than he is capable of. Above all show an interest in what he does by inquiring of the progress of his work. Become acquainted with his teachers and the school superintendent and try to realize the responsibility of doing the the right thing to create the right psycological attitude toward the child you are preparing for the tasks of future America.

The election of officers resulted in securing the following staff: Mrs. R. Arnold, president; Morris Bye, high school principal, first vice president; Ole R. Sande, county superintendent of schools, second vice president; Mrs. J. H. Hermanson, secretary; Miss Edna Larson, principal of the Washington school, treasurer.

The next regular meeting will be held the first Monday in February.

PERMITTING MINORS TO PLAY POOL COST SHEEDY FINE OF $25

Proprietor of Hub Brought Before Municipal Judge and Assessed Fine Friday

William Sheedy, proprietor of the Hub pool hall on LaBree avenue, was fined $25 in municipal court last Friday for allowing minors to play pool in his establishment. The warrant was sworn out by Chief of Police Ralston who made the arrest Friday. Mr. Sheedy was promptly brought before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court, the charge being made that Morlan Strom, a 15-year old youth, had engaged in a game of pool at Sheedy's place of business. Testimonies supporting the charge were made by Strom and Howard Rustad, another minor. Judge Tarrant assessed a fine of $25, which was paid.

The statutes of the Minnesota laws regarding minors in pool halls provide as follow:

"All persons under the age of 21 years are prohibited from playing pool or billiards or cards in any saloon or room connected therewith, or in any restaurant or public place of amusement in which tobacco, confectionery or drinks of any kind, except water, are in any manner disposed of; and every keeper or person in charge of any such place who shall permit or suffer anyone under the age of 21 years to play pool, billiards or cards therein shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and be punished by a fine of not less than $25, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days."

"Any person under the age of eighteen years or who is a minor pupil in any school, college or university, is prohibited from playing pool, billiards or ten pins or bowling whether on a ten-pin alley or a box ball alley in any public pool or billiard room or bowling alley or in any public place of business, unless accompanied by his parents or guardian, and any person under the age of eighteen years or who is a minor pupil in any school, college or university who shall engage in any game of pool or billiards or bowling in any such place, or frequent or loiter within any pool or billiards room or bowling alley, or any public place of business where pool, billiards or bowling are played, unless accompanied by his parent or guardian, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding ten dollars."

Another paragraph provides that a keeper or person in charge permitting such minors to violate the above statute are punishable by a fine of $25 or a jail term not to exceed 30 days.

This law will be strictly enforced hereafter, according to the authorities, prosecutions to follow in cases of violations.

SCHOOL PATRONS GIVEN FACTS BY SUPT. SIMLEY

the end of 12 weeks just closed this year was thirty-three less than it was last year. The total enrollment at the present time is as follows:

Northrop	312
Knox	257
Washington	230
Central	251
High School	394
Total	1444

In other words, our attendance is larger than that of the University of North Dakota. It is about as large as the combined attendance of three of our state teachers' colleges.

About one hundred twenty-five of our high school students are non-residents. Tuition amounting to between seven and eight thousand dollars is paid for them by the state.

There are at the present time fifty-nine employees, including a superintendent, a secretary and bus driver, five janitors, nineteen high school and special teachers, and thirty-two grade teachers.

The approximate annual cost of running the schools is $110,000. In addition to this amount of money, which is disbursed by the local board, the state collects approximately $20,000 a year in direct levy for bond and interest purposes. The largest item of expense in the annual budget is the salary costs of teachers. This is always true. The standard percentage is from 75 to 80. Our's last year was 62 which is admittedly very low.

The table below tells an interesting story and shows that there has been a material reduction in the money paid out in teachers' salaries since 1920 and 1921.

Year.	Salary Expenditures.	Enrollment.
1920-21	75,111.06	1540
1921-22	70,044.95	1585
1922-23	70,228.30	1660
1923-24	63,500.00

No figure can as yet be given for 1923-24 enrollment. It will be approximately one hundred below that of the enrollment of 1922-23. It has already been explained the kindergarten department, which has been eliminated, will reduce the attendance by approximately seventy-five or eighty and the regular enrollment will be twenty or twenty-five smaller than it was last year. In the above payroll are included the salaries and part salaries of certain teachers which are paid by the state, for instance, the normal training teacher's salary, which is $1800, and $500 on the salaries of each of our commercial, home economics, and general industrial training teachers. Unless there should be a general and material reduction in salaries, I see no prospect of lowering the teachers' salaries any further. A grade teacher who has proved her worth ought to be worth at least $1200 a year or an average of $100 a month, and a high school teacher who has proved her worth should certainly be worth $1500 a year or $125 a month. We have many teachers in our system of long and excellent service. Including them and our best paid teachers, the average salary in the grades this year is $1128, while in high school it is $1423. This year four less teachers are employed than last year, namely, the two kindergarten teachers and two high school teachers, one in the normal training department and one in the general industrial training department.

Some times people are inclined to feel that the salary item is high. There is another way to look at the proposition, however. Let us consider, for example, what it costs us to live in our Knox building which represents an investment of $85,000. At 12 per cent, which is a reasonable gross return on any investment, it costs us $850 a month or $10,200 a year to occupy it. The teachers in the Knox building cost us $8,700. It costs us one-seventh as much to heat the building for the year as it did to equip it with teachers.

The item of fuel last year amounted to $5822.43. Four hundred and sixty-six cords of wood and 220½ tons of coal were burned. The average cost per child was $3.69. The Central school had the lowest per capita cost with $2.53 for each pupil, while the Northrop followed a close second with $2.55. The cost in the Knox was $4 per child, while the cost in high school and Washington averaged $4.48. It is not fair to assign $4.48 in fuel costs to each child in the Washington building, but since a common bin is employed, it is absolutely impossible to keep it separate from the high school. The following table sets forth the costs for each child for last year:

Per Capita Costs

Based on number of children entitled to apportionment.

	Kgtn.	Grades.	H. S.
Teachers salaries	$19.13	$35.16	$61.88
Music supervision	None.	1.24	1.11
Health nurse, Phys. train., Athletics	.82	1.74	3.43
Supervision and administration	2.85	2.85	2.85
Janitor	3.54	3.54	3.54
Fuel	3.69	3.69	3.69
All other costs	15.25	15.25	15.25
	$45.28	$63.47	$91.75

The table can be read in this way. In the grades the teachers' salary for each child amounted to $35.16; for music supervision it cost $1.24 per child; for health supervision and physical training it cost $1.74; for general administration, that is the superintendent's and secretary's salary, it cost $2.85, for janitor service it cost $3.54; for fuel it cost $3.69; while all other costs amounted to $15.25 per capita, making a total of $63.47. In addition to each of the above amounts $12.73 might well be added as state interest and bond redemption costs per capita. That will give us new footings of $58.01, $76.20, $104.48 as the total costs per child. The state last year took care of approximately 40 per cent of the above costs.

The budget for next year provides for an expenditure of $100,000. Of that amount we may expect to get from the state approximately $40,000, leaving for us to raise by local levy $66,000. The board, however, in making the levy unanimously agreed upon $76,000 for the following reasons:

First, it did not wish to go through again the experience it has had in the past several years of having no money with which to run the schools the first three months of the school year. If the district might be a few thousand dollars ahead from year to year so it could meet its bills as they fall due it could be saved the expense of the interest on outstanding and unpaid warrants. The second reason for higher levy was that very little has thus far been done by way of creating a sinking fund to take care of private bond issues. In the third place, taxes are uncertain and each year a considerable amount remains unpaid. Finally, there are some items of state aid, particularly the supplemental aid, which we cannot be sure of getting in full since the law provides that "should there be insufficient funds, the amount available is to be pro-rated."

On the whole, the school situation in Thief River Falls is satisfactory. The attitude of parents, teachers, and pupils is excellent. The expenditures per child is relatively low and can be justified. We have an excellent plant which we hope may last us many years. True, we have a small assessed valuation back of each child in school, in fact smaller than almost any other district in the state in our class, but with the progressive educational legislation program which we are working out in Minnesota, tending to equalize and distribute the cost of education throughout the state, we are going to come out all right in the end."

Total of Nearly $10,000 Paid Plummer Creamery Patrons During October

During the month of October the Plummer Co-operative Creamery paid patrons a total of $9,515.29, a figure somewhat lower than for the previous month, due to the condition of the pastures. The receipts for the month from butter sold amounted to $10,084.94, of which $569.65 was for operating expenses. The average price paid per pound of butterfat was 54 cents. Seventy-six patrons received checks of $50 and over.

Child Musician Makes Hit With Local Theatre Goers

Master Raymond S. Baird, the "Little Sousa", hailed as the child music wonder of America, made his bow to satisfied audiences at the Lyceum theatre Monday and Tuesday evenings and swept his audience off their seats with his seemingly impossible instrumental numbers. This little chap, 7½ years of age, is without question one of the wonders of the music world and his playing of the saxophone must be heard to be appreciated. It is said that Master Baird not only reads and transposes music at sight but has written two numbers one of which is in the course of publication. He plays two other instruments besides the saxophone and conducts symphony orchestras with all the mannerisms and knowledge of a trained conductor. He has appeared in theatres of the largest cities in the country, and it is a distinct privelege for Thief River Falls to have the opportunity of hearing this musical genius. The youthful musician is on his return to the East where he will conduct various orchestras.

Rabbit Hunters and Dealers In Furs Must Have License

Those who wish to hunt rabbits must get a hunting license, according to the statutes of the new game law. The attorney general has recently ruled to that affect, basing his opinion on Section 21 of the state game and fish laws, which expressly prohibit "the taking of wild animals protected by law, without first procuring a small game license" which costs residents $1.00.

Dealers in furs of wild animals are warned that the state law requires them to be licensed. Quoting from the statute, the law provides that "No person shall engage in the business of buying furs until he shall have procured a license to do so from the state game and fish commissioner." The licenses costs as follows: For local resident buyers, $1.00; for a resident traveling buyer, $10.00; for a nonresident local or traveling buyer, $25.00; for a wholesale dealer, $1.00. The licenses are issued for the calendar year, and are revokable by the state commissioner for any violation of the law or for fraudulent practices.

Laird Specialty Shop Moved To Strand's Former Grocery

The Laird Specialty Shop since the last edition of The Times has been moved from Main avenue to East Third street and is now located in the old Strand grocery building, next door to where the store was two years ago. This location should prove to be more readily accessible to shoppers.

Nearly all of the stock has been unpacked and re-arranged, while new merchandise is arriving daily and many acceptable Christmas gifts will be found this Christmas as usual at Laird's.

MAKING BETTER USE OF SCHOOLS THEME OF EDUCATION WEEK

Supt. Sande Makes Report Of Activities in Rural Schools During Special Period

The following report of observances of Educational week in the rural schools of Pennington county has been submitted to The Times by Superintendent Ole R. Sande:

On Oct. 22 a general letter was sent from the County Superintendent's office to all teachers in rural schools in the county, calling attention to the general plans for the week, and specifically directing that each teacher observe the special week in her school, and that teachers in sections, established at the fall institute, get together and arrange for a public meeting in each section in accordance with a schedule arranged by the county superintendent.

A little later a letter was sent to each Sectional Leader urging vigorous leadership and initiative in arranging for the public meeting, offering specific suggestions for a program, and asking for a report on plans made.

The following sectional leaders submitted reports:

Section 1—Miss Rose Oski, reported arrangements to have a meeting in the school house in district number 147, on Monday, Nov. 19, and that plans were made to have a contest in arithmetic between the pupils in the various schools in the section.

Section 2, Lillian Norman reported arrangements to have a meeting in the school house of district number 180, on Monday, Nov. 19, and that there would be contests in spelling between the schools.

Section 3, Miss Esther Fricker reported plans for meeting in the school house in district number 54, on Tuesday, Nov. 20, and that there would be contests in both spelling and arithmetic.

Section 5, Miss Milda Shefveland reported arrangements to have meetings in the school house of districts 26 and 73, the section being too large to be covered by one meeting, on Saturday, Nov. 24, and that there would be contests in spelling and arithmetic.

Section 6, Miss Mabel Shefveland reported arrangements to have a meeting in district 53, on Saturday, Nov. 24, and that there would be contests in arithmetic for the upper grades.

Section 7, Miss Johanna Wedul reported plans to have a meeting in the school house of district 77, with an arithmetic contest on Friday, Nov. 23.

Section No. 8, Miss Stella Thompson reported arrangements for a meeting in the school house of district 57 on Wednesday, Nov. 21, and that there would be contests in arithmetic.

Rev. Chas. Gerlinger, Supt. I. T. Simley, and Morris Bye were secured as speakers. Rev. Gerlinger addressed the meetings held in Dist. 147 in the hall at Hazel, and in Dist 53. Supt. Simley addressed the gathering at Dist. 73. Mr. Bye gave addresses at Dist. 180, 57 and 11. Supt. Sande spoke at Dist. 54 and 26.

Each speaker emphasized not only the need of more and better educational facilities, but also the need of making fuller and better use of what facilities we now have and what we might acquire in the future.

Attendance at the meetings was very good, usually exceeding the capacity of the meeting place.

Marshall County District Court Opens Busy Session; Moonshiners are Sentenced

The November term of the Marshall county district court opened in Warren Monday of last week, Judge Andrew Grindeland presiding. When the grand jury was adjourned Tuesday evening 20 indictments had been returned. Before they could be indicted by jury, four men appeared before Judge Andrew Grindeland and plead guilty to charges of violating the liquor laws. Andrew Bloomquist of Middle River was sentenced to 40 days in jail and to pay a fine of $150. Adam Stusynski of Stephen was sentenced to 60 days in jail and to pay a fine of $200. John Stusynski of Stephen received a 60 day jail sentence and a $150 fine while Henry Brown of Stephen was fined $250 and sentenced to 60 days in jail.

Of the 78 civil cases on the civil calendar, 50 are personal property cases.

County Attorney Braggans sprang a surprise in court when he moved the court that five men now in the county jail serving liquor sentences be made to pay their fines by execution of personal judgment by the court against their property in addition to serving their jail term. The five men, according to Mr. Braggans, had refused to pay their fines and were prepared to serve their time in jail instead. This Mr. Braggans argued, would result in unnecessary expense to the county. Judge Grindeland intimated that the county attorney's move might be granted but granted stay of time to enable the men to get attorneys to represent them.

According to the Warren Sheaf it is rumored that the grand jury returned an indictment against a prominent resident of the county thru whose instrumentality, it is claimed one of the Marshall county banks failed.

Among the attorneys to take part in the court session at Warren are H. O. Chommie, G. Halvorson and O. A. Naplin of Thief River Falls.

HUNDREDS VISIT CROPS-POULTRY EXHIBITS HERE

Big Event Closes Friday Evening With Alfalfa Meeting. Poultry Exhibit Best Ever.

LARGE CROWDS HEAR INSTRUCTIVE TALKS

Organization In Charge of Exhibition Highly Commended For Decided Success.

The Crops and Poultry show held in Thief River Falls which closed a four-day session last Friday evening, was a top-notcher in every respect, according to the verdicts passed by those who viewed the exhibits and who attended the educational sessions. Hundreds of visitors were in the city during the event, many from a considerable distance, and more interest in the various displays was evidenced this year than ever before.

The event marked the seventh annual exhibit of the Pennington County Poultry association, and is considered the most successful in the history of the organization. Approximately 600 birds were shown, representing practically all breeds known, entries being made in both the professional and farmers class. The number of entries in the latter class was noticeably larger this year than previously. A large number of prize winners, most of whom are residents of this community, shared in the many premiums offered. About $600 in premiums was awarded in the poultry division, $400 of which will be reimbursed by the state.

The number and quality of exhibits of corn, potatoes, grains, grass seed, alfalfa roots, hay and other farm products was also very satisfactory and encouraging considering that it was the first attempt by the local organization to add this feature to the poultry show. Splendid showings were made in all the departments, and the samples winning first, second or third prize here will be entered at the Winter Shows at Crookston. Liberal awards were also made in the various crop departments. The judging of these products was done by Prof. T. M. McCall and Prof. R. S. Dunham, both of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston. In the poultry division W. E. Stanfield, expert poultry man, did the judging. Among the most beneficial discussions during the week were those on poultry by Mr. Stanfield, who is poultry editor of the Northwest Farmstead and thoroughly familiar with all the phases of this industry. He spoke very highly of the local display of birds and stated tat it was the finest he had seen anywhere in the state.

A complete account of the programs during the first two days of the show was given in last week's issue of The Times.

On Thursday afternoon an instructive talk on "Sweet Clover" was given by Prof. R. S. Dunham of the Crookston Agricultural school and J. W. Brinton, field man for the Minnesota Wheat Growers associated, discussed the importance of co-operative marketing in order to assure the producer a fair return for his product. He also spoke on Friday afternoon citing the experience of co-operative organizations in effective operation and urging farmers to enter into this form of marketing. The Wheat Growers' organization is growing rapidly, an intensive campaign being carried on thruout the state.

The regular noon luncheon of the Commercial club Thursday was held at the Brumund hotel and was attended by 60 men, speakers here for the show, farmers of the vicinity of Thief River Falls and business men of the city. The speakers of the session were: W. E. Stanfield, who acted as judge at the show; W. R. Searles of the Agriculture department of the University of Minnesota, and A. M. Sheldon of the First and Peoples State bank, of Minneapolis, also connected with the First and Peoples State bank of this city.

"The Dairy Cow" was the topic of discussion at the Lyceum Thursday evening, this subject being discussed by W. R. Searles of the dairy division of the department of extension. He advised very strongly that the farmers of this community secure dairy breeds in preference to beef, the former being a more steady and certain source of income, and asserted that dairying will not be overdone. Mr. Searles also stressed upon the value of silos in connection with successful dairying.

The poultry sale on Friday afternoon was a decided success, this feature creating a great deal of interest and drew a large crowd of buyers. About 65 birds were sold at a good price, some chickens being sold for nearly $5 each. Only high grade birds were sold.

The Friday afternoon session was also addressed by O. N. Kiser of Crookston, who spoke on livestock problems and diversification of farming. He advocated forcibly the adoption of a program of balanced farming among the farmers of this section.

As a fitting close of the show the last session on Friday evening was given over to an alfalfa meeting, the chief speaker at which was C. R. Hutcheson, alfalfa expert connected with the Northwest Farmstead, Minneapolis, who has spent the past several weeks in this section in the promotion of alfalfa growing. He explained the various principles of the successful growing of alfalfa and impressed upon the large audience the advantages of Pennington county in having soil particularly adapted for this crop. A musical number by Noper's quartet made a big hit. The alfalfa song was sung by the Boys' Glee club of the high school.

The general committee in charge of the show as well as the superintendents of the various departments are to be highly commended for the manner in which every detail of the show was taken care of. Show visitors were well taken care of and the auditorium tastily decorated for the occasion. The results were beyond the expectations of even the most hopeful.

GOLFERS DARE DECEMBER AIR

Members of the Thief River Falls golf club are apparently making an effort to change the lattitude of Pennington county to fifty or sixty degrees nearer to the equator when they brave December weather to enjoy their favorite game, golf, on the eighth day of that month. And they say they enjoyed it. Others skated out to the links, via the river, and they too asserted that conditions were ideal for that sport. Has the Commercial club advocated diversification so strongly that the weather man has contracted the germ and decided that he can well afford to follow suit to their policy, or is it the undauntable spirit of Thief River Falls citizens that refuse to be curbed by such insignificant circumstances as weather conditions? Ten or twelve members of the local golf club have enjoyed an unusually long season this year as they have been able to participate in this favorite sport regularly all fall and if the weather permits will try to get in another outing. The temperature Sunday was 33 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit and last year the same date the thermometer registered 24 degrees below zero.

Thief River Falls citizens need no longer migrate to equatorial regions to enjoy December golfing.

MERCHANTS OF CITY VISITED BY DEFRAUDER

Stranger Giving Name as F. M. Kuehn Writes Bogus Checks And Gets Merchandise.

NABBED IN SIMILAR PRACTICE AT DETROIT

Held There Awaiting Trial. Said To Have Been Released From Stillwater In July.

Eight bogus checks were passed by a stranger to merchants of this city last Friday, aggregating a sum of about $160. The man gave his name as F. M. Kuehn, the signature appearing on all the checks passed here. They were written out on the First National bank of this city and given in payment of merchandise bought late Friday afternoon, in some instances small sums of change being realized by the check artist. The largest check was in the amount of $40, the others ranging from $2 up.

Although under suspicion the man got away on an evening train and evidently went on to Detroit, where a man giving the name of Kulm, identified as the one who visited Thief River Falls, was arrested Monday, charged with passing bogus checks, according to the Grand Forks Herald.

The Herald report says further.

"He had passed several checks, it is said, when he went into Bob Videen's jewelry store and tried to pass another. Mr. Videen became suspicious, and John Swanson, policeman, who had followed the man into the jewelry store, made the arrest.

"The man was taken to jail, and afterwards it was charged that he had passed checks at different places in town aggregating about $137.00, besides $200,000 in bad checks at Thief River Falls.

"He was released from Stillwater last July, it is said."

He was given a hearing at Detroit and bound over to the district court, according to information from Sheriff O. L. Ihle.

An effort will be made by the local holders of the bad checks to regain their merchandise and bring charges against Kuehn who is now being held at Detroit.

When captured he was not in possession of any of the merchandise purchased here, according to reports. Sheriff Ihle was not in the city at the time the local merchants discovered that they had been swindled but upon his return Saturday morning he immediately notified Mahnomen and Detroit police to be on the lookout for a person as described by those who had seen the swindler here.

ALUMNI OF LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL TO GATHER DEC. 28TH

Annual Get-Together of Former Lincolnites Will Be Held at Sons of Norway Hall.

A big time for alumni of the Thief River Falls high school is assured those who attend the annual reunion which will take place at the Sons of Norway hall, Friday evening, Dec. 28. The officers of the association met last week to make the necessary preparations for the event and if a proper turnout of former Lincoln High students is secured a real get together during the Christmas vacation is a certainty.

The event includes a program of talks and musical numbers, refreshments, dancing and other social entertainment, the best in music to be secured for those who wish to dance.

It is urged that all alumni, whether married or single, who are in Thief River Falls on the 28th be present and partake in this annual event and make it really worth while. It is the one opportunity of the year for former class and school mates to renew friendships and talk over the "good old high school days."

The staff of officers in charge of preparations are: Oscar C. Paulson, president; Roy Brown, vice president; Dreng Bjornaraa, secretary; and Miss Sibyl McGinn, treasurer.

Invitations are being sent out to alumni whose addresses are known, but as there are many whom the committee is unable to reach by this procedure they are to consider themselves invited regardless of whether they have received a card or not.

Farmer Makes Own Syrup From Sugar Beets Grown On Pennington Co. Farm

Among the interesting exhibits at the Crops and Poultry show last week was a jar of sugar beet syrup prepared by Alfred Flattum, a farmer residing near Thief River Falls. The syrup was made by slicing the beets and boiling it down for some time, the entire process taking a period of about a day. Previous to the cooking the sliced beet was soaked in water for a while.

Those who tasted the finished product state that it is equal to many syrups on the market.

Christmas Seals Should be Important Part of All Gifts

The usual Christmas seals, the funds for which are used in the fight against tuberculosis, has been started and in Thief River Falls is being carried on thru the schools in charge of Supt. I. T. Simley and Mrs. Clara Herm, the school nurse. Each of the schools in the city have been allotted a certain number of seals which the children will dispose of and high school students will aid in selling the stamps at the post office and other public places. In the rural communities the teachers are in charge of the sale.

The sturdy youngsters and tiny toddlers whose trusting fingers are twined about your very heartstrings play always under the threatening shadow of tuberculosis, says Dr. William F Wild, Executive Secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association.

Continuing Dr. Wild says:

"The dread disease is everywhere. Wealth is no bar and position no barrier to consumption. The only way to make the world safe for children is to stamp out tuberculosis entirely.

It can be stamped out. Today only one person dies of tuberculosis where two died before. Christmas seals have helped to save the other life.

Help in this lifesaving campaign. Save the children. Buy Christmas Seals."

STATE AWARDS HIGHWAY JOB TO A. T. CROWN

Local Contractor Is Successful Bidder For Rroad Construction on Jefferson Highway

WORK ON PROJECT IS TO START IN SPRING

Right-of-way Along New Route To St. Hilaire Must Be Secured By State.

The contract for the construction work on trunk highway No. 32, known as the Jefferson Highway, between Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire, has finally been awarded to Albert T. Crown of this city by the state department, this information having been received at the office of the local highway engineer, Bert F. Umland, last week. As was stated in a previous issue of The Times, the contract for the construction of a concrete culvert has been allowed The Prichard company of this city.

This project has been held up for some time due to the fact that the Pennington county reimbursement bonds for that purpose were not approved by the state department. The department, however, realizing the necessity of building this piece of road as a part of the great highway system of the state, decided to award the contract for the work as an emergency project, and together with a number of other projects came up for bids a short time ago. The contract calls for beginning of operations in November but on account of delays this was not possible.

The contract is made with the understanding that no work is to be started until authorization is made by the state and can be cancelled if the state is unable to secure the right of way. If the right of way could have been secured at the proper time some of the work would have been started this fall.

The grading of the new thoroughfare, which will be laid entirely on the east side of the Great Northern tracks is to be completed by Sept. 10, 1924. According to the new route there will be no railroad crossings between this city and Red Lake Falls, a highly desireable improvement over the present road which crosses the tracks at several dangerous points. Considerable work has already been completed near Red Lake Falls and a new bridge was constructed this fall by Engineer Umland just south of the city, his being the first step in the construction of this very important highway. The distance to be graded by Contractor Crown is seven and one-half miles, it being expected that operations will be started in the spring, providing a satisfactory right of way can be secured.

ROAD WORK IN PENNINGTON COUNTY IS FINISHED FOR YEAR

Graveling of Highlanding and Oklee Road Completed by Large Crews of Haulers.

Gravelling of Pennington county highways has now been suspended for the season, two extensive projects just having been completed, according to information from the office of highway Engineer Bert F. Umland.

The surfacing of state road No. 5 southeast from this city, known as the angle road, was completed more than two weeks ago. Six miles of gravelling north and south from Highlanding was finished a short time ago, more than one hundred teams being employed on the project. The last job to be completed this year was a four-mile stretch on the Oklee road in Mayfield township. On these two jobs between 120 and 150 teams were employed and the work completed in a very short time. Only residents of the county were permitted to secure employment on these gravelling projects.

The two miles of state road between the completed Highlanding and Oklee road which still remains to be finished, will be reshaped and surfaced next year, according to present plans.

The office of Engineer Umland is a busy place these days, the many farmers who have worked on the various road improvements this fall calling to have their work checked up.

A considerable saving was made this year in the gravelling operations, on account of the favorable weather making it unnecessary to spend much money on explosives which is usually needed this late in the season.

COUNCIL POSTPONES HEARING OF CHARGE AGAINST JOHN DAHL

Witness Refuses to Testify in Coal Deal Quiz Tuesday. Continued to Friday.

The hearing of the charges against Alderman John Dahl alleging irregularities in the delivery of coal consigned to the city, which was scheduled to be taken up at last Tuesday's meeting of the city council, was deferred to a special meeting Friday evening, this week.

After a brief discussion it developed that the proceedings would have to be continued owing to the fact that one of the chief witnesses who had been subpoenaed refused to testify, upon advice of his attorney, on the grounds that no written charge had been made. Thru the discussion Alderman Ihle stated that he was in possession of an affidavit supporting the charge but he refused to surrender same to the council body. Further proceedings being halted by the refusal of the witness to testify, the case was postponed until Friday, when it is hoped to have the matter finally cleared up.

A large number of interested citizens were in attendance at Tuesday's session and the meeting Friday will undoubtedly also attract considerable attention.

The motion for a hearing in the matter of accusations against Alderman Dahl, who, it was alleged, has obtained coal from a car consigned to the city without paying for it, was made by Dahl himself at the council meeting two weeks ago, Mr. Dahl claiming that he bought the coal and paid for it and wishes to have the matter sifted out by the council. A communication from Mr. Dahl is found elsewere in this issue.

It will be enlightening as well as entertaining to others who have never seen the fascinating scenery of the country across the pond. Several of the pictures will depict scenes of everyday life as it is found in various parts of the country.

SUPPORT CO-OP. CREAMERIES IS TOPIC AT MEET

Five Hundred Creamery Men of Valley Hear Officials of State Co-operative Association.

FARMERS URGED TO SIGN UP CREAMERY CONTRACT

Big Meeting of Farmers in This Vicinity Will Be Held Here On January 3.

"Stick to your local co-operative creamery" was the keynote of the special meeting of creamery directors, patrons and buttermakers of the fourteenth district of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association in session in Thief River Falls yesterday.

The gathering was the largest of its kind ever held in the state, approximately 500 delegates and creamery operators from 53 institutions in the district being in attendance. The fourteenth district comprises ten counties: Pennington, Marshall, Polk, Kittson, Roseau, Norman, Clearwater, Red Lake, Clay and Mahnomen, and has within its domains 56 creameries with an annual output of between four and five million pounds of butter, 53 of the creameries being members of the state association.

The object of the meeting held here yesterday was to consider the serious problems of competition confronting the co-operative creameries of this section at the present time and to consider the proposition of signing up patrons to support the co-operative institutions and also signing up the creameries in the state butter sales agency.

The meeting was presided over by E. O. Melsness of Erskine, president of the district organization. A brief session in the forenoon was addressed by A. J. McGuire, manager of the Minnesota association of co-optrative creameries, who very clearly presented to the large audience the importance of getting unified action at this time against the centralizers of the state who are making an attempt to draw the patrons from their home institutions. He showed how various concerns are making tempting offers of prices higher than those paid by local creameries in places where there is competition but that the loss thus incurred is made up at points where the farmers' creamery has been driven out of business. "The farmer must patronize and support his own creamery if the future success of dairying is to be assured," said Mr. McGuire.

In an effort to bring about united support a campaign is now being conducted thruout the state which aims to have patrons of the co-operative creameries sign up their output for a period of five years. Mr. McGuire explained fully the details of the contract and distributed large numbers among the delegates present, each local organization to give the matter special consideration later.

A meeting of local creamery association members and every dairyman in this section interested in the welfare of this industry, will be held in this city on Thursday, Jan. 3, at which time patrons of the creamery in this city and other co-operative institutions in the county will be given a thorough understanding of the plan and an effort will be made to sign up as many as possible.

The afternoon session was addressed by H. F. Meyer, sales manager for the state association, and J. H. Brandt of Litchfield, president of the association, who also spoke very highly of the keen interest which the dairymen of this section are taking in the situation. They also stressed upon the necessity of more co-operation among the producers in marketing their cream and butter and urged that every producer of cream sign up with his local institution. Mr. Meyer, who is in charge of the state butter sales agency, explained that feature and 18 creameries, including the Farmers' Co-operative creamery of this city, signed contracts whereby shipments of the butter output is made to the headquarters at St. Paul where it is properly graded and from where concentrated shipments in carload lots is made to eastern markets. More than 250 creameries of the state have already entered into this plan of marketing and the number is growing every day, according to officials of the organization. The number signed up here was the largest recorded at any one meeting in the state. The majority of those represented here will join but the delegates desired to bring the matter before the entire board before taking final action.

Among thos who spoke was also L. Jensen of Clearbrook, president of the State Dairymen's association, who assured the hearty support of that organization in this movement for the protection of the Co-operatives.

The officers of the creameries' association are: E. O. Melsness, Erskine, president; H. P. Nygaard, Halstad; vice president; C. M. Berg, McIntosh, second vice president; P. Engelstad, Thief River Falls, secretary, and Ed. Rydeen, Clearbrook, treasurer. The annual meeting will be held on February 27 in this city.

Last evening the buttermakers of the district enjoyed a banquet at the Brumund hotel.

Thief River Falls yesterday was host to an assemblage of representatives of the greatest industry in the state from all parts of the Red River Valley, the gathering being pronounced as being one of the most significant ever held in this section.

SOCIETY NOTES

Woman's Club Ask Retention Of State Forester, W. F. Cox

The regular meeting of the Woman's club held at the commercial club rooms Monday evening was one of the most enjoyable and fruitful meetings of the season. The readings by Mrs. Schrader of the University of North Dakota were not only highly entertaining but also instructive. Mrs. Schrader is a reader of merit and the club is to be complimented on their consistant efforts in bringing able and influential men and women to their meetings, many of which have been a source of much inspiration and instruction to not only the club members but other residents of this city as well. The invitation extended to the Girls Community Club for attendance at this session was accepted and many were present. In addition to the readings Mrs. G. Halvorson and Mrs. Mauritz Brink delivered two vocal solos which were well received.

Another development which is of interest to the community and which indicates the great interests the Womans federation has at hand was the dispatch of a letter to the State Forestry department in consideration of a report in one of the St. Paul daily papers of December the 5th to the effect that the state board of Forestry would probably request the resignation of William T. Cox, state forestry director. The Club asked that he be retained and stressed the importance of the work of Mr. Cox and his ability in directing the work which will eventually mean a great deal to Minnesota. They also assured the department of the unity of policy on this question in the entire federation of Women's Clubs.

Happy Christmas Time

WHEN the turkey's on the table and the candles on the tree
I'm just about as happy as I ever wants be!
My children gathered 'round me an' my neighbors settin' by,
I couldn't be no happier an' I don't wants try.
I like the parson's sermon an' I like the singin' chimes
I like the dressed-up feelin' that's around at Christmas times;
But best of all the doin's is the time, it seems to me,
When the turkey's on the table an' the candles on the tree!

There's a lot o' solid comfort gettin' ready for the day,
A-makin' wreaths of evergreen an' hollyberry spray;
An' Mother she gets busy a-bakin' things to eat
An' makin' any kind o' food that's savory an' sweet;
An' we tie up little presents an' and we make up little jokes—
You know—with verses bringin' in the names of all the folks;
But it's all a-workin' upward to that very height of glee
When the turkey's on the table an' the candles on the tree!

You see the Christmas ritual is "Peace on Earth," and then
It also has another clause about "Good Will to Men;"
The latter as I take it, bein' doin' all you can
To give a bit o' Christmas cheer to any fellow man.
So I start in Christmas mornin' with the raisin' of the sun
An' I stick at it till I get my good-will chores all done
An' then I want my "Peace on Earth," an' that is when I see
The turkey on the table an' the candles on the tree!

BANKERS HELP THE KIDS

Northern Michigan Bankers are out to give the youngsters in their part of the country a lift on the road to better dairying. A group of bankers met with some of the agricultural men in their section and pledged their support in backing up calf club work.

Her Very Own Pig—A Boys and Girls Club Member

Virginia, Minnesota, Bankers have faith in "kids." Meeting with a committee from the Virginia Chamber of Commerce they formulated plans for the establishment of Calf Clubs and "Pure Bred Bull Associations." Banks all over St. Louis county have pledged their support to this work.

An Arkansas bank loaned a youngster $70, in 1920. The boy bought a purebred Poland China gilt from a breeder in a neighboring state. Being the first purebred gilt brought into the county for boys and girls club work she has furnished more stock than any other sow in the section. With the start that the bank gave the youngster he has been able to refute the claim that hog raising in his county was not profitable, for at the present time he has more than $1000 to his credit as a result of the original bank loan and investment.

Christmas Belles

HOW sweet they are,
The Christmas bells!
They never jar,
How sweet they are;
As from afar
Their music swells,
How sweet they are,
The Christmas bells.

Another belle
Is charming, too.
I need not tell
Another belle;
You know full well
That it is you!
Another belle
Is charming, too.

Road Work Near Red Lake Falls Finished Last Week

The crew of workmen on the construction contract of Reierson & Nohre, last week completed the construction work on State Trunk Highway No. 32 from a point ¼ mile north of the Red Lake river, near Red Lake Falls, to the county line. This work has been under construction for several months and the completion of the work this fall was no doubt due to the splendid weather that has prevailed in these parts.

The Minneapolis Bridge company who have the contracts for the construction of the bridge have been pushing their part of the contract work and the foundation work has all been completed and the riveting of the bridge spans is going forward at a rapid pace. The concrete floor of the bridge will not be laid this fall, owing to the fact that cold weather may set in at any time. This portion of the work will be completed as soon as spring arrives.

A BIG SHOW

The Crops and Poultry show held last week in Thief River Falls goes down in the history of this community as one of the most successful exhibitions ever conducted here. The display of poultry this year exceeded that of any other previous year and the quality of the birds indicated that poultry fanciers, professionals and farmers as well, are raising specimens of the best obtainable.

Those who failed to visit the great show at the auditorium during the four days missed something really worth while. There were hundreds of chickens of different varieties, most of them aristocrats in their special divisions. There were turkeys of almost unbelievable size, the poultry expert, W. E. Stanfield, stating that the display was the largest and best that he had seen in the entire state, and the geese entered were among the best in their class. There was coop after coop of the best egg producing strains of chickens, but these by no means were the only subjects of attraction. The larger varieties which show up best when the cook has finished with them were in great abundance. It is doubtful if a finer display of Rocks, Wyandottes, Orpingtons, Rhode Islands and Brahmas can be found anywhere in the state, these breeds easily sharing the interest with the smaller birds whose claim to distinction consists principally of laying large quantities of eggs.

A gratifying feature this year was the large number of farmer exhibitors, who, altho not specializing in the industry, are nevertheless producing spendid birds in both quality and size.

The grain exhibits, altho for the first time a feature of the annual poultry show, added greatly to the exposition. The samples of corn proved to the satisfaction of even the most skeptical that corn can be matured in this section as well as in Iowa. The number of entries indicated much interest in this department. The potato, grain, grass seed and hay entries also presented very favorable samples of what is being raised in Pennington county and adjoining territory. The alfalfa roots shown were comparable with the best anywhere in the state as may also be said of the seed and hay samples.

Conditions are in themselves compelling a change, or changes in farming in this section and farmers who heard the various lectures and discussions by experts present at the show sessions were given the best information it is possible to procure along the lines of diversification. Such subjects as "The Dairy Cow," "Alfalfa," and "Sugar Beets" were ably discussed by men who are thoroughly familiar with the best and most profitable methods to be followed.

Those in charge of the various departments of the show are to be congratulated upon the success of the affair. Under the general manager, Theo. M. Thronson, the heads of the departments carried out every detail of the big show in the most creditable manner. Secretary J. J. McCann was continually on the jump attending to various matters and much credit is due him. The business men of Thief River Falls truly joined hands with the farmers of the community in putting over one of the best shows of its kind in the state and it is hoped that much benefit will be derived from the event as a whole.

The old-fashioned farm buggy is fast passing out of use, says the Storden Times. It is so seldom that one sees a horse driven buggy on the highways that when one is seen it attracts more attention than does an automobile.

Recent traffic census taken by the Highway Department on the state roads shows that out of every 1000 vehicles that pass only eight are horse-drawn buggies. One in every 125 vehicles that pass over our roads are buggies, and they usually are used for very short trips. Dealers are no longer selling buggies. When the present stock wears out there will be no more.

Farmers have come to look upon the automobile as one of the necessities of the farm. Every renter must have an automobile. That is one of the things that makes it cost more to live now than it did a few years ago. People are demanding more luxuries. They are traveling more but with the travel they are enjoying life better and getting more out of it. No one wants to go back to the former things. We have just got to adjust ourselves to the present mode of living, the Times concludes, and try our best to make our income cover the cost of living.

THE CURSE OF MOONSHINE

"Moonshine is the curse of this country. It is filling our prisons and asylums. . . . When a man gets full of moonshine, he will commit any crime."—Warden John J. Sullivan.

Moonshine made Portano, the Kelliher killer, slay four innocent persons among them being one of his closest and best friends.

Crazed by moonshine, a Fairmont young man recently attempted to take his own life.

Moonshine has blackened the name and fame of a dozen good Martin county farmers.

Moonshine takes any man's reason —it leaves them depraved, dangerous maniacs, unsafe to mingle with sober people.

The man who sells or drinks moonshine, or traffics in it, is a potential murderer, and should be treated as such. Fines, no matter how heavy, will not safeguard the public against the moonshine pestilence. Put the malefactors in jail—let them stay there and rot, if need be. Better that the public should be safe than to allow a single moonshiner his liberty.

If you are a good citizen, you will tell the officers all you know about moonshine in the county—even if it hits close to home. It may be the means of saving a life.—Fairmont Sentinel.

The one thing in Thief River Falls that seems to be able to take alcohol internally and get away with it without showing any ill effect on some of these frosty nights is our flivver's radiator.

O HOLY CHILD OF BETHLEHEM

O HOLY Child of Bethlehem,
By Heavenly hosts adored;
O wondrous Child of Bethlehem,
Earth's dear and gracious Lord!

O blessed feet in Galilee
That trod the busy shore;
O welcome feet in Galilee,
Whom thousands thronged before.

O gentle friend in Bethany
Who loved the sisters twain;
O weeping Christ in Bethany,
Who shared our parting pain!

O wrestler in Gethsemane
With mystic hate and fears
O Victor in Gethsemane
O'er all that tempts us here!

O thorn-crowned head on Calvary,
That bowed for us in woe;
O pierced side on Calvary,
Whose blood for us did flow!

Let Thine uplifted Cross have power
To draw mankind to Thee;
Yea, cleanse our sight this very hour
Thy Cross of love to see.

Our hearts to keep, our lives to spend,
We offer at Thy feet;
O bind us, till our years shall end
In loving service meet.

—Ebenezer Sherman Oakley.

BUY IT AT HOME

Times are not very flush in this section at the present time, but there will be more or less buying during the holiday season as usual. The volume of business transacted may not be quite as great as in some previous years and the amount of money spent will undoubtedly be somewhat smaller, but the spirit of Christmas will prevail very much in the same old way.

During a season like the present the merchant early arrives at the conclusion that it will be necessary for him to get down to rock bottom prices, and this is just what Thief River Falls merchants have done. It would be impossible for them to make deeper cuts without footing a loss greater than they are able to stand. The same is doubtless true of merchants in other communities. They are all anxious to stimulate holiday buying and to that end have reduced prices to the lowest possible point.

Stocks in Thief River Falls are perhaps larger and more varied than at any previous Christmas season. There is absolutely no excuse for anyone going out of town for anything they may need, nor is there any possibility that they can save any money by so doing. The merchants of this city are willing to have their prices compared with those prevailing in other cities in the state, or outside the state for that matter, while so far as quality and variety is concerned it will meet the needs of every one in the community.

Do your Christmas buying in Thief River Falls and do it now. Nothing is to be gained by waiting till the last day and a chance to get the particular article you want may be lost. Shop early and shop at home.

TIME TO SWITCH

More cows and less wheat is one remedy for the present low prices of the latter product. The people of the United States consumed last year 160 million pounds of butter more than in any previous year in the history of the country. The increase in butter production was about 100 million pounds. This left about 60 million pounds to be imported.

The Red River Valley grows the best cow feed, the most per acre and at less cost than any other section of the country. Minnesota produces the best butter in the world while its wheat yield is gradually deminishing. With these facts in mind it stands to reason that it would be a matter of good business judgment on the part of the producers to switch as soon as possible from wheat to dairy cows.—Crookston Times.

GIVE THE BIRDS A DINNER

Christmas is an ideal time to begin feeding the birds, says Successful Farming. While we are eating our own big holiday dinner, a pan of grain or table scraps set out on a low shed roof where it will be away from the reach of chickens or rodents will cheer many a hungry little friend. The birds will soon find it and you will be delighted to watch the feast. A box nailed to the side of a tree makes an excellent birds' cafeteria, or a platform of a few boards across a couple of limbs on the protected side of the trunk will do equally as well. It would be a good idea to make the feeding-grounds a short distance from the house, since some birds dislike too much publicity. In a very few days every species of bird in the neighborhood will be feeding at your lunch counter, and you will take great pleasure in studying their ways and becoming friends with them. By saving the birds now you will be doing a lot toward saving the crops next year. The birds will do their part then if you will help them now.

Appalling Waste

Short-school terms and poor attendance in the rural schools represent an appaling waste. Statistics compiled by the Bureau of Education show that the average rural school term is approximately seven months and that the average daily attendance is but 72.3 per cent of the enrollment. Even this poor showing is bolstered up by including as rural all places of less than 2,500 population according to the Census classification. If we count as rural only the population of the open country and the smaller villages the situation appears much worse. Because of the poor enforcement of the school laws in the open country many children of school age are not enrolled in the schools and because of unfavorable rural conditions the attendance is reduced. In these regions the average school term is about six months and the average daily attendance is hardly 67 per cent.

Short-school terms and poor attendance waste the farmers' money, reduce the future earning capacity of children and permit coming citizens to be handicapped by illiteracy. The whole Nation was made ashamed by the high percentage of illiteracy revealed by the examination of recruits for our Army in the World War. So long as we permit short-school terms and irregular school attendance in the rural districts, just so long will we continue to produce thousands of men and women unfit to perform their duties as citizens in a Republic.

Public Forum

To The Times: I notice that the Tribune has a write-up of the city council proceedings last Tuesday and says that both sides in the coal investigation are "jockeying for position." There has been no jockeying on my part. I asked for the investigation because certain people during the election campaign and since have accused me of getting coal at the expence of the city. The accusation is false and a slander against my name. The council ordered an investigation and those members who accused me voted for it. Now at the hearing, E. D. Box shows up by an attorney and refuses to testify, although he was called. My accusers claim they have an affidavit signed by Box. This affidavit they refuse to produce. The result is that my accusers want to let the accusation stand as it is and do not dare to put Box on the stand to testify. I want an investigation. If it is blocked it is not my doing. The jockeying is all on the side of my accusers.

JOHN DAHL,
Alderman, Second Ward.

Dear Editor:—The other day a young man called at my farm, handed me a tag on which was printed the name "The Blue Valley Creamery Co." He offered me 62 cents for sweet and 60 cents for sour cream. Then he went on and spoke his little piece that he had well committed to memory at headquarters.

I listened to him as long as I could until I could not stand his sephistry any longer. Then I asked him this plain question. Why do you not pay the farmers 62 cents for cream where they have no co-operative creamery? You well know that 62 cents is about 10 cents above the New York market. He had no answer for my question. I then took my turn in talking and if ever a representative of the Blue Valley Creamery Co., got what he had coming, I think he got his that day. He evidently had taken me for an old hayseed that did not know much.

It must be clear to every farmer that when these centralized creameries offer these prices for their cream that are even above New York, that they do not do that for the good of the farmer, but have an evil motive in so doing. They want to get him away from his home creamery and then when that is ruined then they will pay the farmer what ever they please to give him.

It is the same old trick they have played in Kansas, South Dakota and other states, where the farmers now get from 8 to 10 cents less than we do.

But says someone: Is not their money as good as other peoples' money? No. The worst man I ever read about was one that sold our Master for thirty pieces of silver. Then in his remorse and dispair did he think that his thirty pieces of silver were as good as any other money? Indeed not. He brought it to the chief priests and elders saying that he had betrayed the innocent blood. They said: What is that to us, see thou to that. And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple and departed and went and hanged himself.

It took many years of hard and faithful labor by our farmers, their wives and their boys and girls who all contributed their share in making our local creamery what it is. Would it now be right to accept a temporary gain and thereby ruin our Co-operative Creamery that is doing an honest and legitimate business? These centralized concerns are backed by eastern capitalists who have already gouged their millions from the public in any way they could get it.

I hope that every farmer will stand by his local Co-operative Creamery; support and defend it, as never before.

HENRY POPE.

Editor, The Times:

Thinking some of former residents would like to know the conditions out here on the coast. We are having fine weather. Generally at this time of the year it is very rainy in this territory, but so far this fall there has been almost too litle rain for plowing. We have had several frosts but the leaves are still on the trees, altho they are begining to fall of now. This is a prune county and berries are also raised on a commercial scale. The prune crop was good. Many tons of prunes were spoiled on the ground from lack of pickers at the right time and we also had a rain which did a great deal of damage. Many thousands of tons are shipped from this place, both by rail and ocean steamers, this being a deep water port and only six miles from Portland, Oregon, just across the Columbia river

We had a surprise a few days ago when two Fords, driven by William Parbst and wife and Henry Hoard and wife and little daughter and John Anderson, all of Thief River Falls, stopped in front of our house. They had dinner with us and after doing some repair work on Parbst's car they continued on their journey. They expected to stay over night with H. G. Borden in Oregon that night as they were guests at the George and Watson Borden homes before coming here. They also called on Ed. Simmons, near here. A few days latter William Meyer of Steiner, and Vernon Malberg, who has been employed on a ranch near here all summer, paid us a call on their way north to work in a mill, where they worked together last winter, so we had the pleasure of hearing directly from the old country so to speak. Farmers here are generally engaged in digging their potatoes at the present time. Potatoes here are not considered a first class crop, but are selling at $1.25 to $1.75 per hundred. It is a paying crop but nothing like sugar beets around Thief River Falls, according to the Times, I suppose. The dairying business is carried on quite extensively here. Most of the dairy products go to Portland right from the rancher's door. The poultry industry is also carried on quite extensively. Five hundred to several thousand birds on a ranch being common. White Leghorns are the most prominent breed. I will be glad to answer anyone who wishes information directly from this locality.

Respectfully,
S. R. Rogers,

It is time the citizens realized that enacting laws is what is heaping up the increasing burdens of taxation, says an exchange. When the legislature enacts several hundred new laws it creates offices, increases public payrolls and multiplies taxes. There is almost no legislation to limit expenditures or produce new revenues without a direct tax, but nearly all laws cause expenditures.

AS TRUE AS GOSPEL

Fred P. Mann of Devils Lake, N. D. who enjoys the distinction of selling a greater amount of goods in his general store than is sold in any other store in the world in a town of like size recently delivered a talk at San Antonio. And he spoke these words, words as true as gospel:

"I would feel I was tied hand and foot if I failed to tell the people through the papers what I have to sell. The best time to advertise is when times are hard or business is bad and your competitor either curtails his advertising or is not advertising at all. I believe the newspapers of this country are the greatest business builders the world has ever known. I have tried to do business without printer's ink as well as with it, and my conclusion is that the merchant who thinks he can prosper without advertising his goods is foolish. For merely making a living is no longer considered as being successful in the business world."—Crookston Times.

Concessions granted at county fairs and similar public gatherings to those who have a questionable quality of merchandise to dispose of by questionable methods, is a doubtful enterprise for any community to indulge in. Not only is the patron swindled, most generally, but such methods of merchandising is an injustice to the local dealer who pays taxes and helps to maintain the municipality, county and state.

Receiving Christmas Gifts Is a Fine Art

OF COURSE, every gift given means also a gift received. Christmas always has two sides, and certainly there is great joy in receiving the tokens of love and friendship that come to us, not because of their money value, for most gifts are bought for small sums, but because they convey to us an expression of someone's affection. I heard a young girl remark when a little gift came to her, "Well, that didn't break anyone's bank." What a pity. As if Christmas could have in it great joy for anyone who looked for the price tag on a gift. Our character is likely to be revealed by the spirit of our receiving quite as well as by the spirit of our giving. It is this fine art of receiving well that will not only make Christmas the more joyous, but will also be an all-year virtue, if it is cultivated in our hearts.—F. H. Sweet.

SAFETY FIRST

The Christmas shoppers hesitated at the crowded street crossing. To try to get over seemed like an attempt to dodge fate. Automobiles dashed by in a continuous procession. The tall policeman, however, convoyed a group across like a battleship leading a flock of schooners. But one old lady lingered, afraid to launch away, until courage came with the policeman's assurance: "Come right along, ma'm, you're just as safe with me as if you was in God's pocket!"—C. G. Lower Taxes Paramount Public Need Declares Great Northern Chief

Americans are getting round shoulders from bearing the huge burden of taxes which actually have become oppressive because of the excessive cost of government, so let's all get together and lower taxes so that the dollar we sweat to earn today won't look like thirty cents tomorrow."

This is a free translation of the subject of a statement by Chairman Louis W. Hill of the Great Northern railway in which he states that taxes are nearly three times as much as they were ten years ago. He cites the increase of nearly 200 per cent in railroad taxes as a striking example of how federal, state and local government costs have increased the last ten years.

What the head of the board of directors of the Hill system did say was that the "unnecessary cost of Government is an unnecessary burden on production and consumption. It is to your interest to do everything in your power to encourage honesty, economy and efficiency in all forms of your government, federal, state, and local, —so as to reduce the taxes you pay; and likewise so as to reduce the taxes your railroads pay, for they become part of the cost of your transportation and of your cost of living.

"Even though the tax is collected from the railroad, it necessarily is added to the railroad's expenses and the public must pay rates high enough to defray those expenses, including the taxes paid."

Official records show that taxes paid by the railroads in the United States in 1912 totaled $109,445,407 and that by 1922 this drain on earnings had mounted to $309,478,764.

Great Northern taxes, for example increased from $3,804,924 in 1912 to $8,097,725 in 1922, or two and one-seventh times more than ten years ago.

"It is a self-evident fact that we must have adequate transportation and at the least cost that high class service can be furnished," said Chairman Hill. "And it is just as apparent that this transportation cannot be furnished unless rates are sufficient to defray expenses. High taxes are part of high expenses.

"The cost of government has increased with great rapidity, and this increases the cost of what you produce and the cost of what you consume. This cost of government must be met by taxation. Even when governments borrow the money they spend, they must impose taxes to pay the debt with interest. The increase in railroad taxes shows how government costs have increased."

Taxes paid by the Great Northern in various states of the Northwest which that road serves and how greatly these have been increased in the last few years are shown by the following comparative figures:

	1912	1922
Minnesota	$1,166,489	$1,970,936
North Dakota	662,123	1,878,754
Wisconsin	90,912	221,624
South Dakota	60,903	160,033
Idaho	81,775	167,670
Montana	651,941	1,760,980
Iowa	20,816	66,659
Washington	789,324	1,557,532
Other States	280,641	323,537
Total for sys'm	$3,804,924	$8,097,725

"These heavy increases in taxes, which are indirect tax on the public, show that your government costs need careful scrutiny," said Mr. Hill. "Are these costs being kept down as they should be in your own interest? The figures point to the answer. Your welfare, the welfare of the public generally, demands that taxes be lowered.

"The railroad, which serves the public and actually is part of the public because of this service and because it is owned by the public,—many of the hundreds of thousands of owners of railway stocks and bonds being employees and members of your community,—is in the same predicament as the rest of the public. Taxes are a burden borne by all of the public and the lifting of the burden of excessive taxation calls for joint effort.

"All money expended by the state must be collected ultimately from the producers of wealth within the state. The public must invariably foot all tax bills, including railroad taxes. It is to your interest even more than to that of any railroad to make and keep them low."

Our Christmas Days as They Used to Be

SOMETIMES it seems as if the "elder days" were the best. Think of their Christmases! Where is the grace and generosity of those times? The warm welcome, the large cordiality, the mellow fun of innocent celebrations?

Perhaps we look back through the softening glow of distance, but there is a romance, a delicate, fine flavor of something which indeed seems lost to us now.

How the neighbors rode through the snow on horseback to large gatherings! How the pretty girls were muffled in rugs and furs, skimming over the road in sleighs! How the bells rippled and rang! And how the wide doors flew open to greet these guests!

Light of candles . . . breath of pine wreaths . . . sprigs of holly . . . and the high thrill of holiday thoughts.

Laughing faces . . . graceful and the Virginia reel in the evening.

It is a heartsome thing to think about. Let us try to insert some of this gentle beauty and spirit into our Christmas day. We have not the leisure and spaciousness of those times, but hearts can reflect just as truly the invisible yet invincible power of love and loveliness!—Martha B. Thomas.

Old Yuletide Hymn Favorite Everywhere

THERE is scarcely a church of any denomination that does not some time during the Christmas season echo to the strains of that beautiful and soul-inspiring hymn, "O, come all ye faithful." It seems to be a favorite at Yuletide in every land and in every clime, whether it is sung as above referred to, or in its original form as the "Adeste Fidelis."

The hymn was first given to the world in the Thirteenth century by a Franciscan monk, but did not gain world-wide popularity for a long time after. The English translation was made by Canon Frederick Oakley over sixty years ago. Since that time the hymn has been translated into the language of every nation and the sweet and lofty words ring out at Christmas time in many remote places.

But while the English translation has superseded the original Latin to a great extent, yet the beauty of the original composition is such that there are many who still prefer to hear it even though the language is not their own.—Katherine Edelman.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

Many country town business men feel rather sore about the amount of trade which in many places leaves the home stores and goes to more or less distant cities. Yet if they would use the same principles of advertising as the result of which these big city stores develop a great trade, they would hold a large part of the customers who now go elsewhere for a lot of stuff. Human nature is about the same everywhere. If the big city stores have gone on to their wealth and marvelous expansion through advertising, it is not likely that advertising will fail to help the country town merchant. If the people of a town or neighborhood are failing to support the home stores as they should the trouble is likely to be with the merchants as with the people. Very likely some of them are not showing the enterprise they ought to in the matter of advertising.

Every page and column of the home newspaper is thoroughly scanned. People do not want to miss a single thing that has happened in their own neighborhood. Where a big city newspaper is hastily skimmed, and only a small part of the matter can be noted because of the enormous size of the publication, the home paper is not so big that it can be thoroughly studied. As a consequence, wherever the merchant put his notice, it is bound to be read for two reasons. First because it is next to interesting news; second, because the people are just as much interested in the things that their home stores are doing, as in the things that the local societies or people are up to. When people read the advertisement of a store it won't be long before they will call to see what the stuff looks like. The town where the merchants show enterprise and push in the matter of advertising is apt to be the same town where the stores have good success in holding the home trade.—Rochester Post and Record.

LIEBERMAN'S DEPARTMENT STORE

SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS HAS STARTED

Proceeds Used For Fighting Tuberculosis. Sanatorium Patients Make Appeal

On November 30th thousands of good men and women all over this great land of ours, who find some joy in rendering some service to mankind, without hope of fee or reward, began to devote many of their precious moments, unstintingly, to the cause of the Christmas Seal and the great purpose for which it stands. They will place this seal on sale in public places in order that the public in general may partake of the joys that are to be derived in helping to prevent and cure disease by purchasing at the small price of one cent each as many of these seals as they can possibly afford.

The Christmas Seal is only a symbol of the great work which it represents. The wonderful work which is being accomplished in the prevention and cure of disease will surely repay those generous supporters to this cause for the money which they invest in this work.

If the entire population of America could visit the sanatoriums devoted to the cure of tuberculosis during December and could receive in this way first hand information of conditions existing there, especially those children and older folks who are for a time confined there to fight their way back to health, and could realize the length of time necessary to effect a cure or become an arrested case, and the extra precautions necessary to prevent a recurrence of the trouble; if this same group of persons could and would learn for themselves and their relatives and friends the proper way to live and avoid disease; if they could understand the large amount of good which is being done in combating disease, they would not hesitate to subscribe double and in many cases triple the amounts subscribed in former years.

Life is sweet and health is one of its greatest assets but it flits away from our grasp when we forget to take care.

The person who will contribute to this cause which is so worthy, which needs and deserves so much the aid of everyone who is able to assist, if even only a few pennies, will be a real Santa Claus to those thousands of children and older folks as well who are fighting their way back to life and health and loved ones and who are needing the cheer he can give and mankind will be a little better for his having passed this way.

Heavy Poultry Shipments Expected Before Holidays

The De Sota Produce and Creamery company, of Minneapolis, the largest receivers of poultry in the Northwest, have made arrangements thru the Northern Trading company of this city, to load a car of dressed turkeys, ducks and geese at the Soo on Saturday, December 15. Three weeks ago the same firm loaded a car in Thief River Falls and also at Goodridge, Alvarado and Warren. Pennington county poultry producers were paid at that time more than $12,000, only a small portion of the turkey returns. It is estimated that only a small percentage of the turkeys of the county were sold for the Thanksgiving market and it is expected that Christmas shipments will be unusually heavy. About twice as many turkeys are being raised in this community this year as compared with the previous year.

The turkey display at the Poultry and Crops show in this city last week bore evidence to the fact that local producers are improving upon the quality of their birds. It is to be noted that the poultry judge, W. E. Stanfield, stated that it was the best and largest display of turkeys that he had seen anywhere in the state.

O. C. Paulson, local agent of the American Express company, announces that the company is making arrangements to handle the increased consignments of poultry for the Christmas holidays.

Christmas March Was Played by Minister

THE minister had hung up his stocking, too. The sprites that put into it a candy cane, a lollipop, a ball, an apple and a motor car that would go, had added a mouth organ, most appropriate and perhaps most needed of all gifts, for what other mouth should so dispense harmony?

Then, after breakfast, came the procession into the parlor and unto the wonderful tree. First, little Sarah, with the early and aided steps of her one year and the big eyes of her first Christmas tree. Then demure Helen, blowing her own horn for once, then big Sarah and all the uncles, aunts and cousins, then father and mother, and then the minister, playing his new march upon his new organ.

When they were all seated in the happy circle they asked for the words of that new tune and here they are:

If birds could sing in Christmas trees,
If they could hum with happy bees,
If they were sweet with all the spice
Of all things beautiful and nice,
They could not altogether be
More full of love than this, our tree.
Chorus.—March, march to the Christmas tree.
It has a loving gift for thee.

Then they all sang it, after which the beautiful tree yielded its fruit.—Christopher G. Hazard.

Christmas Telegrams Add Yuletide Cheer

HE WAS always busy, always rushing, always hurrying. He always had so many things to attend to and so many people were constantly pressing it upon his time with this demand, with that, which required attention.

He wished he could see more of his friends. His friends wished they could see more of him. He was the sort they would like to see more of and at times they were a little annoyed that he was so busy.

He was busier than was really normal. They said he had no time for the pleasant things of life and that he could neither enjoy things himself nor could he be enjoyed because he was always having so much to do.

But he took time for one thing. He never failed to take time for it.

Every Christmas he sent all his friends beautiful Christmas telegrams of cheer. He thought of them and he remembered them and every Christmas morning as his friends opened their gay Christmas telegrams they would say:

"He always finds time to think of me on Christmas morning, anyway! What a pleasure this is!"—Mary Graham Bonner.

REAL SPIRIT

IF THE real spirit of Christmas is within us we will, indeed, find that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and we will give out of the fullness of our hearts and because of the joy that giving brings us, instead of from any other motive. So to get the real joy of giving and to receive the richness of the Christmas spirit in fullest measure, give because your heart prompts you to and forget all else.—Katherine Edelman.

"It Is More Blessed to Give Than Receive"

THIS has nothing to do with banks or savings accounts; but more money is saved at Christmas time than any other time of the year. Yes, saved. That may sound absurd to a lot of people who have spent all their money buying presents for their families and friends and neighbors, but it is true just the same. How? Why, because giving is the finest sort of saving, and not only saving, but investing. Every good gift is a permanent gain to the giver; it is better than a bank book carrying the same amount, for a gift is more truly a saving than credit account on a bank ledger. If you want to save your money, give it away—wisely. Does that sound unreasonable? Remember, it is more blessed to give than receive.—F. H. Sweet.

AUNT MEHITABLE'S PRESENT

Aunt Mehitable had a powerful and active imagination that often kept her awake. She was ever creating difficulties by imagining them and making things crooked by trying to straighten them out. "Hiram," said she, "I can't think what has got into George; I didn't like the way he looked at us this morning."

"Probably he was thinking of somebody else," answered her brother.

"George," began his aunt the next day, "what was the matter with you yesterday morning, you looked sourer 'n pickles."

"Nothin' was the matter with me," said the boy, "I was puzzlin' over your Christmas present." Then he added, "Since you're so mighty suspicious, I guess I'll give it up." But remembering her goodness of heart, George relented, and, when the day that shines away all unpleasantness came round, Aunt Mehitable had a new nightcap!—C. G. Hazard.

What He Intended.

"My dear," said the newly-married man to his wife, "where did all these books on astronomy come from? They are not ours."

"A pleasant little surprise for you," remarked his wife. "You know, my dear, you said this morning that we should study astronomy; and so I went to the booksellers and bought everything I could get on the subject."

It was some minutes before he spoke.

"My dear," he said then, his voice strong with emotion, "I never said we must study astronomy; I said we must study economy."

RED CROSS PLANS FOR COMING YEAR

Over $2,000,000 in Fund for War Sufferers—National Budget Is $5,543,077.

AID TO VETERANS STANDS FIRST

Expended $9,738,448 in Services to Mankind Last Year at Home and Abroad.

Washington.—With a budget of $5,543,077.81 for carrying out the program of service during the current fiscal year, beginning July 1, the American Red Cross announces that this amount was $4,195,370.41 less than was expended during the fiscal year ended last June 30. During that year expenditures reached a total of $9,738,448.22, of which amount $2,605,696.09 was devoted to relief of refugees in Greece who had been driven out of Asia Minor. In announcing the budget for the year, the statement from National Headquarters emphasized the fact that its extensive work at home and abroad depends almost wholly upon the nation-wide support of the organization through enrollment of membership in large numbers during the annual roll call, which will be in progress from November 11 to November 29 under the auspices of the 3,600 Chapters in the United States and throughout the world. These Chapters, it is pointed out, during the last fiscal year expended of their own funds approximately $3,920,000 in work for the men who wore the United States uniform during the World War, so that the estimate of some $15,000,000 expended during twelve months by the American Red Cross as a whole is considered conservative.

Soldier Service Stands First

From July 1, 1917, to June 30, 1923, the American Red Cross spent nationally and through its Chapters close to $161,000,000 in behalf of American soldiers who served in the war and their families. During last year the figure alone mounted to more than $5,866,255, and for the current fiscal year National Headquarters has set aside under the heading, "Assistance to Disabled ex-Service Men and Women," $2,065,834.20. The Chapters will continue to do their part, so that it may be predicted with confidence that again more than $5,500,000 will be disbursed in the large variety of services to the disabled men and women and their families—services for which the Government cannot provide and which reach the individual case with the sympathy and understanding only actual contact can insure. This work of the American Red Cross approaches the fifth anniversary of the Armistice, which ended the World War with only slight decrease in calls for service in the interest of the welfare and rehabilitation of those who suffered physical disability in the service of their country.

In the interest of the enlisted men serving in the Army and the Navy the budget provides $309,020 for the current year. This is obligatory under the Red Cross charter, for the organization must act in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people and their Army and Navy.

Domestic Program Extensive

The domestic operations of the American Red Cross comprise an accurate indicator of the continuing calls for expansion in all the established and authorized services. The budget aggregates $4,636,449.70, as against expenditures during the last year of $4,452,066.20. The abnormal demands in the foreign field in the last several years, however, have largely subsided, and in consequence $906,628.11 has been set for the 1923-24 budget under foreign operations. On this amount $394,303.91 is set aside for engagements which will close the work for the refugees in Greece, for whose amelioration $2,605,696.09 was expended up to June 30, when the American Red Cross withdrew, and the work was taken over under the control of the Greek government. For liquidation and completion of general relief in Europe the budget provides $100,000, and for American Junior Red Cross projects, foreign and insular, and assistance to Chapters listed under foreign operations.

Ready for Emergency Calls

The readiness of the American Red Cross to answer immediately with effective service in cases of emergency is an outstanding feature of its program that is universally recognized. During last year $525,000 was spent for relief in 110 disasters, which was $207,500 in excess of budget provisions. This year $400,000 has been appropriated for this service. Since 1881 the Red Cross has administered more than $20,000,000 in relief work following disasters.

Other budget items in the schedule for domestic operations include $1,282,524.20 for service and assistance to the 3,600 Chapters and their Branches; $80,000 for assistance to other organizations, particularly stressing child health activities; $194,600 for Junior Red Cross projects and service; $10,824.20 for assistance to Nurses' Training Schools, and for other activities $111,456.60. For supervision of service activities and general management of the entire American Red Cross less than $225,000 is allotted.

At Christmas Time

AT Christmas time so hallowed are
The hearts and beautiful and fair,
Lord threading all the wonder through,
We almost dwell upon a star
And hear the lovely music there,
We tread a thousand pathways new.

It seems enough of loveliness,
Of color and of beauty be
Before our eyes this season bright
To lure and bring us happiness
The long year through, with melody
And laughter sweet and long delight.

For there's remembrance in it all,
It's centered up in this beauteous word,
Just as in Bethlehem was born
The Babe, our glad hearts to enthrall
In dear remembrance of the Lord
And His great love that Christmas morn.

Ring out, O Christmas bells, upon
The air in caroling most sweet
The tale of peace, good will to men,
Of kindliness, and rapture won
Through gifts of pure regard repeat,
That gladness fill the world again.

Junior Red Cross Spreads Good Will Throughout World

Nearly 6,000,000 pupils in the schools of America are following the standard of unselfish service as members of the American Junior Red Cross, the annual report of the American Red Cross discloses. This valiant host is represented in 125,072 school rooms of 21,259 schools throughout the United States. With a service program that is local, national and international in scope, the American Junior Red Cross is working unfalteringly for health and happiness and in the promotion of activities among boys and girls wherever there is opportunity for usefulness.

Increased activity on the part of the schools enrolled and deeper recognition by school authorities of the educational values of Junior Red Cross have been significant features of the last year. Carrying on educational and relief work in France, Poland, Austria, Hungary, Jugoslavia, Albania, Bulgaria and Rumania, the American Juniors have influenced the forming of Junior departments in the Red Cross organizations of these countries. American boys and girls wearing the "I Serve" button of the Juniors are proving apt messengers of the spirit of good will and mutual understanding through correspondence with pupils in schools scattered throughout the world. At the close of the school year in June 2,009 schools were engaged in correspondence with a like number of schools in Europe; 284 schools in our insular possessions and Alaska territory carried on an exchange of letters with schools in the United States and South Africa. In fact, nearly 2,700 schools with probably 100,000 pupils were busy in this fine act of cheerful communication, while 8,347 articles passed through National Headquarters of the Red Cross in exchanges between the interested pupils here and overseas. An incident of the year's advance was the beginning of activity which will eventually install Junior Red Cross in the Indian schools of the United States.

From every section of the country reports of the tour of the unit of crippled children with their chorus which came from the Bakule school in Prague, Czechoslovakia, to show gratitude to the American Juniors for their assistance declare that nothing since the World War has done so much to awaken the Red Cross spirit in the communities visited by the unit.

The work of the American Juniors in foreign fields is emphasized in the advancement of playgrounds, scholarships in farm, trade and other schools, community and school garden work, and donations of cash and equipment to children's organizations. In these projects $112,660.17 was spent during the last year in ten European countries, in China and in the Virgin Islands.

"It is inconceivable that the Red Cross could have come thus far only to retreat; that it could have succeeded up to the present time only to fail."—President Coolidge.

Liberal to Ex-Service Men

Over $1,000 was expended by each of the 3,600 American Red Cross Chapters in the past year in behalf of disabled ex-service men. The actual total spent was $3,930,000.

Many Counties Awaken To U Hospital Chance

A marked increase in the number of indigent patients sent to the University of Minnesota hospital by county commissioners, under the arrangement whereby the state pays half of the expense has taken place since the law was amended last spring, Dean E. P. Lyon of the medical school has announced. Prior to the amendment, patients were recommended for admission by the judges of probate.

"If some counties have profited more than others, it is merely because they have been alert enough to see the advantage in sending patients under the new act," Dean Lyon said. "Inside its capacity of 200 beds the University hospital will take patients whom the county commissioners will certify to be worthy of the state and county support while in hospital. Any town or county official may recommend that a patient be sent to the university. The commissioner then will have a medical examination made and will ascertain the patient's financial condition. If both show the need of action under this law, the patient may be sent to the hospital."

The university hospital will not take mental cases, persons with acute tuberculosis, orthopoedic cases, contagious diseases, nor chronic cases which will not be relieved by treatment over a definite period.

Persons capable of self support may be admitted to the university hospital on payments of the hospital fee only, the professional services being rendered by members of the university staff.

Farm Bureau Is Bigger Than Ever

The American Farm Bureau Federation this year has 29,099 more paid members than it had last, according to an official audit of its books, just completed.

It Pays the Young Farmer.

"In dollars how much does education increase the earning capacity of the young farmer?" is a question asked by the U. S. Bureau of Education. Some of the State Agricultural Colleges are publishing figures in answer to this question.

The Georgia Agricultural College collected the facts from 1,271 farmers of that State and found that those who had no schooling earned on an average of only $240 a year, those with a good common school education earned $565 a year and those who had completed a high school course earned an average of $664. The men who had completed an agricultural short course earned $898 and those who had graduated from the agricultural college where earning an average of $1,254 a year.

The Kansas Agricultural College had 1,237 reports. The average young farmer with a common school education earned $442 a year, the high school graduate $554. The men who had taken the short course in agriculture earned an average of $859 a year, and the college graduate $1,452.

A Prescription

If you are poor—work.
If you are rich—continue to work.
If you are burdened with seemingly unfair responsibilities—work.
If you are happy—keep right on working. Idleness gives room for doubts and fears.
If disappointments come—work.
If sorrow overwhelms you and loved ones seem not true—work.
When faith falters and reason fails—just work.
When dreams are shattered and hope seems dead—work. Work as if your life were in peril. It really is.
No matter what ails you, work. Work faithfully—work with faith.
Work is the greatest material remedy available.
Work will cure both mental and physical afflictions.—Silent Partner.

Waldal in Potato Drive In Roseau Co. This Week

Marius Waldal, vice chairman of the state organization committee of the Potato Exchange, was in the city last Thursday on his way to Roseau county where he is conducting a series of meetings in the interest of the state co-operative marketing organization. During the past couple of months Mr. Waldal has held meetings and organized in Douglas, Ottertail and other counties in that section of the state and reports much progress in the campaign. He stated that nowhere have the business men co-operated with the growers in the effort to secure an effective state organization as they have in this section. The intense drive sponsored by the merchants of Thief River Falls and other Pennington county towns was largely responsible for Pennington going over the top as it did. Marshall county signed up its quota a short time ago and according to Mr. Waldal Roseau is expected to secure the necessary acreage in the near future.

Mr. Waldal is performing much effective work in his activities in the interest of co-operative marketing of farm products.

Professional Bridesmaid.

"So that girl?" asked Brown.

"Yes, I see her. What about her?" returned Jones.

"That girl has been bridesmaid at more than two hundred weddings," said Brown.

"Gosh, she must keep her father poor. The only time my daughter was a bridesmaid, what with flowers, trinkets and flummery, it cost me three hundred plunks."

"It has never cost this girl's father a cent," insisted Brown.

"Spring the solution. I don't begin to get it."

"It is simple enough. She is an assistant in the office of the marriage license clerk."

MINNESOTA EGGS TOP CALIFORNIA

Co-operative Shipments From Rice County Bring 2 Cents A Dozen More.

Minnesota eggs, shipped co-operatively through the Rice County Egg and Poultry Marketing association recently sold for 2 cents a dozen more than similar products from California, when sold at auction on the New York market.

"This shows what the Minnesota hen will do, if given an opportunity through co-operative marketing," said W. J. Corwin, who is acting as organization manager for the state egg marketing committee, of which J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, is chairman. California eggs, marketed by the farmers' organization in that state, long have been rated the best that reach New York.

While there is but one egg marketing district in Minnesota, in Rice county and vicinity, that is functioning, 14 district committees have gone over the plan and decided to incorporate and put on membership drives. Sign-up campaigns have been pushed in three districts.

The Rice county association has been remarkably successful in handling turkeys. Their sales will net the producer about 40 cents a pound, while the local market hovered around 30 to 32 cents.

Pooled Wool Sells At 44 and 48 Cents

The Wabasha sales department of the Minnesota Co-operative Wool Marketing association last week sold 60,000 pounds of quarter and three-eighths blood wool, according to Alex Huddleston of Wabasha, president. The quarter blood sold for 44 cents and the three-eighths for 48 cents. These prices are the result of the Pool Manager R. E. Jones having held his supplies for a stronger market than that which prevailed during the summer and fall months. Prices obtained are 4 to 8 cents higher then the best offers made by buyers at the clipping season last spring. The pool, moreover, served to materially strengthen prices that speculators were obliged to pay in order to get such supplies as were sold outside the association.

Minnesota Dairy Checks Could Buy Out Its Banks

Minnesota farmers could buy out every bank and trust company in the state if they pooled their milk and cream checks, according to a declaration by E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture made in Minneapolis recently. The total valuation of dairy products in 1922 was $142,372,329, enough, he said, to buy out the banks and still have about ten million dollars to spare.

Mr. Meredith urged Minneapolis business men to see that the farmer gets a square deal because, he said, on the prosperity of agriculture depends the prosperity of business in general.

Hunters To Canada

Hundreds of Minnesota sportsmen are arranging to go to Manitoba during the season which opened for big game Dec. 1. According to Canadian government officials many inquiries regarding licenses are received from American hunters. Changes in game laws in Minnesota for the conservation of big game prohibit the shooting of deer every other year, leaving Manitoba and northern Ontario practically the only big game districts easily accessible and as a consequent a greater movement northward will take place this year than any other previous year.

Warren Physician to Coast.

Dr. W. W. Holley, a member of the Warren hospital staff for a year and a half, accompanied by his wife left last week for Grand Forks enroute to California, where they will make their future home. Dr. Holley's departure followed his resignation from the hospital. He will be succeeded by Dr. Geo. Milan of this city, who recently resigned as superintendent of the Oakland Park sanatorium, and expects to make the change in location the first of the year.

TWO INJURED WHEN CAR TURNS TURTLE ON CORNER MONDAY

Ole J. Westman of Roseau in Critical Condition as Result Of Auto Mishap.

One man was seriously injured and another received body bruises in an automobile accident on the new graveled road east of the city Friday when the car in which they were riding overturned at the first turn on the east end of Bridge street.

The car, driven by Ole Skoglund of Roseau and carrying his nephew, Emil Skoglund of Roseau and brother-in-law, Ole J. Westman of Viking, was being driven at what was said to be a moderately high rate of speed when the driver noticed the car coming too near the ditch on the right. In his effort to clear the ditch he swung the car too quickly and overturned, angling crosswise of the road and upside down. Westman and Emil Skoglund were thrown from the car at the first impulse and as the car overturned struck Westman, pinning him beneath the back of the seat. The driver remained at his seat and escaped any injury.

Edward Grundhaus residing three miles southeast of this city, was the first to arrive on the scene. Altho none of the men were totally unconscious, Westman was so badly injured as to render him helpless and Emil Skoglund was severely injured. Drs. Swedenburg and Guilmette of the Swedenburg hospital were summoned and the patients brought to the hospital by Grundhaus.

Ole Westman, on examination, was believed to have sustained a fractured skull, the lower jaw was broken and he suffered greatly from loss of blood. Emil Skoglund suffered severe pains about the chest and it is believed that ribs were fractured. Ole Skoglund, the driver, sustained no injuries. He was not thrown from the car. When the car stopped, in its inverted position, he crawled out from under it.

Westman's condition is critical. He suffers much pain and while he has never been totally unconscious, he can make himself plainly understood only at times. Ole Skoglund is out of danger but will be confined to his bed for some time yet. They are both at the Swedenburg hospital.

The car was brought to a local garage in a badly damaged condition.

RED CROSS DRIVE NETS SUM OF $270

Returns From Roll Call To Date Show Total Nearly Equal to The Previous Year's.

Thief River Falls responded satisfactorily to the Red Cross drive which closed recently, according to report by Mrs. J. N. Nesse, chairman of the Pennington county roll call. A total of $240 has been reported to date, of which amount the residents of this city contributed $230, and Goodridge $10.50. Mrs. Wm. Vaughn was in charge of solicitations at Goodridge. Six of the auxiliaries are still to be heard from and Chairman Nesse urges those in charge of outside branches to send in their report at once. It is likely that the final total will be $300. Last year the total was $287. The largest number of members was secured by Mrs. Anna Kretzschmar who solicited $82 in the city.

A portion of the sum collected in the county will be sent to national headquarters while the remainder will be used for local relief.

The chairman regards the showing made as good when general conditions are considered and asks that her appreciation be expressed to all those who in any manner assisted in making the drive a success.

Purchases Fine Team

Theodore Lee, driver for the city fire department, recently closed a deal for a splendid team of young horses which were raised by Jens Letness, north of the city. The animals are two-year olds, iron greys, weighing about 3,000 pounds. They are the offspring of "John H," famous stallion owned by the North-Silverton Horse company.

Driver Lee states that the team already responds very rapidly to the signals, being put thru their paces daily in order to put them in first class condition.

Cameron Hay Passes

Cameron Hay, 21-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hay of St. Paul, formerly residents of this city where Mr. Hay was superintendent of the city schools for many years, died at his home, 1623 Selby avenue, St. Paul, Monday morning. The funeral services were held from the house yesterday, Wednesday afternoon, and interment made in Midway. He is survived by his parents and one sister, Miss Marguerite Jean Hay, known to Thief River Falls residents as Miss Jean Hay. Charles Nason of this city is a brother of Mrs. J. H. Hay.

Christmas Eve

One word, ere yet the evening ends,
Let's close it with a parting rhyme,
And pledge a hand to all young friends,
As fits the merry Christmas-time.
On life's wide scene you, too, have parts,
That fate ere long shall bid you play;
Good-night! With honest, gentle hearts
A kindly greeting go alway!

* * *

Come wealth or want, come good or ill,
Let young and old accept their part,
And bow before the Awful Will,
And bear it with an honest heart.
Who misses or who wins the prize,
Go, lose or conquer as you can;
But if you fail, or if you rise,
Be each, pray God, a gentleman.

A gentleman, or old or young!
(Bear kindly with my humble lays)
The sacred chorus first was sung
Upon the first of Christmas days;
The shepherds heard it overhead;
The joyful angels raised it then:
Glory to God on high, it said,
And peace on earth to gentle men.

My song, save this, is little worth;
I lay the weary pen aside,
And wish you health, and love, and mirth,
As fits the solemn Christmas-tide.
As fits the holy Christmas birth,
Be this, good friends, our carol still:
Be peace on earth, be peace on earth,
To men of gentle will.

HIGH SCHOOL QUINT TO MEET CITY TEAM

Local Basketeers Will Clash In Game at Auditorium Saturday Evening, Dec. 15.

The season's second basketball game in Thief River Falls will be played Saturday evening, this week, when the high school boys will clash with an aggregation known as the City team, composed of a group of local citizens most of whom are well known to local basket ball fans. Coach Thune, who is a first class basketball man, is rapidly getting the high school quint into good shape and their work last night in their contest with Middle River displayed considerable ability among the members of the team.

The lineup of the City team will be picked from the following who have been out for practice the past couple of weeks: Roy Brown, Stanley Sorenson, Charles Herron, "Slim" Wilson, Charles Warner, Ray Kiland, Milford LaBree, Morris Bye and Coach Thune. Plans are being made for an active season, the intentions being to put a strong outfit in the field. Requests for games have already been made by various cities in the state.

Coach Thune was an all state basket ball player during his high school years and later in the South Dakota college conference while a student at the state teachers' college. He is a whirlwind with the ball and the other members of the squad as well are also known for their ability in making connections with the basket.

Local fans who turn out for Saturday's tussle will be assured of a fast and live game. The admission charge will be only 10 and 25 cents, the game to take place at the auditorium.

REMARKABLE SAVINGS FIGURES

Remarkable progress in the savings habit in the United States is shown in figures presented to the recent convention of the American Bankers Association by Samuel H. Beach, president of its Savings Bank Division.

In 1921, Mr. Beach showed, twenty six million people had savings accounts aggregating $16,618,596,000. In 1922, there was an increase of over four per cent, bringing the aggregate up to $17,300,000,000. Similar statistics for 1912 showed that the aggregate was only about half as much as in 1922 or only $8,433,000,000.

Mr Beach's report on school savings banking showed that practically two million pupils are now participating in school banking systems, an increase of 34 per cent as compared with last year and 58 per cent as compared with 1921, while the total of the actual amount deposited last year was $9,618,000, as compared with $5,775,000 in 1921 and $2,800,000 in 1920, an increase of nearly 240 per cent in three years.

DR MILAN ATTENDS MEETING OF STATE SANATORIUM ASS'N.

Many Matters of Importance Taken Up At St. Paul Gathering Last Week.

Dr. M. Geo. Milan, medical director and superintendent of the Oakland Park sanatorium and president of the Minnesota Sanatorium association, attended the semi-annual meeting of that organization in St. Paul Thursday of last week. Medical directors and superintendents of the sanatoriums thruout the state as well as members of the sanatorium and advisory commissions of the state were in attendance.

Many matters of importance were considered, an extensive program having been arranged for the three sessions. The matter of establishing a comprehensive health course in the schools of the state was considered. Mr. Everts, of the state department of education, spoke on what is being done now along this line, the association backing the movement very heartily.

Donald Robertson, of Argyle, member of the Oakland Park sanatorium board, acted as toastmaster at a banquet given at the Minnesota club. Louis Sandstrom of Roseau was also in attendance and presented to the society a paper on "The Needs—Present and Future—of Expansion of Sanatoriums in Minnesota."

Dr. Milan, who is one of the foremost lung specialists in the state and heads the association, presided over the meeting and discussed various topics.

Nothing definite has been done regarding the selection of a successor to Dr. Milan for the local institution as yet, according to statement made to The Times yesterday. It is expected, however, that some action will be taken by the state commission in the near future.

Driver Pinned Under Car In Tipover—Not Injured

William Rud, farmer in Agder township, while on his way to this city yesterday in a car had the misfortune of tipping over but escaped any injuries, according to information received by The Times. He was pinned under the car which turned over into the ditch, but was able to release himself immediately. The slippery condition of the road caused the car to slide to the side.

WHERE THE RAINBOW TOUCHES THE GROUND

THE family cat died. The farmer who owned the cat, in digging the grave discovered a substance which proved to be marl. This farmer had been hauling limestone a long distance for his alfalfa fields. In conference with his county agent, he discovered that marl would take the place of lime in correcting the acidity of his soil. This experience led him to the use of marl that existed on his own farm and saved him much time and considerable expense in hauling.

Similar opportunities have existed and still exist. Many farmers in the middle west will recall what a pest sweet clover used to be. Now this pest is being used profitably as hay and pasture for livestock and as a crop to be plowed under for increasing the fertility of the soil.

Kansas is called the "Sunflower State" and those who have lived there will well remember how they have fought this weed. Today sunflowers are being grown as a crop, as feed for chickens and it is also being utilized with or without corn as a suitable crop for the silo.

It is surprising to discover how many things which were frowned upon in days gone by are now serving a useful purpose. These changes have been brought about by observation and study. Brains count on the farm as elsewhere. The man who thinks while he is performing physical work is not only opening up the way for larger profits but he is removing the word drudgery from his vocabulary and is transforming what used to be a drudgery into a profitable pleasure.

FORMER RESIDENTS GATHER IN BANQUET

About 90 People in Attendance At Second Annual Banquet Of T. R. F.-Twin City Club

More than ninety former Pennington county residents gathered at the Minnesota Union on the University Campus, Minneapolis, to celebrate the second annual banquet of the Thief River Fallls-Twin City club, last Friday evening.

Following is an account of the affair as related by an officer of the club: "Dinner was served at seven o'clock to some ninety people, during which a program of brief talks was given, Glenn Anderson, student at the University, officiating. Lee Ihle, also U student and president of the club, bid the old and prospective members welcome, explaining the purposes of the club and thanking members for their co-operation in making the banquet a success. Miss Effie Hamry, formerly connected with the Farmers and Merchants State bank and now in the farm loans department of the state in St. Paul, expressed briefly the pleasure she experienced in being present and having the opportunity of meeting old friends and acquaintances. D. P. O'Neill, also well known former Thief River Falls resident, related various things regarding the home town. He was followed by Miss Goodwin, a former instructor and dramatic coach at the Thief River Falls high school. Miss Goodwin told of how she enjoyed the time she spent there and the pleasures of meeting Thief Riverites again, in spite of the fact that she did not know them all. She told of how responsible positions were being taken thruout the state by various former residents of Thief River Falls. J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture, concluded the program by telling of his trip home last week and how he looked forward to getting together with his former townspeople. He expressed himself much in favor of arranging for a series of parties during the coming winter months.

Following the dinner and program, the evening was spent in dancing, a splendid five-piece orchestra furnishing the music for the program of sixteen dances. All in all the banquet was a decided success.

"A pleasing fact was that there were about fifteen more people at this year's gathering than last year, many of them new faces. Out of town guests were: W. A. Hall, Leland Knight and Lloyd Lonson, who were in the cities at that time. They expressed themselves as being greatly interested in the club work. Anyone wishing to get in touch with the club may do so thru its officers."

"Are You A Failure" Film Coming To Princess Friday

Everybody has hidden somewhere in his brain the ambition to act, whether he be a millionaire or a Chinese cook. It was so with the lumberjacks who appear in the river scenes in "Are You a Failure?" the Preferred Picture appearing at the Princess theatre Friday and Saturday.

When Tom Forman, the famous director, wanted men to appear who could swing a cant-hook and a pike he got shy but eager applications from all the men in the camp.

"Thank you, fellows," said Mr. Forman. "And now, if you'll put on a makeup, we'll go."

"Makeup?!!" went a dismayed whisper. "What's makeup?" And all of the husky lumbermen began to pale under their three weeks' growth of beard.

Lloyd Hughes, who plays the lead, laughingly explained that all they needed was a little grease-paint and a dab with the powderpuff. At the word powder-puff these good strong men began gently to wilt into the shadows, and remember appointments somewhere else. Seeing that a crisis was imminent, and that he probably would lose every man he had, Forman quickly called Madge Bellamy, the charming little girl who plays opposite Hughes, and asked her to try and pacify them.

"I'll make them up myself!" cried little Miss Bellamy. One look into the captivating eyes of Madge, and each lumberman sat quietly in a chair, and allowed himself to be made up. And from shying at the sound of the word powder-puff, they were finding little flaws in their makeup which, of course, required the attention of Miss Bellamy again.

Attends Welfare Conference.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop returned Friday from Bemidji where she attended a regional conference of Child Welfare boards of seven counties. Mrs. Bishop is chairman of the region comprising all the counties in this section of the state.

Mrs. Bishop reports a very successful meeting, much interest being shown and much valuable information being derived from the various sessions. While in Bemidji Mrs. Bishop addressed a gathering of the Kiwanis club at a noon luncheon and also a public meeting Thursday evening, discussing various problems of child welfare work and how it can be made more effective in its operation by the co-operation of the public. She presided at the afternoon session.

PUBLIC'S PART IN DESTROYING DREAD DISEASE OF CANCER

Kill The Weed and Save The Field—Destroy Cancer and Save Health of Nation

Did you ever know a successful farmer who hesitated to get rid of the vicious, spreading weeds that take root in his fields?

Certainly not!

And why not?

Because the farmer well knows that the weeds are hardier and of more rapid growth than his cultivated plants that if not removed before they have had time to extend their roots, his crops, robbed of their nourishment, will wither and die, victims of the invaders.

The weed of the tilled field has a counterpart in the human body. Its name is cancer. As does the weed of the field, this outlaw growth starts in a small and inconspicious way and in the beginning gives slight warning of its presence.

Left to itself, cancer eventually becomes distributed throughout the body and lives at the body's expense. If not removed in time, it overgrows the normal healthy life in its vicinity and causes the death of its victim—as the weed destroys the farmer's valuable crops.

What is to be done about it?

Treat the cancer as the farmer treats the weeds. He deals with them promptly. To deal with them successfully, he must recognize the weeds in their earliest state. To certainly eliminate cancer it is necessary to recognize it on its first appearance.

It therefore becomes important to know the symptoms of cancer that the treatment may be given in time.

What is cancer? you ask.

1. An obstinate sore upon the surface of the body, particularly if it is about the mouth, tongue or lips.

2. A mole, wart or similar skin defect, which becomes irritated or changes in shape, appearance or size.

3. An abnormal discharge, from one of the orifices of the body, particularly if tinged with blood, or an irregular or profuse bleeding.

4. A lump or swelling in the breast.

A cancer may be indicated by continued pain or even slight discomfort in the upper abdomen, particularly if aggravated by the taking of food;—a condition usually described as "dyspepsia" or "indigestion." It may produce increasing and continued constipation or abnormal sensations in the rectum, or cause changes in the appetite; particularly, a sudden aversion to meat, or may, at first, cause only rapid loss of weight.

These may be, and often are, symptoms of something beside cancer, but they are danger signals and you had best find out what they are. They show the absolute necessity of a thorough examination by a competent physician, especially if you are more than thirty-five years of age, for it is after this age that cancer takes its greatest toll.

Remember that great loss of weight and changes in complexion and appearance of the skin are usually later symptoms of cancer—generally indicative of cancer in the incurable stages. Act before you get these symptoms. The message of the American society for the Control of Cancer is one of hope. The society teaches that.

(a) Cancer itself is not inherited.

(b) Cancer is not communicable or in any way contagious.

(c) Cancer in the beginning is not a general disease.

(d) Early cancer is local and can often be removed successfully or treated by radiation.

Need of Spiritual Work In Timber Section of State, Says Missionery Williver

James P. Williver, traveling missionery of northern Minnesota and editor of "The Searchlight," a quarterly magazine published at Virginia, was in Thief River Falls last week, addresing an audience at the Free church on Thursday evening. Mr. Williver is on a speaking tour thru this section and left on Friday for Backus to attend a bible conference at that place.

Mr. Williver, who has been engaged in missionery work in the Northern Minnesota frontiers particularily thru the timber section, for the past thirty years, spoke of the conditions of the field, the lack of evangelization and need of spiritual activities. He cited a number of incidents from communities in the timber section where there are no churches and no religious work being carried on. He stated that workers who have entered such sections for the purpose of building up churches and getting religious work started, have often met with many difficulties and obstacles. He maintained that concentrated efforts at certain points, are necessary to bring results instead of extending the activities over a large territory with but a small force of workers.

Half of Autos In State Take $12 Tax Next Year

Fully half the automobiles in Minnesota will take the $12 tax minimum under new 1924 schedules effective Jan. 1. A large number in the remaining half will be taxed not to exceed $15 each.

The average tax on automobiles will be $15.82. Greatly increased rates on trucks and busses will bring the general average on motor vehicles up to $16.44—just $1.56 less than the $18 figure agreed to in Good Roads Amendment No. 1, and only 25 cents above the average this year.

The forecast is by the expert who prepared the new schedule adopted by the legislature and who is regarded as the highest authority on motor vehicle tax rates in the state.

R. L. F. Place Raided

On complaint of County Attorney Chas. E. Boughton, Jr., Sheriff Chas. Fellman and Chief of Police Tom Martell raided the soft drink parlor run by Francis Fabro Tuesday last week and secured a glass jar and a quart bottle containing a small quantity of liquor. Febro was arrested for possessing liquor potable as a beverage, for sale. His case has been adjourned pending good behavior.

The Old Man's Christmas Shop

James Whitcomb Riley

YES, I hear you, Miss Jolly-go-romp,
Calling me to come:
"Look at the wonderful Jack-in-box,
And oh, what a dandy drum!
See all the beautiful Chinese dolls,
And yonder's a dancing bear!
There's nothing like it in all the world
There couldn't be—anywhere!"

Your eyes are bright, Miss Jolly-go-romp,
It's thrilling, I can't deny,
But you should have seen the Christmas shop
I knew in the days gone by.
'Twas not so large, Miss Jolly-go-romp
As the toyshops are today,
But oh, it was more mys-ter-i-ous,
The colors were far more gay!

And the Toyshop Man, Miss Jolly-go-romp,
What a quizzical way he had!
He knew all the children for miles around,
Could tell all the good from the bad.
But what was the queerest of all to me
Was how he could tell, some way,
The things you wanted old Santa to bring
To your house Christmas Day.

Let's you and I, Miss Jolly-go-romp,
Play I am the Toyshop Man,
While you—well, you're Miss Jolly-go-romp
With many a secret plan.
And the secrets—oh, they mustn't get out!—
They're sacred as troth could be,
But being the Toyshop Man, of course,
You whis-s-s-per them all to me!

Education Week Programs This Year More Effective Than Those Held Formerly

The observance of American Education Week this year surpassed all previous years in effectiveness, according to an announcement of the Department of the Interior through the Bureau of Education. The movement swept the entire nation, from the largest centers of population to the most remote villages and hamlets.

Churches, clubs, newspapers, theaters, and other organizations joined in with the schools in a way they have not co-operated before and made the week an actual intensified campaign for better knowledge about schools. Some states put on a statewide program, and most of the cities had their own plans, though all of these patterned their observance upon the national program.

President Coolidge's proclamation was printed in whole or part in practically every newspaper in the country and was given much prominence outside the daily press. The press responded with special educational editions, editorials, and information in their columns based largely upon the facts sent out by the Bureau of Education.

More than a million sermons and addresses were delivered upon the subject of education during the week. The response of the churches was much greater than has been the case in previous years. Clubs of all kinds, particularly noon-day luncheon clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, and others, were notably active in the campaign. A new feature of the week's observance this year was the active participation of the motion picture theaters of the country who were liberal in permitting information about education on their screens.

The observances in Thief River Falls and thruout Pennington county this year were more instructive and inspiring than ever before. A large number of parents visited the schools during the week and special programs were conducted in the various buildings and districts. The talks given at the local theatre helped greatly in placing the More and Better Education program before the public, and the parade staged in this city, in which about 1600 children took part, was the most impressive feature of any Educational Week that has ever been celebrated in Thief River Falls. It showed clearly the magnitude of the city's school system.

It is too early yet to estimate the definite accomplishments of the week in the way of bond issues, new schools, and new projects originating from or carried through by the drive, but it is certain that the concrete results will surpass anything in a similar period of time in the history of education in America.

Narrow Escape in Tip-over.

H. M. Magneson and E. J. Sheldrew of Grygla were among the Marshall county representatives at the dairymen's convention at Crookston last week. A son of Mr. Sheldrew is a student at the Northwest School of Agriculture. On their return from Crookston they met with an accident when about 13 miles east of that city they collided with another car. It happened at dusk when they met two cars and turning a reasonable distance to the side were about to pass the first car when they were hit by the second car. The driver of the second car was about to pass the car ahead and did not notice the Magneson auto which was without lights. The latter machine was struck in the front wheel and tipped over into the ditch, but fortunately no one was injured, according to the Grygla Eagle. The Grygla men were taken back to Crookston for repairs for the car, one wheel of which was broken.

Rural Teachers Should Secure Used Magazines Distributed at Library

Now is the time for the teacher to make the very best use of the rural school library. It is useless to expect much reading in rural communities during the active farming months but in the long evenings of winter there are two or three hours after supper that country folks have for leisure. Parents and children will welcome good books and magazines. The many fine books of animal stories are especially interesting and appropriate now. The hunting seasons are on and through the natural interest roused in wild life, there is an opportunity to teach the boys and girls about the animals of their own and other countries, kindness to all folk of forest and field, and a better way of treating our wild friends than killing them.

The holiday seasons bring with them special and charming editions of old books that will tempt children to read when they otherwise would not, as well as large numbers of new and worthwhile books and stories. In the winter, too, the Congress is usually in session and people's minds are more easily turned toward questions of national and state-wide interest. There is better opportunity to teach good citizenship, patriotism, and loyalty through well-selected timely articles on current thought and movements. Moreover, in rural sections such local governmental activities as grand jury and town meetings, sessions of county courts, and meetings of tax-levying bodies are usually held in the winter months when the farmers are not so busy, and the rural library may be well used to give help and information along these lines of civic duty.

A splendid opportunity for obtaining extra reading material is afforded by the Carnegie Library in Thief River Falls. A movement has been started to get all those who have magazines and other reading material, no longer of any value to themselves, to dispose of such material at the library where it will be distributed. A large quantity has been turned in and the rural communities are urged to inquire at the library for bundles containing magazines and periodicals of all kinds.

Teachers in rural districts should avail themselves of this opportunity of placing a large amount of current literature before the pupils at no cost whatsoever. It can be had for the asking.

HAS WORLD WAR DESTROYED OLD FAMILY IDEALS

Gloria Swanson Answers Question in Picture, "Prodigal Daughters" Sun. and Mon.

Do present day girls enjoy too much freedom? Has the World War destroyed cherished ideals of family and home? These are questions answered in "Prodigal Daughters" a new Sam Wood Paramount picture production, starring Gloria Swanson, which will be shown at the Princess theatre Sunday and Monday.

Miss Swanson plays "Swiftie" Forbes, one of two daughters of a locomotive manufacturer enriched by the world war and who is in Europe. She is ultra-emancipated, and her younger sister tries to emulate her in everything. The mother is engaged in renewing her youthful appearance, and the girls enjoy unlimited freedom.

Forbes comes back and finds his household changed. And the girls defy his parential authority. Swiftie leaves to live her own life. Her sister follows and gets married only to find her romance quickly shattered and returns to the home. But Swiftie becomes entangled with a gambler and finally is placed in a position which spells the end. Finally she returns—a prodigal daughter—to find her father waiting to forgive and take her back and a sweetheart ready to wed her.

It is a swift-moving story. The love element is supplied by a young aviator, played by Ralph Graves, who believes in Swiftie even at her worst moments. Theodore Roberts is the father, Vera Reynolds the sister and Louise Dresser the mother.

Ship Many Turkeys.

The following from the Newfolden Review of last week:

"About 20,000 pounds of turkeys have been shipped from here the last two weeks.

"Figuring the average price paid at 30 cents per pound the total would amount to about $6,000.00. This is a nice sum of money when considering that it is only a side line with the farmers. Every farm should have a flock of turkeys as they are as a rule in demand at good prices. The shipments of other poultry will probably total about 15,000 pounds. All successful farmers will agree that their success has not been attained by the raising of only grain, but by diversified farming. Farmers around Newfolden will raise more of the feathered kind next year."

42 Rabbits in One P. M.

Legion Budget For 1924 Is Reduced by Committee

When the Legion State Finance and Executive committee met in St. Paul last week and adopted a budget for 1924, every opportunity to reduce expense was taken advantage of, but while practicing general economy, ample funds were allotted to the work of Americanization and the rehabilitation of disabled comrades. The aim will be to increase the influence for good of The American Legion in Minnesota, both in the community and as a state organization, according to Stafford King, Department Adjutant.

"The 1924 budget of the Minnesota Legion is based on the conservative estimate of 24,000 paid-up members. Present indications point to a much larger membership," according to Adjutant King, who states that at least 30,000 members will be enrolled, which will leave a tidy sum for the department sinking fund. "Prospects for an attractive year were never brighter—with the national adjusted compensation measure calling for the united support of all comrads, with the advent of the national convention in St. Paul next summer, and with the Legion posts throughout the state demonstrating their worth to the community more than ever before," declared the department adjutant of America's foremost state branch of The American Legion.

The committee meeting at St. Paul was attended by Morian Bishop of the Elmer J. Ecklund post of Thief River Falls, who is member of the state executive committee and also chairman of the state finance committee of the Legion, in addition to being one of the leaders in the Ninth district organization.

Kicked By Horse

Albert Busse, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Busse of Brown's Creek, Red Lake county, was knocked unconscious and his jawbone was fractured by a kick from a blind horse, last week. He had gone out to the barn to do the chores and that was the last thing he remembered. Members of the family, missing him, found him stretched out on the stable floor. The horse which inflicted the injuries was shot at sunrise by Albert's father, who said the animal had done enough damage.

Yule

WHEN other wits and other bards,
Their tales at Christmas tell,
Or praise on cheap and colored cards
The time all love so well,
Secure from scorn and ridicule
I hope my verse may be,
If I can still remember Yule,
And Yule remember me.

The days are dark, the days are drear,
When dull December dies,
But, while we mourn one ended year,
Another star will rise.
I hail the season formed by rule
For merriment and glee,
So let me still remember Yule,
And Yule remember me!

The rich plum pudding I enjoy,
I greet the pie of mince,
And, loving both while yet a boy,
Have loved them ever since.
More dull were I than any mule
That eyes did ever see,
If I should not remember Yule,
And Yule remember me!

Every morning I woke up with a terrible pain through my kidneys and my back became weak and lame. It hurt me to stoop or bend and my kidneys acted irregularly. Doan's Kidney Pills fixed me up in good shape."

On Aug. 8, 1921, Mr. Krogstad added: "The cure I received by using Doan's has been permanent."

Marshall Co. War Veteran To Start Poultry Project

The government's efforts at rehabilitating disabled world war veterans has extended into Marshall county. Louis Roseland of Newfolden, who saw about two years of service in France is this fall completing preparations for a poultry project under direction of the United States Veterans bureau and will go into poultry raising next spring when he expects to start incubators.

Mr. Larson, who was a farmer near Newfolden, the son of L. L. Roseland, was sent by the bureau to Fargo last fall to attend a school as part of the government's program in rehabilitating him. Because he was in ill health he was sent to a St. Paul hospital for observation and treatment but later returned to Fargo to continue his school course. Later when he had opportunity to start a poultry farming project for himself he bought a farm about six miles northeast of Newfolden and has spent the summer in getting it in condition for next year.

Mr. Roseland expects to raise Plymouth Rock poultry. He will also operate a general farm in addition. Farmers in the central part of the county are watching the venture with a great deal of interest. Another veteran east of Holt is conducting a similar kind of project, according to Mr. Roseland. A group of veterans at Veteransville near Aitkin are combining school with farming. Government instructors live right in the community with them and give lectures to regular classes while they conduct farming operations.

To pull just everything I need from a good old Dairy Cow.

University Farm's poet laureate bursts into glad song in the 1923 issue of the Minnesota Farmers' Institute Annual which is entitled, "The Dairy Cow," and is just off the press. Dean W. C. Coffey of the University Department of Agriculture, Director F. W. Peck of the agricultural extension service, Dr. C. H. Eckles of the dairy husbandry division and many members of the dairy and extension staffs and leading dairymen of the state have contributed to the 160 pages which constitute the new Annual. Selection, feeding and management along modern lines are emphasized. There are many drawings and illustrations and more important parts of the text are stressed in page and half-page displays. J. M. Drew is managing editor. Copies of the Annual will be forwarded promptly by the Agricultural Extension Division, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn., on receipt of ten cents to defray postage.

County Agent J. J. McCann announces that a large supply of Annuals will be forwarded to his office in this city and that farmers of Pennington county may secure them free of charge by calling for them. It is expected that the books will be available at the local office some time next week.

Mr. McCann also states that he has a number of Alfalfa Annuals for distribution and it is urged that farmers who intend to start the culture of alfalfa get a copy so as to familiarize themselves with the proper methods to be used. It is full of valuable information concerning the right way to grow and harvest alfalfa and should not be passed up by those who wish to increase their knowledge along this line.

Lignite Coal Rates

A Statement by the Railroads

THE railroads are under obligation to give reasonable rates and service to all shippers in the State of North Dakota.

The railroads are under the same obligation to give reasonable rates and service to all shippers in other states.

Discrimination is prohibited by law and it is the duty of the railroads to so adjust rates as to place no undue or unjust burden on any class of shippers.

All railroad rates are under government control. If shippers are dissatisfied they appeal to the State Railroad Commission or the Interstate Commerce Commission and after public hearing proper rates are ordered. If the railroads are dissatisfied they propose new rates giving 30 days notice and if protests are received the Commission suspends the new rates and orders a hearing.

The rates on North Dakota coal are actually and relatively lower than the rates on farm products and they are much lower than the rates charged for transportation of coal in other states as shown by the following comparison of rates, in cents per ton of 2,000 lbs., as now in effect:

	North Dakota Lignite Rates		Montana Coal Rates	Lake Coal Rates from Duluth
	Single Line	Joint Line
For 25 miles	61	73	113	85
50	73	97	124	102
75	85	109	158	128
100	97	122	169	145
200	134	170	225	219
300	182	207	293	286
400	219	231	349	346

The present abnormally low rates on lignite coal are based on rates established in 1918, during the war period and at a time of general coal and transportation shortage when all consumers were required to use coal from the nearest source of supply. The railroads, believing the North Dakota rates to be unreasonably low and unfair to shippers of other commodities, have proposed an increase.

The railroads, having no other way to get an official review of North Dakota coal rates, filed tariffs which named the rates prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the movement of coal from Duluth. The new tariffs have been suspended until April 1st—in the meantime the rates will not be changed and the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Board of Railroad Commissioners of the State of North Dakota will appoint a day and place for a hearing, giving opportunity for presentation of facts and arguments by all concerned.

The most noticeable thing in regard to football this year was the spirit of the school and townspeople. Though the team lost every game, the last one was attended by the largest crowd of the season. This was final proof of the true sportsmanship of Thief River Falls and we hope that this same spirit will not fail us during the basketball season.

We have many reasons to expect a winning team, regardless of the lack of experienced players, for the men are light, fast, and sure shots. If large crowds turned out for a losing football team, how much greater they should be for a winning basketball team.

'PROWLER' CAMPAIGN PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Seniors and Sophomores Will be Guests at Parties Given by Losing Juniors-Freshmen

The 1924 "Prowler" subscription campaign which started Tuesday, Dec. 4, ended December 10.

The number of Prowlers sold by the salesmen from each class was: Seniors, 143; Juniors, 88; Sophomores, 121; Freshmen, 64. Thus the Juniors as losers will be compelled to give a party to the winning Seniors and the Freshmen will have to entertain the victorious Sophomores. The salesman selling the most subscriptions in each class and thereby winning the complimentary "Prowler" was: Esther Lunsetter, Senior, 36; Keith Craik, Junior, 35; Millicent Sweger, Sophomore, 66; Marian Reynolds, Freshman, 22.

The total number of "Prowlers" sold during the campaign amounted to 414. This assures the Senior class that there will be sufficient subscribers to warrant publishing an annual this year. They appreciate the backing and support given them by the students and townspeople and are working very hard to put out a "Prowler" worthy of it.

New Science Book Given Free to School Library

A book entitled, "Science Remaking The World," has been made available free to libraries by an anonymous benefactor. It is composed of thirty lectures given in the summer course at Teacher's College of Columbia University, upon the topic, "Achievements of Modern Science."

The purpose of the volume is to present in attractive and readable form some of the outstanding achievements of modern science. The author and editors of the book have contributed this work merely because of their interest in education and have received no remuneration for their services. As the unknown benefactor has provided only a limited number of copies, the book will be sent to libraries on request only as long as this supply lasts.

One copy of this book will be placed in the high school library for the use of all the students, sometime within the next week or ten days.

Joke Exchange

The Shoe Doesn't Fit

Little Bobby came home crying as if his heart would break and between sobs told his mother that he had been down to his father's store and saw his father drop a keg of nails that lit on his foot.

"Now Bobby," soothed his mother, "that's nothing to cry about. Why if I had seen papa do it I should have laughed."

"Well" cried Bobby, "that's w-w-what I did."

Beech: "Why did you break your engagement with the school teacher?"

Ash: "If I failed to meet her every night she expected me to bring a written excuse signed by my mother."

"Johnny, stop that noise! Didn't I tell you, if you must laugh, always to laugh up your sleeve?"

"Please, mum, I did, but my coat's torn at the elbow."

He was overwrought and overworked, and when the waiter came up and said: "I've got devilled kidneys, pig's feet, and calves' brains," he replied, "What are your troubles to me? I came here to eat."

"Did your wife scold when you came home so late last night?"

"You don't know what it is to have a wife who was once a school teacher. She simply made me write a hundred times on a slate, 'I must be home at ten o'clock.'"—New York Globe.

Miss Keyes: "Myrtle, what were the events in our foreign affairs in regard to Alaska?"

Myrtle: "O, some seals occupied some islands up there and——."

Miss Keyes: "Orrin, are you chewing gum?"

Orrin: "No, I'm chewing the rag."

"DADDY-LONG-LEGS" TO BE PRESENTED BY JUNIORS FRIDAY

Exceptional Play-Acting Ability Shown By Characters Taking Part in Junior Play.

Statistics have proved that "Daddy-Long-Legs" is the term most frequently used by the Juniors of Lincoln High School. This does not indicate a pestilence of these long-limbed creatures, but is merely positive proof that the Juniors are good boosters and recognize a good thing when they see it. They believe that their Junior play is worth supporting.

Anyone fortunate enough to witness snatches of the rehearsals can confirm the good judgment of the boosters. You don't have to witness a rehearsal, however, but just look around at school and the truth of Junior genius will be evident. Have you noticed a cowed and dejected air among some of the Juniors? These are the orphans merely rehearsing. If Aeriel turns you down with a haughty stare, or Ersyle snaps at you, look upon them with respect for, remember, the mark of true greatness is to be able, to drop one's individuality and assume that of another. Notice the sisterly affection Lylian wastes on Thomas and the admiring glances Arthur bestowes upon Lucille. But don't be alarmed, it is merely play-acting at its best.

If you have noticed any peculiar developments among the Juniors, come Friday night and have the mystery solved. Lots of laughs, a few thrills, and a general good time is promised. Have your 25c or 50c on hand and buy your tickets early so that you may be sure of securing the best seats as they may now be reserved at Lambert's Drug store.

LINCOLN DEFEATS MIDDLE RIVER TUES.

Lincoln High Defeats Middle River 16-11 In First Basketball Game of This Season.

Tuesday evening at the city auditorium, the Lincoln quint defeated Middle River high school by a score 16 to 11 in the first game of the season.

The playing was fast from the very start and though the ball was kept near the local's basket most of the time, it was not until nearly the end of the first quarter that any baskets were made. Penney shot two in quick succession, making the score 4 to 0 at the end of the first quarter. The second quarter started with a basket by Penney, followed by another by Larson. Middle River tried several long shots but was unsuccessful in gaining any points. A double foul was called on Middle River and "Mike" shot, scoring both times. Shortly after, Thief River fouled and the visitors succeeded in making their first point of the game. The half ended with the score 10 to 1 in Thief River's favor.

In the third quarter Penney scored once, then Middle River made their first field basket of the game, and Penney scored again. A foul was called on Middle River and Penney shot but missed the basket. The visitors made two more points and "Mike" did the same. Then "Dutch" was put in for Larson as forward and shortly after Bennes was put in for "Dutch."

The last quarter continued with the same line-up. Middle River in the last few minutes of play made three baskets in succession, showing a splendid brand of basket ball. This brought the score up to 16 to 11 and it remained there till the end of the game.

An excellent crowd turned out for the first game, though it was not a conference one. The boys were much encouraged by this strong support, and the loud yelling and the singing of Lincoln songs did much to help them start the season with a victory.

Coach Thune is a first class basketball man and is rapidly whipping his team into a winning aggregation. Elmer Tandberg, a graduate of the local high school and a resident of this city who is coaching the Middle River quint, shows what can be produced from a small high school with but a few boys to select a team from. They proved their worth and played a fast game thruout.

The lineup was as follows:

Thief River Falls—Penney, r. f.; Larson, l. f.; Parenteau, c.; Barzen, r. g.; Sorenson, l. g.

Middle River—Kramer, r. f.; Johnson, l. f.; Sandberg, c.; Gullikson, r.g.; Nordlem, l. g.

Field Goals—Penney 5, Larson 1, Parenteau 1, Kramer 2, Gullikson 2, Sandberg 1.

Free throws: Parenteau, 2 out of 2; Penney, 0 out of 2; Gullikson, 1 out of 1.

Substitutions: Zeh for Larson, Bennes for Zeh.

Officials: Connel, referee.

DEBATE TEAM READY FOR ACTUAL CLASH

Red Lake Falls to Meet Lincoln Debaters Here in First Contest Thursday, Dec. 20.

The debating team under the instruction of Lawrence Mickelson, debate coach, is working fast and furiously for the clash with Red Lake Falls, scheduled for next Thursday, Dec. 20.

Red Lake Falls always has a good team, and Lincoln High expects anything but a walk-away in winning, which, however, they expect to do. The team, in one respect, is unique, in so far that it is made up of three girls, whereas, usually, at least one boy is on the team. This, however, does not detract from its debating ability.

At the tryout debate, the judges agreed that it was one of the best they had ever heard. If such is true of the tryout, a good deal more is to be expected of the contest next Thursday evening.

Much depends upon the first debate because if the first one is lost the team is ineligible for further debates this year. If a large audience is present, the chance of the home team winning becomes much better and since the debate is certain to be exciting and well-worth hearing, everyone should patronize the contest.

Senior Candy Sale.

The Senior Class had its first candy sale last Thursday after four o'clock dismissal. The committee composed of Hazel Krause, Hylda Peterson, Elsie Blair, Harriet Morgan and Eleanor Werstlein, took charge of the sale. The proceeds amounted to $18.25, and will be used in the publishing of the 1924 "Prowler." The Seniors plan to continue these sales at the basketball games this winter.

Knox Notes.

The following pupils have been neither absent nor tardy during the year: Bessie Syverson, Odele Homstrom, David Kringsberg and Lawrence Lonson.

Neil Wickel of the first grade has been transferred from the Northrup to the Knox.

Some of the penmanship specimens in the second and third grade room show a decided improvement since the beginning of the year.

The third grade has made a poem booklet illustrating the Christmas poem "Piccola."

Edwin Johnson of the sixth grade has left Thief River Falls to attend school at Cloquet, Minn.

Mabel Brevick is a new pupil in the sixth grade.

Norma and Roy Pearson have again enrolled in fourth grade, both being former Knox students but having left last spring for Minneapolis.

Dorothy Dalton is leading grade four in the Studebaker tests. She has completed drill 16.

Opal Halvorsen, from the Northrop, entered the fifth grade at the Knox this week.

Robert Booren is leading the fifth grade Studebaker tests, being on test 36. Linnet Backlund and Alyce Lonson are close seconds.

The fifth grade reading class is showing much interest in the study of winter birds and squirrels.

Clara and Lyle Rambeck, who have been ill, have returned to school.

The following children in the third grade were neither absent nor tardy the last six weeks: Janet Connell, Irene Neseth, Melvin Johnson, Norman Newland, Wendell Keilty, Morris Lonson, Merton Roemhildt and Cayla Rossman.

Much interest is being shown in the study of the poem "Piccola."

Juiors Have Smallest Percentage of Failures

The percentage of failures for the second six weeks period, ending Nov. 23, is greatest among the Freshmen and lowest among the Juniors. The Sophomores have the second highest percentage of failures and the Seniors third. The percentage of the Freshmen who failed in one or more of their subjects is 32; of the Seniors, 15.3; of the Juniors, 11.8.

Probably a fairer way to compare the scholarship of the different classes is to take the total number of subjects carried by the members of each class and divide that into the total number of failures in the class. When this is done it is found that the Freshmen failed in 12.9% of their subjects; the Sophomores in 9.2%; the Seniors in 6.3% and the Juniors in 3.4%.

The record of the Junior class is very good as shown by their low percentage of failures and their high percentage of honor students. As announced in last week's "Progress," 12.9% of the Junior class are honor students.

Special Assembly.

A special assembly was called Tuesday afternoon to arouse interest among the students for the first basketball game of the season, to be played with Middle River that evening.

Mr. Thune talked on the possibilities of the team, and the opposition they were up against for this game. Arthur Penney and Allen Sorenson gave short talks, telling of the spirit of the basketball players. Mr. Bye then gave a speech on real basketball spirit, and urged every student to be at the game.

The Open Book

NOT so many years ago, executives generally, looked upon the close corporation as the ideal business arrangement. The higher the selling price of their stock the more successful their business—so they thought. Every business move was shrouded in the utmost secrecy—as a result the public did not understand big business and viewed it with suspicion.

Five years ago, the Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) decided that if the public knew more about its methods of operation, and had a better knowledge of the ideals animating its practices, suspicion, born of misunderstanding, would give place to confidence, respect, and esteem.

At that time the stockholders in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) numbered 4,623 and stock in the Company was selling for about $775.00 a share.

It was decided to acquaint the public, in a frank and open manner, with facts concerning the ownership of this Company—its Management—its policies—its principles—its practices—its ideals—and the true relationship between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the public it serves.

Each week the public press has carried a message dealing with some phase of the business of this Company.

As fast as the Company could bring it about, the par value of the Company's stock was reduced and the capital stock was increased until the price per share was brought to a point where it was within the reach of small investors.

At this writing the stockholders in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) number 43,081 and the selling price of its stock is about $59.00 per share.

Today, the man of modest means can become a stockholder in the Company and no one stockholder owns as much as six per cent of the total stock.

Confidence, respect, and esteem have routed suspicion and misunderstanding.

The patrons of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are its friends—its employes are one happy family—the stockholders are proud of the fact that they are part owners in such a shirt-sleeved organization which places service before profits and by so doing has earned the good-will of the thirty million people of the two-fisted Middle West.

GREAT NORTHERN FAVORS REDUCING YOUR TAXES

The cost of government has been increasing for years with great rapidity, and this increases the cost of what you produce and what you consume.

This cost of government must be met by taxation. Even when governments borrow the money they spend, they must impose taxes to pay the debt with interest.

The increase in railroad taxes is a measure of increased government costs.

Great Northern taxes for its entire system were:

In 1922 .... $8,097,725
In 1912 .... $3,804,924

Great Northern taxes for 1922 were two and one-seventh times greater than for 1912.

Great Northern taxes for MINNESOTA in 1922 were $1,970,936.

These heavy increases in taxes show that your government costs need careful scrutiny. These costs should be kept as low as is consistent with good government. You pay them—all of them.

Unnecessary governmental expenditure is a burden on production and consumption. It is to your interest to do everything in your power to encourage honesty, economy and efficiency in all forms of your government—federal, state and local—so as to reduce the taxes you pay. It is just as important to you to reduce the taxes your railroads pay, since they become part of the charge for transportation, and so of your cost of living.

All money expended by the state must be collected ultimately from the producers of wealth within the state. The public must invariably foot all tax bills, including railroad taxes. It is to your interest even more than to that of any railroad to make and keep them low.

Chairman of the Board.

Discuss Serious Problems Confronting Railroads of Country During Present Period

Speaking at the special Commercial club luncheon in this city last Monday, on the occasion of the dedication of the new Great Northern station in Thief River Falls, Vice President and General Counsel M L. Countryman of the Great Northern railway told of the confidence his railroad has in the future of the territory tributary to Thief River Falls.

For two hours about two hundred people, including city and county officials, business and professional men, ladies, farmers and cola representatives of the Great Northern and Soo railroads gathered about specially prepared dinner tables in the auditorium. Delegations from Crookston and Red Lake Falls were also in attendance. During the serving of the dinner splendid musical numbers were furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of Miss Maude L. Johnson.

Mayor John Bratrud, acting as toastmaster, extended an appropriate welcome to the visiting railroad officials, expressing the gratification of the citizens of this city for the splendid depot erected within its limits. E. F. Flynn, assistant to the vice president and director of the bureau of public relations, responded. Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president of the Commercial club, also bespoke the sentiment of the people of this city as regarding the new edifice, which is now about ready to be opened for service.

The Great Northern Railway Company, Mr. Countryman said, is very much encouraged because of the successful diversified farming apparent in Pennington county. He said the people of that county are to be congratulated upon their being in the vanguard of successful alfalfa and sweet clover cultivation. He was also pleased to note that many fine dairy herds are owned by Pennington county farmers and that dairying is fast becoming one of the principal undertakings of farmers around Thief River Falls.

Speaking on the railway problems, Mr. Countryman said: "A popular fallacy—most popular among a class of politicians who know the least about it—is that a repeal of the Transportation Act of 1920 (the Esch-Cummins Act) is all that is needed to restore prosperity to the farmers and leave the railroads where they deserve to be.

"There is indeed a railway problem, but it is altogether different from what certain politicians and radical newspapers would have you believe. It is not a problem that can ever be solved by appeals to passion and prejudice, by preaching doctrines of hate, by the enactment of hostile and destructive laws, nor by any means whatever save the wisest, sanest, most constructive thought and action.

"The real problem of transportation is, What shall be done to secure to the people of the United States, for the present and for the future, a system of transportation adequate and efficient, available at all times to furnish an abundant supply of freight and passenger facilities at a reasonable cost, and responding promptly in growth and development to the increasing needs of commerce and agriculture?

"For almost a hundred years American brains, courage and capital have been showing the world how to build and operate railroads. Our railroad builders have been bold pioneers in the wilderness—venturing all, often losing all, but ever leading on with dauntless faith and vision, blazing the trails that millions have followed to find homes and happiness in a free land. Today the American republic is the greatest, richest, most powerful nation in the world. Every student of our history agrees that this marvelous national development, wealth and power could never have been realized without the railroads.

This great Northwest region furnishes a striking example of the vital relation between the railroads and national growth and prosperity. Think for a moment of that vast, unpeopled territory between Lake Superior and Puget Sound, as it was before the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads were built into and across it, and then think of the millions who now inhabit it, and of what those railroads mean to them. Can you imagine what would now be the condition of his vast region between the Great akes and the Pacific if the railroads d not been built? Or what its contion would again become if these ilroads, crippled and weakened by olish and vicious laws, strangled d starved by inadequate rates, their dit destroyed by public regulation ne mad, should now cease to funcn?

"Up to 1914 our railroads had been adily increasing their mileage, ping pace with the increasing pub demand for railroad service. In seven years ending June 30, 1914, mileage increased 27,742 miles. y the total mileage of railroads is country has actually decreased housands of miles. When not nourished by renumera- n railroad loses mileage, n underfed horse loses blem is not political, and made worse by selfish po king to use it to promote mbitions, by making false ions about the railroads ng prejudice in the minds ned people. The Editor of y Age recently said, 'The tant question confronting the railroads, the most important question confronting the country, is whether the public will let the railways charge the rates and make the net earnings necessary to enable the railways to so increase their facilities that they will be able to render to the shippers and producers of the country, the mine operators, the farmers, all the transportation they will require.

"'Public sentiment will finally settle how the railroad problem shall be solved. Since the attacks upon the railways are sure to continue indefinitely, the only way to restore and protect their earning capacity, and thereby enable them to render the public good and adequate service, is constantly to present the facts about their management, operation, service and financial necessities to the public.'

"The management of the Great Northern Railway invites and welcomes all helpful suggestions and constructive criticism of every phase of its operation. It has no secrets to conceal from its 45,000 stockholders, or from its shippers or the general public. But it protests against, and will make every effort to expose, the use of falsehoods and misrepresentations by designing politicians, whereby the uninformed are led to believe that the Great Northern is hostile to their interests."

Following Mr. Countryman's address was a brief talk by Hans Anton, prominent farmer of this community, who asserted that this county is "the land of milk and honey" and that with diversified farming methods the farmer of this section will soon see brighter days. He denounced the spirit of discontent. Mr. Anton's remarks were received with marked applause, as were also the remarks of Mayor-elect J. S. Arneson, who concluded the speaking program. Mr. Arneson spoke forcibly as to the misrepresentation of the railroads' case and the misunderstanding by the public. They are made the marks for an army of politicians, he asserted, and are thus hampered in their operations.

The delegation of officials came here in a special car at noon and left in the afternoon, after a sight-seeing tour around the city and country, accompanied by local citizens.

Those who comprised the party besides Mr Countryman and Mr. Flynn, were: P. F. Keating, St. Paul, general superintendent of Eastern Division; E. A. Mills, Grand Forks, general master carpenter; J. H. Griffin, Grand Forks, division freight agent; J. E. O'Brien, Grand Forks, superintendent; E. McNulty, Grand Forks, master carpenter; John Laughlin, Crookston, division roadmaster; George Winney, Crookston, master mechanic; and R. E. Carter, Grand Forks, traveling freight agent.

MANY MATTERS ARE GIVEN ATTENTION AT CLUB LUNCHEON

Commercial Club of City Lauded By Oregon Realtor. Urges Continued Boosting

An enthusiastic meeting of the Commercial Club was held at the regular noon hour luncheon last Thursday, attended by a large number of the city's business men.

A feature of the program was a talk by N. A. Walter, a realtor from Corvellis, Oregon, who was in the city enroute to the twin cities, Chicago and other points, coming here by way of the Canadian route. Mr Walters is very optimistic as to the outlook for the future of this section and as evidence of that fact stated that he had acquired a farm near Thief River Falls. The visiting Oregon man, who is a Rotarian, commended the local club very highly for its spirit in promoting projects for the betterment of farming conditions in the community. He maintained that one of the fundamental objects of a club of that nature should be to instill optimism and boost. Examples of the results of real boosting were cited from sections on the Pacific coast, showing that co-operation and united action on the part of every citizen soon pushes the city and community to the front. Mr. Walter left for the twin cities Saturday after spending a few days looking over the surrounding country and meeting with local business men.

The club decided to join with the local Co-operative Creamery association in sponsoring a noon luncheon followed by a meeting Thursday, Jan. 3, at which time will be taken up the proposition of signing up cream producers to deliver their cream to their own co-operative institution instead of selling to centralizers. The contracts cover a period of five years. A luncheon will be served at the cost of 25 cents to farmers, following which the gathering will be addressed by representatives of the state Co-operative Creamery association and local dairymen, producers of cream in the entire section being urged to attend.

The secretary of the club was ordered to extend an invitation to the Red River Valley Dairymen's association to hold its annual meeting in Thief River Falls in 1924 The convention place will be decided by the board of directors, the other invitation being from Warren. It is likely, however, that this city will be chosen, according to reports.

A report from the committee appointed by the club to investigate the matter of securing a tract of land along Red Lake for resort purposes was given by E. O. Mogensen, chairman of the committee. The other members are J. S. Arneson, Dr. O. F. Mellby, Julien Provencher and H. S. Dahlen, the local citizens holding a lease on a 160-acre tract at the point of the lake, being Math Barzen, T. L. Melgaard, John Bratrud and Daniel Shaw. A trip to the lake to look over the proposed ground and place was made by the committee and satisfactory findings were reported. The committee was ordered continued and will work out a plan of incorporating a holding company to take over the proposed plot, and make other necessary findings and arrangements.

A feature of the luncheon was a batch of honey donated by V. C. Noper.

High School Basketeers Will Meet Roseau Quint In Tussle Friday, Dec. 21

The first conference game of the basket ball season will be played by the Thief River Falls high school team tomorrow, Friday evening, when they meet the Roseau representatives at the auditorium. Practice work has been going forward regularly during the past month and the boys are rapidly whipping into shape under the expert tutelage of Coach Thune, star basket ball performer.

Roseau is said to have a fast team but according to dopesters who saw the locals beat the Middle River five and especially the clash with the city team last week, in which the latter were nearly defeated, are quite confident that the Lincolnites will finish tomorrow's game with the score margin in their favor.

In the practice tussle last Saturday with former loop stars the high school boys showed ability and spirit that should bring them to the front in the conference if continued thru the season. They made a highly satisfactory showing in every department.

Local fans are urged to attend the game Friday.

To give happiness is to deserve happiness.

"Run" on Kennedy Bank

A withdrawal of $35,000 in ten days forced the Citizens State bank of Kennedy to close its doors in order to prevent a permanent closing to the institution, according to announcement. Efforts will be made to open the bank within the next two months as the condition of the bank was good, so report states. Examiners from the state banking board are now in charge of the affairs of the bank.

DAIRY MEN OF SECTION WILL MEET JAN. 3RD

To Discuss Patron-Creamery Contracts at Gathering In City Friday Next Week

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO SERVE NOON LUNCHEON

Cream Producers Urged to Attend Important Meeting In Fight Against Centralizers

Dairymen of this section will gather in this city Thursday, Jan. 3, to discuss and consider the advisability of patrons signing a contract with the local co-operative creamery for the delivery of cream for a period of five years. The meeting is sponsored by the local Farmers Co-operative Creamery association in conjunction with the Commercial club of the city, in line with the statewide movement for the safeguarding of co-operative creameries.

Noon Luncheon

A noon luncheon will be served at the auditorium for which a small charge of 25 cents will be made to attending farmers. Following the luncheon the regular session will convene and matters pertaining to the problems of co-operative creameries will be taken up. Representatives of the state creamery association will speak and local dairymen will also be heard from. Every farmer and producer of cream is urged to be present at this meeting to hear this discussion so as to be convinced of the necessity of the patrons of co-operative creameries to stick to their institutions and not be led astray by the tempting prices paid by some centralizers. It is said that the prices paid for cream products by these concerns are not consistent, being high at points where there is competition, while at other places much below the average. Local dairymen who are familiar with the situation warn patrons of co-operative creameries that it is better to get full value all the time rather than to get more for but a short time. An effort will be made to sign up the majority of the patrons of the creamery in this city at Thursday's meeting. Those who wish to familiarize themselves with the nature of the contract may do so by calling at Secretary Bjerke's office.

Meeting of Much Importance

Everyone in this community interested in the welfare of the dairy industry determined largely by the full value prices obtained thru the co-operative creameries, should make it a point to attend this gathering as it is of the utmost importance to every producer of cream.

The father of success is work.

Burglars Enter McIntosh Post Office and Seize a Pouch of 1st Class Mail

The post office at McIntosh was broken into and robbed of all of its first class mail, some time between one and five o'clock Wednesday morning last week. There is no way of determining the money value of the loot stolen, but it is believed to be small. Crookston banks report they had money shipments in the mail stolen. The money, however, was in the form of checks, which have been stopped and duplicates mailed.

Entrance to the building was made through a rear window in the rural carriers room. The storm window had been removed and the other window smashed. The missing mail was that which had arrived in a single pouch on the Great Northern passenger train at one o'clock Wednesday morning.

An inspector the day before had been at the post office for the purpose of making the customary check-up. He had gone to Mentor from McIntosh, and Postmaster M. W. Jensen immediately got in touch with him, recalling him to the scene. No clues have been found as yet, however, it is claimed, although residents report hearing an automobile early Wednesday morning, and it is believed the thieves made their getaway in a car.

FRIENDS ENTERTAIN FOR DR MILAN SAT.

Hotel Evelyn Scene of Farewell Banquet for Departing Citizen. 83 Present

Dr. M. Geo. Hilan, superintendent and medical director at the Oakland Park Sanatorium, was Saturday evening honored with a farewell banquet at the Hotel Evelyn, the affair beginning at 7 o'clock.

One of the biggest social events of the season took place that evening when 82 friends of the doctor tendered him an expressive farewell. Dr. Milan has attained an unusual high degree of success in the medical profession and has won the true friendship of the men and women of the city with whom he has come in contact.

As toastmaster of the evening, J. S. Arneson proposed a toast of thankfulness in behalf of local people for the comradeship of the doctor and a wish for continued success in his new undertaking. The toast was most ably and appropriately responded to by Dr. Milan. Among others called for brief addresses were Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Dr. A. W. Swedenburg, Superintendent I. T. Simley, C. L. Hansen, W. A. Barnard and E. O. Mogensen, all of whom expressed the sentiments of those present and of the residents of Thief River Falls at large on the regretfulness at his leaving. Henry Arneson, accompanied by Miss Eileen Arneson, favored the assemblage with violin solos. Community singing, led by Miss Maude L. Johnson, music instructor of the city schools, was participated in by all those present, and also a number of parodies were sung.

As a token of the esteem in which Dr. Milan is held, he was presented with a watch.

Dr. Milan expects to take up the work with Drs. Bratrud & Meland at Warren the first of the year.

Children of City Invited To Free Show at Princess As Guests of C. L. Hansen

Children of Thief River Falls under the age of 14 years are invited by C. L. Hansen of the First National Bank to be his guests at a special matinee at the Princess theatre on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 27. A continuous show beginning at 1:30 p. m. will be shown. A great deal of interest among the youngsters is being created by this holiday entertainment.

The picture booked for the occasion is "Sixty Cents an Hour" in which is featured Walter Hiers, popular Paramount star. There will also be the added attraction of Baby Peggy in "Tip."

As compared to fifteen years ago, the purchasing power of a dollar today shows a tremendous decline. All this is brought out to excellent advantage in Walter Hiers' new Paramount stellar vehicle, "Sixty Cents an Hour," Twenty years ago it was possible for a young man to live comfortably on less than $7.50 a week, but try and do this now, as Mr. Hiers does in this picture, and see how far your money goes. How does Hiers manage?

Children of the city are urged to see the picture and find out.

Patrons of the rural routes are requested to keep in mind the fact that there will be no delivery Christmas day and arrange for the early mailing of Christmas packages and other matter.

H. S. GRADS SINCE 1904 WILL GATHER IN REUNION HERE

Alumni Are Urged to Partake in Annual Festivities at S. of N. Hall Dec. 28

Judging from present indications the Alumni Reunion of the Thief River Falls high school, which is to be held at the Sons of Norway hall on Friday evening of next week, Dec. 28, promises to be the big event of the holiday season. Expressions from alumni in the city indicate that the turnout this year will exceed that of any former year, an effort being made to have a large representation from each class.

Graduates from the local high school, who are away attending colleges and universities, teaching or otherwise employed elsewhere, are already beginning to arrive in the city to spend the holidays with the home folks and friends By the end of the week the population of the city will have been augmented considerably, in spite of the fact that a number of the teachers in the schools here leave for their respective homes at the close of school Friday.

Announcements were sent out last week to Alumni whose addresses are known by the committee, but those who do not receive one should consider themselves invited nevertheless, the festivities being open to all alumni Those who are married are requested to bring their "other half".

A program of talks and musical numbers has been arranged following which the hours will be spent in a social time, exchanging of reminiscenses, talking over haps and mishaps of high school days, and dancing for those who desire that form of entertaiment. The club rooms of the hall will also be available. The best in music will be provided for the dance, and refreshments will be served in the course of the evening.

In addition to the alumni there will also be a good sized representation from this year's senior class. The election of the association's officers will take place at the reunion. Alumni and seniors, do not forget the date, December 28 at 8 o'clock.

BUREAU REPORT SHOWS COUNTY FARM PROGRESS

Large Amount Of Constructive Work Accomplished Thru Extension Service in 1923

MANY ORGANIZATIONS CONTRIBUTE SUPPORT

Diversified Farming Projects are Promoted by Farm Bureau. Office Is Busy Place

The annual report of J. J. McCann, county extension agent, submitted to the state extension department and members of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association, shows that in spite of being handicapped by the withdrawel of any appropriation by the county, a large amount of valuable work has been accomplished. The demands made upon the agent and the bureau were greater in extent and more diversified in scope than for any previous year. No department was slighted, sufficient funds being provided through the contributions of Thief River Falls business men and organizations of the city.

Other Organizations Help

The report says: "The Pennington County Farm Bureau has many distinctive features this year which it did not possess in years previous, due to the fact that no county aid is received, which makes it necessary to be supported by those organizations which derive special benefits from it. The Commercial club secretaryship of Thief River Falls is handled thru the Farm Bureau office with the aid of the assistant. For this service the club pays $600 per year. In like manner the secretaryship of the Pennington County Poultry association is handled by the Bureau and turned in $50 to the Bureau funds. The Agricultural society, holding its fair during the first week in August, contributes $300 for the agent to act as secretary of that organization. The Potato association contributed $100 for services rendered to members in grading and marketing their crop. The New Settlers association turned in $300 for the support of the Bureau for the service given by the assistant and other expences incurred in inducing new settlers to come to Pennington county. The Sugar Beet association, organized during the spring of 1923, allows a monthly contribution of $75 for encouraging beet growers, caring for their crop, looking after the Mexican labor and the loading of sugar beet cars in shipping to Mason City factory.

"By this method of organization people who are paying for the services receive the benefit, and the complaint cannot be made that any locality or section is not getting the proper assistance from the Farm Bureau or County Extension work. All citizens of the county who call at the office are given help in whatever line they require, and field work is done with them thru the organization affiliated with the Bureau, who are contributing largely for the support of the work."

Record of Helpfulness

A summary of the activities of the bureau during the past year includes:

Local leaders chosen according to projects to act with the organizations co-operating in the extension work.

Three carloads of phosphate have been used on demonstration plots.

Sweet clover campaign conducted to improve soil conditions.

Twenty-five hundred acres of sugar beets secured from Mason City sugar factory, agent supervising labor, growing and marketing of crop. Alfalfa campaign conducted by questionnaire which is a continuance of the 1921 campaign showing 3,000 acres of alfalfa in the county at the present time and 4,500 additional acres will be planted in 1924.

Corn raising encouraged together with the alfalfa for boosting the hog industry.

Standardization of potatoes emphasized.

Better feeding of livestock discussed at ten community meetings.

Better sire campaign conducted in county.

Blackleg control methods demonstrated on two farms.

Test for tuberculosis conducted.

Nine poultry schools sponsored.

Poultry Show held with agent as secretary. Culled 6000 birds.

Fourteen hundred acres of potatoes signed up in the new Marketing association in a short time, aided by agent.

Four hundred laborers were supplied thru the Farm Bureau office.

A Campaign for increasing the number of hogs in the county was conducted the past year.

One hundred sixty-eight boys and girls were enrolled in Dairy Calf, Poultry, Sheep and Bread clubs, under the direction of the county agent.

One hundred farmers were assisted in keeping account books during 1923.

One thousand, one hundred and fourteen farms were visited.

Ten thousand four hundred and seventy-two office calls relating to county agent work attended to.

Eight thousand ninety-eight telephone calls relating to county agent work.

One hundred fourteen meetings held under the auspices of Farm Bureau with total attendance of 4,790.

Two thousand seven hundred and thirty-four letters were written during the year.

Attend Poultry Show

Dr. O. F. Mellby, Mayor John Bratrud, H. A. Brumund, Math Barzen, Sr., County Agent J. J. McCann, T. M. Thronson and E. M. Bennes motored to Plummer Thursday afternoon, directly after the Commercial club luncheon and spent the remainder of the day there attending the Fifth Annual Poultry show of Red Lake county. A fine showing of chickens were made at this event. Fewer turkeys and other fowl were shown.

Barthelmess Has Popular Role in "The Bond Boy"

Richard Barthelmess goes back to the Virginia mountains, the location of his unforgettable "Tol'able David," for his most recent First National picture, "The Bond Boy," which will be shown at the Princess Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

As Joe Newbolt, improverished son of aristocratic parents, he is forced to bind himself out to Isom Chase to work until he is twenty-one. The humiliating part of it is that Chase is the new owner of the Newbolt farm, having gotten possession of it when Joe's father a visionary inventor, was forced to relinquish it to his one time hired man.

How Chase is accidentally killed in an unfortunate martial tangle, how Joe is arrested for murder and condemned, how he effects his thrilling escape, solves the mystery and brings about his own freedom and happiness, these incidents are dramatically woven into a charming love story in this screen version of George Washington Ogden's fascinating tale.

The production, which was directed by Henry King, is heralded as a screen sensation.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

The Times wishes its readers everywhere a Merry Christmas.

The season loses none of its characteristics or importance simply because things may not be as rosy as could be wished. Compared with people in other sections of the world, ours is a decidedly enviable state. There is little actual want even if less of surplus than in some previous years.

The spirit of good will is as much in evidence as ever—or more so—as there is greater need for its expression. This is the time of year when people turn to those who are less fortunate than themselves in the spreading of Christmas cheer and distributing material help.

Let us all strive to make this a true and real Christmas with the Christ spirit in our hearts.

GREAT NORTHERN EXTENDS SEASON'S GREETINGS
While in volume of traffic the year 1923 has been the largest in the history of the Great Northern Railway, the net results of the year have been less profitable to the owners than in some former years, owing to the fact that increases in the cost of things which comprise transportation, its sole product, have been greater than those in freight and passenger rates.
The Great Northern thanks the people who so liberally patronized it in 1923 and at the same time extends its thanks to those faithful, loyal and efficient employees who made it possible to handle this large volume of business. The Great Northern has great faith in the men and women who serve it, in the fairness of those whom it serves, and in the ultimate prosperity of the territory it traverses. It has endeavored to render good service to its patrons and hopes to continually improve that service and to merit further patronage.
To all—patron and employee alike—in the spirit of the season, the Great Northern Railway wishes a joyous Christmas and a happy and successful New Year.

GO RIGHT AT IT
Get at the root of the trouble.
Rubbing an aching back may relieve it,
But won't cure it if the kidneys are weak.
You must reach the root of it—the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills go right at it;
Reach the cause; attack the pain.
Are recommended by many Thief River Falls people. Ask your neighbor!
Mrs. Knute Swanson, 212 Main Ave., S., Thief River Falls, says: "My back was so sore and stiff that I even suffered when I was in bed. When I moved suddenly a sharp pain stabbed through my kidneys. To do my housework was out of the question and I tired easily. Any little noise irritated me and I was annoyed by the way my kidneys were acting. Not until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills did I find relief. About two boxes of Doan's cured me and now I use them occasionally as a preventive."

Just because a poor milk-producing cow pays you a return, do not conclude that scrubs pay. This is a productive center for dairy cows, and with cheap feed it is possible to make money on almost any sort of an animal. However, good cows pay you a still greater return.

Aladdin Gasoline
3¢ more power per gal.
Produces power as even as steam
When you buy "just gasoline" to wear out the motor in your car, you are putting your valuable power plant into the great American Scrap Heap.
Use ALADDIN GASOLINE for quick, even explosive power—as even as steam —every explosion is perfect. No missing, ragged impulses. No jerky motion caused by lack of equilibrium in firing order.
ALADDIN GASOLINE prevents so called dilution of lubricating oil in crank case. ALADDIN eliminates unnecessary vibrations that promote early crystallization of moving steel parts. It is your protection against carbon deposits in cylinders and sulphur compositions that corrode the carburetor.

LOCAL BASKETBALL QUINT WILL MEET ROSEAU HERE FRI.

Roseau will Play Here for the First Time in History of School. A Fast Game is Promised

Next Friday night the Lincoln High basketball quint will meet the Roseau team on the auditorium floor. Roseau is coming here with the belief that she is going to win and as the locals are equally determined, the game is certain to be fast and hard-fought.

Lincoln High's men started the season well by defeating Middle River and they are going to do their best to finish up the season with a 1000 per cent record. As this is the first time that Roseau has ever played Thief River, she is going to make it a victory if it is within her power.

A large crowd turned out to see the first game and it is hoped the same support will be given the team thruout the year. They play a fast and clean game and are well worth seeing in action.

The probable lineup will be:

Forwards, Mike Parenteau and Arthur Penney.

Center, John Sether.

Guards, Math Barzen and Allan Sorenson.

English III Classes Write Excellent Amateur Poems

The members of Mr. Morris Bye's English III classes have been attempting to write poetry as a part of their regular course. The following poems are a few of the best ones submitted:

Skipping School

School isn't such a dreadful place;
(Take this statement to be true),
And why some pupils want to skip
I can't understand; can you?

I wonder if it's meanness—
An impulse to be bad,
Or is it just uneasiness—
A feeling we've all had?

But if you've ever done so,
Then repentant you should be;
If you never have, don't try to;
Take this advise from me.

—L. R. '25

A Thought

The old world seems a better place,
The sky a deeper blue,
Each flower blooms the fairer
When e'er I think of you.

Roses I'm sending you
Fragrant, fair and sweet;
May thoughts of me bloom in your heart,
Until again we meet.

—M. W. '25

My Mother's Star

Oh, star that God has placed on high,
That guards me thru the night,
I know that you will never die
But watch as mother might.

And is each star an Angel bright
Keeping watch o'er her dear child?
And does the child love mother's light
As I love yours so mild?

Christmas Joy

The Christmas season's coming
With joy, and peace, and love,
And every heart grows tender
With thoughts of Christ above.

He, on that Christmas morning
In Bethlehem was found,
Now, on his throne of glory
He lights the world around.

—A. S. '25.

H. S. Orchestra Plays At Commercial Club Banquet

The high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Maude L. Johnson, music supervisor, played at the Commercial club banquet held at the auditorium last Monday. They furnished music during the entire banquet and were very well received by the guests.

Following is a list of the numbers rendered:

"The Flying Ace"; "Dance of the Crickets", "Les Adieux", "Ole South", "Marche Militaire."

The occasion for the banquet was the dedication of the new Great Northern depot, which has been erected near the site of the old one. Two officials of the railroad, Mr. Countryman, vice president of the Great Northern, and Mr. Flynn, a member of the legal advisory and educational department, attended in behalf of the main division of the road.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY IS GREAT SUCCESS

All Characters Enter Into Spirit of Parts and Show Remarkable Talent for Amateur Actors

The Junior Class Play, "Daddy Long Legs," which was presented Friday evening, December 14, has been proclaimed a huge success. The class now heaves a sigh of relief and is ready to settle down to a well earned rest.

As is the custom, the cast gave a dress rehearsal in the afternoon for the grade schools and this was well attended. The first act was, of course, the hit of the afternoon for even the tiniest of the audience enjoyed seeing "grown-ups" play orphan children.

The evening performance was the supreme test of the play, and the Juniors passed the test with credit. It would be difficult to pick out the star performer for every one, from the littlest orphan to the leading characters, entered into his part whole-heartedly and gave the audience the best that was in him. If it were possible, everyone of the nineteen members in the cast would be given individual mention which they well deserve. Mention must not be omitted of the orphans, however, who entered joyously into the spirit of their parts and drew many an appreciative laugh from an exceptionally responsive audience. The character parts were especially well taken by Erayle Anderson, Allan Sorenson, and Anna Wedul and a more perfect Jimmie, Thomas Melgaard, could never be found. Lucille Roark as Judy, the star of the play, did remarkable work, while Arthur Penney as Jervis Pendleton, otherwise known as "Daddy Long Legs", showed exceptional ability.

Miss Keyes, the Junior class advisor, also deserves a great deal of praise for without her most excellent coaching and unceasing patience they could never have made such a huge success of their play.

The High School orchestra should receive credit as their music between acts was enjoyed by everyone and added a great deal to the evening's entertainment.

Although the town people turned out very well, better support was expected from the high school students. However, the Junior class feels well satisfied with the financial outcome of the play and now feels certain that the Junior-Senior banquet will be a success.

LINCOLN DEBATERS MEET R. L. F. TUES.

Red Lake Falls to Debate the Immigration Question Here Tuesday Evening

The first debate, which is with Red Lake Falls, will be held in Lincoln high school, Thursday evening, Dec. 20, at 8:00 o'clock. It promises to be an evenly matched contest and is being looked forward to with great expectancy.

The question for debate is: "Resolved, That European Immigration into the United States Should be Prohibited by Law for a Period of Five Years." This is a very timely subject and one that should be of interest to every student and town-person. May Ballingrud, Hazel Krause and Margaret Melgaard will defend the negative side of the question.

Principal Morris Bye will officiate as chairman and the judges who have been selected are Supt. G. Holmquist of Warren, Supt. John Nystul of Middle River and Supt. H. F. Anderson of St. Hilaire.

It means a great deal to the team and the school to win this contest for if it is lost, there will probably be no more debates for them this year. A large and sympathetic audience will help as much on the debating platform as the football field, so it is up to every student and to the residents of Thief River Falls to turn out and give their support.

The admission fees are nominal, 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for students.

Normal Training Girls Enjoy Dinner Tuesday

The Normal girls and Miss Stapleton, their instructor, enjoyed a six o'clock dinner Tuesday evening in the Normal Training rooms. A Christmas tree, beautifully decorated, added greatly to the holiday effect. The plan of gift exchange was carried out, each girl brought a gift not valued at more than twenty-five cents, and numbers, representing the respective partakers, were drawn individually, to determine the receivers of the gifts. Miss Stapleton was presented with candlesticks of dark blue glazed glass and candles to match.

Victrola music and games were the main features of entertainment for the evening.

Polarine
THE PERFECT MOTOR OIL

Challenges Winter

Winter punishes a motor cruelly by attacking lubrication—but Polarine is made to lubricate thoroughly the remotest frictional surface at extremes of temperature—and it does it.

Polarine functions because it has the correct viscosity to limber up fast in icy weather—the oil film spreads freely between the moving parts; this means easy starting—flexible operation.

Polarine always maintains a complete and perfect seal against loss of power—cold weather calls for all the power your engine is capable of developing.

The Keynote

ONLY that which is worth while can survive. The world has no place for a fifth wheel. Production is the keynote of this progressive age.

The mainspring in the affairs of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the production of service.

No word in the English language ever has been misused, so glibly, as the word "Service".

In the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) "Service" is interpreted exactly as Webster defines it—"The performance of labor for the benefit of another."

The job of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a dual one—manufacturing and marketing.

The Manufacturing Department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed a large number of primary products from the single base—crude petroleum; each one performing a useful and essential service.

Many of these primary products have been adapted to meet different conditions so that in reality this Company produces hundreds of products from a single base.

This we interpret as a major service.

The marketing Department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has built up a system of distribution so comprehensive that the man living at a cross road in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan or in the mountainous regions of Southwestern Missouri is as sure of a constant supply of Standard Oil products as is the man living in the city.

The farmer, harvesting his crops, can have Standard Oil Company (Indiana) products delivered to him in the field if he needs them.

The man who wants a quart of oil receives the same degree of painstaking attention as the man who buys a barrel.

The service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is not of the "fair weather" brand—it is sustained—it endures—it is big.

Service is what has made the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) big, and by the same token, it is bigness that has made Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service possible.

Not alone bigness as relates to size but bigness in vision; bigness in reducing vision to practical terms of usefulness for the lasting benefits of mankind and the world at large.

NEWELL DRAWS FINE FOR IRREGULARITY IN SELLING LIQUOR

Local Druggist Pays $100 Fine For Technical Violation of Prohibition Laws.

H. B. Newell, local druggist, appearing in municipal court before Judge N. W. Tarrant last Saturday, pleaded guilty to a charge of maintaining a nuisance, and was assessed the maximum fine of $100 under the statutes of the state. The fine was paid.

A federal inspector and Sheriff Ole Ihle made an inspection of the premises but found everything in accordance with regulations except for one uncancelled liquor prescription. The law governing the filling of liquor prescriptions is very rigid and the irregularity cost Mr. Newell the fine of $100 when the case was brought into municipal court as a state charge.

A close check on all drug stores of the country is being conducted by federal inspectors in co-operation with local officials and where any irregularities are found prosecutions follow promptly.

Free Matinee and Special Christmas Program at The Princess December 26

A free matinee and special Christmas program is offered by the Thief River Theatre company Wednesday, next week, according to announcement by Manager Brumund. Special music will be provided, the organ to be played by Mrs. Thelma Erickson, local pianist and instructor. The new Seeburg pipe organ installed this fall is proving an added attraction to theatre patrons of the city. The matinee next Wednesday will commence at 2 p. m.

A gang of successful, desperate crooks tried to steal the heart of a young and innocent girl violinist, turn her into a crook and use her in their big schemes. But the girl, with nothing but her sweetness and the music of her violin, turned these crooks, male and female, into paths they did not want to go. This, in brief, is the story that Edwin Carewe has turned into a powerful picture, "Mighty Lak' a Rose," that is coming to the Princess Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Director Carewe believes music plays a big part in this life and he avers, too, that it should play a bigger part. In this play he has gone into the underworld to demonstrate how good music, combined with a good soul, can be the great uplifter. He is said to have made a fascinating picture.

J F. FARR'S PLACE IS RAIDED BY OFFICIALS WHO CLAIM EVIDENCE

Liquor Said To Be Found By Officials in Search at Soft Drink Parlor Sunday

A search of the soft drink parlor conducted by J F. Farr on LaBree avenue was made last Sunday morning by Sheriff Ole Ihle, Chief of Police Ralston and Night Patrolman Krogstad, and according to the officers sufficient liquor was found on the premises as evidence and arrest of the proprietor followed promptly, warrants having been secured.

A preliminary hearing in municipal court was set for Monday but on account of the absence of both the sheriff and the county attorney, the proceedings had to be postponed until the latter part of the week. It is expected that the matter will be taken up tomorrow.

At the present time Mr. Farr is under bonds to appear for trial at the next term of district court to answer a similar charge, while his son, Glenn convicted in district court here last summer, served a sentence in the Warren jail for liquor law violations.

SHERIFF FINDS MOON IN CAR; OWNER FACES POSSESSION CHARGE

St. Hilaire Man Bound Over From Municipal Court Claims No Knowledge of Liquor

Arne Vik of St. Hilaire was bound over to the next term of district court last Friday when brought before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court, charged with having illegal liquor in his possession. He was released under a $500 bond.

On Dec. 8 Sheriff Ole Ihle while making an investigation at a dance at St. Hilaire discovered two gallons of booze in a Ford car, and after waiting for some time for the owner to return to the place where the car was parked without anyone showing up, seized the car and the moon, which was all taken back to this city. When Vik called upon the sheriff to claim the car several days later he was charged with having the liquor in his possession. Altho Vik claimed that he knew nothing of the liquor or how it got into the car, Judge Tarrant told him "that will be a good story to tell the jury and the district judge,' and he was bound over to the higher tribunal.

Not Being Registered As Pharmacists Cost Three Druggists $50 Fine Each

Fines of $50 each were paid in municipal court by J. P. Curtis and Milford Sorenson of this city and G. C. Gulrud of Goodridge, on charges of having sold drugs containing poisons which they were not licensed to sell, not being registered pharmacists, according to Judge N. W. Tarrant, who presided. The charges were made by a federal inspector who made an investigation in this city last week.

Kansas City Station Puts Local Touch Into Program Broadcasted Wednesday

A novel entertainment was given a large crowd at the farm home of T. K. Rynestad, residing near Thief River Falls, Wednesday of last week, when about 100 persons listened to a radio program. The Kansas City station, which had been notified of the special gathering, broadcasted a number of remarks regarding residents of the community, causing much merriment among radio fans. The statement was even made that a number of Kansas bachelors are contemplating invading the Silverton territory in search of a suitable mate and incidentally a good farm of Pennington county land. This created much interest, particularly among some of the feminine members of the audience according to Mr. Rynestad, who states that the affair was a decided success.

Jean Charboneau

Word was received last week by George Charboneau that his brother, Jean, former resident of Pennington county, passed away at Crookston on Wednesday, death being due to heart trouble from which he had been seriously affected the past month. Deceased, who was single, was living with his sister, Miss Annie, at the time of his death. He was born at Grand Rapids, Wis., 66 years ago, and came to this section about 1880. He operated a farm in Numedal township for a period of twelve years until in 1906 when he moved to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, where he resided for three or four years. He then came to Crookston where he made his home until his demise.

Mr. Charboneau is survived by two sisters, Miss Annie of Crookston and Mrs. Joe Morrissette of Rainy River; three brothers, George of Thief River Falls, Henry of Crookston and Peter of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

The funeral which was held last Saturday, was attended by George Charboneau of this city. Interment was made in the Calvary cemetery, at Crookston.

T. R. F. DISPLAY WINDOWS ARTISTICALLY DECORATED

That Thief River Falls merchants do not properly dress their display windows can be said by no one. Among the tastily and beautifully decorated store windows of this city this year, that of the Oen Mercantile company shows exceptional merit. The church building, the woodland scenery, the bridge, in miniature is a work of art and Roy Prytz, who made and arranged it, in highly deserving of much credit for creative artistic ability.

The Elks will conduct their regular program of Christmas giving to the less fortunate, as will also other lodges of the city, some of whom have made donations to charity organizations for the purpose of cooperating in an effort to provide help and Christmas cheer, especially to the children.

The Salvation Army, in addition to finding homes in which there is want, will also have a Christmas tree and program for the children at the hall at which time gifts and sweets will be distributed.

The inmates of the poorhouse will be remembered this year by the Girl's Community club, which also appropriated a sum to the Salvation Army for Christmas charity. Other organizations are active along the same lines, particulars not being available at this time.

Everybody can help in this work.

NO ACTION AT COAL DEAL HEARING FRI.

Accusers Do Not Appear at Hearing of Charges Against Alderman John Dahl

The hearing of the charges against Alderman John Dahl alleging irregularities in the delivery of coal consigned to the city, scheduled to take place at a special meeting of the city council last Friday evening, was attended by only three of the aldermen and consequently no investigation could be made at that time. Members present were aldermen, John Dahl, the accused, chairman H. A. Brumund and Severt Brandon; Ole Ihle, Carl Proseth and Andrew Ness being absent. No arrangements for a future hearing or proceedings have been made as yet.

W L A G Will Broadcast Talk By J. H. Hay This Evening

In a communication to John Ward of this city, J. H. Hay, deputy state agricultural commissioner, St. Paul, formerly superintendent of the city schools, states that he is scheduled to speak to a "radio audience" from the WLAG station this Thursday evening. Many local radio fans are expected to tune in on the twin city station tonight to hear the message from a former Thief River Falls man, which will undoubtedly be the source of much interest, as "Prof." Hay, as he is still known to Thief River Falls residents, is one of the most popular speakers of the state.

A large number of radio receiving sets have been installed in Thief River Falls the past few months and the number of "radio bugs" is steadily increasing. Very good results have been obtained lately, and broadcasting stations in all parts of the United States are being heard from. Static interference is small with present weather conditions prevailing.

Local Officials Attend Prohibition Conference

Sheriff Ole Ihle and County Attorney Theo. Quale attended the state law enforcement conference in St. Paul the fore part of the week. County attorneys, sheriffs and police officials from all parts of the state, more than 200 in number, heard addresses by a number of authorities, the sessions centering largely upon the enforcement of the prohibition laws. More drastic regulations and enforcement was recommended and suggestions made as to the most effective means of suppressing the present liquor traffic. Bank robberies in the southern part of the state also received considerable attention.

FIFTEEN TONS ALFALFA SEED SHIPPED HERE

Carload of Certified Grim Alfalfa Seed to Arrive in City First Part of January

EFFORT TO MAKE COUNTY CERTIFIED SEED CENTER

Growers Urged to Place Orders With Farm Agent or Banker As Early As Possible

Pennington county alfalfa growers are exceedingly anxious to establish a Certified Grimm Seed Growers association. With this thought in view the Pennington County Bankers association, the Farm Bureau and the Thief River Falls Commercial club made an extra effort to assist the growers in getting the best seed possible. As a result a carload of 30,000 pound of Certified Grimm Alfalfa seed will arrived in Thief River Falls some time during the second week in January.

This seed is coming directly from A. B. Lyman, the originator of Grimm Alfalfa, grown in Blackfoot, Idaho, from his own Carver county stock in Minnesota. Growers planting this seed will be admitted into the Association the first year as there will be no question as to the origin or quality of their crop grown.

By taking a carload the Pennington County alfalfa growers are able to secure this seed at forty-five cents per pound laid down in Thief River Falls, while taking it in small lots it would cost between fifty-five and sixty cents per pound.

Growers belonging to the Seed Growers association will have no difficulty in getting rid of their seed at a fancy price, as the market demands a seed whose origin is strictly Grimm and which traces back to Lyman's stock.

An affidavit and certificate of certification, showing the seed to be No. 1, will accompany each man's order.

Most of the seed has been ordered previously but a small allotment is still left and growers should avail themselves of the opportunity to get some of the best seed from this shipment.

Orders may be placed in Farm Bureau office or with the banks where grower's business is transacted.

It is estimated that about 4,500 acres of alfalfa will be planted by Pennington farmers during the coming season.

Unusual Volume of Xmas Mail Well Taken Care of By Efficient P. O. Staff

The Thief River Falls post office broke all records in receiving and dispatching Christmas mail this year. The volume of business was much greater than in any other former year but there was no delay or congestion—everything moved smoothly. There was practically no lull in activities after Christmas mailing started until the office closed Christmas eve, and the force augented by the usual holiday help was kept on the jump continually.

Parcel post deliveries appeared to be unusually heavy this year, according to employees, but each day delivery was complete. In addition to the regular delivery conveyance, auto trucks and automobiles were also used so that at closing Christmas eve complete delivery had been made and hundreds made happy by receiving gift packages. Mail arriving Christmas day morning was delivered by twelve o'clock noon, when all work stopped in order that the overworked employees might enjoy the day at home.

The local office has a most efficient and courteous staff and The Times takes pleasure in commending their splendid service especially at a time when they are swamped with extra work.

St Vincent Bank Closed

The Farmers and Merchants State bank of St. Vincent was closed by the state banking department last Thursday, it was announced by A. J. Veigel, superintendent of banks. The institution, which was capitalized at $15,000, had deposits about $100,000. Lack of reserve was given as the reason for closing.

The Farmers State bank of Bejou also closed its doors about a week ago.

Angus Elevator Burns

A Great Western grain elevator at Angus burned to the ground last Thursday afternoon, destroying $40,000 bushels of wheat and 2,000 bushels of flax. Including the building the total loss is reported to be about $50,000. The fire repartments of Warren and Crookston were both called and raced to the scene of action. A freight engine was sent from Euclid from which the water was pumped but the blaze was so intense that the firemen's efforts were to no avail except in protecting surrounding property, according to an item in the Crookston Times.

Augsburg Trio Will Sing At Zion Church Next Week

The Augsburg Gospel Trio from Minneapolis will be in the city next week beginning Thursday and are scheduled to conduct a series of meetings at the Zion Lutheran church at which they will preach and sing. Both the English and Norwegian language will be used. The trio is composed of splendid singers and it is expected that a large audience will be present at each meeting.

Local Instructors Leave For Homes to Spend Two-Week Vacation With Folks

Thief River Falls city schools and other schools in various parts of the county closed Friday afternoon for the annual Christmas vacation. The city schools and the majority of the rural schools will be closed for two weeks. They will reopen Monday, Dec. 7.

Christmas programs were held in practically every grade school room in the city and many of the rural schools of the county Friday afternoon or evening.

With the exception of the teachers who are residents of this city, the members of the local faculty departed for their respective homes, the majority leaving on Friday afternoon and evening while some left on Saturday to spend their Christmas vacation with folks and friends.

Following is a list of teachers and where they went for Christmas:

RAMBECK DECLARED ELECTED ALDERMAN

Judge Declares in Favor of Rambeck in Contest Brought Up By Andrew Ness

O. A. Rambeck was declared the elected alderman from the Fourth ward by Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren, before whom was heard the contest case brought up by Andrew Ness, defeated candidate, who alleged irregularities in the recent city election. The hearing took place Thursday, ~~Dec. 20~~, and the decision of the court upholds that of the canvassing board, altho the margin by which Rambeck was elected was changed from three to two.

A recount of the votes cast in the Fourth ward was made at the hearing resulting in a change which gives Ness one of the votes thrown out by the canvassing board. This makes the final count 137 for Ness and 139 for Rambeck, a majority of but two votes for the winner.

This action thru the district court closes a case which has been watched with much interest and Rambeck will succeed Ness as Alderman for the ensuing term of two years. The new council will meet to organize next month.

Baling Alfalfa and Clover Hay

A number of Pennington county farmers are baling alfalfa and red clover hay to be placed on the market, this product bringing good returns at the present time. Among those who are baling a considerable amount, according to information received by The Times, are A. A. Shoopman, residing south of the city, and Johnson Brothers, who operate a farm north from Thief River Falls. With the increased alfalfa acreage Pennington county will be one of the leading in the state in the production of forage.

LINCOLN DEBATERS DEFEAT R. L. FALLS

Mickelson's Trio Given Unanimous Decision in Contest at H. S. Last Thursday

The debating team representing the local high school opened the season last Thursday evening with a victory of 3 to 0 over the opponents from Red Lake Falls. The decision of the judges was unanimous, the Lincolnites showing decided strength over the Red Lake Falls trio. Both teams did very well, according to those who heard the verbal clash, and though the manner of delivery of the visitors was good, the locals won out particularly in rebuttal; showing a more thorough mastery of the subject.

The question for debate this year is: "Resolved, that European Immigration into the United States should be Prohibited by Law for a period of Five Years." The visitors defended the affirmative and the home team the negative side of the question. Judges of the debate were: Supt. John Nystul of Middle River; Supt. Anderson of St. Hilaire and Miss Bena Eikeneas, Middle River English instructor, who served in place of Supt. Holmquist of Warren, who failed to arrive.

The Lincoln representatives, who have been practising diligently for some time under the able direction of Lawrence Mickelson, high school instructor, are: Margaret Melgaard, Hazel Krause and May Ballingrud. The Red Lake Falls team was composed of Lillian Patnode, Margaret Ives and Lloyd Paul.

The next debate will be with Roseau sometime during the forepart of January. Roseau is said to have a strong team.

Following the debate Thursday the debaters, instructors and judges were entertained at the high school.

COSGROVE'S POOL HALL IS DAMAGED BY BLAZE TUESDAY

Fire of Unknown Origin Makes Headway in Basement. Loss Estimated at $1,000

Fire, thot to have been started by spontaneous combustion, broke out in the basement of the building occupied by Cosgrove's pool and billiard parlor on LaBree avenue Tuesday evening at 7:30 and caused damage roughly estimated at $1,000.

The fire was first discovered when one of the men in the hall opened a door leading to the basement and was met by a dense cloud of smoke. The fire department was immediately summoned and it is generally conceded that only the fast work and careful direction of the members of the department saved the building. One hose pouring water on the floor of the first story kept the fire from spreading to upper parts of the building while a second hose was employed to battle the flames in the basement.

Exact source of the fire is not known but spontaneous combustion is given as the cause. Damage to supporting timbers and wood work in the basement and that arising from depreciation from water and smoke and considerable damage to plumbing fixtures will possible amount to more than $1,000.

MANY CLASSES WILL BE REPRESENTED AT REUNION FRIDAY EVE

Former Lincoln Students Will Meet in Annual Frolic at Sons of Norway Hall

Tomorrow, Friday, evening is the time set for the annual reunion of Thief River Falls high school alumni who will gather at the Sons of Norway hall to exchange reminiscences from high school days and renew friendships of school and class mates, and is looked forward to with much interest by former Lincolnites.

Indications are that every class since the opening of the high school in 1904 will be represented, an unusually large number having made their intentions known to the secretary of the association by returning a card sent out together with the announcement of the event.

Many of the alumni could not be reached by personal announcements due to the fact that their addresses are not known by the officers, but should nevertheless consider themselves fully eligible to partake in the event as graduates of Lincoln high school. A large number of grads are at present spending the holidays in the city, and several residing out of town have indicated that they will be on deck for the reunion Friday evening.

A pleasing program has been arranged, according to O. C. Paulson, president of the association, this to consist of brief talks and musical numbers. Following a short business meeting and the annual election of officers, the evening will be given over to dancing and a social time. The entertainment committee announces that everything is set for a jolly good time. Refreshments will be served in the course of the evening, the affair to start at 8 o'clock.

Graduates of Lincoln High and members of the association, will be charged the regular dues of one dollar, while the members of this year's senior class and husbands or wives of the alumni will be admitted at only fifty cents.

A large turnout is expected, the event being awaited with much interest by lodge members and others.

WHO BOUGHT FIRST TICKET AT GREAT NORTHERN DEPOT

Not a Thief River Falls resident. Nor a resident of Minnesota. Nor even an American. A Canadian one G. A. Brothen of Kipling, Sask., has the distinction of having purchased ticket number 35265, Thief River Falls, Minn., to Holt, Minn., the first ticket issued at the new Great Northern depot, of Thief River Falls by Agent "Monty" Montgomery. The purchase of this ticket is the realization of the erection of another milestone on the road to prosperity and success which Thief River Falls and Pennington county boosters are surely paving for their city and county.

The erection of the new depot is not a result of the action of any self-interested faction, but the outcome of the continued and consistent efforts of wide-awake boosters to utilize the possibilities of a county that needs only the adaptation of its resources. Thief River Falls and Pennington county is fast becoming an enviable center of activity and not because it's population is asleep.

The dairy cow, the sugar beet and subsequent products are the viaducts by which they will attain the ultimatum, and to this end efficient transportation facilities are a requisite.

"ALL STARS" WILL CLASH WITH CITY TEAM SAT. EVENING

Local Fans Are Promised Fast Game When Former Stars Will Vie For Honors

A basketball game of more than usual interest to local fans has been scheduled for Saturday evening, Dec. 29, when the city team will clash with an aggregation naming themselves "The College All Stars."

The city team is composed of a group of former high school basketeers and were seen in action here recently when they defeated the high school quint in a fast game. Among those who have been out for practice and who will don the uniform, according to present indications, are Milford LaBree, Charles Herron, Stanley Sorenson, Elmer Larson, Charles Warner, Ray Kiland, Roy Brown, James Parenteau and "Slim" Wilson, all of whom have considerable experience on the floor and are used to travelling with fast company. They have gone thru some stiff practising in the anticipation of meeting with other city or legion teams of the state and are showing some real ability in every department of the game.

"The College All Stars" are former Lincoln representatives who are now either attending universities or college or engaged in some other work and are spending their Christmas vacation in the city. The tentative lineup includes Denis McGinn and Jordan Penney, forwards; Guy Johnson and Elmer Tandberg, guards, and Gordon LaBree, center. McGinn, who is a local veteran and won high honors in three major sports at St. Thomas last year, is this year a student at the U of Minnesota, as is also Penney. The latter has been out for practise on the U freshman squad. Johnson is also a student in the Agricultural department of the state university and altho not active now, is well known to the locals as a whirlwind on the floor. LaBree is a student at the North Dakota university, where he took part in football and is also a candidate for the basketball squad. Tandberg, who is coach and instructor at Middle River, is a former St. Olaf player and needs no introduction to fans of Thief River Falls. Herbert and "Bud" Keene of Minneapolis, formerly of this city, may also take part in the game with the All Stars. They are at present taking part in athletics at Edison high school.

With this lineup it is expected that a record turnout will greet the two local aggregations, as a fast and interesting game is assured. A great deal of interest is aroused particularly among the alumni of the high school.

The proceeds of the game will be used towards securing more material to equip the football team of the high school.

The game, which takes place at the auditorium, is called at 8 o'clock. Don't forget the time—Saturday evening.

Error Corrected

In an article appearing in The Times last week it was inadvertantly stated that Arne Vik of St. Hilaire was arrested and bound over to district court on a charge of having liquor in his possession. It should have been "Sigurd" Vik, and the Times regrets the error and the embarrassment caused the subject of the misstatement.

LOCAL H. S. QUINT VICTORIOUS OVER ROSEAU THURSDAY

Arthur Penney Drops in 10 Baskets in First Conference Game of Season

The Thief River Falls high school basketeers again came out of a contest with the long end of the score in their favor, when they defeated the Roseau quint to the tune of 34 to 5 last Thursday evening at the city auditorium.

The game was a fast one, both teams displaying considerable ability in the handling of the sphere, but the locals easily proved their superiority in the art, particularly in their defensive playing. The opponents from the north were unable to break thru their splendid team work and as a result the ball was in play near the Thief River Falls basket the greater share of the time. Members of the local quint played a stellar game throut, but Arthur Penney starred as in previous games, with ten field baskets to his credit. Strangely, however, he was unable to put the ball thru the loop in the shooting of 12 fouls, all personals. The lineup consisted of Sether, center; Penney and Paranteau, forwards; Barzen and Swanson, guards. Three baskets each were made by Sether and Paranteau.

The Roseau game was the opening of the conference schedule of Thune's proteges and with a strong victory as a starter the local representatives expect to continue their pace towards the district championship title. A good sized crowd witnessed the game Thursday.

The boys will be put thru some stiff practice when Coach Thune returns from Albert Lea where he is spending his Christmas vacation.

SILVERTON YOUTH FACING CHARGE BY 11-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Frank Danda, 18, Bound to District Court Charged With Alleged Attempt to Rape

Frank Danda, 18-year-old son of John Danda of Silverton township, appeared in municipal court last Saturday on a charge of attempting to rape and having taken indecent liberties against Gladys, the 11-year-old daughter of A. P. Gordon, also of Silverton. Young Danda was bound over to appear before the grand jury at the next term of district court after the evidence of the case had been heard by Judge N. W. Tarrant. He furnished the bond which was set at $1,000 and was released.

The story told in court was that while on her return from school the preceding Wednesday the little girl in passing thru a thicket by way of a short-cut to her home was attacked by a man whose face was partly covered with a dark cloth or hankerchief. The assailant rushed from the brush and grabbed the girl, threw her down and attempted to abuse her. According to her story on the stand the youngster was able to wrench herself from the grasp of the assailant and got away. Altho she is not able to identify the person by whom she was attacked suspicion was thrown on young Danda and the testimony supporting the charge was deemed sufficient to bring the matter to the consideration of the grand jury at the next term of court.

The complaint was sworn to by the girl's father, A. P. Gordon.

FARR BOUND OVER ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Hearing In Municipal Court Follows Raid by Officials. $500 Bond is Furnished

J. F. Farr, proprietor of a soft drink place on the corner of LaBree avenue and First street, was bound over to the next term of district court on a liquor charge at a hearing in municipal court last Monday. The hearing was a result of a raid on Farr's premises on Sunday, Dec. 16, by Sheriff Ihle, Chief of Police Ralston and Night Patrolman Krogstad. At the hearing Monday Ihle and Ralston both testified as to the raid, presenting a pint bottle of alleged illegal liquor said to have been found in Farr's place of business. Farr denied having any knowledge of the liquor. The authorities also claimed to have found a number of bottles smelling suspiciously of "fire water."

After hearing the evidence presented by both sides Judge Tarrant pronounced Farr bound over to district court and placed him under a $500 bond which was furnished. He is also under another bond to appear before the district court to answer to a similar charge.

A warrant has also been issued for the arrest of Glenn Farr, in charge of the place when the raid was made, but due to his absence from the city it has not been served as yet. It is said that young Farr left this week for points in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Olson of Chicago arrived at this city Wednesday with the corps of their son, Merrvill, who died Sunday. They are guests at the home of Mrs. Olson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Olson and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ostmoe. They will return the first of January.

"HOMEWARD BOUND" BIG SEA PICTURE

Thomas Meighan Has Fine Stellar Role In Thrilling Photoplay Coming to Princess

A story of the sea, packed with drama and every scene having a distinct thrill of its own, Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount picture, "Homeward Bound," based on the story "The Light to Leeward," by Peter B. Kyne, and superbly directed by Ralph Ince, will be the feature at the Princess theatre for two days, Sunday and Monday. Lila Lee, beautiful and popular, plays opposite the star.

In this captivating photoplay, Mr. Meighan is seen as Jim Bedford, a sailor who saves a ship from foundering after Captain Svenson, the cowardly skipper, quits the bridge and gives up the struggle. When the ship reaches port, Svenson is given an ovation and Rufus Brent, the owner un-aware of the facts, makes him skipper of his yacht which Brent aims to present to his daughter, Mary.

Bedford, who loves Mary, refuses to permit Svenson to command the yacht and thus imperil Mary's life. When the yacht is about to sail, Bedford forces Svenson off the vessel and himself takes command. Brent threatens to have Bedford arrested for piracy and after a severe time aboard Bedford takes the yacht back to port. He then takes command of an unseaworthy schooner and before sailing, quietly marries Mary. Events follow in quick succession, all of which combine to make the picture tremendously interesting and appealing

The supporting company is exceptionally strong. In the cast are Charles Abbe, William T. Carleton, Hugh Cameron, Gus Weinberg, Maude Turner Gordon and other noted players.

REPORT SHOWS NECESSITY OF WELFARE WORK

Local Child Welfare Board Meets With Many Cases, According to Report.

URGES CO-OPERATION OF PUBLIC IN WORK

Review Reveals Many Instances In Pennington County of Almost Unbelieveable Nature

A matter which heretofore has not been given much publicity is the work conducted by the Child Welfare board of the county. The nature of the work is such that it necessarily requires secrecy to a certain extent, but in order that the public, and particularly the citizens of Pennington county, may become familiar with extensive operations of the board and the problems with which it is confronted, Mrs. J. M. Bishop, regional chairman of County Welfare boards, has prepared a review of some of the cases which have been taken care of thru the efforts of the local board.

The report by Mrs. Bishop is comprehensive and to the point, and readers who are under the impression that there is no need for social welfare work here will undoubtedly look at the situation in a different light after reading the following:

The Child Welfare Board of Pennington county was organized April 26, 1920, upon the recommendation of the board of county commissioners. A representative of the Children's Bureau was present. The county was divided into districts as follows: Oscar J. Peterson, chairman of the board of county commissioners at that time to have charge of all territory south and east of the Red Lake river; Peter Wold, a former commissioner member, was given the territory east of Thief River Falls and north of Red Lake river; George Gunderson, then county superintendent, was assigned all the rest of the country district in the county including St. Hilaire and the city of Thief River Falls was placed in charge of Mrs. L. G. Larsen and Mrs. J. M. Bishop, the latter chairman of the newly organized board. Mr. Gunderson acted as secretary for a few meetings and since then Mrs. Larsen has served most acceptably and efficiently in that capacity. This organization continued until January, 1923, when Mr. Peterson was replaced by J. S. Roy, commissioner member, and Mr. Gunderson by Ole R. Sande, county superintendent.

This board operates under the Children's Bureau established in 1917 by the State Board of Control. Their work is with dependent, neglected, delinquent and defective children, and all that relates to them. They have at their command all the laws of Minnesota and all of its institutions, but have no charity fund and no legal authority, so in the final analysis all law enforcement depends upon the co-operation of officials.

All members serve without compensation, and have given of their time and means to this work. A large amount of money has been saved both the city and county in preventing cases becoming city or county charges. In all Child Welfare work the central idea is to place responsibility where it belongs and to safeguard the child.

No record has been kept of visits, correspondence or investigations of cases from other counties or states where one party lived here, aside from the files, but cases actually handled in our county are: unmarried mother cases, 32; family cases, 11; adoption cases, 8; county allowance cases, 17 to 20 each year, 20 this year; feeble-minded cases, 10; miscellaneous cases, 8. Board members tried to give a day each week to this work but more often gave part of every day. Sometimes one investigation led to many cases. One family in this county was involved in so many cases of delinquency they resembled the famous Jukes of New York that cost the state two million dollars. Only one home has been broken up, this being on account of the immorality of the mother and low mentality of the father. One daughter had two illigetimate children. The three young children were sent to Owatonna.

In one case where the family were victims of the father's misdeeds, the children have been kept in school and by securing charity passes for the mother and an attendant through the kindness of the Great Northern railway, she was sent to the University hospital where she received two months treatment at a cost to the county of $3.50. She received much benefit and is now under care of the city physicians. A baby with cancerous sore on the arm had it amputated by the county physician; it is now a healthy child. Many veneral disease cases among babies have been found and treated by local physicians. Wherever a feeble minded case has been found there were usually others in the family of low mentality.

The youngest unmarried mother case was thirteen years and the oldest forty-four years. One girl in this county has four illigetimate children. She has been given mental tests and declared not feeble minded but with alarming anti-social tendencies.

In only one case has there been failure to establish paternity. This case was dismissed in municipal court. In one case where the child died money was used to send the girl to school.

These cases are cited as an evidence of the need of haste in handling cases from a standpoint of economy. A family moved here from Marshall county. The mother had been raised in an institution for the feeble-minded and the father was tubercular. City authorities were notified within three days after their arrival but no effort was made to send them back. Mar-

HAPPY NEW YEAR

With but a few days of 1923 remaining The Times and its staff takes this opportunity to wish everyone a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Attention is called to the letter by G. Halvorson in the public forum column this week, in which he proposes the organization of a local body or corporation to promote industries in the city. The lack of employment in this city is apparent and it is well to consider plans for securing means whereby men may obtain work, this being essential to the future of the city, according to the ideas put forth in the communication.

shall county continued paying them a county allowance until they gained a residence here. The father was taken to the sanitorium but refused to stay. He finally died at home but not until he had infected all the children, two of whom died of that disease. The third is at Walker sanitorium where this county is paying $45.00 a month for its support. The mother has just given birth to an illigetimate child.

Another case came before the grand jury in 1922. This was not handled in any way by the Child Welfare board. There was a warrant for the arrest of a man in 1919 on a carnal knowledge charge. The warrant was not served and the man went to Canada where he married and had a child. He came back and was arrested and tried in 1922. As there was a woman and child on each side sympathy was with the legal family and he was released. The trial cost the county a large amount which might have been avoided with prompt action in the beginning.

Another case is that of a girl who gave her step-brother as the father of her child although the step-father was suspected. The step-brother is now in Red Wing. The girl was sent to Sauk Centre. After her arrival word was received that she was again to become a mother. If she had been sent more promptly the second crime might have been avoided. Word has been received that the first child is so vicious it can not be cared for at Sauk Centre and Pennington county has been asked to pay the expense of it's care elsewhere.

County allowance cases are a large part of the work of the Child Welfare board. These must be regularly visited or the county can never be reimbursed by the state in case such appropriation is made. Advice and help is given. Mr. Wold has been a valuable advisor to cases of this kind living on farms.

In all instances of families moving into the city or county who are likely to become an expense an effort is made at once to send them back. This is often done before their goods are unpacked.

Many cases handled are not really within the jurisdiction of a Child Welfare board. They might properly belong to Associated Charities, Employment Bureau or Police Department.

While there is no financial account, aid has been received from the Masons, Elks, Girls Community club, Junior Red Cross, Social Welfare Division of Woman's club, W. C. T. U. and many private individuals when needed. Too great appreciation can not be given to the splendid men and women who have given permanent or temporary homes to children. The county has paid the expense of country members attending meetings, for stationery, postage, telephone and telegraph messages, programs, etc., of regional conference held here, and the expense of a member to the state conference once. The work could be carried on more efficiently with a definite amount and the services of an executive secretary so personal work of members would not be necessary which expense might be divided by the Red Cross, city and county government.

A word in regard to the board members may not be out of place. Mr. Peterson took an uncompromising stand for law enforcement and especially regarding unsupervised dances, which helped to bring our present law to pass. Mr. Gunderson handled many cases of truancy which brought him discomfort. Mrs. Larsen's position on the city school board and her deep interest in children has been of great value to the board. Mr. Wold is one of the best and fairest minded men in Pennington county and has always been a main-stay of the board. The work of the chairman was recognized by the state when she was made a regional chairman. Mr. Roy and Mr. Sande have taken places on the board after the pioneer work was finished. They have great opportunity for valuable service. William Hodson, first executive secretary of the Children's Bureau, said: "The acid test of true service is the ability to withstand adverse criticism for the sake of sound principle and right course of action." Nowhere is this more true than in doing child welfare work among friends, neighbors and associates.

The matter of publicity in child welfare work is one much discussed. The very nature of the work requires secrecy and yet some publicity is required for the proper appreciation of the work. Ignorance, disease and poverty are the greatest contributing factors in child welfare cases and the real solution of social problems, if there is one, lies in prevention. In county work this may best be brought about through co-operation between the Child Welfare board, county commissioners, city and county governments, officers in charge of enforcing the laws, Red Cross, all welfare organizations and churches, wholesome and supervised recreation, adequate home life, and most important of all, a public opinion which shall be a driving force of good.

The county welfare boards are accomplishing a great amount of good in their line of activity, and are deserving of the heartiest co-operation of every citizen.

HOW ABOUT THE FUTURE OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Every day we read the Twin City papers about their good fortune in securing a Ford manufacturing plant of large proportions and we desire to congratulate the Twin Cities and particularly the city of St. Paul for its aggressive work in this connection.

Cities like St. Paul and Minneapolis can be built up and maintained only by securing institutions that will reach out long distances for their business and this applies to smaller towns as well. Take our own city of Thief River Falls, located advantageously as a distributing center, and if we desire to see our own town grow and prosper we must adopt the tactics of the larger towns; we must get institutions here that will reach out for business; and no time is better than just now. We know that decentralization in big industries must take place for economic reasons, and that in the future we will see industry distributed over the country in small units and it is up to the towns located as we are to take advantage of this tendency.

Then where do we come in? Shall we take a back seat? Shall we let other cities pass us in this regard? Where do we see any effort to better commercial status locally.

We need leadership in this matter if we cannot find such a leader among our business men let us employ one. We do not want a so-called secretary whose duty is to write letters or perform other clerical duties. What we want is an executive who will see that industries are located here that will give employment to men, whom we have with us in large numbers, who are anxious to work and whose welfare ought to be looked after. We need no more stores, no more doctors, dentists, lawyers, druggists or bankers, what we want is employment for men, and to furnish this should be the goal of all our progressive business men for the next year.

We must leave behind the idea that we are simply a country town and dependent upon the farmers, for while we appreciate them, our town is entirely too large for the farming community to support, hence we must do as the other towns are doing—go out after the business. Let us proceed with this idea in view and place men in control who can see beyond today, and who have the courage to do and the power to see; and not the man who stands on the corner and says, "It would be nice, but how are you going to do it?"

Let us do it, and do it now.

Yours truly,
G. Halvorson.

Resolve to Co-operate with Your Creamery

The success of your local Co-operative Creamery means greater prosperity to you. Your patronage contributes to the success of the local creamery and consequently by patronizing the local creamery every farmer is assuring greater prosperity for himself.

The local creamery has enjoyed a very liberal patronage during the past year and with the united co-operation of our patrons the prospects for the future look bright. There is urgent need of greater co-operation, however, and your attendance is desired at the dairy meeting to be held at Thief River Falls on Jan. 3rd, when some of the dangers that confront the dairy business will be explained.

We wish all our patrons and friends a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

SHOW WISDOM IN CHOOSING SCHOOL

"Graduates of Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., seem to get all the good positions—I'll go there." Hilda Thompson decided wisely. A position as stenographer and bookkeeper was open for her at the Bathgate National Bank when she finished her D. B. C. course.

In considering schools, remember that Standard Oil Co., Ford Motor Co., International Harvester Co., and nearly 700 banks employ D. B. C. graduates repeatedly. "Follow the Succe$$ful." Begin January 1-8. Write today to F. L. Watkins, Pres., 806 Front St., Fargo, N. D., for terms, etc.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE

If you have headaches, dizzy spells;
If you suffer from backache;
If the kidney secretions are irregular,
Don't delay—likely your kidneys are sick.

Thief River Falls people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor!

Here's a Thief River Falls woman's experience:

Mrs. Chas. Alexander, 216 Conley Ave., says: "Severe pains across my back kept me from doing my work. My head swam with dizziness and I was afraid to walk across the room. My kidneys didn't act as they should and I felt miserable all over. Doan's Kidney Pills, bought at Bottleson's Drug Store, rid me of the trouble and I have felt well ever since."

The above statement was given Dec. 1, 1917, and on Aug. 8, 1921, Mrs. Alexander said: "I use Doan's occasionally and they always give good results."

Norwegian Scenes Shown at S. of N. Hall Wednesday Eve

Those who saw the slides presenting views from Norway at the Sons of Norway hall Wednesday evening, last week, say that it was like making a trip to the "old country."

A series of about three hundred pictures, a large number of which were colored, were shown by S. O. Olstad of Minneapolis, who came here under the auspices of the local lodge of the Sons of Norway. Mr. Olstad has traveled extensively throughout the "land of the midnight sun" and on his trip last summer took a large number of views from all sections of the country, representing scenic beauties of old and modern Norway.

Invading some of the most picturesque scenery of Norway, the historic fiords, inland seas, rugged coast line, fishing hamlets, modern cities and ancient buildings with their quaint viking architecture, scenes from every day life in the different communities, were features of the evenings entertainment. Each picture was accompanied by explanations by Mr. Olstad.

Lloyd Larson arrived the first of the week from St. Paul to spend the Christmas vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Larson. He has been in the employ of the Nichol-Dean Manufacturing company the past couple of years.

Oklee Stores Burglarized

Burglarizing apparently is becoming a popular sport these days. Every newspaper chronicles numerous acts of this kind in all sections of the country. Even the villages of this vicinity are being ravaged by culprits of this disposition. Last week the Oklee Herald recorded no less than two burglaries, instances where local mercantile establishments had been broken into and the wrongdoers helped themselves to desirable objects of value.

Salvation Army Being Asked For Clothing by City's Poor

The Salvation Army of Thief River Falls is being called upon by the needy in the city and community with requests for clothing and shoes. Especially children's clothing is in demand, as are also men's trousers. It would be greatly appreciated if those who have clothes that are no longer being used would send them to the Salvation Army quarters at 317 Main avenue north, to be distributed among those who are really in need of garments, especially for the winter months.

Daredevil Riders Give Riding Crop To Madge Bellamy

Madge Bellamy, who plays the lead in Thomas H. Ince's hilarious screen version of "The Hottentot," has been presented with a silver-tipped riding crop by the "suicide troupe," a group of eighteen riders who appeared with disastrous results in the spectacular steeplechase in the picture.

Miss Bellamy does some clever riding in the film and manages to stay on all the time, which is more than the eighteen could achieve when they went over the jumps in the steeplechase. Besides an eighteen-foot water jump, the course, which was specially prepared by experts for the film picture, included twenty-three other jumps fences, hedges, stone walls and artificial barriers.

The cameras caught some astounding "spills" when the riders, one after another, went down to defeat in their effort to break speed records on the course. The riders who were thrown bought and presented the crop to Miss Bellamy in admiration of her horsemanship after she managed to complete the picture without a single fall.

"The Hottentot," written by Willie Collier and Victor Mapes, was Collier's greatest stage success. It tells the hilariously funny story of a yachtsman, terrified of horses, who is mistaken for a famous steeplechaser of the same name and finally forced to ride in a breakneck race. It will be shown at the Princess theater on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Agnes Tandberg arrived at the home of her mother, Mrs. Julia Tandberg, Friday, from Northfield, where she has attended the St. Olaf's college the past three years, to spend the Christmas recess. Miss Tandberg will graduate from that school in the spring.

OVEMBER RECEIPTS FOR CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY ARE GOOD

early $16,000 Paid Patrons During Month. Seventy Get More Than $50

Altho November is the poorest month in the year so far as creamery eceipts are concerned, Secretary T. I. Bjerke of the Farmers' Co-operative creamery of this city, reports very satisfactory returns for that period. A total of $15,697.24 was paid o patrons during November this year, which is an increase over last year. Last year only 33 patrons received hecks in the amount of $50 or more while this year the list includes nearly 70, indicating that dairying in this community is becoming more intensified and those engaged in that industry are realizing larger returns. The price paid averages about the same as in 1922, sweet cream bringing 57 cents and sour cream 54 cents. It is to be noted that more than two-thirds of the cream is sweet and is purchased at 57 cents, which is considered a good price, especially as compared with some other farm products.

During the past eleven months of 1923 the local creamery has shipped out butter for a total of approximately $200,000, and in addition to that has had a local trade amounting to about $60,000. There is also a considerable amount of butter on hand at the present time. A full account of the business of the creamery during the year will be published after the annual meeting in January.

The local institution has signed a contract to sell all its butter thru the state sales agency at St. Paul, this being done in an effort to obtain better prices and eliminating unnecessary expense in handling and marketing, which increases the spread between the returns of the producer and the price paid by the consumer. The butter will be shipped to St. Paul from the various ertameries of the state to be graded and sold in carload lots. When placed on the market it is sold as Minnesota butter, which as a brand ranks A-1 among the products of the entire country. Another feature of the new sales plan is that the butter is shipped directly to the point of consumption instead of being shipped first to eastern markets and then distributed from there.

The patrons of the creamery in this city who received $50 or more during November were:

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATED IN THIEF RIVER FALLS

Thief River Falls and vicinity enjoyed a practically snowless Christmas this year, something unusual for this section.

Special services were held in the churches of the city on Christmas day and several of the Sunday schools have presented programs and pageants during the holiday season.

Pre-holiday buying was considered quite heavy in view of present conditions, buyers from points for miles surrounding the city coming here to make their selections from the splendid stock placed on the market by local merchants.

RED LAKE FALLS WOMAN SUICIDES

Mrs. William Kreuger Drowns Herself in Fit of Despondency. Leaves Brief Note

Leaving a brief note telling her family goodbye, Mrs. Louise Krueger, aged 42, of Red Lake Falls, disappeared from her home Wednesday night of last week. Summoned by the fire bell Thursday morning, a searching party found her body in a hole in the Clearwater river, her clothes frozen in the ice.

Oppressed by poor health and financial troubles she had previously threatened to drown herself.

She leaves a husband, William H. Krueger, and three daughters, Leora, aged 19; Irene, aged 15, and Elizabeth, aged 4 months. For many years the deceased and her husband ran the Grand View Hotel at Red Lake Falls.

Mrs. Krueger was discovered to be missing from her home Thursday morning when the following note was found by her husband:

"I am leaving you forever. I have been too much of a burden to you. God bless you and the children. Goodbye to all."

She was first missed when the rest of the family got up at 7 o'clock in the morning and found the note.

Searching parties were hurridly organized and because she had told her daughters several times recently that she was going to find a hole in the river and jump in, the searchers made for the river and found tracks made by a woman's shoe leading up to a hole in the ice east of the Fiber Products Co. pumphouse.

While some members of the party were chopping the ice to make it possible to work with pike poles, shouts of others further down the river, near the Kuehl residence, informed them that the body had been found in a hole. Fred Zaiser, Elmer Guillemettee, Wm. Nieland, and Gustave Zaiser noticed a blue object under the ice and upon investigation it proved to be Mrs. Krueger's coat.

The body was found face down in the water and her clothes were frozen in the ice and had to be chopped away before the body could be taken out of the river. She had put on her coat overshoes and hat before starting out.

Worried by ill health and brooding over troubles, Mrs. Krueger had not been entirely in her right mind of late.

Mrs. Krueger was born in Calumet county, Wisconsin, and came to Red Lake county with her parents in 1883, making their home at Wylie. She was married to Mr. Kreuger 21 years ago and conducted the Grand View hotel for many years until the opening of the Lincoln hotel in 1919 when the Kreuger family moved to their farm in Louisville township. They moved back to Red Lake Falls this summer.

"By careful management and painstaking effort, they managed to amass a neat little fortune, but this unexpected turn of affairs gave Mr Goergen but a short time in which to enjoy the friuts of his labors. Railroad Men Endorse "Westbound Limited"

Railroad organizations thoroughout the world have heartily endorsed "Westbound Limited," Emory Johnson's dynamic drama of the railroads, which is to be shown at the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday.

There have been many railroad dramas filmed in motion pictures, but "Westbound Limited" is the first real effort to put forth a film narrative that paints the life and dangers of a railroad man as it is really lived.

"Westbound Limited" has been shown to organizations of railroad men in every part of the country and they have been highly enthusiastic over the superb and human manner in which Emory Johnson, the producer, has glorified their work.

Mr. Johnson, the producer and director, has painted the railroad man as a human, sincere, self-sacrificing individual who is used to authority and knows what to do with it in an emergency.

Railroad men all over the world are heartily endorsing "Westbound Limited," because it shows what big men they are.

SLIGHT DROP IN TAX VALUATION FOR NEXT YEAR

Decrease of $45,876 in Real and Personal Property, Says Auditor's Report

PENNINGTON COUNTY TAX TOTALS NEARLY $500,000

One-half of Tax is Paid by City And Villages. Rate in Goodridge Totals 152.1 Mills

The taxable valuation of real estate and personal property in Pennington county has fallen off $45,876 in the past year, according to figures submitted to the state auditor and state tax commission by County Auditor T. P. Anderson's office. The decrease is principally in the personal property list.

The total taxable valuation of the county at this time and the amount on which the tax levy for 1924 will be based is $5,486,116 as compared with $5,632,092 last year. This year's figures represent $4,874,715 in real estate and $611,401 in personal property values. There is little change in the moneys and credits, this item totalling $884,769 last year as compared with $820,640 at this time—a drop of $64,129.

The decrease in the county's total taxable valuation since the 1921 report is $1,333,336.

Value Per Acre $26.28

There are 389,585.77 acres of land on the assessment rolls with an average taxable valuation of $8.76 per acre. This is one-third of the actual value, which would make lands in the county on an average worth $26.28. The total assessed value of all lands, inclusive of structures, is $4,874,715, of which $1,460,625 represents the total for the city and village municipalities.

The total tax to be collected is $497,977.96, including grain tax of $70.42 and tax on moneys and credits amounting to $2,462.79. The tax levy this year is practically the same as the previous year.

Average Rate 54.3 Mills

The average rate of taxation in the county is 64.3 mills for all lands. An average of 56 mills is assessed against districts outside of incorporated cities and villages, and an average of 122.8 mills against property in these latter subdivisions.

City and Villages Pay Half

The amount of tax to be collected in Thief River Falls next year totals $197,238.46, and when this sum is added to the amounts assessed against property in the villages of St. Hilaire, $11,790.85, and Goodridge, $7,547.23, the total is $216,576.54, leaving $281,401.42 for the remainder of the county. When moneys and credits are added it is found that the one city and two villages pay fully one-half of the entire tax assessments. Moneys and credits total $1,758.69, the three subdivisions referred to being assessed as follows: Thief River Falls, $1,626.56; St. Hilaire, $130.71 and Goodridge, $102.42.

Big Share For Schools

The schools will get a large share of the total tax levied, the sum necessary for the education being twice as great as that for general purposes. Following is the manner in which the taxpayers' money will be distributed:

	Moneys and Credits	General
State Tax	$ 410.48	$ 43,888.05
County	410.48	74,618.86
Ditch	------	74,261.05
City and Vill.	586.23	88,430.31
Township	234.68	38,642.49
Schools	820.92	175,603.09
Total	$2,462.79	$495,444.75

There is still some unplatted acreage in Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire. In the city this property of 426.47 acres has a taxable valuation of $15,281, an average of $33.98 per acre, while the village of St. Hilaire with 998.55 acres has a total tax roll from this source of $17,785, or an average of $17.60 per acre. The total taxable valuation for the city is given as $1,554,017, and in addition $509,078 of moneys and credits, with a tax of $197,238.

70 Mile Bicycle Ride in Below Zero Weather Done By Thief River Falls Man

Starting out on a 70 mile bicycle ride in below zero weather in Northern Minnesota may seem to many a bold task but not too great for Knute Nelson, student at the University of North Dakota. He left this city at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, Jan. 2, and expected to make the trip that day. Saturday, Dec. 22, he made the trip to this city in seven hours on his wheel, averaging about ten miles per hour in winter weather. Mr. Nelson graduated from the local high school in the year 1920, taught school east of this city for two years and is now a freshman at the U. of North Dakota. He spent the holiday vacation at the Knute Solheim home east of this city.

Elm Lake Case May Come Up For Settlement Soon

Riparian rights to owners of land adjoining Elm Lake, a small lake near Mud Lake and drained in the same system used to drain Mud Lake, will come up for a court hearing before Judge Andrew Grindeland as soon as the case is completed by W. J. Brown, Thief River Falls attorney, now president of the American Wheat Growers Associated. The original lake occupied about 700 acres and land owners adjoining the lake about a year ago claimed their share of the lake bed. When the hearing is held the land will be divided proportionately among the owners, according to I. E. Quist, county highway engineer who made the surveys for the adjoining land owners, says the Warren Sheaf.

HUNDRED LINCOLN GRADS CELEBRATE IN REUNION FRIDAY

F. J. Burns Elected to Head High School Alumni at Annual Affair at S. of N. Hall

Nearly one hundred graduates of the Thief River Falls high school and members of the Alumni association were in attendance at the annual reunion which was held at the Sons of Norway hall last Friday evening. It was agreed to be one of the most enjoyable affairs staged by the association and practically every class was represented. A large number of former Lincolnites who are attending college or university or who are engaged in teaching or other activities and spend their vacation in the city took advantage of this opportunity to get together with school and classmates to renew friendships and talk over past experiences.

The election resulted in the selection of the following officers for the coming year: Francis burns, president; Stephen Arneson, vice president; Miss Doris Richter, secretary; and George Mostue, treasurer. The retiring officers who were in charge of making preparations for the 1923 reunion are: Oscar C. Paulson, president; Roy Brown, vice president; Dreng Bjornaraa, secretary; and Miss Sibyl McGinn, treasurer.

The principal talk of the evening was given by I. T. Simley, superintendent of the city schools, who spoke enthusiastically about the local schools and urged members of the alumni association to back up their Alma Mater whenever possible. A brief welcome was given by Oscar C. Paulson, president, responded to by Math Barzen, who spoke in behalf of the 1924 senior class which was admitted into the organization at this time. A vocal solo by Elra Porter, ably accompanied by Mrs. W. B. Stone on the piano, was a splendid number and was well received by the large audience, as was also a piano selection by Elnor Overland.

Before and following the program and business meeting, dancing and a general social time was enjoyed, dancing being the chief diversion of the hours. A fine program of music was furnished by Miss Theone Walker, H. S. Snyder and Earl Effinger. Numbers were also played by Elnor Overland and Norman Dybvik. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

A balance of about $25 realized from 1923 dues to the association will be used for future activities and has been placed on deposit.

Sons of Norway Christmas Party Draws Large Crowd

An unusually large attendance partook in the Christmas party staged by the Sons of Norway lodge at their quarters last Thursday evening. Members of both the Sons and Daughters lodges were present in full numbers and several invited guests.

Attorney Theo. Quale was the speaker of the evening. He gave a very interesting review of the various Christmas customs and traditions in different lands and countries and dealt particularly with those characteristic of old Norway, from which a large number of those present are emmigrants. A violin duet by two young boys, Gordon Overland and Justus Larson, pleased the audience, as did also a fine vocal duet by Misses Liv Vistaunet and Isabelle Richter, accompanied by Miss Doris Richter. The gathering was presided over by President- elect Bernhard Knudsen, who also gave a brief talk touching upon the meaning and significance of the Christmas observance and the close relationship between the Yuletide spirit and the mother heart. The fact that at Christmas time every person's thoughts turn to mother was forcibly brought out by the speaker. Singing by the audience closed the program, following which refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening spent in dancing and a general social time. Old and young stepped the light fantastic to old-time music, several square dances making up the evenings' dance program.

BURGLARS TAKE GOODS FOR $500 AT KEITH STORE

Thieves Enter Save-U-Money Store Here Friday Morning And Help Themselves

MANY ARTICLES OF MEN'S FURNISHINGS IN BOOTY

Marauders Gain Entrance Thru Rear of Building and Make Clean Getaway

Thieves Friday morning, about two o'clock, entered the Save-U-Money store on LaBree avenue and made a get-away with $500 worth of men's furnishings, breaking their way in by forcing a latch. No trace of the marauders has been found beyond the tracks of their car which led to Red Lake Falls.

When Bernard Sundahl, clerk at the Save-U-Money store, arrived at the store Friday morning to open up, he found the stock on display on the tables and in the racks disheveled and mixed, and much of the stock taken. He at once notified Arthur E. Keith, proprietor, and the police. It was found that entrance had been affected by entering the rear entry thru a window and breaking the latch on the inner door, by force. About $500 worth of suits, sweaters, overcoats and much woolen goods had been taken. Tracks of a large car were found at the rear of the building and these were traced as far as Red Lake Falls.

When Sheriff Ole L. Ihle was informed of the case he stated that he met a large Buick car on the road between St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls about three o'clock in the morning, according to information received by a Times reporter this week. He did not suspect anything at the time but the tracks proved to be those of the car which left the rear of the Save-U-Money store. According to the chief of police, Ralston, the robbers may have been at work when night patrolman Krogstad came up from the depot and on seeing the police made a hasty get-away, which was apparent from the amount of goods readily accessible that was left. This would coincide with Sheriff Ihle's meeting of the car at a little after three o'clock, near St. Hilaire. All attempts by local police to trace the thieves further than Red Lake Falls have been to no avail.

FATHERS AND SONS MUST JOIN FORCES IS BANQUET THEME

State Boys Worker Addresses 70 Fathers and Sons at Presbyterian Church

About 70 men and boys of the city attended the Fathers' and Son's banquet at the Presbyterian church basement last Friday evening. The purpose of the gathering was to create a feeling of closer relationship between the fathers and the sons, the older and the younger boys.

Following a delicious repast a number of those present were called upon for expressions, J. S. Arneson, acting as toastmaster. Bruce Tallman, state secretary of boys' work in the Y. M. C. A., was the principal speaker of the evening, the theme of his talk being "The Meaning of Youth."

Mr. Tallman said, "The present generation of boys is the greatest the world has ever seen; greatest in ability, training and responsibility. The chief interest of our civilization is demonstrated by homes, schools and churches.

"Youth is a long period. It takes so long to grow up. Chicken develop in a few weeks, but are good only for the frying pan. A horse develops in four years for a life of physical toil. God so planned that a boy would have 25 years to develop as a product of His handiwork to be a leader of men.

"There is much to accomplish during these years. All life is a failure unless physical vigor is developed. A well trained intellect is developed only thru hard study. A pleasing personality, so much needed in dealing with people, comes only with careful training. The soul must be kept in tune with its Maker. All of this development requires the most complete co-operation between father and son. There must be no brick wall of misunderstanding separating these two.

"It is easy to defeat God's plan in this life. Selfishness, dishonesty and wrong-doing creep in.

"An old painter was striving hard to paint a master-piece; he worked long years, only to let his passion for drink come at the last—and his painting was destroyed. The only material out of which God can make His masterpiece, man, is out of a boy. We need boys with a will to do right and Christian man leadership to accomplish this. The future of this or any other town rests with its present generation of boys and their leaders, the men."

More confidence and comradeship between father and son was urged by the speakers, who emphasized the idea that a son should go to his father for advice before anyone else. Speaking for the fathers were Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Supt. I. T. Simley, Bert Umland, Sr., and G. Halvorson; and for the boys Harold Smithers, Robert Halvorson, Guy Johnson, Harold Will and Henry Arneson.

A great deal of benefit and inspiration was derived by those present at the banquet and it is expected that this event will be followed by others of a similar nature.

Thermometer Shivers As Cold Wave Sends Mercury Below Zero; At Par Today

Climatic conditions of Northern Minnesota suffered a slight change last week. After a lengthy period of ideal golfing weather, the weatherman suddenly thrust upon this section a full quota of atmosphere of a decidedly cool nature. The chronics who continually harp on "we'll get our share of cold after this fine weather" finally have the opportunity to see the realization of their predictions, while the more optimistic are happy because the California weather lasted as long as it did and congratulate each other upon the fact that every day in every way we are nearing spring and February has only 29 days, which, by the way, is even a day more than last year.

However, Thief River Falls and vicinity is not alone about enjoying the cold wave. According to press reports other points of apparently more southern latitudes have been subject to snow storms, blizzards and allied atmospheric disturbances, of a more intensified degree than in this community. As yet the snow here is in such a small quantity that sleighrides, for instance, are almost an impossibility. And so far the record "coolness," according to official figures, is 28. Yes, it was below zero.

PLANS TO MAKE PENNINGTON CO. ALFALFA CENTER

Farmers of County Expect to Increase Alfalfa Acreage by 5,000 Acres in 1924

ONLY CERTIFIED GRIMM SEED WILL BE PLANTED

Increased Interest in Greatest Movement in Program For Diversified Farming

According to the figures in the Farm Bureau office taken from questionaires received from the Pennington farmers during the month of December in the alfalfa campaign, there are at the present time approximately 4,000 acres of alfalfa in Pennington county. Most of them started since 1920 as a result of various campaigns and literature boosting Pennington county as the real home of alfalfa. According to these statements received from farmers, 5,000 additional acres will be sown during 1924. Most of this will be planted from Lyman's Pure Grimm Alfalfa seed and a certificate that is shown below will accompany each purchase. This is hardy No. 1, northern grown alfalfa and guaranteed by the originator of Grimm alfalfa seed, A. B. Lyman.

As was announced in last week's issue of The Times, a carload, 30,000 pounds of certified Grimm seed is being shipped here from Idaho, scheduled to arrive in Thief River Falls for distribution among Pennington farmers.

This shipment is secured through the united efforts of the Pennington County Bankers' association, the Farm Bureau and the Thief River Falls Commercial club. It will be sold here to local farmers at 45 cents per pound. In an advertisement in this issue of the Times the Tessum Seed company also announces a considerable amount of certified alfalfa seed for sale.

Statistics show that soil fitted for the growing of alfalfa crop should never sell less than $100 per acre regardless of location. This will mean that Pennington county will have a vast territory of valuable land in 1924. The value of the hay and pasture is known by most readers of farm papers and those who have made experiments along that line. A single ton of alfalfa hay is equal to a ton of bran in protein contents. As a soil builder the spreading roots and nitrogen carrying power greatly improve the condition and enriches the quality of the soil.

Many have hesitated on raising more alfalfa as they believe the market would be flooded with seed. This holds true of potato raising but cannot be stated in the case of alfalfa growing, as the seed crop is one of the smallest items of income. Alfalfa hay can be sold at $20.00 per ton or fed to additional dairy cows, when its value should be at least $30.00 per ton.

In short, it will mean better dairy feed for Pennington county cows, a much more improved soil for crop diversification and an additional revenue for the sale of pure Grimm and the foundation seed coming from a known source, accompanied by certificates and affidavits for each purchase which will easily be proof that farmers of this county raise nothing but the best.

The Pennington County Agricultural Society met in the Farm Bureau office on Friday, Dec. 28. Plans for the program of 1924 were outlined, superintendents for each department were selected and each one given a premium list to revise according to the most up-to-date exhibition lists.

A number of subjects were taken up, including the carnival, there being a question of having them run under a uniform state contract. The secretary was instructed to take this up at the meeting of the county fair delegates held in St. Paul, January 7 to 9. Other matters pertaining to the securing of free acts and amusements were also left in the hands of the secretary to secure at the state meeting in St. Paul. The county agent, J. J. McCann, was again elected secretary for the year 1924. The regular officers are: Herbert Fuller, president; S. E. Hunt, first vice president; John Cronkhite, second vice president; Albert Lonson, treasurer; Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Fred Beerbower, Emil Griebstein, V. C. Noper and Roy Lambert.

With this set of able men to make arrangements and have charge of the 1924 Pennington county fair, its success is assured, as they have proven their ability and efficiency in handling previous county expositions.

The 1924 Pennington county fair will be held during the first week in August.

MUSICAL COMEDY TO BE SPONSORED THRU G. COMMUNITY CLUB

Arrangements Being Made For Lively Production to be Staged Here January 29.

The Girls' Community club of this city has made arrangements with the John B. Rogers Producing company of Fostoria, Ohio, who make a specialty of staging amateur productions, to stage their well known musical comedy, "Kathleen" at the city auditorium on January 29.

The Girls' Community club, under whose auspices this play will be given is busily engaged organizing committees, securing talent and getting everything in shape for the beginning of rehearsals, which will be announced at a later date.

This ought to be one of the big events of the year in amateur theatricals owing to the fact that "Kathleen" is not only full of powerful music, but contains a plot that is very consistent and holds the attention of the audience from the beginning of the opening chorus to the final curtain. The music for "Kathleen" was written by Clayton Hotchkiss, who is now head of the music department of Harvard university and who is very prominent in musical circles of the east, while the book and lyrics were written by Luther A. Yantis, who is well known to many theatre goers, as he not only has had several years of experience on the professional stage, but has written some very funny comedies and one-act plays which have been staged by several companies throughout the United States. Mr. Yantis is now collaborating with Oliver Morosco in many of his activities on the western coast.

An application of T. A. Tasa for a license to conduct a bowling alley and pool and billiard hall in the basement of the Citizens State bank building was ordered laid on the table to be considered at the next regular meeting.

Several lots bordering the river, known as Lovers' Lane, have been bought the past two years. The city clerk was authorized to issue order in the amount of $100 to Sverre Loveid, from whom the purchase was made.

The next regular session of the city council will be held on Jan. 8, when the municipal reins will be turned over to the new officials and council. Only one member of the old council will continue to serve another term, namely H. A. Brumund of the Second ward.

MORE MEN LEADERS MUST BE ENLISTED TO WORK WITH BOYS

Christian Leadership of Real He-Men Emphasized By State Sec'y to Y Board

The Y. M. C. A. board of this city in session last Friday afternoon was addressed by Bruce Tallman, state secretary of boys' work in the organization. He outlined the various phases of the boys' life, showing the necessity of real he-men leaders in directing him along the right paths of life. He emphasized the need of devotional influence and means which will create a desire to serve by providing the boy with desirable social association. Attention was called to the small number of workers and leaders compared to the enormously large number of boys who need guidance and leadership, and urged the members of the Y board to enlist more men in their efforts to help the boys, or as Mr. Tallman put it, "Work with the boys."

It was decided to hold the regular annual Y. M. C. A. meeting on Jan. 21, when every person in Thief River Falls interested in the work carried on by the Y should make it a point to be present. A committee to nominate officers for the coming year was appointed by Chairman C. D. Gustafson, and is composed of Dr. O. F. Melby, Rev. J. B. Smith and F. F. Haynes. The chairman was also authorized to appoint a committee to make plans and arrange for a membership drive among the young men of the city.

Previous to meeting with the board, Secretary Tallman met with a group of Y boys to discuss plans for establishing a Boys' Cabinet, a representative group of boys who would meet with the Y board and other organizations in order to secure more unified action in the various movements, and activities.

The Y. M. C. A. quarters in the basement of the Library building is open on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings.

Norma Talmadge As Adventuress in Emotional Role

Can you picture the incomparable Norma Talmadge as an adventuress who specializes in breach of promise blackmail.

As Mary Turner, released from prison after serving time for a department store theft of which she is innocent, and under oath to "get even" with the employer who wanted to make an example of her, she has such a role in the big First National picture, "Within the Law," coming to the Princess Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

Embittered by her inability to gain respectable employment, Mary Turner joins a gang of blackmailers with the proviso that they work only "within the law." And obtaining monetary "heart-balm" from wealthy and injudicious men she found to be the surest and most lucrative method.

The complications grow when Dick Gilder, son of Mary's [illegible] former employer, is picked as a victim, following which a most extraordinary and dramatic romance develops.

Mary Turner is the stellar part made famous by Jane Cowl on the stage in Bayard Veiller's play. It is said to give Miss Talmadge the greatest opportunity she has yet had to reveal her extraordinary emotional powers.

Jack Mulhall and Lew Cody have the principal male roles; Eileen Percy portrays Aggie Lynch, the blackmailer who induces Mary to join the band. Prominent parts are also played by DeWitt Jennings, Lincoln Plummer, Joseph Kilgour, Helen Ferguson, Warde Crane, Lionel Belmore, Catherine Murphy and Thomas Ricketts.

"Within the Law" was made under the masterful direction of Frank Lloyd and is presented by Joseph M. Schenck.

FARM AID BILL FOR HUGE LOAN ENDORSED HERE

Local Merchants, Bankers and Farmers Hear Advantages of Diversification

PENNINGTON CO. WILL BE INCLUDED IN TERRITORY

Proposed Bill Includes $50,000,000 Appropriation for Loans To Buy Livestock

Consideration of the plan to provide personal loans up to $1,000 to individual farmers for the purchase of live stock in a big movement to encourage diversified farming in the spring wheat area by federal appropriation of a $50,000,000 loan, was the purpose of a special meeting of the Commercial club called Thursday evening, Dec. 28. F. E. Balmer of the University Farm, St. Paul, was present for the purpose of explaining the Farm Diversification bill before congress, which was heartily endorsed by those present at Thursday's meeting, after the benefits which this section would derive from the proposed bill had been presented.

Pennington County had not previously been in the territory to be benefitted by this $50,000,000 appropriation, but following the strong arguments given by the business men and farmers present the representative stated that he would recommend Pennington for one of the territories to be included under the Diversification bill.

The Federal census for 1920 showed that Pennington county had seven percent of farms without cattle, 34 per cent without swine and 9 per cent without poultry. The average farm of Pennington county consisted of 238 acres with only fourteen head of cattle, five sheep, three hogs and fifty-three chickens. The club drew up resolutions stating these figures and the need for more livestock in Pennington county. This resolution was endorsed by the bankers present, the Commercial club, Farm Bureau and Farmers' Clubs which have been reached. Copies of the resolution was sent to representatives of this section at Washington, including Congressman Knud Wefald, Congressman Sydney Anderson, and Senator Magnus Johnson.

Security will be taken on the livestock and the amount loaned to each farmer cannot be used for buildings, feed or any other purpose. The benefits to be derived from such a loan should do an immense amount of good to the country as it will increase the amount of cream marketed through the Co-operative Creamery and increase the number of farms in the dairy business. Figures in the creamery show that dairy farmers are the successful farmers of the county. By making this loan it is giving the farmer machinery with which to make an income, rather than, sinking him farther in debt as it is sometimes thought of.

Mr. Balmer, who is the Minnesota farm bureau agent and well acquainted with the agricultural needs of the Northwest, announced that a hearing on the bill, which is known as the Coulter plan, will be held in Washington January 4th. He declared that Minnesota planned to be represented at the hearing and time was short in which to secure data regarding Minnesota's need for the legislation.

To secure this data a hurried survey of a number of farms in Polk, Kittson, Marshall, Red Lake, Norman and Wilken counties, where most of the spring wheat is raised, was made last week to be submitted to the congressional committee. These farmers interviewed were selected that their statements to the economic specialists will present a fair cross section of the economic status of farmers in this region.

The diversification bill:

Applies particularly to the wheat areas.

Provides a federal commission consisting of secretaries of agriculture (chairman,) commerce and treasury.

Commissions to continue activity for two years and as long thereafter as is needed to wind up its affairs.

Provides for legal steps to form an administrative agency.

Commission shall make loans to farmers, not exceeding $1,000, "for the purchase of livestock, including dairy and beef cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry."

Commission may itself purchase such livestock and supply the same to the borrower at cost.

No loan for more than 5 years.

Interest shall be six per cent.

Many Curiosities Displayed By League New Year's Eve

The Epworth League of the M. E. church held a curiosity social at the church basement Monday evening the last evening of the old year, and the last hour was spent in religious services in the church auditorium.

Many curios, brought from the homes were displayed, one of which was a fosil shell of an insect, possibly a million years old, brought by the Rev. J. B. Smith. Among the display were to be found curios including geological specimens, various guns illustrating the evolution of the rifle, cucumbers grown in bottles, wooden shoes from France, paper knives and letter openers made from machine gun shells, German helmets and other war weapons.

Games were indulged in by the young people until 11:30 when they repaired to the church auditorium for religious services. The last minutes of the old year and the first of the new were spent in prayer. After wishing each other the compliments of the season they dispersed to their respective homes.

Leaves For Coast

Mrs. Cora Wold of the La Vogue Shop leaves Sunday or Monday of the coming week for the Pacific coast to spend a period of six weeks or more as a guest at the homes of relatives and friends. She will visit mainly at Los Angeles.

Doris Halvorson, Music instructor, Weds L. C. Pope At Home of Parents Dec. 29

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Halvorson when their only daughter, Doris Maria, became the bride of Lanford C. Pope, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pope of Williamsport, Ind.

The marriage service was read by Rev. Charles Gerlinger in the presence of 35 relatives and intimate friends. Evergreens, baskets of white carnations and ferns and cathedral candles formed an improvised altar in the living room. Mrs. W. B. Stone, formerly Miss Ruby Anderson, played the program of nuptial music followed by the Lohengrin Wedding march. Miss Nina Rushfelt of Hawley, was the bride's maid of honor. She was dressed in a gown of peach colored taffeta and a silver hair band and carried an arm boquet of ophelia roses and narcissis. Miss Halvorson, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a draped gown of oyster white faille crepe, trimmed with bands of silver lace. Her tulle veil was held in place by a coronet of pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, lilies of the valley and bouvardia. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the bride's groom.

Lynn Halvorson, a brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. Halvorson, mother of the bride, wore a draped gown of heliotrope canton crepe, elaborated with rare old lace. The staircase and library were decorated with evergreens, holly and red candles.

Following the ceremony very dainty refreshments were served in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated in palms, ferns and pink and white carnations. A beautifully decorated wedding cake centered the table; at both ends were two lighted pink tapers in chrystal holders and bowls of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Ila Reynolds and Miss Monica Bambrick assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Pope left the same evening for a two week's wedding trip to be spent in Minneapolis, Chicago, Ill., and Williamsport, Ind., with Mr. Pope's relatives. For travel Mrs. Pope wore a navy blue poiret coat dress, trimmed with beaver fur and a navy blue and grey taffeta hat and veil.

The out of town guests were Miss Nina Rushfelt of Hawley and Mrs. E. J. Loken and daughter, Evelyn, of Crookston, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stone of New Concord, Ohio.

Mrs. Pope received her high school education in this city and was graduated from the Oberlin Conservatory of Music two years ago, where she received the Mus. B. degree. She is a talented pianist, and has been very successful in teaching piano here since graduating from Oberlin. She will resume her teaching at her studio at 515 LaBree avenue north, Jan. 14th.

Mr. Pope is a dispatcher at the Soo railroad offices of this city, having been employed there since 1920. He came to Thief River Falls from St. Paul, having been employed by the Northern Pacific railway in that city. He will resume duties here on his return from the honeymoon.

Great Northern Officials Say Past Year's Volume of Business Was Greatest Ever

Employes of the Great Northern railway are given credit for a major part in making 1923 one of the most successful years in the history of the Hill system; it is emphasized in Yuletide greetings extended by the company to its over 50,000 employes and to its patrons.

The message of appreciation, borne on special Christmas cards to the employes and contained in an announcement to the public of the Northwest territory served by the transcontinental line, is signed by Chairman Louis W. Hill of the board of directors.

In extending the season's greeting to patrons and employes of the Great Northern railway, Chairman Hill said:

"In point of volume of traffic, the year 1923 has been the largest in the history of the Great Northern Railway, although in net results the year was not so profitable to the owners as some former years have been, owing to the greater increases in the cost of things which go to make up transportation, its sole product.

"The Great Northern thanks the people who so liberally patronized it in 1923 and in doing so the Great Northern likewise extends its thanks to those faithful, loyal, and efficient employes who made it possible to handle this large volume of business. The Great Northern has great faith in the men and women who serve it, in the fairness of those whom it serves, and in the ultimate prosperity of the territory it traverses. It has endeavored to render more good service to its patrons and hopes continually to improve that service and to merit further patronage

"To all—patrons and employes alike—in the spirit of the season, the Great Northern Railway wishes a joyous Christmas and a happy and successful New Year."

President Ralph Budd, in a letter accompanying this Yuletide greeting to the employes, expresses the appreciation of the officials of the Great Northern for the co-operation given by the employes.

Autos Chug Right Along When They Are Fed Honey

Thousands of pounds of honey are being sold by producers in Minnesota for use in an anti-freeze compound in automobile radiators. For sub-zero weather a mixture of equal parts in volume of honey and water is being used. Fifteen pounds of honey are said to be sufficient for a Ford radiator.

"The honey and water must be mixed thoroughly while hot to get the best results," says James W. Thompson of the bee culture division of the University of Minnesota. "There must be no loose connections or worn gaskets, otherwise the honey mixture will get into the cylinder and 'gum up the works.' Should the radiator boil over, care must be taken to refill with more of the mixture. Engines which have stood all night in a cold garage should be started and warmed up before taking to the road.

"Honey which is not up to the mark for table use can be used in the antifreeze mixture. The radiator should not be entirely filled; a space of about an inch and a half should be left for expansion.

"Minnesota auto owners are buying large quantities of honey, mostly of inferior quality, for use in their cars. Some are prompted by curiosity to make the experiment, but most of them are using it because they have found it more economical even though the original cost is greater. As the water in the mixture evaporates, it will be necessary to add more occasionally. Unlike alcohol, honey does not evaporate."

(Official Paper, City of Thief River Falls)

It has been the experience of more than one state college of agriculture that the last person in the world to pay any attention to its teachings is none other than Mr. Dirt Farmer. This notwithstanding that the college employs highly trained agricultural experts to conduct research and also works out its conclusions in practical manner at experiment stations.

Agricultural colleges teach proper seed selection, proper preparation of the seed bed and proper farming and harvesting methods to assure the maximum yield per acre. Yet in the hard spring wheat states, each with a state agricultural college of high repute, the average wheat yield this year was only 9.. bushels per acre. Canadian wheat farmers garnered 20.6 bushels per acre.

Why do not the American farmers make fuller and freer use of the technical service available through their agricultural colleges and experiment stations? It is poor economy for them not to do so. For it is the tax money paid by the farmer which in a large measure maintains such institutions.

For instance, more bushels of higher grade wheat per acre, with production regulated to conform in general to domestic market requirements, will go far toward solving the wheat farmers' problems. The state agricultural colleges are splendidly equipped to help accomplish this. A campaign in every state backed by all farmers' and civic organizations, would not be amiss to educate the farmer to use the expert services his tax money already has paid for.

Increase Penalty

It is high time the legislative and judicial authorities began to consider the crime (the word is used advisedly) of drunkenness when driving a motor car as something infinitely more serious than is drunkenness under ordinary circumstances. Prohibition is as yet too new for the world old opinion of the drunken man, as one to be laughed at (pitied, perhaps), put to bed to sober up, fined a small sum as a public nuisance, to change, at least overnight.

But drunkenness which can harm no one but the inebriated man is one thing; drunkenness which is menace to all who use the streets and roads, and which via the car, converts the otherwise innocuous victim of his appetite to a potentially wholesale murderer, is entirely something else.

Sentiment is swinging over to regarding the drunken driver as one who commits more than a misdemeanor; but it should swing faster and go further. The man who, drunk, drives a car or truck, is a madman; a man without sense, without reasonability, without judgment. He puts in jeopardy the lives of men, women, and children. He endangers property. He may cause frightful loss of life, hideous maiming, terrible accidents. No maniac with a gun is allowed upon the streets; the man who deliberately makes himself a maniac and fits himself out with a car loaded with potential death for many should be dealt with with the utmost severity. A few dollars' fine, a few days in jail, the loss of a license, are not enough. The man who runs amuck with a gun, killing and maiming, gets years behind the bars. The man who runs amuck with a car while drunk is even more culpable.

Let judges once get it through their precedent bound legal minds that it is not the drunkenness, but the drunken driving which is the crime, and our already crowded hard roads will be safer for us all; our children, our women drivers, as well as our sober citizens protected, as they have a right to be, from a menace which has no excuse, legal or social, for existing.—National Highway Association.

Are You Fair?

If our merchant and their sales clerks were not a mighty good natured bunch of folks, whose rough edges have been worn down by much contact with human nature, they would have reason to get quite grouchy at times. There are some persons who will go, or send to more or less distant cities and make important purchases of hardware, furniture, etc. Then, when they want some little article in a hurry and must have it for some pressing need they rush to the home store and demand that it must be supplied to them right away, and sometimes ask that it be charged. They expect their home-men to keep stocked up with carloads of goods, yet fail to supply their share of the patronage that would warrant their keeping such a stock. A group of retail stores link up a town with a wonderful system for distributing modern products for home communities. Your home merchant brings to your door the comforts of advanced civilization, where you can examine and see what you want. Are you doing what you should to encourage them? The men who own and conduct the stores of your town are mostly a loyal force, working to build up this community, helping by paying taxes and providing modern facilities to improve its civic advantages and promote its prosperity. When you deal with them you back up and help them in making your town a bigger and better town. Think of these things the next time you take your pen in hand to sign a check or P. O. money order to order goods from some place that has no more interest in your town than they do in Asia, Europe or Africa.—Lakeville Leader.

Lars Lee

Lars Lee, 62, a resident of this county and vicinity the past 35 years, died while seated in a chair in the Central hotel Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

He had been confined to the Physicians hospital on two occasions, suffering from strokes, and had just a few days previously left the hospital. He entered the lobby of the hotel, seated himself in a chair and when spoken to a few minutes later was discovered to be dead.

He was born in Trondhjem, Norway. He settled on a homestead in Norden township 35 years ago and when the Indian reservation opened he bought a farm in Hickory. He is survived by a daughter, Martha Moore of St. Paul and Casper of Grantsburg, Wis.

FARMING IN 1923-1924

By Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.

The industry, courage and faith evidenced by the farmers of the nation during the past three years are slowly bringing their reward. Improvement in agricultural conditions continue—not as rapidly as desired or needed, nor as rapidly as deserved, but nevertheless it continues. The promise of the year has been fulfilled.

So we come to the end of the third year of post-war depression with a feeling of greater confidence born of better times already realized and with justified hope of still further improvement in 1924.

In general, the crops of 1923 were good. Some sections in the cotton belt and in the wheat belt suffered from the ravages of weather and insect pests, but the aggregate crop production was equal to the average of the five preceding years.

Considering money returns we find that the values of most crops are greater than in 1922. The total of all crops is 12 per cent greater. The values of the wheat, rye, rice, clover seed, cranberry, peach and pear crops are below 1922; in the case of wheat 11 per cent below. The values of all other important crops are greater.

It is difficult to measure the productive value of livestock during the year, dependent as it is upon crops marketed in that form. In general, it has been a prosperous year for sheep growers, fairly good for dairymen, less satisfactory for producers of hogs, and discouraging for growers of range cattle. Cattle feeders, however, have done very well on the whole.

There are discouraging conditions still to be overcome. There is the burden of debt. There are heavy taxes to be met. The cost of production and of what the farmers buy remains high. Farmers in the spring wheat territory especially are in sore straits from conditions largely beyond their control.

Experience gained during these years of depression, however, together with progress already made, warrant a hopeful attitude for the coming year. Gradually crop acreage is being better adjusted. The domestic market continues strong. The children keep coming, and that means a steadily increasing number of mouths to be fed. Those who stay by the farm and do good farming can look forward to better times as a reward for their years of toil and hardship. Those whose businesses depend directly upon farm purchases can find decided encouragement in the growing gross income of the farmer, for he will buy as his income expands.

The year 1924 comes with the promise of continued improvement in the material prosperity of the farmer, and the farmer continues to be the material and spiritual backbone of the nation.

Speaking of dairy co-operatives a Minnesota editorial (Cook Herald, St. Louis county) opines as follows:

"Too many farmers—and Cook has a number of them—are willing to sacrifice their own co-operative creameries when the centralized creamery offers one or two cents more per pound for butterfat. A few years ago there were co-operative creameries all over Kansas and Nebraska, but the farmers succumbed to the blandishments of the centralized creamery trust, and now those states have very few co-operative creameries, and their farmers are receiving 10 cents less per pound for their butterfat than is the Minnesota farmer, but it's the penalty the farmer pays for disloyalty to his own institutions."

GASOLINE COSTS

The report of N. J. Holmberg, commissioner of agriculture for Minnesota, covering his investigation of conditions governing the prices of gasoline, kerosene and lubricating oils, has just been made public and throws considerable light on this subject that is of interest to everyone.

After carefully weighing the testimony of several witnesses examined, including executive officers of the Standard Oil company, Commissioner Holmberg draws a number of conclusions which are significant. He finds that altho the demand for mineral oil products is increasing steadily the production at the present time is more than keeping pace with it, but the retail prices do not move up and down in accord with the higher or lower prices of crude oils but are largely determined by what the trade will bear.

Approximately one half of the gasoline, kerosene and lubricating oil sold in this state is sold by Standard Oil Co., of Indiana, and this company sets the retail prices of these products and the smaller dealers without any apparent coalition or understanding with the Standard follow its lead. The smaller dealers unanimously testified that their prices are determined by what the biggest operator sells for.

The ordinary gross retail margin on gasoline is two cents a gallon altho a spread as great as 10 cents has temporarily existed. On oils and greases the dealers make an exhorbitant profit, ranging all the way from 40 to 120 per cent.

Accompanying Commissioner Holmberg's report is given the number of gallons of gasoline and kerosene shipped into the different cities and villages of the state. A total of 143,-876,503 gallons of gasoline and 38,-065,275 of kerosene was shipped into Minnesota in 1922. Of this amount Thief River Falls received 488,750 gallons of gasoline and 259,000 gallons of kerosene. Figures for other cities and villages in this section are as follows:

Town	Gasoline	Kerosene
St. Hilaire	27,000	20,350
Red Lake Falls	208,550	75,250
Warren	209,000	135,450
Viking	25,550	19,550
Plummer	37,300	26,500
Oklee	49,700	45,800
Newfolden	43,950	22,700
Middle River	95,500	78,450
Holt	32,400	19,500
Lancaster	93,250	94,800
Greenbush	68,250	32,850
Crookston	697,885	227,900
Bemidji	681,300	205,100
Argyle	160,050	105,750
Minneapolis	25,284,600	2,634,250
St. Paul	17,744,500	2,628,505
Duluth	5,295,800	679,500

Thus it will be seen that approximately 100 gallons of gasoline and 33 gallons of kerosene for every man woman and child were sold.

Figured on the basis of dollars and cents at the average retail price in 1922 of 25 cents a gallon this would amount to a total expenditure in Thief River Falls of $121,188.50 for gasoline.

DAIRYMEN SIGN UP

Dairymen of this community, largely patrons of the local Co-operative creamery, and business men of the city gathered today noon at a special Commercial club luncheon, following which patron contracts were considered. According to reports as The Times goes to press, between 25 and 30 patrons of the Thief River Falls creamery signed contracts to deliver cream to the local institution for a period of five years. Efforts will be made to enlist the entire list of patrons in the movement to assure the success of the co-operatives in the fight with the so-called centralizers. Several local dairymen spoke at the meeting, Geo. G. Wallie of Hinckley also giving a brief talk. Among those present was E. O. Melsnens of Erskine, president of the valley dairymens' association.

The Coulter Diversification bill for federal loans to buy livestock was endorsed by the Commercial club and creamery association.

BUY NEW AUTO TAGS TO AVOID PENALTY

Applications and Rate Sheets Arrive Here For 1924 State Registrations

Applications for Minnesota 1924 motor vehicle license plates can be obtained locally at the following places: Citizens State bank, First National bank, First and Peoples State bank, Farmers and Merchants State bank, McFarland's garage, Berry's garage and Anseby and Burstad garage.

Minnesota is issuing 1924 automobile and truck tags—collecting the only tax on motor vehicles, every dollar of which goes for better roads on which to run the machines.

Mike Holm, secretary of state, announces that the taxes are due next Wednesday, Jan. 1, and that application blanks are ready now at about 4000 banks, car dealers' offices and those of notaries public and registers of deeds throughout the state. Upon receipt of the proper application and remittance, the license plates will be forwarded direct to the applicant.

Although there is ample time for registration now, warning is given to avoid the rush a little later and possible penalties for delinquents which are heavier than before. At 25 cents each for the first 20 days and $2 a month afterward, penalties this year may run as high as $15 it was stated. Unpaid auto taxes become delinquent February 15.

Good roads boosters point out that the license plates cost only a part of the money that would have to be spent for extra gasoline, tires and car repairs, except for the better highways which Minnesota car and truck owners are providing for themselves. The good-roads are a co-operative enterprise, to which each highway user pays a comparatively small amount each year, in lieu of all other taxes on the machines, they add. These are the only direct taxes for the trunk or so-called Babcock highways which carry three-fourths of the highway traffic and yield big returns to the general public in addition to the direct benefits to highway users.

Many From County Attend Aggie School at Crookston

The first term of the school year at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, closed Dec. 21. The second term will begin January 2. New students may enter for the second term and will be enrolled in special classes provided for them. It will be possible for them to complete a course of study during the three months. A number of courses are offered such as engineering, dressmaking, high school subjects, music, agriculture, business training, and domestic science.

This county was well represented at the Northwest School during the first term, twelve Pennington young people being enrolled. The attendance there was larger than for the last two years. A number of young men and women from this county expect to attend the Northwest School during the second term beginning January 2.

Robert Porteous, Sr.

Robert Porteous of Middle River died at his home Christmas day after a final illness of two weeks. Death was attributed to senility.

Mr. Porteous was born in Dumfreishire, Scotland, Oct. 23, 1842. At the age of four he came to Walkerton, Ontario, where he lived until he was 27. He then came to this state and took a homestead near Princeton, Minnesota.

To mourn his passing he leaves five children, Mrs. S. N. Rooke of Cupar, Sask.; Miss Jessie Porteous of Warren; James A. Porteous of Cupar, Sask.; William Porteous of Markinch and Robert Porteous of Middle River. His first wife died about 30 years ago. He married a second time to Mrs. Sarah Clear, who died April 12, 1919. He has since made his home with his son, Robert, at Middle River.

Interment was made at Warren. Mrs. A. J. Ralston and A. D. Ralston of this city.

Billboards May Return

Billboards being taken down along all state highways may go back again after the next legislative session, according to press reports.

A number of legislators are studying the Massachusetts plan of permitting this form of advertising under a heavy tax. They contemplate the introduction of a bill patterned after the Massachusetts law.

The state highway department began tearing down the bill-boards and other advertisements on the right of way of state maintenance Dec. 1. No report has been received from them yet but it is understood that they have almost completed their task.

May Letter County Roads

A matter which will receive the attention of the county commissioners at their annual meeting next week is the marking or lettering of all county roads. A statewide move is at present being promoted thru the state highway office where plans are being worked out to have every county provide its roads with alphabetical markers. It is expected that Highway Engineer Umland will be instructed by the county dads to proceed with this project, as it is generally regarded as a necessary part of the road building program of the state, as it aids the traveler on roads not a part of the trunk highway system.

SLIGHT DROP IN TAX VALUATION FOR NEXT YEAR

bottom of the list with a valuation of $102,718, beating Reiner to the place by about $7,000. Bray township has the lowest tax, 41.4, in proportion to its valuation and Reiner the highest, the rate for that township being 84.02. In Hickory township the rate for this year is 84.02.

Secretary of State Shown Up As Former Bicycle Fan

A picture of local interest appeared in the rotogravure section of the St. Paul Pioneer Press last Sunday, a photograph of the Bike Club members of Warren taken in 1893. Among the six men who comprise the group is Mike Holm, now secretary of state, father of Mrs. Clarence Erickson of this city. Other distinguished members are: Alfred Swanby, Marshall county clerk of court; G. A. Aubel, United States revenue collector at Crookston; Bert Knapp, real estate man at Warren; Iver Lodoen and O. H. Tharalseth, pioneer merchants of Warren. The now sedate executives and merchants are shown to have had quite youthful tendencies at one time when the two-wheeler was in vogue. Even the popular secretary of state displays youthful pride in his "bike", judging by the picture.

Bemidji Council Offers $25 Reward For Liquor Evidence

A standing reward of $25 to be paid any citizen of Bemidji not any officer of the law, for furnishing evidence which results in the arrest and conviction of liquor law violators in Bemidji is offered by the city council as the result of action taken at a recent session of Bemidji aldermen. The practise of writing anonymous letters to the authorities calling attention to illegal activities of local places was strictly discouraged, as it would do little to help the situation due to lack of evidence.

Legion Posts and Auxiliaries Spread Xmas Cheer

Everything within the power of Minnesota Legion Posts and their Auxiliaries was done to spread Christmas cheer among disabled men of the North Star State, both those hospitalized within the state boundaries and those in distant hospitals. St. Paul and Minneapolis Auxiliary headquarters were centers of activity—"clearing houses for gifts"—in connection with the work. At the boxes unpacked at headquarters attested days of labor and unselfish endeavor on the part of members living in cities, towns and hamlets all over Minnesota. Aberdeen and Thomas hospitals and Hospital No. 68 were flooded with gifts which brought smiles of joy and tears of happiness to many a disabled man who otherwise would have gone unremembered and without any personal touch of human kindness to brighten his Christmas day.

In Duluth, Rochester, Walker, Fergus Falls, Crookston, Bemidji, Worthington, Granite Falls, Nopeming and all other localities where service men are being hospitalized the local Auxiliary unit looked after Christmas plans.

In her Christmas message to state units, Mrs. George Osborne, president, pointed out in connection with the spirit manifested at Christmas that "it would be a wonderful world if we could all work together in harmony throughout the year to attain results such as this."

Fare and One Half To Farm Bureau Meeting in St. Paul

All arrangements have been completed for persons attending the annual convention of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, Jan. 8, 9 and 10, to make the round trip for a fare and a half, says J. S. Jones, secretary. All that will be necessary for persons attending to do, Mr. Jones says, is to obtain a certificate when the fare to St. Paul is paid. This certificate will be validated at the convention and will enable the holder to a return ticket for half fare.

"We must have 250 certificates," continued Mr. Jones, "so it is important that all attending should get their certificates, for the failure of one might result in losses by all attending." Tickets may be purchased from Jan. 5 to 11. The rate is effective until Jan. 16.

SUGAR FACTORY IN VALLEY CERTAINTY; SITE IS SELECTED

E. G. Forks Business Men Accept Plans of H. A. Douglas For $1,500,000 Enterprise

Plans for the erection of a $1,500,000 beet sugar plant in East Grand Forks took a big step towards realization on New Year's day when H. A. Douglas, president of the Minnesota Sugar Co., and who will head the company to be formed there purchased an option on the site of the proposed plant.

This step was taken following a conference between Mr. Douglas and 25 businessmen of Grand Forks and East Grand Forks at which Mr. Douglas' plans for the formation of a $1,500,000 company, $500,000 of which will be floated in this district, were accepted.

The site selected and on which the option was obtained Tuesday consists of 80 acres. The factory is to be completed in time to handle the 1925 sugar beet crop, according to the plans adopted.

As a result of the arrangements made at Tuesday's meeting, Mr. Douglas left Tuesday night and will immediately go east to perfect the arrangements for the organization of the company. He is expected to return there about the end of the present month and will then meet with a committee, provision for the appointment of which was made at Monday's conference, to perfect the details of the company's organization and for the flotation of $500,000 worth of the stock in this section.

The company which is to be formed will be entirely independent of any beet sugar concern at present operating, and it was brought out at Tuesday's conference that all farmers for a radius of 60 miles or more from Grand Forks and East Grand Forks would be vitally interested in making the enterprise a success.

Establishment of the factory in East Grand Forks will mean much to these farmers, it is pointed out, and should become a vital factor in the diversification program which has been found to be so necessary to the success of the farming industry in this part of the country. Sugar beets, it is pointed out by the farmers who have raised them in years past, mean not only a source of guaranteed income in themselves but also furnish food for livestock, and thus work doubly in the diversification program.

Launching of the beet sugar industry here thus becomes a matter of interest not only to this community but to the farmers of a large territory especially when it is considered that the factory to be built in East Grand Forks will probably be only one of a number of such establishments to be erected in the Red River Valley, and its success thus becomes important to the farmers over a large area as it is the farmers, rather than the city dwellers who will be chiefly benefitted.

Magnus Beaten

An event given considerable publicity last week was the milking contest between Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace and Senator Magnus Johnson which took place in Washington and in which the Minnesota senator was defeated. One press report has it that after Magnus, who had issued the milking contest challange, had been beaten, he issued a new challenge to the cabinet official for a bucksaw race.

Salvation Army Brings Good Cheer and Help To Many During Yule Tide

There is a Santa Claus, it is announced from Salvation Army headquarters, Minneapolis. Thousands of persons in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota to whom poverty has brought grave doubts as to the existence of that gentleman, will have their faith in his goodness renewed this year through activities of The Salvation Army.

In every city and town where an Army corps is located extensive preparations are being completed for carrying to the poor of the community some of the happiness and good cheer which sets aside Christmas Day as the happiest of the year.

To the poor of corps cities, clothing, fuel and food are being delivered. Requests from non-corps cities and towns, and from rural districts, for Christmas aid are being met with express and mail shipments of warm clothing.

Thousands of children were provided with toys, given to The Army by other more fortunate children for whom the playthings have lost their attraction.

In Minneapolis alone more than 1500 poor children and their parents are being cared for.

Judicial Ditch 30 Accepted At Warren Hearing Dec. 20

Judicial Ditch No. 30, north of Thief River Falls, thru North and Silverton townships, was officially accepted at a formal hearing before Judge Andrew Grindeland at Warren Thursday, Dec. 20. The ditch, which is about nine miles in length and forms an outlet for ditches Nos. 13 and 18, was completed last summer and accepted by the county boards of Marshall and Pennington counties. Although the project is entirely within Pennington county a large portion of the assessed land is in Marshall county. The project, which cost about $100,000, was started in 1919 and was carried thru the Supreme court before actual construction work was begun in 1921.

A small delegation from the town of Silverton in Pennington county appeared at the hearing and protested against their township assuming responsibility for the approaches, roads and bridges on the ditch. They were told by Judge Grindeland that this had nothing to do with the acceptance of the project itself.

County Attorney Theo. Quale represented Pennington county at the hearing, which concludes the proceedings connected with the acceptance of the project itself, although a culvert contract has not yet been approved.

In Marshall county roads have been designated from "A" to "K". A plan is being worked out in the state highway office whereby as far as possible county roads of the same alphabetical designations will be connected from county to county.

Mrs. M. P. Becken, Pioneer Resident, Passes Suddenly At Home of Daughter

Mrs. Ane Lusie Becken, wife of M. P. Becken residing at 616 Horace avenue north, died unexpectedly last Friday after but a brief illness, death occurring at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ed. Thorstad at Lockhart, this state, where she was spending the holidays. Mrs. Becken departed from her home here about a week prior to her death, apparently in good health. Shortly after her arrival, however, she was affected with an earache which gave but little pain on Friday, however. Being very weak she remained in bed altho no danger was suspected until Friday forenoon when it was discovered that she was unconscious. A physician was called but nothing could be done to restore her, a malignant mastoid having broken and the pus making contact with the brain. Mr. Becken was called on Friday but when he came to Crookston he was notified that she had already passed away.

Mrs. Becken was born Sept. 27, 1857, in Nordre Osterdalen, Norway, and came to Ottertail county, near Fergus Falls, in 1882. That same year she was united in marriage to Mr. Becken. They made their home in Ottertail county until in 1884 when they came to Thief River Falls and homesteaded the farm now owned by Albert Johnson, south of the city. Twelve years ago they disposed of the farm and moved to Thief River Falls, following which they again moved on a farm, this time near Lancaster, where they resided for five years. They returned to this city in 1919.

Deceased leaves to mourn her passing, her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Ed. Thorstad of Lockhart and Mrs. Oscar H. Hultin of Wing, N. D.; four sons, Gilbert of this city, Peter of Erskine, Sig of Erskine and Henry, who is a gold miner in Colombia, South America. All but Henry were here for the funeral which took place Monday, from the Larson Undertaking parlors, Rev. Chas. Gerlinger officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

A large circle of friends of the deceased and family join in extending their regret in the passing of a good friend and sympathize with the bereaved family in their sudden sorrow.

Has Good Month

The Plummer Co-operative creamery paid to its patrons during the month of November a total of about $8,000, according to the Pioneer last week. The average price was 57 cents per pound of butterfat.

Co-op. Creamery at Roseau Saves Patrons Nearly $1000

At this time when farmers in co-operative creameries are waging a war on the so-called centralizers the following article from the Roseau Times Region will be of interest:

"Patrons of the Roseau Co-operative Creamery were given a dividend for the month of November but probably did not know it. Nor was the dividend declared, but it works out very much that way when on a co-operative basis.

"During November the average price paid for buttefat by the Roseau creamery was 54 cents a pound for No. 1 cream and 51 cents for No. 2 cream. The grading of cream was begun in November, and it is found that only about twenty-five per cent of the cream gets into No. 2 class. Prices paid for the same month at the cream stations averaged about 46 cents.

"13,694 pounds of butterfat was bought by the Roseau creamery during November for which the patrons received $7,262.22. Figuring at the average price of 46 cents paid by the cream stations, the same amount of cream would have brought $6,299.24 or a difference of $962.98 in favor of the creamery.

"The twenty-five per cent of 3 cents a pound to those No. 2 cream represents a loss whose cream is not up to No. 1 standard Grading will have a tendency to raise the standard of cream and will be the means whereby the producers of good cream will get the price they are entitled to receive."

Dislikes Moonshine Odor

The nauseating aroma of moonshine is not confined to the habitation of the moonshiner, according to a news story in the Warren Sheaf last week.

"Prosecuting moonshiners is a personal as well as official duty for W. O. Braggans, county attorney.

"Mr. Braggans detests moonshine. He does not like the smell of the stuff and he thinks even less of the liquor itself. Impressed with the filthiness of many samples that come to Sheriff Hanson's vaults he does all in his power to stop its manufacture.

"Proof that the county attorney has no love for the 'coroner's cocktails' came recently when he ordered a ventilator between the county attorney's office vault and Sheriff Hanson's vault sealed up with masonry and plaster. The two had been connected and all the intoxicating aroma from Sheriff Hanson's varied collection floated into his vault and later into his office.

"In the meantime the sheriff is getting all the aroma to himself."

EVENTS OF 1923 PASS IN REVIEW

Happenings at Home and Abroad During the Twelve Months That Have Just Closed.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S DEATH

Futile Attempts to Settle German Reparations Problem—France Occupies the Ruhr—Turkey's Diplomatic Triumph—Terrible Earthquake in Japan—American Prosperity and Politics.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

With the exception of Germany, ruined by her own acts, and Japan, shattered by the forces of nature, all the world was better off at the close of 1923 than at its beginning. This is especially true of the United States, Italy, Finland, Czechoslovakia, Turkey, and probably Russia, though the information coming from the land of the soviets has been so colored that it was difficult to determine true conditions there.

Economic recovery of the world was retarded, as it was during the previous twelve months, by failure to settle the matter of the German reparations and by the steady decline of Germany toward the point of absolute collapse. The occupation of the Ruhr by France and the resulting disputes with Great Britain brought on repeated crises each of which seemed to threaten the final disruption of the entente cordiale.

Several proposals for commissions to determine Germany's capacity to pay were made, but each of them required the participation of the United States and each time the American government found unacceptable the restrictions insisted upon by Premier Poincare of France. As the year drew toward its close, however, the reparations commission was preparing to appoint two committees of experts to help work out the problem, and President Coolidge approved of the appointment of Americans on these committees.

Turkey gained power and prestige through the Lausanne peace conference and the resulting treaties with the allies and with the United States. Late in the year she added herself to the list of republics with Mustapha Kemal Pasha as her first president.

Under the leadership of General Primo Rivera and other army officers, and aristocrats, there was a housecleaning in Spain that resulted in the turning out of the crowd of politicians that had for years been battening on the spoils of misgovernment. The so-called democratic government was overthrown and a dictatorial council substituted.

President Harding's death in San Francisco threw all the United States—and indeed all the civilized world—into heartfelt mourning. Vice President Calvin Coolidge, succeeding to the chief magistracy, carried on in general the policies of his predecessor. Mr. Harding had been considered the certain nominee of the Republican party in 1924, and his demise threw open the lists and made the political contest intensely interesting.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

German reparations and complications resulting from the failure to pay them occupied much of the attention of European diplomats. Early in January the allied premiers held a futile conference in Paris, and France prepared for separate action to collect from Germany. About the same time Secretary Hughes announced the United States would not consider Berlin's proposal for a four-power European peace pact and also informally advised France not to occupy the Ruhr. France, however, was determined, and the reparations commission gave her the opening by declaring Germany in willful default in coal deliveries. Germany formally protesting and Great Britain not approving, the French on January 11 began the occupation of the Ruhr, seizing its most important cities one after another. President Harding expressed his disapproval by recalling the American troops from Germany. Chancellor Cuno, with the support of the reichstag, declared a "moral war" of passive resistance and ordered all state employees not to obey the French. The mine owners and later the industrial magnates fell in with this program and for months the French were balked in their efforts to get any considerable revenue from the region. They seized customs, bank funds and railways, and arrested many industrial leaders and officials, but the passive resistance was not broken until late in September. The occupation was assisted actively by Belgium and passively by Italy. Great Britain, though she did not actually hamper the French, gave them no help.

On May 2 Germany made a new reparations offer of $7,500,000,000, with many conditions, and it was immediately rejected by France. England also declared the offer insufficient. Berlin then asked a new reparations conference on the total sum and offered annuities of 1,500,000,000 gold marks. Great Britain invited France and Italy to join her in a reply to this, and submitted a draft of her proposed answer, but this also fell through. The British government thereupon sent a note to France and Belgium declaring the Ruhr occupation illegal and a failure, insisting on an impartial reparations inquiry after the plan suggested by Secretary of State Hughes, and saying France must pay enough of the money lent her to enable Great Britain to pay America. Again no results, Premier Poincare declaring Germany must settle the reparations question before an economic accord could be reached. Chancellor Stresemann, who had succeeded Dr. Cuno, announced the abandonment of passive resistance and said no more reparations would be paid and the treaty of Versailles would be repudiated. He also put an end to the aid which the government had been giving the inhabitants of the occupied regions. Soon after this the industrial magnates of the Ruhr and Rhineland signed a pact with the French for the resumption of work and of payments of material.

In December the reparations commission decided to appoint two committees of experts, one to examine German money in foreign lands and the other to try to devise means by which Germany might balance her budget and stabilize her finances. Poincare now seemed in a yielding mood and President Coolidge announced he approved of unofficial American participation through the selection of Americans as members of these committees.

Turkey's diplomatic victory at Lausanne was not easily won. While the conference there was deadlocked in January Mustapha Kemal mobilized armies to move against Constantinople, Mosul and other points and called three classes to the colors to combat the Greeks in Thrace. The quarreling in the peace conference was incessant. On January 31 the allies submitted a treaty to the Turks, demanding its acceptance within four days. The Turks agreed to sign it if the economic clauses were reserved for future settlement. Lord Curzon departed in a rage, and on February 4 the conference broke up. Diplomatic conversations continued, however; the British indicated they would make concessions, and the conference was resumed on April 23, Russia being excluded. On July 24 a treaty was signed which gave to Turkey nearly all she had demanded, the question of oil concessions being left for later consideration. A few days later the United States and Turkey signed treaties of amity and commerce and on extradition. By October 2 the allied military forces had evacuated Constantinople and the Turks soon after took formal possession of their old capital.

Warfare between Italy and Greece in the autumn was narrowly averted. An Italian military commissioner and his aids were murdered in Albania and on August 28 Italy demanded that Greece apologize abjectly and pay reparations. The Greek reply being unsatisfactory, the Italians promptly bombarded and occupied the island of Corfu. Greece appealed to the League of Nations, which was disposed to take up the affair; but Premier Mussolini declared Italy would withdraw from the league and ignore its decision if it insisted on arbitrating the dispute. The situation was most embarrassing for the league, but the allied council of ambassadors rescued it by assuming jurisdiction and ordering Greece to comply with Italy's demands almost in their entirety. Greece gave in, apologized and paid 50,000,000 lire indemnity, and on September 27 Italy evacuated Corfu.

Mussolini achieved another triumph by an agreement with Jugo-Slavia whereby Italy obtained possession of Fiume.

In January American and British commissions met in Washington to negotiate the refunding of the British war debt to America, and their task was soon completed to the apparent satisfaction of both nations. The Washington treaties on reduction of armament and concerning the Pacific were ratified by Italy in February and by France in July. Through the efforts of an American commission sent to Mexico, the government of our neighbor was finally brought to amicable terms and the long-withheld recognition was accorded by Washington on August 31.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS

Overshadowing all other events in the United States was the death of President Warren G. Harding. He had long planned a trip through the Middle and Far West and to Alaska in order to talk with the people and get their reactions. Though tired out and far from well, he started on June 20, accompanied by Mrs. Harding and several members of his cabinet. After delivering several important addresses, notably one advocating American membership in the World court, he sailed to Alaska. Returning thence to San Francisco, he fell ill there on July 28. Four days later, on August 2, he passed away. The taking of his body back to Washington, the services there, the trip to Marion, Ohio, and the interment there of the little town's distinguished citizen on August 10 gave the people of the country ample opportunity to show in what high esteem and affection they held Mr. Harding. Literally the entire nation mourned sincerely, and all the other nations gave expression to their grief.

Vice President Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office as President at his father's home in Plymouth, Vt., and assumed his new duties at once, retaining the entire Harding cabinet and announcing that he would carry out the Harding policies where possible. It had been taken for granted that the Republican party would nominate Mr. Harding in 1924, and Mr. Coolidge immediately became a probable nominee. However, before the year closed other candidates came forward, notably Senator Hiram Johnson of California, Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania and Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin. For the Democratic nomination there were several probabilities, including Senator Underwood and William G. McAdoo, avowed candidates, and Senator Ralston of Indiana, Gov. Al Smith of New York and Governor Silzer of New Jersey. There was much talk of the possible nomination of Henry Ford by one of the old parties or by a third party, and his admirers were exceedingly active.

The Republican national committee, acceding to the wishes of the President, selected Cleveland as the place for the national convention of 1924, and set June 10 as the date for its opening. Previous action by which the representation of the southern states was reduced was rescinded by the committee.

Secretary of the Interior Fall retired from President Harding's cabinet on March 4 and was succeeded by Hubert Work, the latter's place as postmaster general being filled by the appointment of Harry S. New. Attorney General Daugherty, against whom impeachment charges had been made the previous year, was fully exonerated by the house judiciary committee, the report being adopted by the house on January 25. Among the appointments made by President Harding were Robert Woods Bliss as minister to Sweden; Miles Poindexter as ambassador to Peru; R. M. Tobin as minister to the Netherlands; E. T. Sanborn as associate justice of the Supreme court of the United States, and Gen. Frank T. Hines as director of the veterans' bureau. The latter appointment was followed by charges of mismanagement, waste, etc., against the former director, Colonel Forbes, which were investigated by a senate committee.

Having passed the agricultural credits bill and many acts of lesser importance, and killing the ship subsidy bill, the Sixty-seventh congress came to an end on March 4. The Sixty-eighth congress met on December 3 and the Republican majority was so slender that a bloc of so-called progressives held the balance of power. Speaker Gillett was reelected and President Coolidge then delivered his first message, in which he declared himself in favor of American membership in the World court, advocated reduction of taxes and opposed the soldiers' bonus.

Two governors got into serious trouble. Walton of Oklahoma, who said he was fighting the Ku Klux Klan, came into conflict with the state legislature and assumed virtually dictatorial powers. Despite his efforts to prevent it, the legislature met in special session, the house impeached him on numerous charges and the senate, sitting as a trial court, found him guilty and removed him from his office. Walton was then indicted by a grand jury. The other state executive in trouble was Gov. W. T. McCray of Indiana, who got into deep financial entanglements and also was indicted.

The Supreme court on April 30 decided that foreign vessels could not bring liquor into American ports, even though sealed, and later the liquor stores of several liners were seized at New York. Foreign nations protested but could not well take any action. However, late in the year the government negotiated an agreement with Great Britain whereby the right of search was extended to about twelve miles from shore, and in return it was expected the ship liquor regulation would be modified. The extension of the search limit was made necessary by the activities of the smuggling fleets which kept the country well supplied with wretched liquor. On May 4 the New York legislature repealed the state prohibition law. In October a conference of governors on law enforcement was held in Washington, and President Coolidge pledged the full aid of the government machinery, but insisted each state must assume its own share of the burden.

President Coolidge had the appointment of one ambassador last year. Col. George Harvey resigned his post at the court of St. James on October 4 and Frank B. Kellogg was selected for the place.

Immediately after its summer vacation the Supreme court rendered an important decision upholding the laws of the Pacific coast states which prohibit aliens from owning land. These laws, of course, are directed against the Japanese especially.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Germany's internal troubles, political, economic and financial, were inextricably tangled up with her international woes and brought her to so low a state that her regeneration seemed at times almost hopeless. Royalists, separatists and communists conspired, revolted and rioted. Unemployment increased and in the cities all but the industrial magnates and the profiteers were reduced to near starvation, although the crops were large and the rural districts were overrunning with food stuffs. The government tried to meet the situation by keeping up the flood of paper marks and of course the mark declined until billions could be had for one dollar and those who had anything to sell refused to accept the practically worthless currency. In August Chancellor Cuno presented a "rescue plan" to the reichstag. It was rejected and Cuno resigned, Gustave Stresemann succeeding him and forming the first coalition majority government in Germany's history. He undertook to reform the finances by the issue of a new currency, the renten mark, backed by the country's resources. This was far from successful.

Throughout the year the royalists or nationalists of Germany were exceedingly active, those of Bavaria usually taking the lead. In September the Bavarians actually revolted against the Berlin government and made Gustave von Kahr dictator of the state. The reichstag thereupon gave Stresemann dictatorial powers. A little later the socialist governments of Saxony and Thuringia refused to obey the chancellor, and he subdued them by a show of military force. He yielded to Bavaria's demand for greater autonomy, but this was not enough. On November 8 Hitler, leader of the Bavarian Fascisti, and General von Ludendorff attempted a royalist coup d'etat in Munich and other cities and threatened to march on Berlin. This revolt was rather easily put down by the national police and the workers and Hitler and Ludendorff were arrested. On November 10 Frederick William, the former crown prince, suddenly returned to Germany from Holland.

In October the separatists of the Rhineland got into action and set up a republic which was looked upon with favor by France. However, it was not able to maintain itself very successfully, and there was almost continuous fighting with the national forces. Another separatist movement was started in the Bavarian palatinate, but it failed for the time being.

Late in November Chancellor Stresemann's coalition went to pieces and, being denied a vote of confidence in the reichstag, he resigned. Dr. Heinrich Albert, unpleasantly remembered in America, and Adam Stegerwald both failed to form acceptable ministries, and so Dr. Wilhelm Marx, leader of the Catholic party, was made chancellor on November 29 and got together a cabinet that included Stresemann as foreign minister and that was expected to carry on his policies.

The revolution in Spain, which was connected with the unsatisfactory war with the Moors, took place in September. The revolt, led by General Primo Rivera, Marquis de Estella, was against the cabinet and corrupt politicians and also was an expression of reaction against the growth of socialism and syndicalism among the workers. The king supported it and the cabinet resigned on September 14. A military directorate was established and Rivera was made sole chief of the administration. The new government made itself popular at once by a campaign on profiteering and gambling, by cutting expenses to the bone and by other drastic measures of reform. Trial by jury was suspended because of the corruption of the courts. Altogether, it was a happy revolution for Spain.

Bulgaria also had a revolution, almost bloodless, when Stambolisky's peasant government was overthrown on June 9 and the premier himself was captured and killed. Professor Zankoff was made head of the new government. In September the Communists and peasants resorted to arms in an attempt to regain power, but they were soon suppressed.

Andrew Bonar Law, prime minister of Great Britain, resigned on May 20 because of the illness that caused his death in October. He was succeeded by Stanley Baldwin, who had been chancellor of the exchequer. On October 1 an imperial conference and an economic conference of the British empire opened in London, and various important measures were debated and adopted designed to bind the component parts of the empire by closer commercial ties, at the same time leaving them their full measure of self-government. These questions brought to the fore the old question of free trade or protection, and since the government had promised there should be no change in the tariff policy during the life of the existing parliament, Prime Minister Baldwin dissolved parliament on November 16 and an election was called for December 6. Former Premier Lloyd George, who had been on a speaking tour of the United States, arrived home just in time to make up his old quarrel with the other wing of the liberal party, and went into the campaign with vigor. When the votes were counted it was found that while the Liberals and Laborites both had won many seats from the Conservatives, no one of the three parties had a majority. The Laborites, however, announced that their leader, Ramsay MacDonald, would undertake to form a government as soon as called upon, whereupon Prime Minister Baldwin declared he and his cabinet would retain office at least until the new parliament had met in January.

During the early months of the year the Irish republicans continued their guerrilla warfare on the Free State, but on April 10, their chief of staff, Liam Lynch, was killed in a fight and on April 27 Eamon de Valera ordered his followers to cease hostilities and negotiate peace. The Dublin government refused to treat with him and on August 15 he was placed under arrest.

Chinese factions fought bitterly throughout the entire year, and in October President Li Yuan-hung was succeeded by Marshal Tsao-kun. Considerable excitement was caused in May by the capture of a number of foreigners by Chinese bandits, who demanded large ransom and immunity. The prisoners included several Americans and English, and for a time armed intervention by their governments seemed likely. However, the Pekin government bought off the outlaws after long negotiations.

In Russia, as the soviet rulers gradually modified their Communistic policies, there seemed to be steady progress toward stability. Most other nations still withheld recognition of the Moscow government, but a number of them made commercial arrangements with the soviet regime. The Russian supreme court condemned Archbishop Zepliak and Vicar General Butchkavich of the Roman Catholic church to death for revolutionary activities. The latter was executed, but Zepliak's sentence was commuted to ten years' imprisonment.

Early in December another revolution was attempted in Mexico, the leader being Adolfo de la Huerta who was offended because President Obregon would not support his candidacy for the presidency. The revolt spread rapidly, but before the month closed Obregon seemed to have the situation well in hand.

INDUSTRIAL AND LABOR

Only one really big strike marred the record of the year in the United States, and that did not last long. The miners in the anthracite fields and their employers tried in vain to fix a new wage scale and working conditions, and on August 21 they broke off negotiations. With the approval of President Coolidge, Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania undertook to handle the problem, and proposed a compromise on August 29. The strike began officially two days later, but the negotiations were continued. Pinchot's plan was accepted September 8 and the miners resumed work on September 20.

At various times during the year the railway labor board adjusted the wages of certain classes of rail workers, usually raising them. Some of the roads made separate agreements with their employees, giving them increased pay. April 9 the steel industry raised the wages of common labor 11 per cent and adjusted the pay of other classes, and on April 13 the Chicago packing house employees and building trade workers were given an increase. The steel makers had been attacked bitterly for maintaining the twelve-hour day, and on August 2 Elbert H. Gary of the U. S. Steel corporation announced its elimination.

The American Federation of Labor met in annual convention in Portland, Ore., and, among other acts, voted against the formation of a political labor party and also against the recognition of the Russian Soviet government. The advocates of these measures and indeed all the more radical factions in the federation were routed by President Gompers, who was reelected.

DISASTERS

Unequaled in modern times was the disaster that befell Japan on September 1 when violent earthquake shocks and resultant fires destroyed Yokohama entirely and about two-thirds of Tokyo and ruined many smaller towns. The number of killed was estimated at 225,000, and the injured at more than half that number. Though many of the houses were flimsy, the property loss was enormous. The hundreds of thousands of refugees suffered severely, but the American government and the American Red Cross were swift with relief measures, and other nations joined in the work. Shiploads of food and millions of dollars were rushed to the stricken land, and the Japanese government was materially aided in its task of rebuilding the ruined cities.

Among other serious disasters of the year were: January 3, twenty persons killed by collapse of a bridge at Kelso, Wash.; February 8, mine explosion at Dawson killed 120, and one at Cumberland, B. C., killed 30; February 18, twenty-two patients and three attendants were killed in insane asylum fire on Ward's Island, New York; March 10, Greek transport sank with 150 soldiers; April 6, tidal waves in Corea and Japan killed 600; May 14, Hot Springs, Ark., partly destroyed by flood and fire; May 17, seventy-three killed in burning of a schoolhouse at Cleveland, S. C.; June 10, disastrous floods in Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado; June 15, thousands of Persians killed by earthquakes; June 18, several towns destroyed by eruption of Mt. Etna; August 14, coal mine explosion at Kemmerer, Wyo., killed 98; August 18, Hongkong badly damaged by typhoon; August 22, million-dollar flood in Arkansas valley, Colorado; September 8, nine U. S. destroyers wrecked on California coast, 23 lives being lost; September 15, typhoon and floods killed 5,000 in Japan; September 17, large part of Berkeley, Cal., destroyed by flames; September 27, forty killed in Burlington train wreck at Lockett, Wyo.; November 13, earthquake in Shansi province, China, killed 1,500; December 1, nearly 600 killed by bursting of dam near Bergamo, Italy; December 9, nine killed and many injured in wreck of the Twentieth Century train at Forsythe, N. Y.; December 15, destructive earthquake in Colombia and Ecuador.

Needed Police Protection

You hardly pick up a newspaper but that tells of the tragedy of human lives lost through "glaring lights" or reckless driving. What Minnesota needs is a police force that can police. What Minnesota needs is a mounted police force that will patrol the highways.—Minnesota Mascot.

PROGRESSIVES IN CONGRESS GAINING SAYS CONG. WEFALD

Letter From Ninth District Representative Airs Some Washington Activities

The following letter from Conggressman Knud Wefald, representative from the Ninth congressional district, was received this week by The Times, and being of general interest to the public, is herewith reproduced for the benefit of interested readers:

The Progressives finally forced Floor Leader Longworth of the Republican organization in the House to make a further concession.

When the committee assignments were made the Republican leaders ignored the Progressives, and made this policy so clear that the newspapers stated the fact. The Progressives were given no places on the important and all-powerful Rules Committee while the Ways and Means and other committees were packed with Regular Republicans. It was generally known that the Ways and Means Committee was so packed as to assure a committee majority for the Mellon Tax Reduction Plan.

It is of interest to the West and Northwest to know that five men, one each from Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois and Massachusetts controlled one hundred votes in the Committee of Committees and by getting the aid of New Jersey and Indiana could control more than a majority, and thus dictate the personnel of all committees of the House with the resulting control of legislation.

The Democrats wanted extra places on the important committees. Progressive Democrats had endeavored to get Minority Leader Garrett of Tennessee to stand with Progressive Republicans and Farmer-Laborites in order to secure for Progressives proper representation on the committees. This the Democratic leader refused to do. Floor Leader Longworth would give the reactionary Democrats an additional place on the Rules Committee, thereby hoping to alienate Democratic support from the Progressive Republican and Farmer-Labor group. The Progressive Democrats promptly notified Chairman Nelson of their predicament, and did everything possible to be absolutely fair in the matter.

Minority Floor Leader Garrett could not hold his forces together, whereupon Majority Leader Longworth, to make the best of the situation suggested that a vacancy be created on the Rules Committee and that it be filled with a Progressive Republican. The Progressive Republicans then decided that Chairman Nelson was the man for the place and this was concurred in by the Progressive Democrats. This gives some assurance that the rules will be amended some time during the session.

Representative McFadden, of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the Banking and Currency committee presented a resolution to his own delegation approving the Mellon Tax Plan. The Pennsylvania delegation refused to adopt the resolution of approval. Mr. McFadden then was quoted in the Wall Street Journal as saying the Pennsylvania delegation had been guilty of a serious mistake, and suggested that the country cannot have a tax reduction and a soldiers' bonus besause "these two horses are running in opposite directions and cannot be ridden by any Congressman successfully."

Mr. McFadden further stated that the tax reduction as proposed by Secretary Mellon probably meant that taxes paid by Pennsylvania, (he neglected to say wealthy Pennsylvania) would be reduced $100,000,000 annually, which meant to say that men of large incomes in Pennsylvania would escape payment of that sum in taxes annually.

Statistics issued by Secretary Mellon himself shows that Pennsylvania pays about 10 per cent of the total amount of taxes. Based on Mr. Mellon's figures, if Mr. McFadden's statements be true wealthy Pennsylvanians would escape the payment of $100,000,000 taxes annually, wealthy citizens of New York $314,900,000, of Illionis $78,500,000, of Massachusetts $68,200,000 and the rich of Ohio would save $44,500,000 annually. This would make a total of $605,900,000 which the rich of those three eastern and two mid-Western states would escape. Mr. Mellon says that he has saved up available for tax reduction $310,000,000. From the above it will be seen that this saving will be wiped out and that somebody somewhere in the United States will have to pay between three and four hundred million dollars more in taxes than before to make up for what taxes would be reduced for the rich, that live in Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Massachusetts and Ohio.

There is an organized propaganda on foot all over the United States in favor of the Mellon Tax "Reduction" Plan. Even from Minnesota and North Dakota, states that are so "broke" financially that leading men of those states go before Congress and beg that farmers be assisted to buy a few cows, come pleas for the Congressmen and Senators of those states to vote for it.

The position of the Progressives has been greatly strengthened, as the purposes they have battled for has become better known. The people of the country begin to see clearer and clearer that a great fight has been and is yet being waged for great principles. Many words of encouragement have come to us. The press that was hostile against us is beginning to be more fair, in fact the press was never so fair towards a fight for high principles as it has been towards us of late.

That the Progressive fight has won nation-wide recognition and appreciation can best be seen by a telegram, sent to the group from the Illinois State Conference for Progressive Political Action, which held its first first meeting in Chicago on Sunday, Dec. 16, that after having spoken in glowing terms of their appreciation of the fight closed with the following: "We express our profound appreciation for the valiant fight the Progressive group is making in Congress in the peoples' interest. We have every confidence in both their statesmanship and integrity of purpose. We look to them for inspiration and leadership and we earnestly invite the co-operation of all Progressives in their support and encouragement."

The present indication is that the Bonus Bill will be rushed in both Houses of Congress ahead of everything else, and an effort will be made to pass it and put it up to President Coolidge before enough pressure has been exerted to make it impossible to repass it over his veto, since it is certain, judging from his message to Congress that he will veto it.

REED HONORED BY NATIONAL BUREAU

Farm Bureau Federation Passes Many Resolutions at Chicago Convention

J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, was unanimously elected vice president of the American Farm Bureau Federation at its fifth annual convention, held recently at Chicago. An ovation given him upon his acceptance was enthusiastic and only slightly less vigorous than that given O. E. Bradfute, who was reelected president.

Mr. Bradfute and Mr. Reed will lead the national organization on a platform, the essence of which is "how" rather than "by whom" the Farm Bureau shall go forward as the national spokesman for American farmers.

Resolutions reiterated the determination of the organization to carry on its co-operative marketing program, as a service association essential to the success of the movement. Co-operatives are asked to pay for services rendered by national, state and county Farm Bureaus.

After a long debate, the convention refused to pass a resolution endorsing the National Wheat Marketing Advisory committee, after which Walton Peteet, director of marketing in 1923, resigned.

A brief summary of the resolutions, which constitute the program of the association for the coming year, follows:

Price fixing opposed; Truth-in-Fabric laws demanded; larger foreign markets demanded; federal highway act of 1921 endorsed; Ford offer to operate Muscle Shoals endorsed; four month, instead of six month paper in Intermediate Credit banks demanded; electrification of railroads recommended; national laws to prevent usury urged; continuation of "TB" eradication asked; merchant marine, without subsidy, held necessary to the development of agriculture; tariff commission, free of politics, demanded; immigration laws should provide for tests at point of embarkation; home and community work must be stressed; net income held basis for tax levies, the greater the income, the more, proportionately, the tax; sales tax opposed, tax free securities opposed; decrease in income tax opposed, excess income should be applied on debts; reclamation projects endorsed; Great Lakes waterway endorsed; more efficient transportation to cheapen cost of getting farm products to consumer asked; lower rates on farm products sold at disproportionately low prices demanded; Grain futures and Stockyards control acts endorsed; teaching of co-operative marketing in schools and colleges demanded; commission men should be licensed; adoption by the government of a foreign policy at once urged; crop insurance studies demanded; Producers' Livestock association endorsed and closer affiliation with Farm Bureau urged.

Extension of organization work will be a major project with the Federation during the coming year.

Nearly Third of North Dakota U Students Pay Their Way Thru School

Nearly 30 per cent of the students at the North Dakota U. this year are paying all of their own expenses, nearly 35% are paying part; almost 30 per cent of them are paying none of their own expenses, and six per cent are not listed in any of the above classes according to a report of the situation just issued.

There are 1,428 students registered at the institution this year 844 of whom are men, and 534 women. The report shows that 316 men and 107 women are paying all of their own expenses; 425 men and 70 women are paying part of their own expenses, and 79 men and 345 women are paying none of their own expenses.

Twenty-four men and 62 women, including students in special mechanics and other specials, are not listed in any of the above classes.

The report shows that there is a predominance of men who are paying all or part of their own expenses while there is a predominance of women who are paying none of their own expenses or are not listed.

The following table shows the percentage of students paying all, part or none of their own expenses:

	Men	Women	Total
Paying all	37.4%	18.2%	29.7%
Paying part	50.3%	11.8%	34.6%
Paying none	9.4%	59.4%	29.7%
Not given	2.9%	10.6%	6.0%

Minnesota Pooled Wool Sells at 46 to 50 Cents

The Wabasha sales department of the Minnesota Co-operative Wool Marketing association reported its third big sale of the season. A consignment of 18,000 pounds was sold at prices ranging from 46 cents for quarter blood to 50 cents for three-eighths blood.

The sale disposes of all these grades in the state pool and the management is now making a cut-off, preparatory to sending a final statement and settlement to growers.

There now remains in the state pool a small amount of fine half blood low quarter blood and some rejects. The season has shown, says R. E. Jones, manager of the Wabasha pool, that too many farmers are amateurs in the profitable production of wool. A special effort to correct this evil will be made by the state association during the coming year.

17 Million Cars in 1924.

By January 1 the world will have in operation 17,000,000 automobiles, passenger cars and trucks, according to an estimate by M. H. Hoepli, chief of the automotive division of the Department of Commerce. Of that total, 14,000,000 will run in the United States, about one to every eight persons, whereas in the rest of the world the proportion will be about 1 to 112 persons. The number of cars in operation is expected to show on January 1, 1924, an increase of 17 per cent over January 1, 1923.

RUBINOW CHARGES PLOT TO DISRUPT SPUD SALE AGENCY

Sworn Statement Points Out Falsehoods in Anti-Co-op. Marketing Propaganda

A widespread plot to wreck co-operative marketing of potatoes in Minnesota is under way, according to a signed, sworn, statement, issued on Dec. 24 at St. Paul, by S. G. Rubinow, organization manager for the general state committee, now forming the new Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange.

Mr. Rubinow bases his statement on four recent developments in the potato marketing situation, as follows:

First—The reprinting, in Minnesota papers, of a malicious attack on co-operative marketing of potatoes in Colorado, taken from the Great Divide a weekly paper published at Denver.

Second—Circulation in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota of a story recently published in the Chicago Packer, falsely charging that the Maine potato growers sales agency had under sold the market and leaving the impression that money received from sales had not been properly paid to growers.

Third—Potato dealers held a meeting in Chicago recently, at which means of combating the spread of co-operative potato marketing was considered.

Fourth—Potato dealers are especially active, spreading false reports about the movement, Aaron Sapiro and Mr. Rubinow.

Mr. Rubinow's statement is a lengthy reply to "this malicious and dirty attack", and comes at a time when the Minnesota movement has enlisted the support of more than 6000 growers who have signed over 90,000 acres on the association's standard 5-year, iron clad contract.

"The dealers may well be worried about the growth of co-operative potato marketing," said Mr. Rubinow in releasing his sensational statement. "Three states already have organized, Colorado, Idaho and Maine. Four are organizing, Minnesota, North and South Dakota and New York. Eight others have approved the plan and expect to have their organization complete by the time the 1924 crop moves. The day of the potato speculator is waning and growers are now up against a last ditch fight by the market barons who wish to continue their grasp on the potato marketing machinery of the country."

The Dec. 20 issue of the Potato Grower, official spokesman for the movement in Minnesota and North Dakota deals at length with the situation created by anti-co-operative marketing propaganda and points out for its readers, five specific instances in which "malicious lies" have been circulated about the movement, here and elsewhere.

The Potato Grower says reports that Aaron Sapiro received $30,000 for his services from the Colorado Potato Growers' Exchange is a lie, giving the true amount as $575. Reports that Mr. Rubinow is in the employ of a number of New York Jews are called lies, the truth being that Mr. Rubinow is employed by and only by the general state committee and is paid by and only by that association. Reports that Minnesota growers are not supporting the organization work are also called false, but current issue contains the names of 1,172 growers who had signed in the previous two-weeks period.

Extracts from Mr. Rubinow's statement which will be especially interesting to potato growers in this vicinity follow:

"A malicious and dirty attack has been made on the Potato Co-operative Marketing movement of the United States by potato dealers and distributors. The Chicago Packer of Chicago, Ill., and The Great Divide of Denver, Colo.

"A friend of the co-operative potato marketing movement, whose name we will disclose if necessary, has sent us a communication, which he states has been issued by a Minneapolis potato broker and given circulation. It says:

"'The Maine Potato Growers Exchange, as you probably know, is one of Mr. Sapiro's works of art—as is the Minnesota Exchange, which is in the process of formation. Mr. Sapiro and Mr. Grubinow, (meaning Mr. Rubinow, I suppose) are in the employ of a gigantic brokerage agency owned and controlled by the Jews of New York City. This agency is known as the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers and Shippers association, and regardless of what your farmers are advised to the contrary, this is the marketing agency which was responsible for the marketing law that was enacted by our last legislature—the same law that has been enacted by several states in the union.'

"I here and now state that the writer of this letter is an unmitigated liar of the highest type. I refute these statements as follows:

"I have never been nor am I now employed by the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers Incorporated. The Federated Furit and Vegetable Growers Incorporated is a national fruit and vegetable distributing agency, which was set up by the American Farm Bureau Federation, and constructed by a Committee of Eleven, appointed by the American Farm Bureau Federation. It is not owned by the Jews of New York City. It is owned and controlled by fruit and vegetable co-operative marketing association all over the United States, who hold membership in it. The Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers Incorporated did not pass the Marketing Law in Minnesota and had nothing to do with it. Mr. Aaron Sapiro acts as Consulting Counsel for the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers Incorporated and for the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"A second attack upon us has come in the form of an article which appeared in an October issue of 'The Great Divide', a Denver, Colorado publication. This article attacked Mr. Aaron Sapiro and Governor William Sweet of Colorado. I am told that potato dealers in Moorhead secured this article, purchased space in the Moorhead District Herald, of Moorhead, Minn., and republished the article in that paper. The Editor of The Great Divide wrote that he had run a large number of extra copies of that issue and had furnished various dealers and dealers' associations, in various parts of the country, with those extra copies."

Now is the Time To Start A '24 Net Worth Statement

This is an opportune time to make an annual inventory and net worth statement which will bear date of January 1, 1924. W. L. Cavert, farm management specialist of the university's agricultural service, says such inventory and statement may be prepared in two to three hours and will tell the farmer just how much he has gained or lost in net worth during the year. Further, if the record is preserved from year to year it will be a continuance and authentic statement of one's financial status. Extension bulletin No. 77, being a story by Mr. Cavert on "How Fairfield Kept Farm Accounts," explains the inventory, net worth statement, and keeping of accounts on the farm. There is no charge for this bulletin. Even a post card request to the Office of Publications, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn., will bring it through.

According to the annual report of J. J. McCann, county extension agent, one hundred Pennington farmers have been assisted in keeping account books thru his office. The demand for records of the business conducted on the farm as well as the business of a store or other firm in the city, is becoming more and more general thruout the country, and much help in this endeavor is given by Agent McCann.

LEGION POSTS ARE PLANNING ACTIVE PROGRAM FOR 1924

Many Problems Will Receive Attention of Organizations. Sponsor Local Movements

"Betterment of schools, recreation, park and playground facilities; furtherance of Boy Scout work and active participation in Scout troop organization and management; medical clinics, municipal music concerts, public forums, community buildings, city planning and all forms of better citizenship movements—in fact after due survey of local needs, every enterprise which will further the wellbeing, health and happiness of the community" are among activities recommended for 1924 by the San Francisco Legion National convention.

Legion posts throughout the state already have inaugurated programs along these lines, and with the additional impetus which will be given by the 1924 national convention in St. Paul it is evident that Minnesota Legionaires face the biggest year in their history.

Besides local activities the Legion is interested in curbing immigration by putting a five-year ban on aliens. Posts are asked to interest themselves in this subject.

As heretofore there will be a fight against radicalism wherever elements engaged in undermining the integrity of the government raise their heads.

Education along patriotic lines will be continued, through the Boy Scout movement, in cooperation with the schools and in other ways. The essay contest, department and national, constitute one example of what is being accomplished.

Work for the passage of the federal adjusted compensation bill will continue. Child labor will be the target for Legion campaigns in those states where such procedure is deemed necessary.

Care of disabled veterans of the war will remain a fundamental responsibility of Legionnaires and Auxiliary members. The Rochester hospitalization work for veterans will be supported throughout the year by posts all over Minnesota and posts and auxiliary units will continue to administer to the needs of those in their respective communities.

Department Headquarters, Old Capitol, St. Paul, is a "clearing house for ideas and suggestions" relative to procedure. Adjutant Stafford King and his assistant, Phil O'Toole are anxious to co-operate with posts in "putting over" the 1924 program, and any questions will be answered promptly. Speakers will be provided through the department office.

The Elmer J. Ecklund post of this city, Oscar R. Smith, Commander, at its regular business meeting recently outlined an extensive program for the organization to carry out during the ensuing year. Extensive activities are also being conducted by the local Woman's Auxiliary, one of their recent accomplishments being the compilation and publishing of a cook book, 500 copies of which are being sold in the city and vicinity.

A matter given consideration by the local legion post at the last meeting was the establishment of a municipal skating rink on the vacant lots near the auditorium, the project to be supported in conjunction with other organizations and civic bodies. No definite action has been taken in this matter as yet. A rink is at present being maintained by the city thru the park board on the river near the Soo depot, beyond the Elk property.

Fervent Prohibitionist Proposes Deadlock Acts To Enforce Volstead Law

A certain person showing considerable interest in the enforcement of prohibition and the passage of effective law, has proposed the following:

"The nation must be made "bone-dry" by law enforcement and the following bill that I have drafted and am urging congress to pass is the only law that will save the nation from its only defeat in history in its present war against John Barleycorn.

"An act to enforce the Volstead act and provide penalties for its violation:

"Be it enacted by the house of representatives and the senate of the United States of America in congress assembled:

"Section I. That on and after the first day of April, A. D. 1922, it shall be unlawful for any person in the United States or its insular possessions to sow, plant or harvest any rye, barley, or corn, or any grain crop whatsoever containing one hundreth of 1 per cent of alchol, and it shall also be unlawful for any person to grow or harvest any hops, grapes, apples, plums, cherries, pieplant, dandelion or berries of any kind from which alchol or wine may be extracted by distillation, fermentation or any process whatsoever.

"Section II. The penalties for the violation of this act shall be death.

"Section III. The secretary of war is hereby directed to use the United States army to enforce the provisions of this act and to proceed to destroy all grain, vines, fruit and plants mentioned in Section I of this act, and to arrest or cause to be arrested and immediately executed any person found violating this act. The sum of $100,000,000, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the treasury, to be applied in the enforcement of this act. The act to take effect April 1, A. D. 1922.

Amendment—A party leader suggests the following amendment: "That section one of this act be amended to read as follows: That all spirituous, malt and fermented liquors, now in storehouses or that may be confiscated, be stored in convenient warehouses and kept for the use only of duly qualified delegates to state and national conventions, members of congress and state legislatures to be delivered to them in such quantities as they desire and that all such duly qualified delegates, members of congress and state legislatures shall be exempt from the provisions of this act."

The Red Lake Falls Gazette says there is a reason for the state highway department chosing blue as the color of the 1924 auto license tags. It is to match the feelings of the thousands of tourists who will have their license fees raised.

Income Tax Returns Must Be Filed Before March 15

January 1, 1924, marks the beginning of the period for filing income-tax returns for the year 1923. The period ends at midnight of March 15, 1924. Heavy penalties are provided by the revenue act for failure or willful refusal to make a return and pay the tax on time.

Form 1040A, heretofore used for reporting net income of $5,000 and less, from whatever source derived, has been revised in the interests of the largest class of taxpayers—wage earners and salaried persons. Reduced from six pages to a single sheet Form 1040A is to be used for reporting net income of $5,000 and less derived chiefly from salaries and wages. Persons any part of whose income is derived from a business or profession, farming, sale of property or rent, though the amount is $5,000 or less, will be required to use the larger form, 1040. The use of Form 1040 is required also in all cases where the net income was in excess of $5,000, regardless of whether from salary, business, profession, or other taxable sources.

It being impossible to determine at this time which form is desired, copies of both forms will be sent taxpayers who filed individual returns for the year 1922, and may be obtained also at the offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices upon written request.

GAS PRICE CLIMBS TWO CENTS AFTER BRIEF LOW PERIOD

Movement to Establish Tax on Gasoline is Opened by Twin City Organizations

Gasoline at local service stations is now selling at 18.8 cents per gallon, a two-cent increase going into effect Saturday. The new price of tank gasoline is 16.8 and of high test gasoline 21.9.

The price boost was announced by the Standard Oil company of Indiana at Chicago Friday and the various independent companies followed the Standard price as in the past, the increase affecting Minnesota and ten other midwestern and northwestern states. According to twin city papers, officials of independent companies competing with the Standard Oil declared that they have been losing money on gasoline under prices that have been prevailing, although the report of Commissioner Holmberg shows that large profits have been made in the past.

Gas went down to 16.8 at filling stations here some time ago following the sensational fight on the oil companies by Governor McMaster of South Dakota, who started selling to the public from State-owned stations at cut rates, bringing the price down all over the country.

Gasoline Tax Proposed

The following article regarding a move to establish a gasoline tax in Minnesota, appeared in the Minnesota Star last Saturday:

"With an advance of 2 cents a gallon in the price of gasoline effective today throughout the state, the first move of business organizations of the state to back up the Babcock plan for a gasoline tax amendment to the constitution, which, if adopted, will result in a still higher price for the autoist, got under way. The tax would be used for good roads.

The first organization to take steps to back up the Babcock state gasoline tax proposed was the St. Paul association, which appointed a committee to consider a proposed amendment to the state constitution providing for the tax. If the amendment is passed by the voters at the general election next fall, the legislature will then fix the amount of the tax.

For Better Roads

The Minnesota legislature at the last session passed a law providing for the submission of the gas tax question to the voters of the state. The legislature defeated a bill providing for it. The proposed amendment provides that all money raised by a gasoline tax shall go into the trunk highway fund for maintenance and building of state roads.

There are 12 states in the union without a state gasoline tax. Taxes in the remaining states range from 1 to 3 cents a gallon, with the majority having a tax of 2 cents a gallon.

Extreme advances in crude oil during the past few months are responsible for the advance of 2 cents in gasoline, officials of Standard Oil and independent companies announced today.

Crude Oil Prices Blamed

"We are paying more money for our finished product," Frank Norrie, northwest manager of the Pure Oil company, said today. "Extreme advances in crude oil make the advance necessary. The price on crude oil has gone up by leaps and bounds. The increase of 2 cents will be general on all grades."

Independent companies deplored the recent cut in gasoline prices which came as a result of the fight of Governor McMaster with the Standard Oil company in South Dakota. They declared they could not sell gasoline at the reduction and make a profit.

Today's increase, which merely takes up the price of the advance in crude oil, leaves them operating under the same difficulties, officials of various independent companies said.

Minneapolis organizations are expected to take action upon the proposed state gasoline tax law."

Tuesday's issue of The Journal says:

"Although Minnesota is powerless to halt the gasoline price increase, N. J. Holmberg, state commissioner of agriculture, said today, greater effort to organize co-operative associations to handle gasoline and oils will be made in 1924 to combat increases. Because comparatively few persons are driving their automobiles now, especially in rural communities, he said, the effect of the 2 cent increase would not be greatly felt."

Mrs. Bowers' Mother Dies

Word was received Christmas day by Mrs. J. T. Bowers that her aged mother, Mrs. A. M. Rosenquist, 67, of Mobile, Ala., died that morning. Mrs. Rosenquist, thru her visit to this city last August, is known to many local people who extend their sympathies to Mrs. Bowers in her hour of sorrow.

JOSEPH JOHNSON IS LOST NEAR KENORA; LEFT HOME DEC. 3

Former Resident Vanishes While Looking After Traps. Brother Returns From Search

Harold J. Berg, farmer in Excel township, northwest of the city, returned Sunday night from Kenora, where he was called last week on account of the disappearance of his brother, Joseph Johnson, of whom no trace can be found.

Mr. Johnson, who lives with his family at Kenora, Ontario, Canada, had left his home on December 3 to look after his traps on Moose Lake, near a station named Scovell, 14 miles from Kenora, and was expected to return within two or three days. A purpose of the trip was also to bring back moose meat. When several days passed without Johnson showing up, the family became alarmed and called the mounted police to make an investigation, which was begun Dec. 12, by members of the section crew near the shack where he made his headquarters while on his hunting and trapping trips. Further searching was made a couple of days later by members of the mounted police squad, but of no avail. His brother Harold Berg and a group of other men scoured the entire trapping territory but found no trace of the lost one.

The moose, which he was to have brought home, was found untouched and the door of his shack, which he usually locked, had been left open and there was no lock. He was evidently dressed lightly because his mackinaw was also found there.

No definite tracks could be found by the searching party and it is thought that Johnson either drowned in one of the many lakes which he had to cross while going over his trapping line, or that he was taken ill and unable to attract the attention of the searching party. The ice was not safe at the time he left. The territory where he is supposed to have been lost is very rugged and a wilderness, with numerous bluffs and lakes.

Mr. Johnson, who is about 44 years of age and has a wife and two stepdaughters, is well known to many in this city and vicinity, having lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Berg, northwest of Thief River Falls until he moved from here in 1906. Besides Harold he also has another brother, Christ Berg, residing in Excel township and another, Emil, at Kelliher. Joseph was at various times with Peter Eberhardt and Olaf Hanson of this city in running boats on the Red Lake river to Red Lake. Since moving to Kenora he has been engaged in trapping and hunting and hunters' guide during the winter months, while in the summer he spent the greater share of his time running boats on Lake of the Woods. His disappearance is rather mysterious insofar as no trace can be found except in the immediate vicinity of the hut, according to Harold Berg, who was a called at The Times upon his return from Canada.

CITY WELCOMES ARRIVAL OF NEW YEAR

Business Suspended While People Greet 1924. Many Observances Thruout City

1924 was ushered in Tuesday and practically the whole world ceased activity to celebrate the event. At least Thief River Falls citizens paid due homage to the new year.

Special services were held in most of the churches of the city on New Year's day and on New Year's eve a number held watch night services.

A scene of much merriment was the city auditorium Monday night, when the local American Legion post sponsored a New Year ball. Several hundred people, practically the entire dancing public of the city, were gathered to bid welcome to 1924, the event being one of the most enjoyable affairs put on by the Legionnaires. The spacious auditorium was decorated for the occasion, and the streamers and horns added much pep to the frolic.

All business in the city, with the exception of confectionery stores, restaurants and the show house, was at a standstill all day Tuesday, giving everybody an opportunity to observe the day at home, and, perhaps, make resolutions for the ensuing twelve months.

As usual there were a few merry makers on New Year's eve but none have been reported as having been too merry. At least no one required the attention of the police authorities.

Present indications bid fair for the coming year, with the mercury on an upward trend following a severe cold spell, and the farmers, merchants and bankers of the community making plans and preparing for a year of more activity than ever before. With Pennington county as the alfalfa center of the country there is no question as to the future prosperity of the community, according to prognosticators who commit themselves to predictions.

Free Shows

Thief River Falls citizens were treated to two free shows at the Princess theatre last week. Children under the age of 14 were given a free matinee by C. L. Hansen of the First National bank last Thursday, and the day previous a free attraction was given the general public by Manager Brumund of the Thief River Theatre company. At both times the house was filled to capacity the treat being greatly appreciated, especially by the kiddies.

Durrin Called to Denver

H. C. Durrin left Tuesday evening for Denver, Colo., to which city he was called on account of the serious illness of his mother, who makes her home there with a brother of Mr. Durrin. Mr. and Mrs. Durrin leave this city in the course of a few weeks for the Twin cities to make their future home. They have been residents of this city the past four or five years, Mr. Durrin having been connected with the local Soo Line office in the capacity of accountant.

County Agent Favored

The following editorial concerning the county agent problem which is before the Polk county board of commissioners at present, appeared in the Crookston Times last week:

"To our way of thinking one of the most important measures in the interest of agriculture which the Crookston Association has given its aid and endorsement is the movement started in the western part of the county providing for the employment of one or more county agents for Polk county.

"The matter was presented at the Association luncheon by a committee from the western end of the county and conclusive evidence was furnished showing that the loss sustained by agriculture in Polk county by the lack of county agent leadership amounted to many times the cost of sustaining one or two county agents.

"As a significant fact in connection with the discussion it was pointed out that the counties in the northwestern part of the state that have felt the pinch of hard times the least were those that had county agent representation.

"The Crookston Association went on record as unanimously favoring the movement and pledged its support thru the agricultural committee of that organization in co-operation with the different farmer and commercial organizations to secure favorable action on the part of the county commissioners to that end."

TWO NEW POULTRY DISTRICTS READY

Owatonna and St. James Districts Plan Co-operative Egg Sales Agencies

Two new districts in Minnesota are ready for co-operative egg and poultry marketing, according to W. J. Corwin, marketing specialist on the editorial staff of The Farmer, who is serving as organization manager for the special Farm Bureau poultry marketing committee.

"In the Owatonna and St. James communities," says Mr. Corwin, "organization on a voluntary basis has been going forward steadily. Enough volume of business already has been obtained and a start can be made any time. However each district is waiting for a membership of from 500 to 1,000.

"Requests for organization meetings are coming in so rapidly that the committee finds itself unable to meet all demands and has decided to concentrate its efforts on the four districts that are either operating or ready to start—Rice county, the Twin City unit, and the Owatonna and St. James communities. When these four districts are a little further along, attention will be given to other districts interested."

The Rice county association, first to start and now operating smoothly, proved its effectiveness during the holiday season, when it was able to prevent price declines despite heavy receipts from all quarters.

"We hope there is no creamery in the state that will help the American Stores company in its fight to block creameries in their effort to establish their own marketing program," says an official statement issued last week by Officers of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries' Association.

The statement recites the fact that the American Stores Co. has notified creameries whose butter it has been buying that "Signing any agreement which conflicts with your dealing direct with us" will result in a demand for the immediate return of equipment for printing butter which the company sells under its own private brand.

"Obviously," says A. J. McGuire, general manager, "the plan of the chain store is to hold a club over creameries by refusing to buy butter from farmer-owned plants, the directors of which sign the association's marketing agreement. We have information supporting the statement that the chain store expects to obtain its supplies from other creameries. The whole question of establishing a state butter marketing agency depends upon the loyalty of creameries. If creameries work together and refuse to follow the dictation of the chain store, in a very short time we will be in position to give all member creameries as good or a better outlet than the chain store has provided in the past. But if creameries permit themselves to be victimized by the present effort to disrupt plans for a state sales agency, co-operative marketing will be greatly hampered. We hope no creamery will help this company in its fight on the state association."

The Creamery Association has several letters supporting its statement that a state-wide campaign against the sales plan is under way.

ALL STARS VICTORS IN 2 CLOSE GAMES

Fast Basketball Tactics are Displayed by Local Teams in Contest For H. S. Benefit

Showing that they had not lost their cunning in basketball playing, the College All Stars, composed of former local high school basketeers, were victors in two tussles with the City team during the past week, winning Saturday's game by a score of 24 to 28 and on Tuesday evening 18 to 24.

The proceeds of the games were turned over to the high school athletic association to be used in buying equipment for the football team.

The game Saturday was a snappy one. The All Stars not having played together for some time and out of practice were somewhat handicapped and had difficulty in getting their teamwork started, but nevertheless, managed to keep the ball under their basket at par with the opposition. A number of long shots were made by both teams and a number of sensational plays created much enthusiasm among the large crowd of onlookers. The first half ended 13 to 16 in favor of the All Stars, the two teams scoring practically intermittently. McGinn, former St. Thomas man, made four baskets in the first half and one in the second. Tandberg of Middle River, who has played with the St. Olaf College team, put in three baskets during the fracas, while G. Johnson, Penney and Forrest Ralston were credited with two each. Ralston substituted for Herb Keene in the last half for the All Stars.

M. LaBree was the heavy scorer for the City team, with four baskets in his favor. Brown, whose energetic efforts in behalf of his aggregation were an outstanding feature of the game, made two baskets, Kiland two and Herron one. Larson put two field throws thru the hoop and two fouls. J. Parenteau substituted for LaBree during the last few minutes of play. The lively playing by both teams furnished much entertainment for the spectators, the game being played without any trouble between the local rivals.

The second All Star-City game opened with short combinations including long passes and loose guarding. The All Stars showed better organization in the first half, while the city came out in the second half with quick passes and neat combinations. The score was often tied with the city team, two points ahead at intervals, altho the All Stars took the lead. The first goal was made by McGinn in the first few minutes of play. The first quarter ended with the score 6-0 for the All Stars. The second quarter the city team made basket for basket with the opposition. Quick plays and long shots characterized the plays of both sides. Both sides showed marked team work in the second quarter and guards followed their men closer. Half ended with the score at 14-8 in favor of the All Stars. In the third quarter the city team gained on the opposition, putting the score 18-14, still in the opposition's favor. Long shots from the center of the floor by the city team drew in the guards and made team work faster toward the end. Plays shortened and quick combinations kept the ball in motion. Time was called with 18-14 in favor of the All Stars. The last quarter opened with a snap. Guarding was more open and long shots were frequent. Many shots were attempted in the last quarter and few made. The game ended 24-18 in favor of the All Stars. The lineup and number of goals is as follows:

City—Larson, rf; Kilen, lf; LaBree, c; Brown, rg; Herron, lg; Parenteau, sub. for Larson; Wilson sub for LaBree; Larson sub for Kilen.

All Stars—Tandberg, rf; McGinn, lf; Keene, c; Johnson, rg; Sorenson, lg; no subs.

The goals made are: Kilen, 1; LaBree, 3; Brown, 1; Herron, 2; and Parenteau, 2. Tandberg, 2; McGinn, 3; Keene, 6; and Johnson, 1. One foul was called in the first half as a personal foul on Brown. Shot was missed.

Clean sportsmanship was displayed by all the members of the team. A cleaner game could not have been possible.

Perry Johnson ably officiated at both games, calling out of bounds plays and refereeing without argument or favor.

Mining Scenes Depicted In Johnny Hines Picture

There is no telling these days to what extent motion picture producers will go to obtain realistic atmosphere in the higher grade pictures offered to an exacting public. In "Luck," Johnny Hines' feature comedy-drama which comes to the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday, one of the outstanding scenes is that of the interior of a coal mine wherein the hero makes a thrilling rescue of Violet Mersereau who by chance has been caught underneath when part of the mine caved in. Since it was impossible to deliberately wreck a mine for movie purposes, the next possible thing to do was to build a "prop" mine at the studio. Accordingly a highly trained technical staff was brought together, who after spending some two weeks at the Buttonwood Mine outside of Wilkesbarre to obtain the necessary technical information, returned to the studio and after two additional weeks of painstaking endeavor built a studio mine that will probably deceive a great many people into believing that it is a real-honest-to-goodness mine. So perfectly constructed was the set that when photographs of it were forwarded to the president of the Buttonwood Mine he declared it to be an exact likeness of his own mine from which the original plans for the studio mine were taken.

The perfect detail, even to the donkey-cart, is said to be remarkable. The veins of coal along the walls of the mine have been reproduced to perfection and photograph realistically on the screen. The cavernous depths of the mine and the underground life of the miners are also given vivid interpretation with the result that this scene in "Luck" for sheer construction alone will go down as one of the finest pieces of studio achievement.

Aside from the realism of the sets in "Luck" the acting of the ever-funny Johnny Hines is a revelation as is that of an excellent supporting cast which includes Violet Mersereau, Charlie Murray, Robert Edeson, Flora Finch, Warner Richmond and Polly Moran.

Kittson Co. Bank Closed

Liquor Law Violators Must Pay Fines in Marshall Co. Authorities Collect $881

The coffers of Marshall county show an increase of $881 collected from violators of the liquor laws as a result of a recent motion by W. O. Braggans, Marshall county attorney, that liquor law violators be compelled to pay fines levied in addition to serving jail terms.

Heretofore several prisoners had elected to serve additional time in jail rather than paying the fine imposed but Mr. Braggans in making the motion before Judge Andrew Grindeland insisted that this was creating an additional expense on the county.

Theodore Shankey of Middle River was released from the county jail Monday when his fine of $231 was paid just in time for him to get home for Christmas. Swan Olson paid a fine of $300 and Adam and John Stucynski of Stephen paid fines of $200 and $150 respectively.

COUNTY BOARD HOLDS ANNUAL SESSION TUES.

Appropriation of $2000 for Co. Agent Voted Down By Commissioners Tuesday

HANSON, 1st DISTRICT, IS SELECTED CHAIRMAN

Times Designated as Publication in Which All County Notices Shall Appear

The regular annual meeting of the Pennington county board of commissioners was held at Auditor T. P. Anderson's office in the court house last Tuesday, the session lasting only one day. All members of the board were present; Robt. McGinn, J. S. Roy, A. W. Hanson, Emil Larson and Carl Olson. The Thief River Falls Times was unanimously selected as the newspaper in which are to appear all notices required by law to be published during the coming year. This means that The Times will publish the delinquent tax list, annual financial statement of the county, proceedings of all commissioners' meetings, personal property tax list, and all other notices of whatsoever nature. Supplements of the tax lists and statement will be furnished the other papers of the county, thus providing for the most thorough circulation possible among the taxpayers.

A. W. Hanson Chairman

The meeting was largely given over to organizing the board and attending to routine matters. A. W. Hanson, of Erie, commissioner from the First district, was elected chairman of the board for the ensuing year, to succeed Robt. McGinn of Thief River Falls. J. S. Roy of St. Hilaire, representing the Fourth district, was again chosen vice chairman. Hanson was elected after five ballots had been cast. Committee appointments were postponed until the next meeting of the board.

Salaries of county officials remain the same as in the past, except in the case of court house janitor, who was granted an increase from $60 to $65 per month. The county superintendent of schools will receive $1,440, sheriff $1,320, auditor $2,000, county attorney $1,200, with an extra allowance of $300 for office rent, highway engineer, $2,100.

Farm Bureau Aid Refused

After a live discussion the county dads voted down the appropriation of $2,000 for aid of the farm bureau in maintaining an extension worker in the county, in which capacity J. J. McCann is at present serving, supported by the Commercial club and various other organizations of the city and county. The vote was two to three, commissioners McGinn and Roy favoring the appropriation, while Hanson, Larson and Olson were opposed, the ground for their opposition being that their constituents are not favorable towards expenditure of county funds for this purpose at the present time.

It was decided to levy $6,000 for a sinking fund with which to retire county bonds as they come due. A petition for a state aid road extending from the Soo round house north past the golf links to the Marshall county line was approved by the board.

An appropriation of $125 for the Red River Valley Development association to assist in enterprising movements and projects promoted by that association to bring before the public the possibilities of the valley section, was accorded the approval of board members. A large share of this money is returned to the county by way of premiums awarded Pennington exhibitors at the Winter Shows in Crookston to be held soon.

A number of appointments and the financial statement of the county will be taken up at a later session, to be called by Auditor Anderson.

Remodelling of Oen Store Enlarges Floor Space For Dry Goods and Furnishings

A decided change has been made in the arrangement of the clothing departments of the Oen Mercantile store the past week, carpenters having been busy remodelling parts of the establishment. The cashier's office, which was formerly located in the center of the building, is now to one side, along the north wall, thus making more room available for the men's and dry goods departments. The latter has been enlarged practically twice its former space for the increasing business of this department. The men's clothing and shoe department, however, have not suffered by the new arrangement, these lines also being given sufficient room for properly taking care of the 1924 business.

As one enters the pioneer store after the rearrangement it presents a most up-to-date appearance and affords splendid facilities for meeting with the large volume of business enjoyed by this institution.

The holiday decorations of the dry goods department have been removed and will be replaced by new appropriate designs to adorn the walls The decorating and trimming is artistically performed by Roy M. Prytz, manager of the dry goods department, who has also distinguished himself in arranging most attractive window displays. The holiday display was particularly worthy of notice.

At 5 o'clock yesterday she was considered out of danger and was regaining normal temperature when complications affecting the brain, set in and death followed in a few hours.

Local Men Organize to Form 'Peptomist Club,' Wednesday All Over Fifteen Eligible

"The 'Peptomist' Club of the Methodist Episcopal Church" is the name chosen for Thief River Falls' new organization of men and boys. The third and final organization meeting was held Wednesday, January 2nd, and resulted in a permanent program to emphasize the social side of the Methodist church. A "peptomist," it might be said, is an improved model of an optomist. The optomist says, "I believe that it can be done." The "peptemist" says, "Why certainly, I'll do it now!"

Andrew Bottelson was elected president; Thomas Chittick, vice president, and Grant Barnard, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Chittick heads a committee in charge of refreshments. A large committee is also to be appointed to handle entertainments.

The membership of this club is not limited to members of the church entirely, but is to include men and boys over 15 years old, who are "interested in the Methodist Church," and are accepted by a committee and a majority vote of the members. It is intended that the membership requirements shall be liberally interpreted by the committee.

Meetings have been set for the first and third Wednesdays of each month, at 8 p. m. All meetings to be held at the church. The next meeting falling on January 16th will be of wide interest. A fine program and lunch being planned. Come out and get acquainted, for the good of Thief River Falls.

THIRTY 8TH GRADE STUDENTS TO ENTER H. S. SECOND PERIOD

Additional Teacher To Meet Increased Enrollment in H. S. During Coming Semester

Next week brings to a close the first semester, which is the first half of the school year, and plans are now being made for the organization of the work for the second semester. The last three days of next week will be occupied, in high school, with the giving of the midyear examinations, while the grade work will go on in the usual manner.

Some changes will be made throughout the school system. About thirty students are candidates for graduation from the eighth grade and for entrance into high school. Plans are completed for their accommodation. Mrs. Alexander Campbell, who has substituted in the eighth grade during the first semester will, therefore, no longer be regularly employed. On the other hand, Harold C. Hand, a graduate of Macalster college, has been engaged as an additional teacher in high school. No additional teaching force will be hired to accommodate the beginners who are to start at this time since reorganization of the lower departments will make room for the new ones.

Parents of children becoming six on or before March 24 should make it a point to notify Superintendent Simley as early as possible in regard to such child or children in case they wish them to start school at this time. It should also be kept in mind that any child eligible for first grade entrance according to the above rule should present himself for admission before two weeks have elapsed. This requirement is adhered to in order that the class that starts on time may not have to be held back for the benefit of a late entrant. It is also of individual benefit to the pupil, for a late start means a poor start and chances are the child will become discouraged and will not do well regardless of natural ability.

Looking back over the semester, it must be admitted that the work thus far has been of an unusually high order. Parents, school board, superintendent, teachers, and pupils are on the whole well satisfied and enthusiastic over the work accomplished.

STATE ORDERS CITIZENS BANK CLOSED JAN. 5

Local Institution, One of Oldest In County, Forced to Close Doors Saturday

DEPLETED RESERVES CAUSES ST [illegible] ACTION

John Bratrud, Representing State Banking Dept. in Charge of Adjustments

Depleted reserves caused the Citizens State Bank of Thief River Falls, one of the oldest institutions in the county, to be closed by the state banking department in agreement with the officers last Saturday morning.

The closing caused considerable surprise in the community. The suspension of business was the only alternative, however, in view of the bank's inability to realize on its securities in order to secure funds with which to pay withdrawals of deposits.

John Bratrud of this city, recently in charge of the Citizens State Bank in Argyle, has been placed in charge of the local institution, G. P. Daily of the state banking department being in temporary charge. No definite announcement is available at this time as to the re-opening of the bank but the examiner in charge asserts that adjustments will be made with the aim of resuming business as soon as possible. The resources of the institution are ample and it is not likely that depositors will lose their funds in the bank, altho it causes inconvenience to many during the period of adjustment.

The Citizens State bank is capitalized at $50,000, and has a surplus of $10,000. Its loans and discounts total $624,000, while the combined checking and time deposits aggregate $611,000.

Flames Nearly Destroy Car Belonging to Union Plumbing Shop in Saturday Fire

The Thief River Falls fire department was called out for the first time in 1924 last Saturday noon, when a blaze was noticed in the back room of the Union Plumbing shop, across the alley from the post office. Upon entering the shop after having been home for dinner, Maurice Fossum, one of the proprietors, found the building filled with smoke issuing from the center section in which the company's service car, a Ford roadster, was stored. The fire department was called at once and it was discovered that the car, which had not been run since the previous evening, was on fire. The flames were soon extinguished but only after the upholstering and portions of the woodwork of the car had been consumed or damaged by the fire. There was no damage to the building except caused by the water.

The origin of the fire is not definitely known but it is thought that spontaneous combustion was caused by oily rags which were placed in the car.

Committees Chosen For The Staging of "Kathleen"

The Girls' Community Club has at last completed its organization of committees for their coming production of "Kathleen," a musical comedy to be staged at the city auditorium on Jan. 29 for the benefit of the club. This feature entertainment is being produced in conjunction with the John B. Rogers Producing company of Fostoria, Ohio, and a director will arrive next week to have charge of rehearsals.

Miss Emily Fossum, president of the club, will be assisted by the following committees in making arrangements for the event, one of the most attractive features of which is the clever chorus groups: Ticket committee, Miss Esther Gjertson, chairman; publicity, Misses Alvina Jonas, chairman, Hilda Hammarsten, Carmelletta Lynch, Anna Majeres and Barbara Votava; program, Misses Vera Byler, chairman; Clara Halvorson, Sybil McGinn, Agnes Sands and Irma Johnson; talent and play committee, Misses Vallerie Parenteau, chairman, Esther Stebbins, Jeanette Oftedahl, Bertha Ordal, Monica Bambrick, Elenor Keyes and Helen Montgomery.

Drama and Humor in "The Seventh Day" Coming Fri.

Because they haven't been to divine service ever since they were old enough to leave mother's knee, a dozen sophisticated New Yorkers on a yacht anchored off a quaint Maine sea coast town fail to recognize the meaning of the church bell. Half of them mistook it for a fire alarm—and they certainly did hate fires. It was so mussy, y'know.

Just because Reggie Van Zandt wanted a postage stamp, however, they went ashore. There followed another meeting with John Alden, staunch New England youth who owned his own fishing schooner; and in the course of that "seventh day" there came a revolutionizing impulse that changed the whole trend of their lives.

This is the dramatic situation that Porter Emerson Browne has built up in "The Seventh Day," the First National attraction for which he prepared the story and which will be shown at the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday, this week. The picture will mark the second starring venture of Richard Barthelmess, who made such an instantaneous success with its predecessor, "Tol'able David."

Most of the picture was filmed off the Maine coast in localities never before touched by the motion picture camera and it has the added advantage of unusual scenic beauty, quaint rural charm and the sweep of the sea. It was directed by Henry King, who also directed "Tol'able David."

BRAVES 36 BELOW WEATHER IN MOTORCYCLE JAUNT FROM SASKATCHEWAN TO ILLINOIS

Facing a 36 degree below zero sou'wester gale, mounted on his motorcycle, for hundreds of miles is only an incident in the life of one Harry Logan of South Milwaukee, he says, and he only grinned when he left Thief River Falls early Saturday morning, January 5, the coldest day so far this winter. And meeting a strong 36 below wind with an additional thirty or forty miles an hour speed on a motorcycle would make even an Eskimo notice an absence of the scent of orange blossoms.

Mr. Logan had been employed in Saskatchewan during the fall months and wanted to reach his home in South Milwaukee before the "cold weather" set in, but it's our guess he found other than tropical climate.

MANY FARMERS SIGN CONTRACT WITH CREAMERY

Dairymen in Joint Session With Commercial Club Consider Patronage Agreements

MERCHANTS AND FARMERS ENDORSE FARM AID BILL

Creamery Association To Hold Annual Meeting of Stockholders on Jan. 26

More than 40 patrons of the local co-operative creamery have signed the patronage contract, giving assurance that they will deliver their cream to their own co-operative institution for a period of five years, largely as a result of the meeting of local dairymen in this city last Thursday. The regular creamery meeting, which was sponsored by the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery association and the Commercial club, was preceded by the club luncheon which was attended by approximately 75 farmers and business men of the community. A dinner at 25 cents per plate was served, following which the meeting proper opened with a discussion of the Coulter bill now before congress.

Endorse Coulter Bill

Members of the Creamery association and Commercial club present at Thursday's meeting were unanimous in their approval and recommendation of the bill, which provides for the appropriation of a revolving fund of $50,000,000 to be loaned by the government to farmers for the purchase of breeding stock without requiring other collateral than the stock purchased and the increase therefrom, loans not to exceed $1000 to each individual. Although Pennington county was not at first included in the district to be benefited by this farm aid, it was later recommended by a state representative who met with business men of the city recently, that it be made a part of that section so that if the measure is passed by Congress, farmers of this community may secure the proposed loans, if desired.

Would Increase Livestock

Hans Anton, prominent Pennington dairyman, was called upon by President H. W. Froehlich and stated that he was of the belief that the bill would provide a much needed help for the farmer who is entering into a program of diversified farming and would benefit this community in a large measure in aiding the farmers to get a start in the raising of livestock. He pointed out the necessity of getting good stock in order to make a profit and that there is a huge waste of production of poor grade animals. He maintained it costs practically the same amount to raise an animal of poor quality as one that will pay the desired profits. Attention was also called to the fact that the buying of a large number of livestock would create a boost in the market. Among others who spoke in behalf of the measure were Carsten Christiansen, V. C. Noper, T. K. Rynestad.

Secretary J. J. McCann was ordered to send copies of the resolution recommending the passage of the bill to the representatives of this section in Washington.

Many Sign Contracts

Following the discussion of the Coulter bill the question of signing up creamery patrons was taken up. Geo. G. Wallick, Pine county dairyman near Hinckley, who is in this section assisting N. C. Lindberg, field manager for the Fourteenth district of the state creamery association in the signing up of butter sales contracts, was present at the meeting and presented in brief terms the various phases of the contract and the necessity of this procedure in the fight against the so-called centralizers, who, it is claimed, are making a strenuous effort at this time to break up the co-operative creameries. It is therefore essential that all dairymen of the state in localities where there are co-operative institutions, unite and stick by their own creamery so as to assure its success and incidentally the success of the dairying industry. It is said that in states where there are only a few or no co-operative concerns competing with the centralizers, the farmers are receiving considerably less money for their cream than in Minnesota, for instance, where about 80 per cent of the creameries are co-operatives. About 35 signers were secured by Thos. H. Bjerke, secretary of the Thief River Falls creamery, at the meeting last week, and additional names are being added to the list as the campaign goes on.

Annual Creamery Meeting

The annual meeting of the Thief River Creamery association will be held Jan. 26 at the auditorium in this city, at which time officers will be elected, reports heard and building plans for the coming year considered. It will be the most important gathering of the year and it is urged that all stockholders be present.

CITY'S AFFAIRS GIVEN OVER TO NEW OFFICIALS

New Council With One Veteran Member Selects Evenson Chairman Tuesday Night

CO-OPERATION IN LAW ENFORCEMENT IS URGED

Salaries of City Employees Are Cut in Interest of Economy. Pederson Is Clerk

The first meeting of the new city council of Thief River Falls was held last Tuesday evening when the retiring officials turned the reins of the city over to the men chosen at the last November election. The old council, all of whom were present, met at 8 o'clock to close up its business, following which the new body went into session and organized, the only member of the old council continuing to serve during the coming period being H. A. Brumund, alderman from the Third ward.

Evenson Becomes Chairman

Martin V. Evenson, alderman at large, was chosen chairman of the new body, with H. A. Brumund as vice chairman. All the new members were present. T. A. Fossum succeeds Carl Froseth in the First ward, Chris Porter takes the place of John Dahl in the Second, Andrew Ness in the Fourth is replaced by O. A. Rambeck, while Martin Evenson and Oscar C. Paulson succeed O. L. Ihle and Severn Brandon as aldermen at large. J. S. Arneson took his place as mayor of the city to succeed John Bratrud. Scott Laird takes the place of G. Howard Smith as special municipal judge while the municipal judge N. W. Tarrant, is retained.

Treasury Funds of $40,000

Members of the old council first in session considered and ordered filed the regular monthly reports and approved the usual batch of bills. The report of the manager of the auditorium showed receipts of $24, the chief of police $30 and municipal court $60.40. The balance in the city treasury at the opening of the new year is $40,260.26, the disbursements for the past month of 1923 being $13,914.09. The December receipts totalled $37,676.44, and the amount on hand Dec. 1 was $16,497.91. The report of the light department showed earnings of $4,093.68 during December, the total for the water department being only $88.77 due to the fact that charges for this item are billed only quarterly, and is not paid regularly at this time.

The retiring officials in ceasing their period of public service were given a vote of thanks by W. J. LaBree in behalf of the citizens of Thief River Falls, following which the old council adjourned.

Committees Appointed

The new council after selecting Alderman Evenson chairman, took up the matter of appointing a number of city officials and fixing salaries. The following committees were announced: Finance—Brumund, Paulson and Fossum; Health—Health officer, Porter and Brumund; Poor — Fossum, Porter, Brumund and Rambeck; Roads, Streets and Sidewalks—Paulson and Evenson; Licenses, Printing and Municipal Buildings—Rambeck, Porter and Paulson; Water and Light—Evenson, Porter and Rambeck.

The mayor's appointment of Math Barzen, Sr., as member of the Park Board for four years more was confirmed. Other members of the board are: Emil Zeh, N. J. Silk, Mrs. T. L. Melgaard and F. H. Herrick. It was decided to open bids for city printing and depositories for city funds on January 29. The application of T. A. Tasa for a license to conduct a bowling alley, billiard and pool room in the basement of the Citizens State bank building was ordered laid over until the next meeting. Bids for a car of coal were opened, The Prichard Company being awarded the bid at $10.25 F. O. B. bin. The official bond of N. W. Tarrant, municipal judge, in the sum of $1000 was accepted and ordered filed.

The report of Dairy Inspector L. R. Twete was received and filed, showing a total number of 225 cows furnishing milk to the city, practically all of whom have been examined. Three bovines have been condemned for tuberculosis and killed by order of the state board of health, while two had lumpy jaws and two had udder infections. The report indicates that milk dealers locally are improving conditions rapidly.

Mayor Addresses Council

In a brief address to the new council Mayor Arneson stated that a number of important matters would come before that body but that he had no recommendations to make at that time. He deemed it advisable to defer action on various matters until thoroughly investigated in conjunction with the council, seeking the co-operation in all matters. In regard to law enforcement the new executive stated that he would make recommendations to the council from time to time, and urged united effort between the various offices and governing bodies in ridding the city of undesirable characters and practices, particularly violators of the liquor laws.

Salaries Reduced

Several changes were made in the salaries of the city officials for the coming year, resolutions effecting considerable slashes being adopted. The salary of the aldermen and mayor, $100 per year, will remain the same, as will also the monthly salaries of the treasurer, $25; municipal judge, $95; chief of police, $100; night patrolman, $95, with an additional $5 per month for janior work during the winter. The city clerk's salary of $145.75 was reduced to $135 and that of the assistant from $132.25 to $100 per month. Other monthly salaries which were given a cut are: city attorney from $65 to $50; superintendent of water and light department from $184 to $175; first electrician from $132.25 to $122.50; second electrician from $120.75 to $115; superintendent of incinerator from $92 to $70; and the yearly hire of the city physician and health officer, each from $200 to $175. The wages of the assessor were reduced from $500 and $400 to $400 and $300. The others remain the same.

Pederson is Clerk

Some changes were made in the appointive offices of the city. O. G. Pederson, for a number of years deputy city clerk, succeeds A. H. Akre who has served in that capacity for some time. Mr. Pederson's place is taken by Miss Emily Fossum, formerly with The Prichard Company. No appointment was made at Tuesday's meeting for the office of assessor, physician and health officer, the latter two to be made by the mayor. H. O. Hoff will continue his services as street commissioner, Theodore Lee as driver of the fire wagon, Ole Legvold as superintendent of the city water and light department, Alec Welch as first electrician, W. S. Ferris as second electrician, Chas. Krause, J. A. Adolphs and G. Anderson as first, second and third engineers, respectively, R. G. Cook as auditorium janitor and John Meyer as garbage collector. Other appointments which still remain to be taken action on are those of chief of police and patrolman, at present being filled by A. D. Ralston and Ed. Krogstad, respectively.

REPORT SHOWS LAW OBEYANCE IN PENNINGTON

County Attorney Reports 15 Convictions in District Court During Past Year

FINES TOTALLING $1036.00 COLLECTED BY TARRANT

Many Liquor Law Violators Suffer at Hands of Local Authorities in 1923

The annual 1923 report of County Attorney Theo. Quale, recently submitted to the attorney general's office, reveals a number of interesting facts regarding the past year's activities in district and municipal court.

In district court 34 cases were brot before that tribunal during 1923, according to the report. Of these 15 were convicted, three were acquitted and 16 are pending. Eleven sentences were suspended in district court, these being for the following offences: Selling mortgaged property, 1; carnal knowledge, 1; forgery, 2; and petty larceny, 2. No one was sent to the state penitentiary or to the reformatory during the past year, but eight were sent to the county jail and eight paid fines. Fines aggregating a total of $850 was collected, the entire amount being paid by violators of the liquor laws. The total amount of fines assessed was $2300. Two cases in which total fines of $750 are involved, are now pending in the state supreme court. Other fines either remain unpaid until the offender completes his jail term or will be served out in jail in default of payment.

18 Liquor Charges

More than one-half of the charges brought into district court were as violations of the liquor law, the record showing the following:

Assault, third degree, 1; grand larceny, 3; petty larceny, 2; forgery, second degree, 2; carnal knowledge, 1; indecent assault, 1; bastardy, 1; violation of liquor laws, 18; violations of auto laws, 1; resisting public officer, 1; selling mortgaged property, 3. The cases of those for whom warrants have been issued are considered as pending.

Tarrant Collects $1036

There were 89 convictions in municipal court for which a total of $646 in fines and $99.06 in costs was collected by Judge N. W. Tarrant. Of the total collected for fines $464 was turned over to the county and $852.50 to the city treasury. Fines aggregating $30 for violations of the game laws, brought into municipal court by Game Warden Munch, were also collected and handed over to County Treasurer Gullingsrud. A total of $180 was also assessed violators of state laws, which was paid and sent to the state, making a grand total of $1036.50 in fines collected in municipal court during 1923.

The convictions in municipal court for which fines were collected for the city and county treasuries include the following charges: Assault, third degree, 1; violation of pure food laws, 2; language tending to provide assault, 4; non-support, 4; abandonment of wife, 1; gambling, 7; violation of auto laws, 1; injuring real property, 6; failing to keep children in school, 3; disturbing public meetings, 3; wife beating, 1; allowing minors in pool hall, 1. Other cases were dismissed bound over to district court or otherwise disposed of.

The report reveals that the officials in whom is vested the authority and responsibility of enforcing the laws are alert and take proper care of the county's interests. The county attorney, Theo. Quale, and Judge Tarrant both state that the business of the local courts is decreasing, indicating that the citizens of the county and city are a comparatively law-abiding group. According to these officials the record shows a smaller number of offenses than in former years. Even violators of the liquor laws are now becoming less numerous and the operations of several active members of this band of law breakers have been curbed during the past year. Some of them are now serving time for their violations and a considerable amount of money has been collected as fines. Federal officers also nabbed a number of local offenders.

Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Company Reelects Officers. Loss Claims Over $5000

The annual meeting of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company of Pennington and Red Lake counties, was held at St. Hilaire Wednesday, Jan. 2. Due to cold weather, the attendance at this meet was not heavy. Report of business done in the past year was read by Secretary John O. Swanson, and shows the company to be in a very flourishing condition. One assessment was made during the year to take care of six fire loss claims and 12 lightning loss claims, totalling near $5,000.00. There is noted a small increase in the number of policy-holders written, and carried in force by the company at the end of the current year totals nearly three and one-half millions of dollars.

Satisfaction with efforts of the present officers was evidenced when the meeting voted by acclamation to retain them for another year. They are: Ed. Aubol, president; A. G. Hallstrom, vice president; John O. Swanson, secretary, N. A. Nelson, treasurer, and P. Lundberg, director.

KEEP COOL, THINK SANELY, ACT WISELY

In times of great public excitement whether caused by war, politics, scandal, a great conflagration, an earthquake, a bank failure or other calamity that may befall a community or a nation, it behooves all good citizens to keep cool, think sanely, and act wisely. But it is at such times that people often lose their heads and by their thoughtless actions aggravate the evils from which they try to escape.

As a community we have suffered a great loss by the misfortune that has befallen the Citizens State Bank, a financial institution of which our city has been justly proud. This bank's misfortune is our misfortune. No blame can be attached to the able men who have been at the head of the institution—the depressed business conditions which exist all over the nation and particularly in the Northwest, is the sole cause. The Times is assured that the bank's resources are ample and no depositor is likely in the end to lose a dollar.

But this is a time when it is necessary for all of us to exercise patience, and cultivate a spirit of helpfulness and co-operation. Let us stand by the other banks of our city and by neither word nor deed endanger or make more difficult their position. If there are any people in Thief River Falls who have any money hidden away in old socks or at the bottom of old trunks, get it out and deposit same in a bank that it may circulate and be a benefit to everybody in the community. A bank serves a useful purpose in the business life of a community. It is an equalizer of credits. If A has $100 that he has no immediate use for, let him deposit the money in a bank on a time certificate drawing interest and the banker will then be in position to help some other man who needs to borrow money. Thus all three parties will be benefited, including the community as a whole. Yes, let us stand by our banks, merchants, farmers, churches, schools, newspapers, in fact by every agency and activity that helps make Thief River Falls an up-to-date community and a good place in which to live. Let us have confidence in ourselves and in one another, and co-operate with one another for the good of all.

Banks as well as stores suffer in these critical times from activities of even the government itself. The large sums of money invested in government savings certificates and other government securities are withdrawn from local circulation to the detriment of the community, and the mail order houses in the big cities have facilities for doing business through the postoffice department that make it hard for merchants in smaller towns to even exist.

In a time of adversity let us be more loyal than ever to our city and happier and more prosperous in the end.

After listening to the talks and seeing the charts at the Purebred Breeders Association the other evening we wonder why farmers bother at all with scrub dams—we would just reverse the words of that phrase and proceed accordingly!—Redwood Gazette.

FIRST and PEOPLES STATE BANK

Our Statement

In the adjoining column appears the published statement of the condition of this bank at the close of business on December 31, 1923.

It is with confidence that we ask the readers of this paper to carefully study this statement. It is published by order of the Banking Department of the State of Minnesota in order that the depositors may see for themselves the true condition of the bank and the policy of the men who manage its affairs. Consider the large capital, the surplus and undivided profits, a sure guarantee to the depositor. Our cash reserve is practically three times the amount required by law, indicating that we are able to take care of the financial needs of our customers.

Not for several years has this bank carried so large a cash reserve as at this time and the deposits have increased materially for over a year.

In this connection the officers and directors of the First and Peoples State Bank express to their customers, large and small, their personal appreciation for the confidence reposed in this institution, for the business given it and for the kind words spoken for it. We feel that the bank owes its customers and community the best service and protection possible to render, consistent with sound banking, and it is to this end that we dedicate the bank's efforts through the year before us.

St. Hilaire Man Attending Creamery Operators' Course

William Kruse of St. Hilaire is attending the university's short course for creamery operators which is given every winter at University Farm, St. Paul. The course opened Monday, December 31, and will last until Saturday, February 9. Sixty young men, all of them from Minnesota except ten from Wisconsin and four from Iowa, are taking the course. This is in excess of the normal enrollment. Instruction and practical work are being given in the use of the Babcock test, the grading of cream by use of acid tests, pasteurization and ripening of cream, use of starters in producing desired flavors, methods of controlling the composition of butter with reference to moisture, fat, and salt, and many other subjects pertaining to successful operation. Instruction is also being given in up-to-date bookkeeping methods. C. D. Dahle of the university's dairy school is in general charge of the course. Members of the University Farm faculty and several outside expert creamery managers and buttermakers are assisting him in training the students.

MARRIAGE LICENSES IN 1923 TOTAL 83; ONLY FOUR DIVORCES

Dan Cupid Loses Ground During Past Year But County Enjoys Marital Harmony

Dan Cupid was not as active during 1923 as the previous year in Pennington county, according to records revealed by Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund. Only 83 licenses were issued in this county during the past year, compared to 97 the previous year, a decrease of 14, and 43 below the record year, 1920, when the total reached 126. The totals for each year since the organization of the county are as follows: 1911, 94; 1912, 106; 1913, 96; 1914, 116; 1915, 123; 1916, 120; 1917, 110; 1918, 102; 1919, 107; 1920, 126; 1921, 83; 1922, 97; 1923, 83.

Although June is considered the most popular month for matrimonial aspirants, only eight licenses were granted during that period, while February and May share honors in having the largest number, each being credited with ten. The total for October was nine, while April had only two and November three. Eight couples entered upon a contract during the last month of the year.

With leap year advancing Clerk Eklund looks forward to a record year in the matrimonial business.

During the year just completed only four divorces were granted in Pennington, a very commendable record. This is only one-half as many as the previous year. In 1912 the total was 18, or one-sixth of the number of marriage licenses issued during the same period. The figures for the past 13 years are: 1911, 3; 1912, 18; 1913, 8; 1914, 6; 1915, 6; 1916, 12; 1917, 4; 1918, 5; 1919, 4; 1920, 11; 1921, 5; 1922, 8; 1923, 4. Altho there was a slump in the marriage line it can be seen by the foregoing record that an apparently blissful marital life has existed among local citizens the past year.

The last couple to secure a license before the old year expired was L. C. Pope and Miss Doris Halvorson, both of this city.

The majority of weddings took place in this city by local pastors, only thirteen being married outside of Thief River Falls. A total of 15 couples were united in bonds of matrimony by Judge of Probate Lars Backe or Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant. A number of licenses were issued to North Dakota people. A license was granted one Mexican couple. The youngest couple given permission to marry in 1923 was an instance where the girl was 15 and the young man 19 years of age.

LLOYD PROVES TO BE MASTER COMEDIAN IN "WHY WORRY" FILM

Giant John Aasen, Seen at Fair Here, Plays Feature Part in Sensational Farce

Motion picture stars frequently fall into the rut, because they persistently follow the same line of story, and the same type of characterization. They never deviate because they feel that the public demands them in a certain type of picture.

Harold Lloyd has gone ahead all the time because he has never established himself in any certain type of picture. Because his audiences never know what to expect from him, and don't worry because they know he always gives them something that is worth while.

In "Why Worry?" his latest Pathecomedy entry in the race for popular plaudits, and the feature attraction at the Princess Theatre next Sunday and Monday, Lloyd again pursues his own theory that to mix them up is to serve the public best. Because one likes roast beef is no reason why it should be served him for every meal. And for the same motive, there is no reason why a star should enact a certain type of picture continuously because he happened to achieve a great success in one of them.

"Why Worry?" is as unlike any picture Harold Lloyd has made before as any two things could be. It is a South American story, strong in farce but with an ever present vein of satire that should prove delightful to the American audience which does not like its entertainment too serious.

It is the biggest picture in Lloyd's category, from the point of production. Big sets, huge crowds, and much fighting add to its production values. Yet above all these stands out the character of Lloyd, as the boy who has naught to worry him but imaginary ills.

Another outstanding figure in the cast is the world's biggest man, John Aasen, who stands eight feet and nine and a quarter inches and weights 500 pounds. He is making his screen debut in "Why Worry." The human giant comes from North Dakota and was seen in Thief River Falls three years ago at the Pennington county fair. He was then traveling with a carnival and will be remembered by many who saw him at that time.

As a special added attraction the management has booked a sensation novelty thriller, "Why Elephants Leave Home." It shows the Puny Man of Africa breaking the mammoth pachyderms as his beasts of burden and how they are captured and broke.

Crookston High Breaks With East Grand Forks

The Crookston High school basketball team scheduled to play two games with the East Grand Forks team, cancelled their dates and have severed all athletic relations with the East Grand Forks high school, it was announced Monday, according to Crookston Times.

Ill feeling between the two schools is said to have arisen over Crookston's protest of last fall's football game which was won on the field by East Grand Forks. According to Crookston officials the East Side team played two men after Crookston had protested their eligibility. The protest was taken before the district athletic committee and Crookston's protest was allowed, the board awarding Crookston high school the contest. This action is said to have intensified the ill-feeling on the part of East Grand Forks high towards Crookston and as a result Crookston officials decided the best action would be to cancel all athletic connections with the institution.

WITH YOU AGAIN

This is the first issue of the "Progress" for the year of 1924. There have been no issues the past two weeks because of holiday vacations and the consequent lack of a staff and school news.

Though this number should have been an exceptionally good one to start the new year right, we regret to say that it is hardly up to the usual standard. This is due to the fact that there is little back news to publish and the news there is was assigned so late that the reporters were unable to put the regular time on it.

Fighting The Cougar

It happened one day on the prairie
As I was hunting for game,
I came across an old cougar
I thot was pretty lame.
My lasso hung at my saddle,
A rope some thirty feet long,
'Twas made from the best of manila,
You imagine 'twas very sound and strong.

I simply uncoiled my old lasso,
Whirled it three times o'er my head,
Threw with the strength of a giant,
At the cougar crouched in his bed.
He lifted his head to windward
Then dodged the old rope in a way,
That would make Abe Martin, the scare crow,
Laugh in his silly old way.

I looked at the cougar in wonder,
Then pulled my lasso away,
Coiled up my thirty foot wonder,
Whirled it three times and away.
It dropped around cougar, the lion,
Enjoying the light of day
He found the lasso had got him,
Just then I began to pray.

For such a pulling and jerking
You never did see in your life,
I jumped, but alas, for the jumping,
His claws were that of a knife.
He struck me once on the forehead.
He struck me once on the back,
Then wrapped the lasso around me
And started back on his track.

There I was left on the prarie,
Bruised, without horse, without gun.
Alas! for hunting of cougars
I don't see where there is fun.
On the prairies I never shall wander.
Where the buffalo and cougar doth roam.
—G.K.'27.

New Year's Eve

New Year's eve has come at last,
Old Father Time has gone too fast,
The bells are ringing
People are singing
To welcome New Year
On this eve so clear.

New Year's Eve has come at last,
Old Father Time has gone too fast,
Oh! How they do cheer
For New Year is here.
To bring with his joy
For each girl and boy.

New Year's Eve has come at last,
Old Father Time has gone too fast,
Oh! now all is still,
The moon has hid behind a hill.
New Year's morn is drawing nigh,
Soon the sun will shine on high.
—H. I. H. '25.

Frolics

The ice is frozen o'er
With sheets of glossy hue
The boys and girlies roar
The way they used to do.
Each morning, noon and night
They come in troop array;
By hunger gained in flight
They find it hard to stay.

FINAL HALF-YEAR EXAMS JAN 16-18

State Examinations in Half-year Subjects and Semi-finals in Others Last of Next Week

The final examinations for the first semester will be given on January 16, 17 and 18. There will be a new departure in the giving of final semester examinations this year. Heretofore the practice has been to give a final examination in only the half-year subjects at the end of the first semester and in all the subjects at the end of the second semester. This year final examinations will be given in all subjects at the end of the first semester. This means that the work for the first semester will be finished in all subjects when the semester ends. Credits will be awarded only in half-year subjects at the end of the first semester. In whole year subjects no credit will be given until the second semester's work is also finished and the semester marks are averaged.

It is thought that this method of giving final examinations will be more satisfactory and fairer to the students. No doubt all the students will find it easier to write an examination on the first half-year's work at the end of this semester than at the end of the year. The review that will necessarily precede the final examinations should give the students a better foundation for their second semester's work in whole year subjects.

All those who receive eight honor points in a subject will be exempted from examination in that subject. This means that in order to be exempted from an examination it is necessary that a student shall have received at least two A's and one B in his work for the first three six-weeks' periods of the year.

State examinations will be given only in the half-year subjects; in the others, the examinations will be prepared by the respective teachers. All the examinations will be of two hours duration.

STEPHEN TO PLAY LOCALS HERE FRI.

Lincoln High Basketball Quint To Meet Fast Team in Second Conference Game

Next Friday the Lincoln high school basketball quint will meet the best team they have yet run up against this season. They play the Stephen team on the auditorium floor. The game will undoubtedly be very fast as the locals will be striving to keep up their record of 1000% and Stephen will be doing their best to make up for losing a conference game earlier in the season. Stephen has a fast team with several veterans on it, and although the Lincolnites are handicapped in this respect they are determined to put forth every effort they possibly can to come out on the long end of the score.

Although Coach Thune has been away for Christmas vacation, the squad has had several practises so they have kept in good condition. Since his return the Lincoln basketball mentor has been putting his team through some stiff practises to whip them into shape for the conference fray next Friday.

The exact lineup is uncertain. The probable lineup to start the game is: Penney and Parenteau, forwards; Barzen and Sorenson, guards, and Sether, center.

Alumni Donate Proceeds Of Two Games To High School Athletic Fund

A number of college basketball stars who spent their vacation in Thief River Falls, graduates of Lincoln High, challenged the Alumni living here in the city and others interested in basketball to a series of two games during the holidays for the benefit of the High School Athletic association.

They were live snappy games but the feature of the contests that appealed particularly to the high school was the fact that the receipts from the games were turned over in full to the High School Athletic association for the purpose of buying new equipment. The gross receipts at the first game amounted to $63.20 while the receipts for the second game amounted to $24.25. It is unnecessary to say that the high school greatly appreciates not only the money thus received but particularly the good will of the alumni and fans in the city in thus boosting the activities of their Alma Mater.

Normal Notes

The Normal girls attended the Christmas programs given by the Knox and Washington schools.

Notice—To those who are planning on taking the Normal course next year, a thorough review of the first grade primers is advised as it has been found that a lack of same is a handicap.

ROSEAU DEBATERS WILL MEET LINCOLN

Local Team To Change Sides in Second Debate to be Held Here at an Early Date

The second debate of the season will be held next week between Thief River Falls and Roseau in the Lincoln High assembly room.

The local team will defend the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That European Immigration into the United States Should Be Prohibited by Law For a Period of Five Years." The local debaters upheld the negative in their first contest, the change of sides entails much extra work.

The unanimous decision awarded the team in the debate with Red Lake Falls, Dec. 19, aroused a good deal of confidence in the ability of the debaters who are Hazel Krause, Margaret Melgaard, and Mae Ballingrud. If they show this same ability in the Roseau debate, there is a good chance for the school to win the district championship.

Harold C. Hand Engaged As New Faculty Member

Due to the fact that a class will be graduated from the eighth grade in the Central school at the end of the first semester, the board of education has found it necessary to employ another high school instructor to take care of the second semester freshmen. Harold C. Hand of St. Paul, has been secured to fill this position. Mr. Hand will be graduated from Macalester college, St. Paul, on January 18, and will come to Thief River Falls to take up his duties as instructor in English and algebra when the second semester opens on Jan. 21. During his career at Macalester, Mr. Hand has taken considerable part in college activities. He has won letters in football and track and is president of the Macalester "M" club. He is also a member of the Rune of the Quill club, an organization for English writers, and cartoonist for the college paper. Mr. Hand comes highly recommended by the Macalester college authorities and should make a valuable addition to the excellent corps of teachers at Lincoln high school.

City Gives Free Use Of Auditorium To Juniors

At its regular meeting, December 26, the city council voted unanimously to give the Junior Class the free use of the auditorium for its annual play which was put on December 14. Since the class needs money for its various school activities, including particularly the Junior-Senior banquet, this action on the part of the council is heartily appreciated. It may, indeed, be looked upon as a real Christmas present.

POWER MATTER COMES BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

Electric Light Load Reduced Wherever Possible During Low Water Period

HANSON-BARZEN COMPANY SERVES NOTICE ON CITY

Council To Co-operate With Milling Company in Handling Power Situation

Strict economy will be practised by the city in the use of electricity for street lighting and for administrative and other uses in the auditorium from now on to avoid being denied the further continued use of water from the dam, which has furnished a considerable portion of the power used in lighting the city, especially late in the afternoons and early evenings for the past few months.

This step became necessary when the Hanson & Barzen company served notice formally on the city council during the past week, a copy of which was read at the adjourned meeting of the city council Tuesday night. Mr. Barzen was present at the meeting and conferred with the aldermen relative to co-operation in the matter, the milling company having first rights to the use of water in the dam.

Since the cold weather set in right after Christmas there has been an appreciable decrease in the flow of the water in the river and it has been difficult to maintain a sufficient head of water at the dam to operate the flour mill anywhere near capacity. The hole in the old part of the dam has become enlarged to such an extent that too much water is leaking away—in fact, Mr. Barzen said, more goes thru the dam than over the power wheels.

The council did not feel as tho it would be necessary to ask the stores as yet to cut down on their interior lighting but this might become a necessity if the water in the river goes still lower. The new council intends to go into the power and light question very thoroughly in the near future as the present plant has been in nearly continuous use for more than the life of the engines and they might cause serious inconvenience if proper care is not taken.

Rebate of Pavement Cost

As soon as the city can furnish the state highway commission with plans and specifications of the paving laid here two years ago a rebate covering the cost of the center 18 feet of Main avenue will be forthcoming, according to advices received by the city clerk's office. The council at its meeting Tuesday night instructed the clerk to send the original plans and specifications to the engineer in charge of the work with orders to have a certified copy properly prepared. The paving met all requirements, according to advices, and it will be re-called that severe tests were made here late in the fall just before freezing weather set in.

Cemetery Fund Increases

The annual report of the cemetery commission filed with the city clerk shows receipts during the past year in the general fund of $1,132.67 with expenditures of $1,842.41, leaving a balance this year of $1,081.88 as compared with $1,791.72 last year, while receipts in the perpetual care fund were $690 with no expenditures, leaving $2,454.03 on hand this year. The total balance of the two funds stands at $3,536.01.

Two dance licenses were granted by the council Tuesday night, one to the fire department for their thirtieth annual ball on Jan. 25, and the other to the American Legion auxiliary. The appointment of a city attorney, assessor, physician and health officer and poor farm matron was laid over to next Tuesday on account of the absence of Alderman at Large Oscar Paulson.

LOCAL EXHIBITORS OF POULTRY ENTER BIRDS AT BEMIDJI

Neset, Schuster, Gustafson and Westphal Exhibit at Beltrami Show This Week

The Pennington County Poultry association is well represented at the annual poultry show conducted by the Beltrami association, which opened in Bemidji yesterday and continues thru Saturday. Yesterday four local poultry fanciers, each one having a different breed, shipped their prize birds to the Bemidji show, where they will appear in competition with birds from all sections of the country. It goes without saying that a number of these splendid samples of poultrydom will return adorned with prize ribbons.

Pennington county poultry breeders who are exhibiting at Bemidji are: Olaf Neset, Rhode Island Reds; C. D. Gustafson, Barred Rocks; Harry Schuster, White Leghorns; and L. A. Westphal of St. Hilaire, White Wyandottes. In the show held at Plummer recently Westphal's birds took first honors in competition with Wyandottes entered by G. A. Kreuger of Plummer, the latter of whom had been exhibited at Chicago and St. Louis and were said to have no superiors in the state.

An effort is being made to secure a delegation of Thief River Falls men to go to Bemidji tomorrow, the matter being considered by the Commercial club in session at noon today.

It must be wonderful to feel important enough to tell the reporter that you are not a candidate for the presidency.

Neset Awarded Many Prizes At Mahnomen Poultry Show; Has Best Display Of Birds

Again honors are accorded a Pennington county poultry breeder. Olaf Neset, local jeweler, with his Rhode Island Reds captured no less than six first prizes at the Mahnomen county poultry show held at Mahnomen last week. It was the third annual show conducted at Mahnomen and a large number of birds were entered. Mr. Neset was the only exhibitor from this community.

The prizes won by Mr. Neset were as follows: 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 7th pullet; 3rd and 4th cock; 3rd and 6th cockerel; 1st, 4th and 5th hen. He also had the second best hen in the show, the best pen o fthe class, the best pen in the show, the best display of breed, the best display in the show and the third best pullet in the show. Mr. Neset is to be congratulated upon his splendid showing which is a boost, not only for himself as a poultry fancier, but for Thief River Falls and Pennington county as a whole.

LEGION POST MAKES PLANS FOR BIG '25 STATE CONVENTION

Membership Drive Launched At Meeting Last Week. Losers Must Pay For Feed

The Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion held its annual installation of officers at the club rooms Thursday evening. The post was honored by the presence of Colonel R. E. Webb of Winnipeg, manager of the Marlborough hotel, and a member of the Legion there, and J. Craig of Minneapolis, organizer of the War Veterans association.

The following were placed in their respective offices: Oscar R. Smith, commander; D. W. Robinson, first vice president; P. G. Pederson, second vice president; Ole R. Sande, adjutant; Verner Nelson, treasurer; Rev. Charles Gerlinger, chaplin; D. W. Robinson, Henry Froseth and L. A. Hermanson, house committee with Robinson as chairman.

Addresses were given by Col. Webb and Mr. Craig along various activities of the Legion and the close relationship between that organization and the public. The former spoke on experiences in France, which were attentively listened to by those present. His descriptions of overseas life were vivid and realistic and at once local men and the Colonel had much in common.

Plans were laid for securing the 1925 state convention of the Legion for this city. The Legion convention involves the attendance of some seven or eight thousand delegates and visitors and will mean as much and more to Thief River Falls as to the Legion post, and successfully holding the convention here will require the heartiest co-operation of every business man and resident of the city. The Woman's Auxiliary convention will be held in connection. Plans are being made for a trip to Winnipeg during the convention, provided the local post is successful in securing it, and arrangements are being made for special train service.

A membership drive beginning Jan. 15 and closing Feb. 14, will be conducted during the next few weeks. The purpose of the drive will not only be to get new members, as in the past, but rather to arouse enthusiasm among the members now on the roll but not attending regularly. Two sides have been organized, W. A. Hall, Jr., as chairman of one side with a committee of ten members, and Francis J. Burns as chairman of a like committee for the other side. Comprising the committee headed by Mr. Hall are O. C. Paulson, D. W. Robinson, H. S. Snyder, P. G. Pederson, D. C. Nielson, Taylor Thompson, Earl Effinger, N. Reiter and Verner Nelson. The opposition includes Oscar Smith, Victor Paulson, Dr. L. R. Twete, A. H. Dorn, Sam Plough, F. E. McGinn, Perry Froseth, Carl Hove and A. Lindquist.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered D. W. Robinson for so ably filling the position of commander during the unexpired term of Oscar Paulson who resigned to take the office of city alderman.

Due to the advanced season and an apparent lack of interest on the part of the public, the matter of a skating rink was dropped.

Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Co. Has Good Year According To Figures in 1923 Report

The annual report of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company appears elsewhere in this issue of The Times and indicates a prosperous condition of the corporation.

The company, of which Ed. A. Aubol of St. Hilaire is president and John O. Swanson of Wylie secretary, was organized in 1893 and operates in Pennington and Red Lake counties. The report shows 1,426 polices to be in force at the closing of 1923, the polices aggregating a total of $3,438,681. A healthy growth was enjoyed during the past year, 405 polices totalling $1,021,014 being issued, while 397 or a total of $809,365 expired and ceased to be in force during the same period, an increase of $211,649. Eighteen losses in the total sum of $5,376 were incurred during the year, $3,965 of which was paid. The total disbursements for the year were $5,289.04, while the receipts amounted to $8,736.43, or a total of $10,191.76 including the balance on hand from the previous year. The actual cash balance on hand December 31 was $4,802.72 and total assets $5,822.61.

LOKEN CORNER IS LEASED BY J. C. PENNEY CO.

Larger Quarters Secured by Local Department Store on Third and Main

BUILDING TO BE FIXED UP FOR MOVING MARCH 1

New Departments Will Be Added and Stock Increased. 1923 Is Banner Year

Announcement was made yesterday afternoon by H. E. Nelson, manager of the Thief River Falls branch of the J. C. Penney company, that the C. M. Evenson building on the corner of Main avenue and Third street, formerly occupied by Loken Brothers' department store, has been leased by the local store and that occupation of the new quarters will take place on March 1. The store since its opening in 1920 has been located on the corner of Main avenue and Second street.

The building will be entirely renovated and remodeled throughout and workmen will be put to work at once to make the necessary changes. The large plate glass display window on the west side facing Main avenue will be replaced by a brick wall. There will also be numerous changes in the enterior arrangement, says Mr. Nelson, and new fixtures will be installed in every department. The entire interior will be repainted.

With larger quarters it is the plan of the management to add a number of departments to those maintained in the present store, including a complete stock of notions, a boys' clothing department, infants' department and others to meet the demand of its patrons. Lines that have not been handled before due to lack of space will be introduced. With a floor space of 85 by 75 feet, with balcony and full basement, the Thief River Falls branch will compare favorably with any of the larger J. C. Penney company stores and will rank as one of the most up-to-date and complete stores of its kind in this section. The Penney company at present has 475 stores and this year 100 more are being opened.

Under the management of H. E. Nelson, who came here in 1921, the business of the Thief River Falls store has increased to such proportions that more space is necessary to properly meet the trade, which is being attracted from points as far north as the Canadian border.

"I have faith in the future of this city and surrounding community," Mr. Nelson stated to a Times representative yesterday. "The past year has been a banner year for our store and we anticipate even a greater increase of business in 1924."

The building leased by the Penney store has been vacant since the removal of the Loken stock to Madison, Wis.

ATTRACTS TOURISTS TO CITY, SAYS COL. WEBB AT LUNCHEON

Value of Tourist Traffic Stressed By Proprietor of Marlborough Hotel, Winnipeg

The development of tourist traffic was the subject of a talk given by Col. R. H. Webb of the Marlborough hotel, Winnipeg, to business men of the city in session at the regular Commercial club luncheon last Thursday. Col. Webb was the guest of J. Provencher of the Hotel Evelyn until Friday having come here Wednesday from Grand Forks where he attended the convention of North Dakota hotelmen.

The Canadian expressed a bright future for this section of the state "as a tourist play ground" and discussed developments of the tourist trade which are beneficial to the farmers and business men as well as the hotel and restaurant men. He cited figures from various sections of this state and provinces of Canada showing the tremendous magnitude of the tourist trade and what it means to every town and city where tourists will stop.

He urged his hearers to make the town attractive to tourists, pointing out that it is the treatment received by tourists, as well as the natural scenic attractions of a town which would bring about this result.

Thief River Falls, Col. Webb declared, should attract many tourists traveling in all directions. "If they know Thief River Falls is a good town to stop in they will drive miles out of their direct route in order to make it," he said.

"You will find that when a tourist comes into the city the money he spends does not remain only with the hotel and restaurant men, but they in turn spend it among the other business men of the town, who purchase the products of the farmer. So to bring the tourists in, there should be co-operation not only of the hotel and restaurant men, but of all the business men for the common good," he concluded.

Col. Webb, since opening the Marlborough last July, has proved the value of publicity and advertising, and has built up the finest hotel business in Winnipeg.

Changes in Bus Schedule

MANY FARMERS SELL '23 WOOL IN STATE POOL

Pennington Growers Market 40,000 Pounds Thru State Association in Past Year

FROM TEN TO FIFTEEN CENTS GAINED PER LB.

Soren Hermanson, Goodridge Farmer, Has Sample Entered In National Wool Show

The State Wool Grower's association held its annual meeting at the University Farm, St. Paul, January 10th and was attended by J. J. McCann, county agent here, who is in charge of local wool shipments thru the state association.

Pennington county farmers marketed forty thousand pounds of wool last year through this association, at a saving of from ten to fifteen cents a pound for their wool in the state pool.

Some of the wool coming from Pennington county was the highest in quality in the entire state, one lot especially, coming from Soren Hermanson of Goodridge, was selected for exhibit at the State fair receiving one of the highest prizes which entitled it to be one of the thirteen exhibits at the National Wool Show. Mr. Hermanson was advanced thirty-five cents per pound on his shipment and when the wool was received he received another advance of $30.00 with the statement that his lot would bring between forty-five and fifty cents per pound. This wool was one-half and three-eights blood, bright and clean, making it very desirable for the market. Mr. Hermanson has secured a good deal of credit for the raising of this wool and Pennington county has received much favorable advertising from this sample.

Next year a stronger association will be formed in Pennington county and if the pool is as successful as in 1923 there will be many satisfied wool growers.

FAIR SECRETARIES IN ANNUAL SESSION

Next Year County May Receive $1000 Advance On Premium Money at Time of Fair

Pennington county was represented at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs held in St. Paul last week, by J. J. McCann, secretary of the Pennington Fair association and C. D. Gustafson.

Garfield W. Brown, public examiner, met with the county fair secretaries to discuss a uniform method of keeping records, stating that by following the simplified method returns would be made to county fairs within a week after their annual meeting was held. The suggestion was made that possibly next year each county could receive $1,000 advance on their premium money from the state at the time that the fair was held, which would greatly assist the fairs to handle their budget of expense during fair week. The matter of a uniform contract for carnivals was also taken up.

According to a survey most counties are making a purchase of the buildings directed by the county agricultural societies and by having the county own the property they thereby release the agricultural society of a large indebtedness.

The program was brought to a successful close on Friday and a very optimistic feeling was shown for the general welfare of all the county agricultural societies which are all in good standing financially since the passage of the new legislation enabling the societies to dispose of their property to the county.

EFFORT MADE TO RETAIN M'CANN COUNTY AGENT

Those Interested in Continuance Of Work Co-operate in Providing Funds

GREAT NEED OF AGENT DURING COMING YEAR

Alfalfa, Sugar Beet and Dairy Projects Require Attention Of Extension Worker

J. J. McCann, county agricultural agent and secretary of the Commercial club, will most likely be retained in Thief River Falls and continue to serve Pennington another period, altho the county board of commissioners in session last week failed to allow the necessary appropriation for the support of extension work by the county. An effort is being made by those interested in the continuance of work to provide some means of financing it during the coming year.

According to present indications the county extension work will continue to be supported thru the united efforts of the Commercial club, business interests of the city, progressive farmers and the state appropriation which can be secured by co-ordinating with the extension division of the university. During the past year $1770 was received as state aid, $300 from the Commercial club and $450 from the sugar beet company for the services of the county agent. The matter was given extensive consideration at the Commercial club luncheon last Thursday and expressions from business men and progressive farmers were to the effect that the county agent must be retained here in the interest of the future success of various projects now in operation, such as the alfalfa and sugar beet campaign, club work and the promotion of the dairy industry. McCann's competent services mean more to the community at this time than ever before, according to assertions made by those who are in position to know.

It is hoped that a different view will be taken towards the appropriation of county funds for the maintenance of the county agent and that a favorable action may be forthcoming soon, a canvass of certain sections of the county having been made by progressive farmers interested in seeing the work continued.

SWEGER RESIGNS AS PASTOR OF TRINITY

Accepts Position With Pension Fund After Serving Local Church Past 3½ Years

Rev. T. E. Sweger, for the past three and one-half years pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church of this city, has tendered his resignation from the pastorate here, having accepted a call as representative for the Norwegian Lutheran pension fund mission with headquarters at Moorhead. In this capacity the Rev. Sweger will have jurisdiction over the northern half of this state. The pension fund is being raised for the purpose of relieving and retiring aged pastors. The quota calls for $2,000,000, of which $570,000 has already been realized.

While members of the congregation are glad to know of the honor accorded their pastor thru this call, they deeply regret his leaving. Thru his untiring efforts the congregation has grown, both in membership and financially. The Sunday school has reached large proportions and the various organizations contingent to the church have attained a high standard of activity.

The Rev. Sweger and family arrived in Thief River Falls Aug. 9, 1920, coming from Cooperstown, N. D. During the past three and a half years of close association with the members of the congregation they have learned to know the retiring pastor as one who works with them as their counterpart, outside the church as well as in.

With his family, who have taken an active part in the social activities of the church and community, he will leave for Moorhead, after the first of June, at which date the confirmants, whom he has coached the past fall and winter months, will be confirmed.

The following resolution was passed by members of the congregation at the annual meeting Tuesday:

"Our minister, Rev. T. E. Sweger, having tendered his resignation as minister to our congregation and accepted a call to work for the Mission of the Norwegian Lutheran Pension Fund; Therefore, with thanks to God for the faithful services we have received from Rev. T. E. Sweger during the years he has been with us ministering to our spiritual needs and considering that he is to step into a bigger field of activity for the good of the Lutheran church; Be it resolved, that Rev. Sweger's resignation be accepted, with the understanding that his resignation goes into effect June 1, 1924, and that Rev. T. E. Sweger, for the purpose of opening the work in his new field, be permitted to take six weeks vacation, at such time or times as he himself chooses, between this date and June, 1924."

Y. M. C. A. Officers Will Be Chosen at Annual Meeting At Y Quarters Monday Eve

Every Thief River Falls citizen interested in Y. M. C. A. work in this city is urgently requested to attend the annual meeting of the board of directors next Monday evening, Jan. 21, at the Y quarters in the basement of the Carnegie library.

Election of officers for the ensuing year will take place and plans will be laid for carrying on the work of the local organization during the coming year. A review of the past year's activities will also be given by present officers.

Past meetings of the association have been rather poorly attended and President C. D. Gustafson urges a larger turnout at the annual meeting Monday so as to get the public sentiment in regard to the conduct of Y. M. C. A. work in the city. General support by the people interested in this work is necessary to keep it up.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASS'N MAKES PLANS FOR 1924 MEETINGS

First Get-together of This Year Will Take Place Friday, Jan. 28, at H. S.

The executive board of the Parent-Teachers association of this city met last week and formulated plans for meetings to be held during the remainder of the school year.

The first 1924 meeting will be held Jan. 28, as the date for the regular meeting, Feb. 4, is taken by the Woman's club, Mr. Garns of the McPhail college having been secured to give a dramatic reading at that time. Heretofore there has been no meeting during January, and the meeting on Friday next week will take the place of the regular February meeting.

This meeting will be a get-together event and it is hoped by those in charge that it will provide an opportunity for the parents and teachers to become better acquainted.

The executive board is cooperating with the Woman's club and Girls' Community club and hope to arrange for a lecture on the World Court for either the March or April meeting.

The general topic for one of the future gatherings will be "What the parents expect of the schools." The teachers outlined quite clearly at the November meeting at the Central school what they expect of the parents and this program is planned in order to give the parents an opportunity to state their views.

The meeting for May will be arranged by a committee from the association to participate in a membership drive. The present membership is to be divided into two sections, with Mrs. E. O. Mogensen as captain of one division, and Mrs. E. J. Richards, captain of the other. Each captain will choose a committee to assist, and together with the present members will engage in a contest for the largest number of new members. The loosing side will furnish the program, entertainment, and refreshments for the May meeting.

Full program for the meeting of Jan. 28 will be printed in next week's issue.

Present officers of the association are: Mrs. R. Arnold, president; Morris Bye, first vice president; County Superintendent Ole R. Sande, second vice president; Miss Edna Larson, secretary, and Mrs. J. H. Hermanson, treasurer.

"Smoke Eaters" Stage Gala Hop at Auditorium Jan. 25

The Thief River Falls Fire Department will hold its 30th annual ball at the city auditorium Friday, Jan. 25, to be given in the form of a masquerade.

A gala time has been planed for that occasion, as has always been the case when the "Fire Fighters" staged a "Frolic." Liberal cash prizes will be paid to the best dressed lady and gentleman and the most comically dressed lady and gentleman. The instigators have ruled that persons not wearing costumes will not be admitted on the floor and this condition will be rigidly enforced. The best of local music will be provided and local "Steppers" have long since learned that the best of local music is real music.

Advertising is Boosted By Implement Dealers Convention. C.D.Gustafson Attends

C. D. Gustafson, of the Gustafson and Son implement firm of this city, returned Saturday from Minneapolis where he was a delegate to the 20th or Jubilee convention of the Minnesota Implement Dealers' association which took place last week. Mr. Gustafson was reelected a director of the association, which is the largest state organization of implement dealers in the United States. About 900 dealers were present at the 1924 convention.

Among the features of the gathering were discussions of present conditions, particularly relative to the farmer. According to opinions expressed by delegates from the various sections of the state, this community is getting along as well, and in many instances better, than others in the state, largely due to the extensive diversification of farming methods by farmers here. As a whole conditions here are considered very favorable.

A program of instructive advertising thru the local newspapers was encouraged by the convention delegates, believing that the farmers should be given information as to the most efficient and productive machinery to be bought and the fact that present prices of farm implements are comparatively reasonable in proportion to other commodities.

Usually, a tip is just a little expenditure you make to preserve your self-respect.

KORSTAD BROS. ESTABLISH BOX FACTORY HERE

Thief River Falls Box Factory, Inc., Organized and Installs Plant On Main Ave.

OPERATIONS TO BEGIN LATTER PART OF WEEK

Green Poplar Wood Purchased From Farmers in Vicinity. Venture Promises Success

Business in Thief River Falls has been augmented by the establishment of a new concern within its limits, the Thief River Falls Box Factory, Inc., having been organized and expects to begin operations this week. The factory, which will specialize in making egg cases, is under the management of Karl and William Korstad, old residents of this city and well known to the entire community. The former has for some time past conducted a store at Red Lake agency while William Korstad operated the grocery store on Sixth street until recently.

The machinery, consisting of two carriers and bolter saws and other contrivances necessary for sawing lumber suitable for box making, have been set up in the Northwestern Garage building on Main avenue, this location being only temporary according to present plans. In the spring, it is indicated by those in charge, the plant will be moved to a location near one of the railroads and if the volume of business warrants it, larger quarters will be obtained.

A drying apparatus has been installed this week, to be heated by about 1000 feet of pipe and making it possible to dry green boards in 24 hours time. All the machinery will be run by electricity and when completed the plant will have a capacity of output of approximately 4000 boxes every 24 hours. Altho intending to specialize in the making of egg cases the new concern will be able to handle orders for boxes of any kind. A market among jobbers in the larger distributing centers will be secured.
